LEGEND OF WHITE INDIANS

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 1.—The recent discovery of so-called "White Indians" on the isthmus of Panama by the Marsh expedition has unleashed its legend in New Orleans, versed in the romantic lore of Central and South America.

An expedition of Scotsmen, some say, settled in Darien in the autumn of 1688, by authorization of the Scotch parliament. This expedition, numbering some 1,200 persons, included four ministers of the Church of Scotland, who went along to establish a presbyterian organization, and it is told that because of their ascetic tendencies, some of the sturdy Scotch families banished them, and were banished from the settlement.

Later, it is said, others of the settlers were driven away by the Spaniards, and it is thought likely many of them fled into the jungles and remained. This, if the supposition is correct, might account for the white Indians.

But the San Blas tribe of Indians have a different story. Many years ago, they say, long ago that no one can recall the date, a band of white men came to Darien and set about to rob the red men of their wealth. In their exploitations, however, the pale face visitors incurred the displeasure of an evil spirit, and soon they died. Their spirits, so the story goes, being accursed, were driven into the fever-laden jungles, where they stayed forevermore. That is the legend of the San Blas tribe.

According to their oldest chiefs, no San Blas could intermarry with another race. That law still holds, and so strictly it is observed that even now a white man visiting their villages is carefully watched. But there are tales of Fochontas even among the San Blas, and they say that some of the women of the tribe ran away with pale face men, whom they married, only to be slain later or their babies killed a few days after birth.

It is thought improbable by these un-official historians that the white Indians is of Spanish origin, for the men of Spain were never referred to by the Indians as white men, but as "Ginetas," after the Spanish "horseman." This failure of the Indians to refer to the jungles, is considered solid ground for the theory of those that believe the new-found tribe descended from the Scotch.

WEDDING BELLS

Wedding bells rang out at Free-town:

On Wednesday morning, July 23rd, 1924, the marriage of Mr. Leanus Fitzsimmons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Fitzsimmons of Indian River to Miss Catherine Gillis, daughter of the late Mr. Jas. Gillis and Mrs. Gillis of Norborough.

The impressive ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rev. Father Macdonald of Free-town and the wedding march was played by Miss Alice Cash. The bride wearing a brown tailored suit with a grey hat with a plume to match her suit, was attended by the groom's sister, Miss Margaret Fitzsimmons, who wore a blue silk dress and a saffron colored coat with a neatly trimmed blue hat, while the groom was supported by the bride's brother Mr. Daniel Gillis.

On Monday evening, July 22nd a host of friends gathered at the home of the bride, where she received many valuable presents.

After the marriage, the bridal party motored to Charlottetown, had dinner at the Morell Hotel, then motored to Borden, then home where a reception was held in the evening at the home of the bride, they were attended by about one hundred of their near relatives and friends. The bride received a handsome present from the groom a beautiful wrist watch, also a beautiful wrist watch to the bride's maid. The bride received a substantial cheque of fifty dollars from her brother, the groom's man.

The young couple are very popular in this community and have the good wishes of a host of friends in which the Guardian joins.

Baby's Great Danger During Hot Weather
More little ones die during the hot weather than at any other time of the year. Diarrhoea, dysentery, cholera infantum and stomach troubles come without warning, and when a medicine is not at hand to give promptly the short delay frequently means that the child has passed beyond aid. Baby's Own Tablets should always be kept in the house where there are young children. An occasional dose of the Tablets will prevent stomach and bowel troubles, or if the trouble comes suddenly the prompt use of the Tablets will relieve the baby. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"The Cat And The Canary"

This way to thoroughly enjoy "The Cat and the Canary" coming to the Prince Edward Wednesday and Thursday August 6th and 7th is to go twice. This advice comes from a theatrical management that is naturally commercial but also explicit. This is the way of it: First you go to watch a gripping play. Then, with the surprises discounted, you go a second time to watch a gripped audience. For the manifestation of those watching "The Cat and Canary" for the first time range from an hysterical utter, quickly drowned by an indignant "hiss-sh", to an actual scream of terror from all parts of the house whenever the danger of the heroine seems inescapable.

There comes a sign of relief as a happy twist of circumstances saves her from the moment and an uproarious shout of laughter when threatened tragedy gives way to bright comedy. And right here is one of the secrets of the success of this thrilling play. From the moment that the heroine's great danger is realized by the audience every man, woman and child out front is rooting wildly for her—their hearts throbbing with excitement and their breath coming fast. O. E. Wee, the producer, says that "The Cat and the Canary" is a tough proof because patrons are too busy keeping from fainting over the thrills to start the usual hacking symphony.

People "All Nerves"

What to Do if You Find Yourself in This Condition

The sort of thing that specialists speak of as nervous debility is the run-down condition caused by overwork, household cares or worries. The sufferers find themselves tired, morose, low-spirited and unable to keep their minds on anything. Any sudden noise startles and sets the heart palpating violently. They are full of groundless fears, and do not sleep well at night. The hands tremble and the legs feel as if they would give way, following a walk or any exertion. The whole condition of such people may be described as pitiable.

Doctors the nerves with poisoning mediocines is a terrible mistake. The only real nerve tonic is a good supply of new rich blood. Therefore the treatment for nervousness and run-down health is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which promptly build up and enrich the blood. The revived appetite, the strong nerves, improved spirits and new strength which comes after a course of these pills will delight every sufferer.

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50c a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"April Showers"

A Rhymed Review
By ELOISE BYRON

Danny O'Rourke was the pride of New York—
What we mean by New York is The Alley.
For Dan was the pride of the Lower East Side,
Including each Nora and Sally.
Now Danny would spon with young Maggie Muldoon,
And oh, but the lad knew the blarney.
Faith, they were as fair and as lovin' in a pair
As any that dwell near Killarney.
Tim O'Rourke'd been a cop; and Muldoon, Maggie's pop,
Had served with Big Tim; they were buddies.
So Danny, of course, was for joinin' the force,
And Maggie would help with his studies.

To The Alley there came a Society Dame,
And she fell for our Danny—who wouldn't?
The lady had lamps that were bright as a vamps'—
Resist 'em? You might, Danny couldn't.

So—alack and alas—Our Dan didn't pass;
In despair, he said, "I'll be a fighter!"
He was knocked for a goal—but he says, on his soul
That he doesn't think things could be brighter.

The Zoo's Panther Cub

(By Dominion News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 1.—The London Zoo is in luck—if black kittens are lucky—for the first black panther-cub ever born in the Gardens has recently arrived at the Lion House. No one ever saw a bright spot in the mother-panther's character until she proved that she was at least able to look after a cub. She is a lithe and vicious bunch of whipcord who expresses herself in profane spitting and giant cat-cusses. Yet someone with no sense of the fitness of things has given her the name of Maud. The father's name is more descriptive. It is "Satan."

"Satan" has been cleared out of the nursery. Too many of these Lion House fathers try to earn the name of "Satan" by devouring their young. Maud—though she uses language quite unfitted to the ears of her baby—is otherwise an excellent mother.

The Zoo authorities know that the panther-kitten is going to be a handful. They have fitted a deep sill to the door of the nursery, while the lower part of the bars (through which the public will get their first glimpse of the infant) has been covered with wire netting lest this imp of "Satan" should equeeze through.

Vast Army Moves North As Summer Calls For Reapers

(United Press)
TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 1.—The harvester army that is now employed gathering the crops of the great central wheat belt states outnumber the entire peace-time strength of the United States army. The advance guard started northward in Texas early in June, adding recruits by the thousands as the season moved into the pivotal wheat state of Kansas in mid-June, and swelling in numbers to more than 100,000 as it reached its peak activity in the Sunflower state about July 1, according to statistics available at the state court of industrial relations here.

"It requires 105,000 men to handle this harvest and provide for replacements," remarked J. H. Crawford, presiding judge. "To visualize this great army taxes the imagination. Witness 162 trains, made up of ten passenger coaches and each coach carrying 65 men, rushing from south, east and west to the points of distribution. They stand for 39 hours until these men march single file past a given point and stretch along the highway a distance of 78 miles. Do this and you will see the army of harvesters distributed through the wheat belt annually.

"In addition, the public employment service recruited 63,000 men and distributed them where needed as cotton laborers, potato pickers, corn huskers and for apple, berry and sugar beet labor, making 165,383 seasonal laborers, supplied in 1923.

"Kansas, which grows more wheat than any other state in the nation, is harvesting approximately 9,000,000 acres and the crop is estimated to exceed 100,000,000 bushels. Kansas wheat fields occupy 15,000 square miles have an area as great as the total land surface of Massachusetts, Connecticut and Delaware combined. It is estimated the total wheat area of the wheat belt states, from Texas to North Dakota and Minnesota, is approximately 33,000 square miles of winter wheat, while in the northern states the spring wheat aggregates 15,000 square miles a total area of 48,000 square miles."
