The Saturday night program at New Wonderland was one of the best yet and notwithstanding the wet weather many were in attendance. The singing and music was of the highest order and the management is to be congratulated on the fine pictorial pictures they are presenting.

Among the many handsome calendars received by The Guardian this year is that from Chandler and Bell's, marble and granite works, Kent Street, entitled "The sign of the Cross." It is one of the prettiest yet and has the appearance of a steel engraving, so artistic is the work.

The Christmas suggestions in Hazard & Moore's show windows on Sunnyside are many. The gift seeker can easily make a choice from the fine display of leather goods, brass ornaments, books, cards, pictures, hand painted china, in fact the windows are simply brimming with suggestions procurable for the holiday trade.

At the next meeting of the quarterly board of the Methodist church an important matter will come up in the choosing of a new minister. Rev. T. J. Deinstadt's term will expire in June, and he has been pastor of the Fairville church for four years, which is the limit for any one charge under the present rules of the Methodist conference. Three clergymen are under consideration by the quarterly board.—St. John Telegraph—Mr. Deinstadt is well known here as he was at one time stationed in this city.

On Wednesday evening last an interesting event took place at the home of Donald John Nicholson, Orwell Cove, when his daughter, Annie was united in marriage to Angus Joseph Nicholson of the same place. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. D. B. McLeod, M. A., of Orwell. The bride, who was unattended, was becomingly attired in white silk. Among the many beautiful and useful gifts was a handsome fur-lined coat from the groom to the bride. After a sumptuous repast, and an evening pleasantly spent in a social way Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson drove to their splendid residence in Orwell Cove, followed by the good wishes of many friends and relatives.

S. S. Cape Breton, Capt. McDonald, reached port from Montreal, via Gulf ports at 9 o'clock last night, having had an extremely stormy passage. From Charlottetown, which she left on Wednesday last to Sydney, a heavy N. W. gale, which blew with hurricane force, accompanied by snow and sleet was experienced. Huge seas swept over the ship and a pound on the deck containing a number of sheep was broken and eleven of the animals washed overboard and also a quantity of cabbage. From Sydney to this port it was also very rough, but no damage resulted. The ship brought a full general cargo and two passengers. She sails again for Sydney on Wednesday. This is her last trip for the season.—St. John's Nfld., Chronicle 7th.

Capt. Cain, Summerside, came over from Halifax by the Northumberland Saturday and went west in the afternoon. It will be remembered that some days ago there was fears that Captain Cain's schooner had been wrecked of St. John's Nfld., but the report was unfounded.

Rev. R. G. Sinclair of Montague preached in St. James Church yesterday morning and evening to large congregations. In the afternoon he took the Bible class in the absence of Mr. Fullerton who is in Montague. The singing by the choir was exceptionally pleasing, Miss Hunter taking the solo during the offertory in the evening.

A prohibition summons for a first offence was served on Thomas Malone City, Saturday, returnable on Monday at eleven o'clock.

Persons who attend New Wonderland tonight will be delighted with the fine program prepared. A short synopsis appears on page four.

Pomroy Murray, station agent at Murray River, was a passenger through this City Saturday to spend Sunday with his parents in Bradaluns.

At the City Police Court Saturday John Carragher and Daniel Chipman were each fined five dollars or thirty days for being disorderly on the streets on the 22nd November.

John Dais Co., 107 Fulton Market New York, writing to The Guardian says that the weather is getting cold there and the demand for smelts, eels, etc., of which they are large handlers, is good.

Parents who send their children to New Wonderland tonight are assured that they will see and hear only the best moving pictures and latest illustrated songs. The program for tonight is given on page four.

Mrs. A. G. Putnam, who has been spending several months at her old home on P. E. Island is expected in Sackville this week. Mr. and Mrs. Putnam will occupy one of the apartments in the Read house: Bridge Street.—Sackville Post.

In another column of this issue appears an attractive ad for Stanley Bros., which is full of suggestions for the Christmas shopper. With the accurate illustrations used and the well defined price lists given with the different articles named it should add materially to the success of the shopping expedition of every Guardian reader.

Several schooners arrived in port last week from P. E. Island with produce for town merchants. The schooner Beatrice, McCarthy, with produce from Souris, P. E. I., arrived and is discharging at the pier. The other vessels are the Charming Lass, McNeil, produce from Georgetown; and Nellie Snow, McLeod, from Crapaud.—Sydney Record.

A steady demand during the cold weather is created on the American market for fresh and frozen fish, so that shippers from this Province who send their consignments to Robert W. Cole, 150 Reekmen Street, New York, are assured not only of a ready market but also of the highest prices and prompt returns. Mr. Cole does business through his transfer agents, S. F. Wiley & Sons, Boston, and thus delays in transit are prevented.
