JIMMY COX, THE BOXER WHO MEETS HARD-HITTING MCKENNA

Brief Sketch Of Cox's Career Makes Interesting Reading.—Some Claim He Will Take Decision From Ed die Mead's Champion.

The following is a brief but interesting sketch of Jimmy Cox, the New York boxer who meets Jack McKenna, leading Canadian middle-weight, in this city on May 11th. McKenna is now being managed by the famous Eddie Mead of Cleveland, Ohio. He, McKenna, is expected to arrive in this city either Saturday or Monday night; Cox will arrive about the same time.

A New York exchange has this to say about the "fighting Irishman." Jimmy Cox, the New York boy has had an interesting career. Cox is a native of Ireland and served in the British Army during the World War. He was then a welter and won Admiral Beatty's 10 stone championship cup open to the allied armies, and also captured the Mediterranean championship. Before coming to this country and before after his discharge from the British Army, "the fighting Irishman," as he was called, fought 51 battles in Great Britain and won 24 of them by knock-outs. Among Jimmy's kayo victims overseas was Bob Lowrie, who came to this County touted as the great Scotch welter champion, and who fighting out of Boston proved one of New England's toughest middleweights. Cox fought Lowrie at Glasgow and stopped him in 13 rounds. Two of his greatest battles on the other side were with Pat McAllister of Belfast, one of 15 rounds and the other of 20 rounds.

Cox returned to this country in search of adventure and landed in Worcester, Mass., where he made an immediate hit by his cleverness and punching ability. Some little time after his Worcester debut, Jimmy was seized with a wanderlust again and embarked for Australia, where he met and defeated the best men of his weight. Before leaving for the Antipodes or rather enroute, he stopped at St. John, N. B., and fought the Canadian Champion, George Fifield.

Jimmy became a favorite in Vancouver where he whipped Johnny Jordan, who held a decision over Eddie Roberts, the slugging Tacoma welter, who became famous overnight by flattening Joe Dundee in one round. After several duels in the North-west, all victories, Cox returned to Worcester to beat Charlie Cote, who won a recent decision over Buddy Clarke, the much touted Salem welter.

Partial list of Cox bouts during 1927-28:

Joe Rolfe (Bermondsey), Albert Hall, London—K. O., 5 rounds; Hershla (Former German welter champ) Berlin—Won; Fred Duprez (France)—London, won 20 rounds; Paboose (Belgium)—London, won 15 rounds; Nol Steinhurst (Holland), London—won 15 rounds; Geararts (Dutch champ), Dublin—K. The Least Excitement Made Her Heart Palpitate and Flutter

Mrs. Ambrose Orser, Elginburg, Ont., writes:—"I suffered for some time with a bad heart which seemed to be controlled by my nerves. The least little excitement would cause it to flutter and palpitate, and at times I would have real bad spells. I suffered in this way for some time when, one day, advertised, so decided to try them. I had only taken a few boxes when I noticed that I felt better, so I continued taking them and in a short time my heart felt entirely different."

It is that it is just as well for P. E. people not to boast of the way P. E. I. has captured the American seed potato market. Senator Gould quoted some letters from P. E. Islanders to the U. S. Press and called the President's attention to the way P. E. Islanders were boasting of capturing the American market.

What we should stress to the American farmers and consumers is that as the American farmers have to pay strong disease free Northern Canadian seed, that the higher duty they have to pay the greater the cost will be of their production, and this increased cost will be reflected in the price the American consumers have to pay for their potatoes. I say again to our Island potato growers, shippers and also the Potato Growers' Association, to be on the job, be ready, put up a real strong case to the United States Tariff Board so that we may at least hold on to what we have and, if possible, convince the Board to recommend that no increase in duty be granted by the President and a strong bid should be made for a reduction.

I am, Sir, etc.,
Yours truly,
A. E. MacLEAN.

they will try to prove that seed potatoes can be produced so much cheaper in Prince Edward Island than in the United States and that there should be an increase in the American duty to offset this low cost of production.

Now, our people will have to make up and be ready for the United States Tariff Commission when they come to Prince Edward Island to make this investigation and it will be up to them to show that with the Americans. It should also be shown that the good land for potato growing is now equally as correct. For instance, he stated in the Senate that all the Canadian potato growers get a rebate from the Government of $10.00 per ton on their fertilizer and gave this as one reason why the Prince Edward Island potato growers could produce cheaper than the Americans, which is absolutely correct. Another reason that he put forward was that Prince Edward Island potatoes were all shipped by water in bulk cargoes, by steamer at a very low rate, while the Maine growers had to ship all by rail at a high cost. This should be shown to be incorrect as fully half or more of P. E. I. seed potatoes are shipped by rail. Another reason advanced by Senator Gould was that land in P. E. I. is much lower priced per acre and labour so cheap that the Island farmers could more than compete of

Will Lecture At

The Strand Theatre

Wednesday May 9th at 8 P. M.

UNDER THE AUSPICES OF THE P. E. I. FISH AND GAME AND PUBLICITY ASSOCIATIONS

Jack Miner is the man who originated the sanctuary idea for protecting, feeding and conserving the wild fowl of the continent. Jack Miner loves the Birds—the birds love Jack Miner, they come back to him season after season; they are as tame with him as our domestic fowl. Hear him tell how he does it.

It costs him between five and six thousand dollars annually to feed the birds that come to his sanctuary. Jack Miner is the only man on earth to catch and tag wild geese to study their route of migration.

Jack Miner has crossed the Continent five times in three years talking in the various cities, to crowded houses. Here's a clipping from a Winnipeg paper, "Winnipeg had the good fortune to hear two famous men in one week. David Lloyd George spoke to 8,000 people while about 13,000 men, women and children heard Canada's greatest Bird man, Jack Miner."

You'll regret it if you don't come.
