The Central Guardian

IT PAYS to buy in this Province.

PUBLIC BANQUET in the pro-Cathedral today from 5 to 7 p. m. Satisfying supper will be served for the nominal fee of 25 cents. 2971

THE STANLEY.— The C. G. S. Stanley docked in Charlottetown last night at 8.30 with freight and passengers.

FUNERAL.—The funeral of the late Lois Hope Humphrey of Wilmot Valley will take place today at 3 p. m., Interment, North Bedeque.

CONTINUES TOMORROW.— The annual High Tea and Bazaar in the pro-Cathedral continues tomorrow, at the same hour as today. 2971.

NOT OF THE 105th.— Pte. Shea, referred to in yesterday's morning's Guardian was a member of the First Construction Battalion and not of the 105th, as stated.

PATRIOTIC SOCIETY.— The meeting of the Patriotic Society will be held in the Armouries this afternoon at 4 o'clock, not in the Board of Trade Rooms as previously intimated.

WITCHES IN THE CITY.— They will be seen by all who attend the annual Hallow E'en Tea and Bazaar in the pro-Cathedral today and tomorrow. 2971

WEDDED IN ENGLAND.— A cable was received in the city yesterday, announcing the marriage of Captain J. W. Stanley, of the 2nd Canadian Heavy Battery, in England, on November 6th.

A MEETING OF THE HORSE SHOERS of Queen's County will be held at J. A. Henderson's forge Thursday, at 8 o'clock p. m., Nov. 9, 1916. Business of importance will be attended, everybody cordially invited. 2972,11,8,M2i.

"THE TRAITOR AND HIS DOOM." —Rev. Dr. Fullerton delivered an eloquent and impressive address in St. James' Hall last night on "The Traitor and His Doom." There was a large congregation and a splendid choir led excellent congregational singing. The subject of Dr. Fullerton's address was the betrayal by Judas, and he preached in vivid language the life which had its end in the potter's field. Tonight the subject of the address will be :"One of the Most Daring Incidents in Christ's Life." The service begins at 8 p. m. and lasts an hour.

TEACHER'S MAGAZINE.— The Teacher's Magazine has now fairly won its way into the front rank among contemporary magazines. The October number is certainly a credit to its editorial management in the quality, selection and the arrangement of its matter. A real poetical gem "The Lesson," by Charlottetown's poetess, "Lucy Gertrude Clarkin," is given, as it well deserves, the first page of the magazine. The leading article, editorial, on the true aim of education is thoughtfully and earnestly written. "Education", it says, "as far as our schools can furnish it, should have a definite effect in the building of character, should form habits of right living by the inculcation of good morals," etc. Such is the trend of this article. Following this are the various departments, each ably and carefully edited, including educative and instructive articles on the work in the different school grades, such as English, Arithmetic, Nature Study, etc. Altogether the magazine is an excellent number and should not only be in the hands of the teachers but in the homes of the pupils. For the modest price, $1.00 a year asked for it, no home should be without it.

TEA N PRO-CATHEDRAL today from 5 to 7 p. m., Children admitted free from 3 to 5 in the afternoon. 2971.

IT'S TODAY and tomorrow, the big annual Hallow E'en Tea and Bazaar in the pro-Cathedral. Tea will be served from 5 to 7 p. m. and the Bazaar with its novel attractions will continue throughout the evening. 2971

CHURCH SERVICES.— There will be service in the Murray Harbor South, Little Sands, and Murray River congregations next Sabbath at the regular hours.

JOINED ENGINEERS.— Mr. Artemas W. Cameron of Cape Traverse, is the latest man to join the Canadian Engineers here. Sergt. Colpitts is the recruiting officer.

SCHOONER ARRIVED.— The schooner Marguerite, arrived from Campbellton, N. B., today with a full cargo of spruce and cedar shingles for L. M. Poole & Co., Connolly's West Wharf. 2969.

PREACHING AT MURRAY RIVER. —The Rev. Thomas A. Wilson, B. Sc., will conduct the Presbyterian services in the Murray Harbor South congregation on Sunday, November 12th at the appointed hours.

OMISSION.— In connection with the L. O. A. celebration at Brackley Point, Monday evening, the name of Mr. George Birt, was omitted from the report. Mr. Birt is a member of McLean Lodge and the member of King George lodge gave him a warm welcome.

A SAD MESSAGE.— Mr. D. O. M. Reddin, City, yesterday received a wire from his son, Edwin, in Butte, Montana, announcing the sad news that the latter's wife had passed away after undergoing a serious operation. She was a native of Montana, and the many friends of Mr. Reddin who was familiarly known here as "Ted" will deeply sympathize with him in his bereavement.

President Wilson And Entente Allies

the nation in feeling. No matter how people might differ with him politically, he did not want them to differ with him in love of America. They were bound on the same journey of service, although they might take different roads.

"ARE THEY DIVIDED?"

"Foreign nations think we are divided, and it is our duty to prove to them that we are united," he continued. "We cannot prove that we are united if we are divided. There can be no bluff about that."

The enterprise of the immediate future was a great "get-together" enterprise, he said:

Mr. Wilson dealt at some length with social betterment— a modified "uplift" policy. The United States, he said, had omitted the public promotion of vocations education, which should now receive attention. He would organize the assistance of the Nation for education and advancement of the working people of the United States of every class and trade. Simplification of the procedure of the courts, too, was needed, in order that they should be made "ready instruments of justice at the disposal of the common man." As for the eight hour day he would "go the whole length wherever it could possibly be made to work."

FOREIGN POLICY.

Reverting to the issue over the foreign policy of the United States, the speaker said: "I want all this irrelevant talk to end so that we can accomplish something. There is the impression in some quarters that this nation does not mean the same thing to all of us. The impression has arisen that some of us have our hearts outside America, and some of us have our hearts inside America. I believe that impression is due largely to the atmosphere of a political campaign. . . . This nation means only one thing to the people who belong to it and it is only going to mean one thing to the people who do not belong to it. As we shall devote ourselves impartially to justice and right in the relations of our own people, we mean to devote ourselves to justice and right in the relations of all people.

"We are not going to be drawn into quarrels which do not touch the thing towards which America has set his face. America is not interested in seeing one nation or one group of nation prevail against another. But we are interested in seeing justice founded upon right established throughout the world. We are not only not afraid to fight but not disinclined to fight when we can find something as big as American ideals.

DRAWN INTO THE CURRENT.

"We have fought again and again for the rights of humanity. God forbid that we should ever fight for the purpose of aggression or self satisfaction!

"It is a sort of heart problem after all," continued Mr. Wilson. "We should be united in order that we may lead our single, united force to the maintenance of justice throughout the world. No year ahead of us is going to be like any year behind us. The war has changed the face of affairs for us. It has drawn America out, almost in spite of herself, into the great current of international politics. The word American must mean one single thing everywhere—justice enthroned in all her benignant force."

And when they had sung. "My country 'Tis of Thee." they went out into the night before 9.30 p. m. It was a short political meeting, almost colorless, and almost meaningless because the President appeared to be incapable of seizing the opportunities which it offered.

STEAMER LANAO SUNK BY A SUBMARINE.

LONDON, Nov. 6.— Lloyds announce that the American steamship Lanao, has been sunk by a submarine. Thirty men have landed at Barry. The Lanao was sunk on October 28. Lloyds report.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.— The steamer Lanao is not an American owned vessel, according to records of the bureau of navigation of the department of commerce, which shows Hans Hannevrg of Christiana Norway, as her owner and that she was sold by her American owners in the Phillipines recently.

Records of the Bureau show the Lanao was owned by the Findlay Miller Steamship Company, of Manila. Her sale to Hans Hannevrg was reported by the United States consul general at London in a report sent July 24 this year. The reported purchase price was $20,000.

The men landed at Barry were brought in by the Norwegian steamship Tromp.

The Lanao was owned by the Findlay Steamship Company of Manila. She was a small vessel of 692 tons gross. 190 feet long and 36 feet beam. She was built in 1912 at Bowling, Scotland. The last report on the movements of the Lanao was her arrival at Suez on October 9 in the course of a voyage from Saigon, French Cochin China, whence she departed on August 20 for Hove.

The Norwegian steamer Tromp arrived in Barry Road on Saturday.

Grape-Nuts Flavor

Grape-Nuts food is probably the most appetizing form in which honest whole wheat is utilized as food.

But to whole wheat is added malted barley in making Grape-Nuts, and the sense of taste quickens at once when a spoonful of the food is eaten with cream. For the barley has a rich, individual taste which, blended with the sweetness of wheat, creates a rare flavor recognized by the palate as unusually new and delicious.

Aside from its wonderfully vitalizing value as a food, Grape-Nuts has a flavor that has made it a favorite everywhere.
