Every Mother A Doctor

It is an anxious time for mothers when the little ones get their feet cold and wet, and come home hoarse and coughing, or awaken in the night victims of deadly croup. Then it is that mothers turn gratefully to Dr. Chase, who, through his great Recipe Book and famous family remedies, has time and again saved the little ones and older ones, too, from suffering and death. It is truly surprising how promptly Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine brings relief when the throat is sore and irritated, when the cold is tight in the chest, and the cough painful and distressing. It allays the inflammation, heals the sore and torn membranes, soothes the nerves and clears the air passages. People who know of the singular virtues of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine do not think of accepting the cheap substitutes which many druggists offer in its place; 25 cents.

Miller stands in the front rank of the advanced class of provincial dairy farmers, and a visit to his well-appointed homestead could not fail to be a source of pleasure and profit to a man who takes an intelligent interest in that branch of the great agricultural industry which is being so successfully prosecuted by Mr. Miller and his son. The Miller Farm comprises one hundred and five acres, every foot of which is under thorough and profitable cultivation. It has a southern aspect with wide frontage on St. Peter's Road. The farm is divided into four fields, each containing from twenty to thirty acres, and by pursuing a systematic rotation of cropping each field receives a heavy coating of manure every fourth year. The whole acreage of the farm is thus maintained in a high state of cultivation continuously, each succeeding year adding to the store of rich fertilizing matter held in reserve by the soil. When the land has been prepared for this year's root crop Mr. Miller will have covered thirty acres with manure, and the richness of the grass crop on his hay and pasture fields is evidence that the land has been most liberally supplied with plant food. Mr. Miller is one of the few farmers in this Province, who pins his faith to fodder corn and the silo for winter feeding, he growing about twenty acres of corn each year. He has experimented with several varieties, but he has yet to find that kind which can be depended upon to yield a full crop year after year because of our comparatively short summer season. But while in some favorable seasons Mr. Miller secures a heavy crop of corn, and in others a lighter yield, he claims that, taking one year with another he can with corn take a larger amount of valuable feed from a given acreage than he could by raising roots exclusively, which latter he also grows to a more limited extent. Some idea of the great fertility of the Miller Farm can be obtained from a consideration of the fact that, with the exception of summer pasturage for his young cattle, Mr. Miller grows feed sufficient to maintain in best condition over fifty head of horned cattle and from ten to twelve horses.

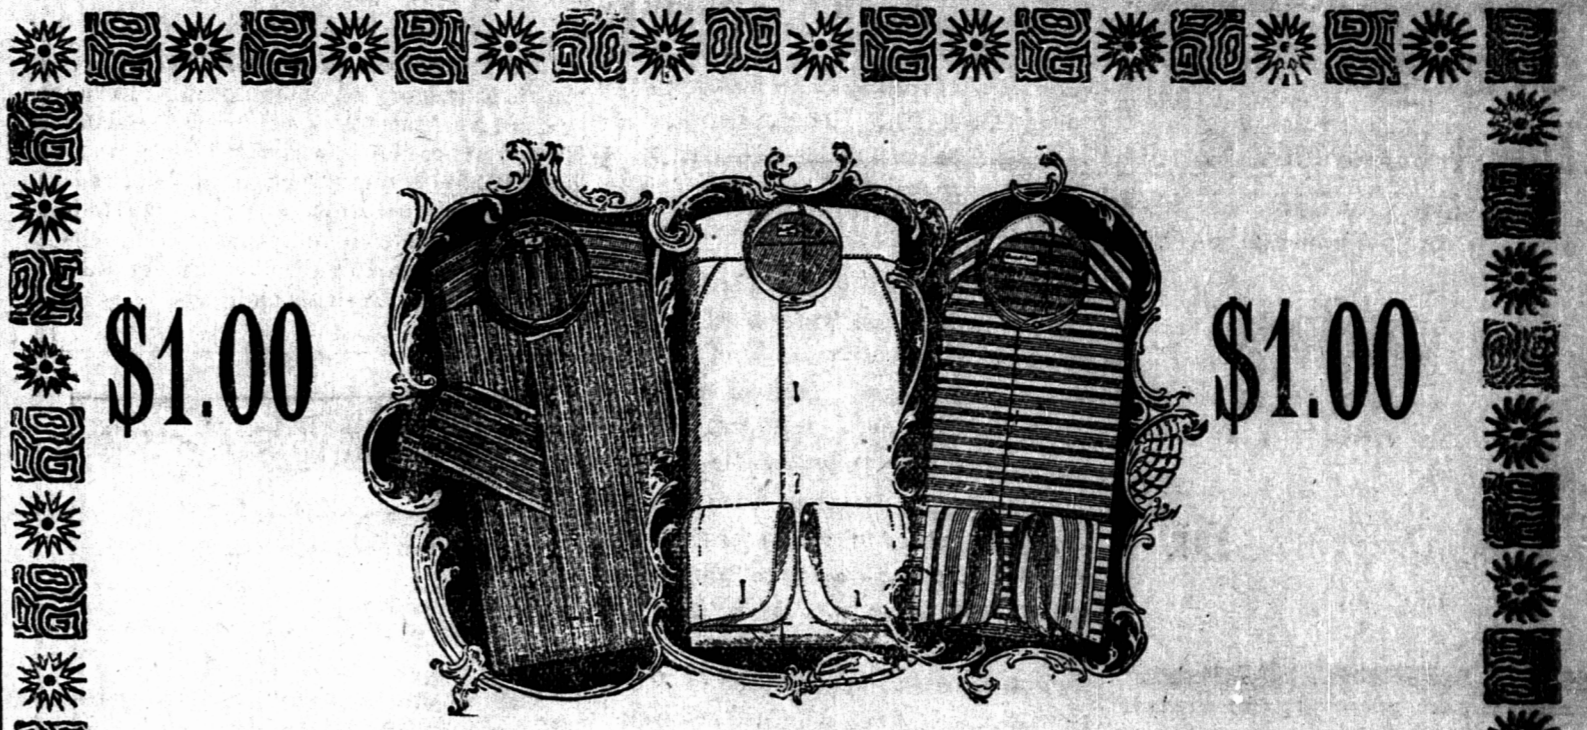

Mr. Miller's principal business for many years being that of milk vendor, his main object in following dairy farming is the production of pure milk for family use, and the fact that he has supplied many of the best and most particular families in the City for years with milk exclusively from his own herd, may be taken as evidence that the product of his dairy has given entire satisfaction. While ready to give due credit to the excellence of Jersey and Guernsey blood in a herd, Mr. Miller regards the hardy Ayrshire as the dairy breed par excellence, and with faith in the adaptability of the Ayrshire to the conditions which obtain in this Province started out to found an Ayrshire herd some ten years ago. Commencing with a well-bred heifer of this breed, selected by Mr. F. G. Boyver from the valuable herd of Mr. James McCormack, Roekton, Ont., there are now on the Miller Farm twenty direct descendants of this grand cow, all pure bred and either registered or eligible for registration in the Dominion Ayrshire Herd Book. Mr.

Miller's next purchase was the bull Pure Gold, 1915 sired by Golden Guinea 1516, and bred by Mr. Robert Robertson, of Howick, Quebec, now Superintendent of the Experimental Farm at Nappan, N. S., whose Ayrshire herd prior to its dispersion was one of the best in Canada. Pure Gold was a prize winner at the Chicago World's Fair. He is an animal of great substance, and the sire of excellent milking stock. This bull is now owned by Mr. Robert Furness of Vernon River Bridge, and before leaving Marshfield he left the impress of his rich breeding on the Miller herd. Mr. Miller's Ayrshire herd has now at its head two magnificent bulls, grand animals whether regarded from the standpoint of individuality or of breeding. They are each four years old, and both were brought from Ontario when calves. Jock Marshfield, 2134, was bred by Jas. McCormack & Sons, Roekton, Ontario, and sired by Jock Morton, 1836, dam Bonnie Jean, 1766. This bull is of the modern standard Ayrshire color—white with red spots. He is a very quiet, tractable animal, and his stock are most promising. Jock was a prize winner in a large field of fine Ayrshire bulls at the Provincial Exhibition held at Charlottetown last fall. Baldock Lad, 2437, the other bull, is in color red and white, and an animal of great depth of body. His oldest progeny are heifers of great promise. Baldock Lad was sired by Monarch 2nd, 1939, dam Ruby Crofts, 2474, and bred by Mr. Wm. Baldock, Mount Charles, Ont. These two bulls were selected when calves by Mr. F. G. Boyver, because of the excellence of their breeding, and of the great individuality of their sires and dams. The expectations of the purchaser have been fully realized in so far as at least as the mature animals are concerned, and they give abundant promise of being first-class stock bulls, just such animals as are required for breeding purposes in every important section of this great dairy Province. Mr. Miller's Ayrshires would certainly make a handsome group for an animal picture. The rest of his herd is composed of pure-bred Jerseys, and high grade Ayrshires, Jerseys and Guerneys all good milk stock, for no cow that is unable to do her full duty at the pail is retained on the Miller Farm.

The writer is at one with Mr. Miller in regard to his high estimation of Ayrshire cattle for dairy purposes in this Province. They are hardy and thrifty; they give a large flow of milk, rich in solids, and cross well with either Jersey, Guernsey, or common stock.

Mr. Miller has also a weakness for fine horse-flesh, and in his stables is one of the finest standard bred brood mares on the Island, Min, 35,025, by All Right. She is the dam of Shaver, 226, and has now a beautiful filly foal at foot, sired by Kalol, son of Kremlin, 20,714. Mr. Miller is also the owner of a beautiful gelding by All Right, a tall, rangy, up-headed, bright bay, the equal of which as a carriage horse is seldom seen here. Mr. Miller has refused several tempting offers for this horse, but some day he will doubtless yield to the tempter.

The main barn on the Miller Farm is one of the best appointed and largest in the Province, being 193 feet long. The cow stable is very conveniently arranged, each stall giving ample room for cow and calf by her side. It is light and airy, due attention being given to proper ventilation. It has a complete water system, the water being raised by a windmill, and every cow has a supply of pure water in a small V shaped trough always before her. Threshing and the cutting of straw and fodder corn are done by steam. A separate building in front of the barn contains an engine and boiler, the latter encased with brick, of sufficient power to do this work. The grain is threshed, separated and cleaned and the straw cut all at the same time. All straw grown on the farm is thus cut and fed to the cattle as well as the chaff, saw-dust being used exclusively for bedding. Even wheat straw thus utilized is eaten clean, and in this way material that would otherwise be rejected by the cattle is made sufficiently palatable to form an important portion of the rough ration. Thus it is by turning to good account, everything grown on his farm that Mr. Miller is able to feed and keep in best condition so large a stock of cattle and horses. And what one man can do could be done by hundreds of others by following in the path pursued so intelligently and successfully by Mr. Miller.

ALMOST CONSUMPTION.
Mr. J. J. Dodds, of Pleasant Ave, Deer Park, Ont., writes:—"I have suffered in my head and throat and all over my body since last summer from a very heavy cold, which I could not get rid of. I have tried several of what are considered good remedies, but none seemed of any avail. I began to think that my cold was developing into consumption, as very many have to my knowledge. I am thankful now to say that Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has worked a complete cure as I am now entirely free of the cold."

Mr. W. H. La Blance, Bonfield, Ont., writes:—"I was once a sufferer from catarrh, and while using Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure I was recommended to use also Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to build up the system. My nerves were exhausted and I was to weak to do a day's work when I began using it, and now am strong and healthy, and feel real well. I am perfectly sure that anyone who uses Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will believe as I do, that it is the best strengthener and restorative obtainable."
