50-Year Records

as the judging of the Standard Breds and Roadsters took place. Again this year Hon. C.H. Black, Aubrey, Que. was the judge and many of the sections proved difficult to place.

The Champion Male in the Standard Breds was owned by Dr. R F. Seaman while the Champion Female was owned by R S. Humphrey, Kensington. The Get of Sire and Progeny of Dam were both won by W.H. Horne, Winsloe, who also had the Reserve Champion.

In the Roadster Class the winners of the various classes were: St. Dunstan's College Farm; Mrs. Victor Rice, Charlottetown; Mr. George Kitson, Hampshire; Mr. Arnold Neill, North Milton.

The Judge was pleased with the showing in the Standard Bred and also in the Roadsters but pointed to the need of having roadsters with carriages. Because of lack of the latter he had to judge the horses showing on the merits of the colts. A mother of five colts was one of the horses to pass under his scrutiny during the morning. Today the heavy animals, the Clydes and Drafts, will be judged.

Swine

The judging of the swine got underway early with many interested spectators looking on as Mr. J. W. Graham, Dominion Livestock Branch, Moncton, made his choices. The showing was lighter than last year but the quality was as good.

Only Yorkshires were entered in competition this year and some keenly contested sections resulted. Some of the leading exhibitors of other years were not showing this year.

The champion junior boar, "Woodstock Duke" was owned by Mr. Almon Boswell, Dunstaffnage, who was a heavy prize winner. He also had the Grand Champion Boar. Other winners included. Frank Halliday, Eldon, Livestock Marketing Board, Charlottetown, the Hunter River Shipping Club and Mr. Percy Dickieson, New Glasgow.

The Grand Champion Sow, and Progeny of Dam also went to Almon Boswell.

The Judge expressed himself as being pleased with the animals shown. The quality was up to the usual high standard of other years.

Jerseys

A good showing of Jerseys was one of the features of yesterday's cattle judging. These golden colored animals were watched with interest by a large number of people as the placings were made. Dr. J. P. Lantz showed the Grand Champion male, "Wonderful Standard 2nd" while the Grand Champion Female was owned by Stead Bros. of Charlottetown. Other prominent winners were Bruce MacDonald, New Wiltshire, Edgar Easter and Sons, New Wiltshire; Edison B. Mutch, North River, William Clarke, New Wiltshire and A. Ernest Underhay, Bay Fortune.

Mr. W. W. Baird of the Experimental Farm in Nappan, N. S., judge of the Jersey classes and who will judge the Guernseys today, was quite pleased with the animals that passed under his scrutiny yesterday. Although the classes were not large in the morning they showed good quality, he said. "They were a breedy, typey lot of individuals," was his comment when asked about the males and females he looked over in the forenoon.

The classes of females were larger than the males shown. "Considering the season the Jerseys are in very good condition," Mr. Baird declared. "They are a splendid foundation lot and the breeders are to be complimented on their good showmanship which is the spirit that should be cultivated among the exhibitors."

"There were some outstanding sires shown and on the whole the Jerseys were up to a good standard," the Judge said.

In the mature classes, judged in the afternoon, the animals showed up equally as well as the younger generation which is indicative of well-bred stock, he stated.

Ayrshires

The Ayrshires stole the show with a large entry list. Almost every class was well filled with high quality animals and the fanciers of this particular breed were proud of the showing.

The Grand Champion Male was owned by Andrew McRae and Sons, Charlottetown, while the Grand Champion Female belongs to Mr. George Boswell, Frenchfort, who, despite a recent operation, was present at the show. Some of the winners were: H. W. Clay, Royalty; Ings and Sons, Mt. Herbert; Keith Boswell, Victoria, D. J. Mullin, St. Peters; John W. Lewis, Freetown; W. Lewis, St. Peter's Bay and Willard Kelly, Southport.

Professor Gus Toupin of Oka Agricultural Institute, Montreal, Chief of the Livestock Department and President of the Canadian Ayrshire Association, placed the Ayrshires. He stated that the classes he had seen in the forenoon were "very good".

He was greatly impressed with the "extremely keen" competition which took place between two aged bulls, one owned by Fred MacRae and Sons, Royalty, and the other by Mr. J. W. Lewis, Freetown. "It was one of the hardest classes I ever judged in years", Prof. Toupin declared. When the final decision was made, MacRae's Springburn Royal King was Grand Champion with Lewis' Byrnhill Wide Awake the Reserve Champion. The two animals could be shown in any show in Canada, he stated and added that it was age that beat the older animal.

"The spirit of the breeders was wonderful", he commented and added that "in general the stock is a very good quality.

Commenting on the animals he viewed in the afternoon, Professor Toupin said the female classes showed good quality and added "the breeders are putting up a good show". The two firsts in the senior yearling, the junior yearling and the two-year-old classes were good enough for any show anywhere, he said.

Shorthorns

There was a good showing of beef cattle yesterday and the judge had difficulty placing many of the animals in the various classes. There was also a large crowd on hand watching the placings here.

The Grand Champion Male was owned by Mr. A. H. Boswell and Son, Marshfield, and the Grand Champion Female was owned by the same exhibitor. Other winners included: Frank Sanderson and Sons, North River; Harry Tweedy, Cherry Valley; A. A. MacBeth, Marshfield; Stanley Hurry, Winsloe and George Dockendorff.

Mr. S. A. Porter of the Experimental Station at Kentville, judged the beef cattle. He had words of praise for the Shorthorns which were paraded before him during the day.

"The classes were very good and there were some outstanding animals on display," declared Mr. Porter who has judged here on two former occasions.

He made particular mention of three "outstanding shorthorns" which passed under his scrutiny in the morning. Asked who owned these animals, Mr. Porter said he did not know but on consulting the records said they belonged to A. H. Boswell and Son, Marshfield, A. A. McBeth, Marshfield and Seymour Wood and Son, Mount Herbert.

Speaking of the afternoon classes, Mr. Porter said "there are some excellent females on exhibition". These animals shown would stand up well in either class, the dual purpose or beef, but this year they were judged solely on beef points. There were some outstanding cows in the aged class and the two-year-olds.

The Grand Championship went to a heifer after a close competition, he said.

Holsteins

Mr. W. S. Dickie, Truro, N. S., judged the Holsteins. Although the classes were not large the quality was up to standard, he said.

He had words of praise for the Grand Champion cow, Rocharm Colantha. "She is a wonderful cow and carries her age well," he stated. For a cow that has produced as much as she has, she is still a great credit to her herd, he added. She had some good cows to beat.

Mr. Dickie gave credit to the breeders for bringing their animals out in such good condition despite the shortage of farm labor and other difficulties which had to be surmounted.

The Holsteins deserve the praise given them by the judge and the same high standard animals as in former years were shown. The supporters showed much interest in the exhibits of their friends.

The Grand Champion male was owned by Mr. Cecil J. Stewart, while the Grand Champion Female, Rocharm Colantha, was shown by Mr. Allison Profitt, Freetown.

Poultry

The poultry were judged by Messrs. A.F. Darnell and F.A. Driscoll of the Dominion Department of Agriculture and Mr. Donald MacKinnon of Glenfinnan. The eggs were judged by Mr. Emeric Holland of the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

Commenting on the classes of poultry, Mr. Driscoll said the show in general was not quite as large as last year and the varieties are not representative as some of the breeders did not have any entries on display. However, in general the poultry is up to the high standard of quality that is typical of Island flocks, he added.

The American breeds, Barred Plymouth Rocks and New Hampshires, predominated and were up to standard. The Wyandottes and White Rocks, though few in number, were of good quality.

There were large classes in the White Leghorns and the old and young were equal to anything in the past few years. Mr. Driscoll declared. Comparatively new breeds to the province, the Light Sussex and Australorps were well represented in the show. Although the entry list of Games and Bantams was small, it was of high quality. The geese and duck entries were not large but the birds showing were up to the standard of quality set in other years.

NEW "QUEEN" FILM GAY MYSTERY HIT

Set as it is against the interesting background of a great hospital, "Ellery Queen And The Murder Ring" may not be exactly what the doctor ordered—so far as that hospital's patients are concerned — but it's right down the entertainment groove, if enthusiastic audience reaction at the Capitol Theatre, Summerside, is to be credited.

Latest in the sensational series of Ellery Queen crime films, Ellery Queen And The Murder Ring" is one of the most absorbing mystery dramas of the season. Ralph Bellamy again appears as the famed amateur sleuth of fiction, radio and screen, with lovely Margaret Lindsay returning as Nikki Porter, Ellery's man-hunting secretary who doesn't particularly care whether she catches Ellery or a murder—but prefers Ellery! Other familiars are Charley Grapewin, as Inspector Queen, and James Burke, as Sergeant Velie.

"Ellery Queen And The Murder Ring" begins with a fatal operation, necessitated by an automobile accident, upon a wealthy Wall Street widow. Ellery learns not only that the accident itself was a murder attempt, but that the death itself was criminally inspired. Two more murders occur before the super-sleuth is able to pin his finger on the guilty individual.

Many friends in Borden and surrounding districts were delighted to hear a former pastor, Rev. P.A. Fitzpatrick of West St. John, at Borden Union Hall on Sunday evening. Mr. Fitzpatrick was one of the first minsters to preach in Borden hall in 1924. He was then pastor of the Tryon circuit. On Sunday evening his message to the large audience was, Light In Darkness. He pointed out how no matter how dark the times are there was always some light shining through, and when war is over and peace reigns again, Jesus will still be the light of the world and men all over the world will look up to him as the Way, the Truth and the Life. A pleasant feature of the evening service was a solo Beautiful Jesus sweetly rendered by Miss Mary Muttart.

On Saturday evening the death occurred in the Prince County Hospital of Alban Gallant little son of Mr. and Mrs. William Gallant of Borden at the early age of two years and four months. The little one had taken ill on Friday and on Saturday evening was removed to the hospital at Summerside but despite best medical care he passed away a few hours later. Besides the parents there are left to mourn three sisters Eleanor, Shirley and Aldona and one brother Robert all at home in Borden. A short funeral service was held on Sunday at 3 p.m., Sacred Heart church in Borden by Rev. W. V. MacDonald, after which interment took place in Seven Mile Bay cemetery. A.

RELEASED FOR NURSING

LONDON — (CP) — Labor Ministry officials have been told to release any woman who wants to volunteer for nursing, no matter what her wartime job may be, which is hoped will relieve shortage of nurses.

"GO ON! Do something — I dare ya! Oh, scared, eh!" Baby Lois' eager mind discovers new wonders every day. And soon she'll be old enough to dig into a breakfast bowl of Kellogg's Corn Flakes. That'll be the day! Just wait till she tastes that can't-be-matched flavour! How is your supply of Kellogg's?

ALICE ROSS holds destiny in her hand as she makes final hair-breadth adjustments on sensitive airplane instruments. "Can't afford a morning let-down," she says, "so I begin every day with the 'Self-Starter' Breakfast. Kellogg's Corn Flakes are swell . . . no wonder they're Canada's favourite ready-to-eat cereal." Get some Kellogg's Corn Flakes today!

SHE'S A SELF-STARTER . . . a nurse has to be. In the midst of suffering, she must be cheerful, alert, constantly on the go. She knows the importance of proper diet . . . says, "I work hard . . . yes. But I find a breakfast with Kellogg's Corn Flakes helps give me the food energy I need to keep going at top speed." Did you know that a big bowlful with milk and a little sugar gives needed food energy . . . enough, for instance, to walk over 3½ miles, or climb up and down stairs over 50 times! That's why it's called the "SELF-STARTER" BREAKFAST.

AGAINST CANADA'S SKYLINE are silhouetted hundreds of busy carpenters like this one, working at top speed to provide living quarters for Canada's fighting men. He says: "A bowl of Kellogg's Corn Flakes, with milk and sugar, really helps me sail through the day. And breakfast is always on time now that Mary serves the 30-second breakfast . . . no pots and pans to wash up after, either." Try Kellogg's Corn Flakes tomorrow.

JURY FINDS DEATH

head facing in the direction the car was going. Witness said that they were walking about 10 feet from the line of the car, the road was 21 feet wide and the car was as far to the left side as possible. The driver sounded his horn when he was quite a distance away from the deceased's party. The car was not going 25 miles per hour witness said, and the driver did not call out to the deceased. Mr. MacNeill moved and witness helped him sit up but he did not speak. The car had good brakes and Mr. MacNeill's sight was good although his hearing was defective.

The next witness was Mrs. McNevin, wife of the first witness, who was walking with her husband and Mr. MacNeill when the latter was struck. Her evidence was similar to that of Mr. McNevin. She thought MacNeill dropped in behind while the car was passing but did not look back.

Witness said she did not notice whether the car horn had been sounded. She did not notice any bleeding of the deceased.

Neil MacDougall, Nine Mile Creek, testified that he was in the car when it struck Mr. MacNeill. He had been picked up by the driver at his house at 9.30 a. m. Church was to start at 10.30 a. m. He said it was three miles to the church and that they were driving for about five minutes before the time of the accident. They were travelling at about 30 miles per hour. The car is new and had good brakes. The driver Albert MacDougall was a good driver although he had only one eye and wears glasses, witness said. He had never had any other trouble while driving with him before. He told those present that he saw Mr. MacNeill turn towards the car, take a quick step and seemed to fall over and the driver put the brakes on. He said they had passed many other people on the road but there was no one very near the scene of the accident. The car was travelling about 20 miles per hour and Mr. and Mrs. McNevin and Mr. MacNeill were on the right hand side of the road, the wrong side, while most of the others were on the left side. He did not notice the driver sound the horn.

Mrs. F. MacEachern

Mrs. Fletcher MacEachern, Rice Pt., said that she, her sister, Mrs. MacDougall and daughter, were walking down the lane from their house to the road when they were picked up by Albert MacDougall and drove the rest of the way by car. It was 2 1-4 miles to the church from their house. When they had about 1 1-2 miles to go they picked up another woman and two children. This made nine in the car, three in the front and six in the back. Witness said she saw three people walking along, the driver had sounded his horn to the people behind these and then the deceased appeared to run in front of the car. She shouted that there was a man crossing the road. They were travelling in the centre of the road at about 30 miles per hour when they struck Mr. MacNeill. Witness said she had gone to school with Mr. MacNeill. She saw that the victim was bleeding.

Miss Annie Gass, Cornwall, was the next witness. She was with Mrs. MacEachern and the others when they were picked up by Albert MacDougall. She said there were three in the front seat and six in the back seat of the car when the accident occurred. The front seat was not crowded, she said. She did not see Mr. and Mrs. McNevin and the deceased until Mr. MacNeil started to walk across the road fairly fast. No one in the back of the car shouted. Witness did not see the car strike the man. She saw him lying on the road, and said that he moved and was bleeding from the mouth and that the driver had applied his brakes.

Driver of Car

Albert MacDougall, Canoe Cove farmer, was the next witness. He was the driver of the car which struck the deceased. He drives the minister's car and was on his way to church picking up people as he drove along. He had left his wife and two children at home and was going to come back for them later. He went to Nine Mile Creek and got Neil MacDougall, drove through Rice Point and picked up Neil's mother, sister, Mrs. MacEachern, Miss Gass, a woman and two children, making nine in the car. It was a 1940 Ford car. He was driving at about 30 miles per hour but saw that people on the road were getting the dust so slowed down. There were no other cars on the road. He said he is not a speeder and always watches the speedometer so that he knew how fast he was driving. Witness recognized the deceased with Mr. and Mrs. McNevin about 150 yards ahead and at that time they were well over to the right side of the road. MacNeill was behind the others. He said that he swerved to the left and jammed his brakes when the deceased came out in front of the car. Deceased had reeled from the top of the right front fender and struck the front door. Witness said his left eye was glass but that the right had been tested and was perfect but he wore glasses to ease the strain on it.

The R. C. M. Police then told the coroner and jury that they had tested the brakes on the car and found them perfect.

The coroner told the jury that the deceased had died from a fracture of the skull.

The jury adjourned and returned with the verdict the deceased had come to his death accidentally when struck by a car driven by Albert MacDougall who was freed of all blame. This verdict was undersigned by the jury: Byron Brown (foreman), Joseph Storey, James Fower, Samuel Craig, Donald Fraser, Preston Sentner, James Hennessey.
