

Miss Josephine Lane, A Society Leader of Boston, After Five Years' Suffering from Backache and Kidney Trouble Was Restored to Health by WARNER'S SAFE CURE.

MISS JOSEPHINE LANE.

"I suffered for over five years with malaria and kidney trouble—my whole system was impregnated with the poison. It affected my general health, robbing me of energy and vitality, and causing severe headache and backache. The digestive organs were also impaired, so my food seemed tasteless and like lead in my stomach. I passed a dreary existence and my naturally happy disposition was changed into one of constant irritation and nervous inconsistencies.

"Warner's Safe Cure was the only remedy ever found which helped me. I began taking it in March, and before the warm weather came I was completely cured, felt like a new woman, full of life and hope.

"Words cannot tell how pleased I am to have my health back. I have a keen appetite and enjoy my meals; digestion is perfect. All my aches and pains have left me. I have gained nine pounds in weight and I feel in harmony with all the world because I am now perfectly well." Very sincerely, MISS JOSEPHINE LANE, 133 Shawmut Ave., Boston, Mass.

Thousands, both men and women, like Miss Lane, have been cured of serious complications caused by kidney disease neglected, by Warner's Safe Cure, after all so-called kidney cures had failed.

If you have pains in the back, rheumatism, uric acid poison, rheumatic gout, diabetes, Bright's disease, inflammation of the bladder and urinary organs; scalding pains when you urinate, eczema, jaundice, swellings or torpid liver; if a woman, bearing-down sensation, fainting spells, so-called female weakness, painful periods; these symptoms tell you that your kidneys have been diseased for a long time, for kidney diseases seldom put out such symptoms as the victim recognizes until they have been working several months. You should lose no time—get a bottle of Safe Cure at your druggist's. It will relieve you at once and effect a permanent cure. It kills all disease germs.

Y., and 44 Lombard St., Toronto, Can., and our doctors will analyze it and send you a report with advice free of charge to you, together with a valuable book describing all diseases of the kidneys, liver, bladder and blood, and treatment for each disease.

All letters from women, read and answered by a woman doctor. All correspondence in strictest confidence.

THE TRUE GENTLEMAN AS DESCRIBED BY DEAN FARRAR

The word gentleman has two wholly distinct meanings. In one sense, in accordance with its derivation from the Latin gentilis, it means a man who has some dignity of birth, one who belongs to a 'gens' or clan. In this meaning a gentleman is a person or rank between the nobility and the commonalty; as when we say of a person, 'He was born a gentleman.' Every nobleman, of course, ranks as a gentleman, but all gentlemen are not of noble birth. Shakespeare writes in 'The Merchant of Venice':

'I freely told you all the wealth I had Ran in my veins; I was a gentleman.' The other meaning of the word gentleman is far from complex and difficult to define. In common parlance a gentleman is the opposite to what is generally called 'a cad.' In this sense the humblest peasant may be a perfect gentleman, and the lordliest of dukes an absolute cad. The poets, who are often our wisest teachers, have repeatedly dwelt on this truth. It is the thought which runs through Burns' magnificent poem, 'A man's a man for a' that.'

A king can mak' a belted knight,
A marquis, duke, and a' that;
But an honest man's aboon his might.
Gude faith, he mauna fa' that!
For a' that, and a' that,
Their dignities and a' that;
The pith o' sense, the pride o' worth,
Are higher ranks than a' that.'

Whenever a man in society is guilty of obtrusive self-assertion; whenever he tries to monopolize attention by thrusting himself into the conversation of others; whenever his talk is almost exclusively occupied with himself and his own doings, he shows at once that, in the true sense of the word, he is not a gentleman. If, again, he shows no consideration for the feelings of others; if he ignores their susceptibilities; if his conversation has no delicacy or reserve in it, he will at once be recognized by all present as lacking in the qualities of a gentleman. "A gentleman's first characteristic is fineness of nature," says Mr. Ruskin. Hence Steele says, "Men of courage, men of sense, and men of letters are frequent; but a true gentleman is what one seldom sees."

A delicate sympathy, a refined desire to give no needless pain by heedless remarks, a fine regard for the feelings of others, a bearing full of courtesy which has not in the least touch of condescension—all these are marks of a true gentleman.

With this agrees Tennyson's definition of a clown in the Princess:

'And yet, I said, 'you wrong him more than I
That struck him; This is proper to the clown,
Tho' smock'd, or furr'd and purpled—still the clown,
To harm the thing that trusts him and to shame
That which he says he loves.'

Nor is Tennyson less emphatic in insisting upon this lesson in his 'In Memoriam':

"And so we bore without abuse
The grand old name of gentleman,
Defamed by every charlatan,
And sold'd with all ignoble use."

It is not difficult to point out the characteristics which distinguish a true gentleman, whatever may be his rank, from one who has no claim to this appellation, however high may be his birth.

We remember the old English war cry of Wat Tyler—"When Adam delved and Eva span, who was then the gentleman" and the line of Dryden—"His tribe were God Almighty's gentlemen."

Blustering self-assertion and insolent pride of rank at once show that a man is no gentleman. An anecdote is told of a nobleman who once insolently pushed himself in front of another in entering a room, with the remark, "I never make way for my inferiors." "I always do," was the reply of the gentleman, made with a polite bow and a pleasant smile.

GROSS INSURANCE FRAUDS.

NEW YORK, March 9.—With the disinterment of three bodies in Calvary Cemetery this afternoon, under an order from Judge O'Gorman of the Supreme Court, the District Attorney's office clinched the cases against the graveyard insurance suspects. The three bodies exhumed differed so greatly from the descriptions of the applicants for insurance that the medical examiners of the several insurance companies and the Company officials declare there was no room for doubt that gross frauds had been perpetrated.

BIG GAMBLING RAID.

NEW YORK, March 7.—Fifty prisoners and an immense quantity of gambling apparatus were captured to-night in simultaneous raids on two gambling houses in West 24th and 25th Streets. The police forced an entrance into both places by battering down doors with axes and sledgehammers having previously drawn cordons around the houses to prevent the escape of any of the inmates. All the prisoners, many of whom were in evening dress, were driven in patrol wagons to the police station where most of them were released on furnishing bail.

The Dry Cough of Bronchitis. The Distressing Asthma Gasps

The chest pains and soreness, the tightness and desperate struggle for breath, with recurring and increased violence, drive many to despair who have not yet learned of the efficiency of

Dr. Chase's Syrup of LINSEED AND TURPENTINE

Bronchitis and Asthma are very similar in nature and frequently go hand in hand. They require similar treatment, for in both diseases the distressing symptoms result from contraction and closing up of the bronchial tubes and hence difficult breathing, coughing and expectoration.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine not only affords prompt relief, which in itself is considered sufficient reason for its use, but actually cures these ailments and prevents their recurrence. This great prescription should not be compared with ordinary cough mixtures, for it is entirely different, acting, as it does on the whole system and entirely overcoming disease.

BRONCHITIS

Or "cold on the chest," as it is known to many, is marked by chest pains and soreness, which become more severe on taking a long breath and are aggravated with coughing. The cough is at first dry and harsh and there is little expectoration. As the disease continues the cough becomes looser and expectoration more profuse and less painful, being frothy, viscid and often streaked with blood.

Bronchitis is most dreaded because it has a tendency to become chronic and return again and again until the patient becomes worn out or falls an easy prey to consumption or pneumonia. Only the most robust constitutions can throw off bronchitis. Aged people, children and all who are in delicate health or have weak lungs have every reason to fear this ailment.

Because it is mistaken for an ordinary cold bronchitis is too frequently allowed to fasten itself on the system. Just as soon as there is a feeling of tightness in the chest or soreness on taking a long breath you have reason to fear bronchitis and any delay at this point is dangerous to say the least.

ASTHMA

Occurs in paroxysms and usually at night. The patient awakens with a feeling of suffocation; he is unable to lie down, but finds relief in sitting with his elbows on his knees, head thrown back and mouth open. Breath is drawn with the greatest effort and air is expelled from the lungs with a wheezing sound. The face is pale, the skin cool, perspiration is profuse and the countenance exhibits anxiety and distress.

There is considerable coughing with asthma and expectoration of mucus, but this varies according to the amount of accompanying bronchitis. That there is relief and cure for asthma is attested by all who have used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for this ailment. The great remedy gives relief by clearing the bronchial tubes, making breathing easy and soothing the excited nerves.

Language fails to express the gratitude which asthma sufferers feel for the discoverer of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine when it has freed them from one of the frightful paroxysms, and many state positively that it is a permanent cure as well as a prompt relief.

Be Suspicious of the Substitutor

When you decide that Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine will be of benefit to you do not allow your dealer to persuade you to accept something said to be "just as good." No substitute is just as good as the article it is made to take the place of or why should it not sell on its own merits. Any dealer who would substitute another remedy in place of what you ask for would not hesitate to substitute one drug in place of another in the prescription you give him to fill. Insist on seeing the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase on the bottle you buy. No medicine can have a stronger guarantee. 25c. a bottle, family size, three times as much, 60c., at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.
