ALCOHOL TALKS TO YOUTH

Youth meets Mr. Alcohol in a physiological laboratory and starts a conversation.

Youth: Mr. Alcohol, I am an intelligent Canadian youth. I have a sound body and a good mind, and I hope always to keep those so. I am anxious to succeed in school. I want to take part in athletics, and I'd like to become an honourable, dependable and capable citizen when I am through school.

Mr. Alcohol: Why tell me this? Do you think I can help you?

Youth: I honestly doubt it. Yet I meet you in art, in industry, in the laboratory; and often when I am out socially with my friends, I hear much that is good and much that is bad about you. Some say you are good for me to drink; others say you will do me harm. I'd like to know the truth.

Mr. Alcohol: Youth, as the gangsters express it, you have "put me on the spot." In a physiological laboratory like this I have to tell the truth. Of late, outside the laboratory, I have heard so many flattering and misleading remarks about myself that I have begun to doubt my own identity. But here in the laboratory I am never deceived about myself and I must tell you truly what you want to know.

Youth: That is exactly what I want. I want facts. I have heard and read all sorts of stories about you. You just couldn't all be true. And I am not asking for information out of idle curiosity. I really want reliable information about you that I can use myself and pass on to my friends.

Mr. Alcohol: That's fair enough. I am not likely to keep those so, folks who know the truth about me. Take a chair, because it will take time to tell you all you ought to know about me. My story best in my own way and I'll confine this story to facts.

Alcohol Tells Youth Who He Is

Youth, I am a clear colorless liquid with a characteristic odour by which I am recognized by those who know me. I am a valuable solvent and have a strong affinity for water. My full name is Ethyl Alcohol.

I am composed of three of the most abundant elements found in Nature. They are carbon, oxygen and hydrogen, combined in special way to form a chemical substance with the formula, C₂H₅OH, of which the 'OH' is the characteristic group.

I am a narcotic poison, which means that I numb your feelings when you are under my influence. I make you appear to be what you are not. You think you are clever and witty when in reality you are only less self-critical; you have less fear of talking too much or too foolishly. You feel less worried and therefore think you are more happy. You think you are rested when in reality you are more tired. This numbing action of mine has been known to last for three hours and longer. This of course, depends upon how much you have taken of me. It is this narcotic property which led King Solomon to say: "Wine is a mocker, and whosoever is deceived thereof is not wise." I am the most abundant and the most important of a set of quintuplets known as the Alcohol Family. Our names are Methyl, Ethyl, Propyl, Butyl and Amyl. We are all poisons, ranging in degree in order named, with Amyl about four times as poisonous as I, but contrary to common belief, and more poisonous than Methyl, wood alcohol. While we both belong to the Alcohol Family, we are not quite so much alike as we look. Methyl's main line of attack at the nerve of sight, and leaves you blind, while I attack your higher nerve centres and deprive you of judgment, reason, emotions and senses.

My greatest faults are: I am easy to make, easy to take and I do deceive all of you that drink me. I do you the greatest harm when you take me in high concentration, in the form of strong drink or a better known as "hard" liquor.

Although I am classed as a poison I seem to carry with it little meaning, for too many people have taken me, or have seen others take me, who did not die as a result of my presence in their bodies. They seem to regard my method of deception as serious. The fact that I seldom kill at once seems to remove the fear that I am really dangerous.

You will meet me in various drinks which occur under different names, and in which I am present in varying concentration. My content is measured either in terms of volume or weight. The volume percentage of me at present in Canada, is as follows in the following alcoholic beverages:

Beer	5 to 10 percent
Ale	7 percent
Hard Cider	8 percent
Wines	7 to 35 percent
Gin	40 to 50 percent
Brandy	54 percent
Whisky	40 to 50 percent
Rum	70 percent

How To Prevent Fires

It is an easy matter to prevent fires in our homes or places of business simply by being careful and using common sense. The following suggestions can be used as a guide in this matter:

Put lighted matches and smokes out before you throw them away. Keep matches where small children cannot reach them, and don't let your children play with matches. Never smoke in clothes closets, in the attic, in bed, or other hazardous places.

Remove rubbish, waste papers and all unnecessary combustible materials from attic and basement. Provide metal ash and garbage cans. Burn rubbish only in a properly constructed brick or metal fire. Teach every child the fire and have a pair of water handy.

Examine your stove, furnace and smoke-pipes to make sure they are safe and well away from woodwork or other burnable materials. Have repairs made at once. Replace worn-out smoke pipes.

Value the advice of your fire chief who says that many fires are caused by dirty or defective chimneys. Have a chimney cleaned regularly, and have all defects repaired.

Escape the danger of flammable liquid fires and explosions by keeping no gasoline in the house. Do dry cleaning with safe liquids or send the work to the cleaners. Never start fires with kerosene. Notify the electric company of electric trouble and the gas company of gas leaks. Replace "blow" switches with new ones—not pennies. Avoid homemade wiring jobs. Don't look for gas leaks with a match. Teach every member of the family to be careful of fire, to watch stoves, fireplaces, electric irons and all other possible fire causes.

Fireproof your home as far as possible by fire-safe roofing, fire stopping in hollow walls and partitions to stop the spread of flame, and a non-combustible basement ceiling.

Inquire of your fire chief, when buying a fire extinguisher, to be sure of getting the right kind. Don't hesitate to ask your firemen whenever you have questions on fire prevention.

Remember always where the nearest fire alarm box is and how to send an alarm. If telephoning, be sure the address is clearly understood. Use a neighbor's phone rather than one in the burning building.

Save your life to everyone in the house what to do in case of fire, how to put out fire in clothing by wrapping in a rug or blanket, what to do when grease catches fire in the kitchen by smothering the fire with a metal lid.

Save property from needless destruction by fire by keeping the principles of fire prevention always in mind and never allowing a chance for a fire—Dominion Fire Commissioner, Ottawa.

Every new Wage Earner

... should answer these questions:

How MANY 'earning years' are you looking forward to? Right now you take pleasure and pride in this job of yours! But later in life, retirement is going to seem pretty attractive too. Years slip by quickly. You should, accordingly, save through Mutual Life of Canada insurance which will provide for your retirement and protect your dependents...

Does it matter WHICH life insurance company you choose? Yes! Life insurance companies are much alike as to policies and rates, but actual long-term results vary widely. We invite you to compare The Mutual Life of Canada's record with that of any other company. Evidence of the satisfaction of four policyholders is furnished by the fact that whole families and succeeding generations have entrusted their life insurance programs exclusively to The Mutual Life of Canada, and each year approximately 35% of its new business comes from policyholders. Ask your Mutual Life representative to explain the special features of this Company.
