Tough Neck May Aid Godoy Stop The Brown Bomber's Whirlwind Attacks

By Sid Feder
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 18—(AP)—If there's anything to the old fistic fad that your best belters must be toughtest in neck, legs and wrists, then Arturo Godoy stands a somewhat better chance than Joe Louis in Yankee Stadium Thursday night than a raw steak in a dog pound.

His neck particularly—a 17 1-2 collar just about marks the circuit—has been pointed out by old timers as a lot sturdier article than the one which adorn s the Brown Bomber. And old Harry Wills, who has one of those tree-trunks between head and soulders, himself, comes up with the explanation as to how it gets that way.

It seems you spend a hour or so daily, week after week, having a medicine ball bounced off your chin. "You does it gently first, then harder and harder," Harry says. "Pretty soon, you got a shock absorber there for punches to the chin."

Godoy tried this "cure" back in Chile, and, while he can't say he likht it, that particular exercise so strengthened his neck veteran boxing men believe it was the reason the Bomber couldn't budge him with his dynamite in the first meet last February.

Despite what may be billed as an edge for Arturo in neck and legs—he has done 450 miles of roadwork at his training camp—the betting boys still like Lou's tonight to take care of things Thursday. He was held at 1 to 5 in the bookie parlors.

Both belters wound up training today.

Medwick Injured By Pitched Ball

BROOKLYN, June 18—(AP)—Five days after joining Brooklyn Dodgers in a deal that seemed likely to decide the National League pennant, outfielder Joe Medwick was struck on the head by a pitched ball today and suffered a concussion of the brain.

He was expected to be lost to the team for about three weeks.

The accident occurred in the first inning of a game between the Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals, Medwick's former teammates.

Bob Bowman, 25-year-old right-hander, threw the pitch that dropped the famous slugger. His first pitch to "Ducky" was a high, nard one that knocked Medwick unconscious.

Mrs. Medwick, sitting in a box nearby, screamed, but most of the crowd of more than 10,000 fans watched in tense silence as Medwick was carried from the field on a stretcher.

He was removed to a (Caledonian) hospital. Two physicians said they found no evidence of a fracture and at the hospital Dr. Daniel McAteer said the concussion did not appear critical.

CHURCHILL

Urges French To Fight On

Mr. Churchill urged the French to fight on, to sign no separate peace.

The French, he said, have not stopped fighting. "We do not know yet what will happen in France or whether French resistance will be prolonged both in France and in the French empire overseas."

The British government he said, cannot feel able to free France from her treaty obligations to fight on to the end.

"The French government will be throwing away great opportunities and casting away their future if they do not continue the war."

Taunts Mussolini

As for Mussolini, Mr. Churchill dismissed him with a taunt:—"We are told that the Italian navy is coming to gain sea superiority in these waters....if that is seriously intended, I can only say we shall be delighted to offer Mussolini free, safe-guarded passage through the Straits of Gibraltar, in order that he may play the part he aspires to do....

"There is a general curiosity in the British fleet to find out whether the Italians are up to the level they were in the last war or whether they have fallen off."

He gave no hint of the future of the French fleet, but in the House of Lords, Viscount Caldecote, dominions secretary, said he was confident the French would seek to "remove every hindrance" to continuation of the struggle by their British ally.

Moreover, French sources in London said they considered it probable that the French near east and African armies would keep up resistance, with air and naval forces operating from British bases and government representatives established in England.

Mr. Churchill disclosed that only three British divisions were able to stand in line in the battle of France with the French; that the battle was lost before more could be re-equipped and transported, after the disaster of Flanders.

He refused to accept distinctions between members of his government; he ruled out "a quarrel between the past and the present" which he said would lose the future.

Clamps Lid On Debate

He clamped the lid on debate today; that may come, he assured Commons, in Thursday's secret session, and "our dangerous foe" will not hear it.

Mr. Churchill struck a balance sheet for and against invasion.

Seven eighths of the troops sent to France, or 350,000 out of 400,000, are safely home, he said. Others still are fighting with the French.

"A great mass" of munitions was saved.

"Much disappointed," Canadians who were actually landed in France are back in England "with all their artillery and equipment."

Only a hostile army on a very large scale — transported by sea, continually maintained with munitions and supplies — could successfully invade England.

"After all," he reminded the nation, "we have a navy." The Germans "have only a couple of heavy ships worth speaking of."

Every vigilance is being used to meet "novel treacheries and strategies."

OBJECTED TO ARTICLE

SAINT JOHN, N. B., June 18—A scheduled Canadian Club luncheon at which club members were to have been addressed today by Professor R. A. McKay, of Dalhousie University, was cancelled by the club executive after objection was taken to statements in an article titled "Will Canada Go to War?" written by Prof. McKay and published in the January, 1936, edition of Canadian Business.

The executive said it had received the objection from club members and thus ordered the cancellation.

Prof. McKay, a member of the Royal Commission on Dominion-Provincial Relations, had been expected to speak regarding the Commission's report.

Brooklyn Dodgers Lose Fourth Straight As Cards Win 7-5 In 11 Innings

NEW YORK, June 18—(AP)—The Dodgers were sidetracked again today by St. Louis Cardinals 7-5 in an 11-inning struggle at Brooklyn that was marred by the serious injury of Joe Medwick, who was struck on the head by a pitched ball.

It was the seventh straight triumph for the Cardinals, and the fourth defeat in a row for the Dodgers.

When Cookie Lavagetto hit a homer in the seventh Brooklyn appeared to have a satisfactory margin. Then Luke Hamlin relaxed and served up one of his well known home run balls to Enos (Country) Slaughter with a man on base in the eighth and St. Louis went on to win.

Hugh Casey, who relieved Hamlin with two on and two out in the 10th, walked Terry Moore, the first man up in the 11th. Moore was sacrificed to second, stole third and came on home when substitute shortstop Johnny Hudson threw wild.

Berardino Hits Homer With Bases Loaded To Beat Red Sox 11-7

NEW YORK, June 18—(AP)—In as melodramatic a finish as any home fan could dream of, Johnny Berardino, the Browns sturdy shortstop, smashed out a home run with the bases loaded in the 10th inning today to defeat the league-leading Boston Red Sox 11-7 at St. Louis.

The Browns fought the Red Sox right down the line, pushing a run across in the ninth inning on Don Heffner's single, an error and Walter Judnich's single to tie the score.

George McQuinn opened the 10ht by working Jim Bagby for a base on balls. Harland Clift doubled, McQuinn pulling up at third. Lyn Larry batted for Bill Trotter, the Browns' winning pitcher, and was passed intentionally. Berardino then came through with the grand slam.

Southpaw Ed Smith baffled New York Yankees on six hits again today to lead the White Sox to a 5-3 victory over the American league champions at Chicago.

The outcome ended a five-game losing streak for Chicago and extended the Yankees' skid to three in a row.

The White Sox peppered three New York hurlers with 14 hits scoring one run in each of the first four innings, as Atley Dnoald retired with his second defeat of the season. In the Chicago collection were home runs by Mike Kreevich and Julius Solters.

The Yanks also had two homers Charley Keller's 11th of the season in the first and Joe Dimaggio's 10th.
