

Woman's Realm - Social and Personal - Fashions - Literature

DEFENCE AGAINST RUNS!

Join the LUX DAILY DIPPER

To keep your stocking budget down where it belongs, give those sheer new nays you're wearing gentle Lux care. Here's how to cut down on runs. The minute you take your stockings off, dip them in Lux to remove harmful perspiration. Don't use strong laundry soaps—and don't rub or twist your stockings. This ruins delicate threads. Lux keeps stockings threads elastic—makes stockings last longer—stay lovely. Start your Lux daily dipping tonight.

TONIGHT—dip your stockings in—LUX

© LEYER PRODUCT

THE COOK'S CORNER

BAKED LAMB'S LIVER

You will need a whole lamb's liver. Soak it in milk in a weak salt water, score it about one inch apart, and spread with dripping (1/4 cup). Bake in a shallow pan with a lid, with strips of bacon over it. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, surround with small peeled onions and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. until liver would place through, basting it twice. The gravy made from the fat in the pan is delicious.

BRAISED LIVER

Use a whole pork or calf's liver (pork liver is valuable for its vitamin content), 1/2 cup each chopped carrot, celery, tomato, 1/2 cup chopped onion, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 2 cloves, 1 small bay leaf, salt and pepper. Tie whole spices in small bag, make small gashes in the rounded surface of the liver and fill with drippings, season with salt, and pepper, and average thickly with flour. Put the vegetables in a small roaster or large stewing pan. Put in meat, add the spices tied in bag and 1 1/2 cups water. Cover and cook over low heat (or in oven) for 2 hours, uncovering for the last 15 minutes. Remove and if liquid needs thickening stir in a little flour paste. Serve the liver on a bed of rice with the vegetable sauce poured around it.

NIGHT COUGHS

due to colds... eased without "dosing".
Rub on VICKS VAPORUB
APPROVED BY 2 GENERATIONS

A Morning Smile

HE WEAKENED

It was his hundredth birthday and he was being interviewed by a reporter. "What do you attribute your long life?" asked the reporter. "I never smoked nor drank and I've always been a vegetarian," replied the old man. "But," objected the reporter, "I had an uncle who did the very same thing and lived to be only eighty. How do you account for that?" "All I can say," replied the old man, "is that he didn't keep it up long enough."
Maybe this one is old, but it sounded new to us. "Speak to me," cried the foreman to the worker who had been whirled around a fly-wheel and then thrown to the floor. "Why should I?" was the reply. "I pressed you six times and you didn't speak to me."

Dorothy Dix Says—

MIRACLES NEEDED TO SAVE MANY WAR MARRIAGES

Parental Opposition Crumbles Under Oldest Of Weapons—Tears

These are hard days for mothers and they are certainly deserving of our sympathy for what they are having to go through, not only in having sons on the firing line, but daughters at home who are bent on making fool marriages. One of them writes to this column:

"I have a 17-year-old daughter who has fallen in love with a soldier of whom she knows nothing, except that he is tall and slim and upstanding and looks grand in his uniform, and she insists upon marrying him immediately before he is sent to the front."

"In vain I tell her that she cannot find out enough about any man in a six weeks' acquaintance to know if he will make the sort of a husband she wants, or even to test out her own feelings towards him and discover if it is one of the crushes she has had off and on ever since she had her first perm, or the grand passion that will last a life time."

"Nor will she listen to me when I try to impress on her that marriage means bread and meat as well as romance and that this boy, who is only 20, has no trade or profession or means of supporting a wife and child, even if he is fortunate enough to come out of the war unscathed, he will have to find some way of making a living, and that will be no easy matter when several million other men are also out hunting for jobs."

"Nor is she moved when I appeal to her sense of justice and tell her that her father and I have worked hard and made many sacrifices to give her a good home, and an education, and nice clothes, and good times, but that we have not been able to save much and are in no position to take on another family to support."

"To all my arguments she replies only with yessers and tears. She doesn't argue. She only sobs out that I am breaking her heart. I am wrecking her life. I am taking away from her every bit of happiness she could ever have in the world, and if I keep her from marrying Jim I will be responsible for her being a poor, miserable, lonely old maid for whom nobody cares and who has never had any pleasure."

"And do I want her to be the old Miss Carrie, who lives in a garret on tea and toast, and wears shabby clothes, and has nobody to talk to but a parrot? And she never thought her own mother could be so m-a-a-n to her! Besides, all the other girls are doing it, so why can't she? Boo hoo, boo hoo."

"Now this tidal wave of tears has inundated our house for two solid weeks and we are just about submerged. We have gotten to the place where we can't stand another drop of salt water. Our resistance is breaking down, and a cold fear petrifies us as we think maybe this is love, instead of a tantrum, and that perhaps we ARE standing between our child and her happiness. And that is an awful responsibility to take."

"So I can fore see that in the end we will do what thousands of other parents in a similar position are doing. Give in to our Clarelles and Susies and Sallics. Hustle them up for furlough weddings, and let them make marriages that we know are almost certain to end in disaster."

ODDS AGAINST SUCCESS

"For what chance of success has a marriage when the high-contracting parties are two ignorant, unsophisticated children who are not fitted to deal with the problem of adults, and who don't even know what sort of wives and husbands they are going to want when they are men and women?"

"Only a miracle can save such a marriage. And, alas, we mothers have no conjure that will turn away misfortune from our darlings. Yet that is what we have to wrestle with now when our foolish little daughters feel that they had better be dead than not to be war brides. No wonder we are turning gray before our time."

Probably the tip that the stork hands every baby as it ferries the infant down to its destination is to cry loudly enough and long enough for what it wants and it will get it. Ninety-nine times out of a hundred the advice works. Mother can't endure for her little angel to shed a tear, and Father can't stand the noise. So little Johnny gets the additional cookies that give him the tummy-ache, and Mary the husband who breaks her heart.

Women are especially adept at putting on the hydraulic pressure. Even girl babies know how to turn the trick, and millions of them are using this knowledge to force their families to consent to their making hurry-up war marriages that should never take place.

Needlecraft For The Home

SMART JUMPER FROCK

Cut on Chemist's Lines

You can make this jumper with the sashed waistline or with a draw string, as you wish. While this adjustable feature adapts it to maternity wear, it is a smart style for one and all.

Style No. 2623 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34 and 42. Size 36 requires 3 yards 39-inch fabric for jumper; 1 1/2 yards for blouse.

To order pattern: Write or send picture with your name and address to the Needlecraft Bureau, The Charlottetown Guardian, Needlecraft Department.

Style No. 2623

Name _____

Street Address _____

City _____ Province _____

SMART JEWELRY KEYED TO TIME

NEW YORK.—The darker the times, the brighter the sparkle of jewelry.

Because today's fashions are definitely war fashions, jewelry takes on greater significance. Fashion jewelry is keyed to the times, and it reflects present-day events by a strong tendency toward featuring patriotic emblems.

Nefertiti, Queen of Egypt, 3,000 years ago, painted her fingernails and toenails red.

YOU GIRLS WHO SUFFER Distress From PERIODIC FEMALE WEAKNESS

And Want To Build Up Red Blood!

Take heed if you, like so many women and girls, have all or any of these symptoms: Do you ever suffer cramps, headaches, backache, distress of "irregularities", feel like fainting or are weak, nervous, depressed—due to functional monthly disturbances?

Then start at once—take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound TABLETS (with added iron)—made especially for women.

Pinkham's Tablets not only relieve monthly pain but also weak, nervous, rundown feelings. This is because of their soothing, helpful effect on ONE OF WOMAN'S MOST IMPORTANT ORGANS. Taken regularly—Pinkham's Tablets help build up resistance against such symptoms. Thousands upon thousands have reported benefits.

Pinkham's Tablets help build up red blood to give more strength. They are also a fine tonic for the stomach in Canada.

LI'L SAMSON

WHEAT is Canada's basic food. Kellogg's All-Wheat is Canadian Wheat in its most delicious form... flaked, toasted, ready-to-eat! Get a package at your grocer's!

FREE!

Your grocer will give you an "Adventures of Li'l Samson" Comic Booklet FREE with every free comic today!

Living & Leisure

The Woman's Realm

UNRATIONED

No coupons needed for a sunset sky with flaring tattered banners flowing by.

No coupons needed for a friendly hand.

Or for a heart to love and understand.

Kind human contacts, given without measure.

And friendship—these are our unrationed treasures.

No coupons for a little place called "home."

A haven, or a heaven on earth to come.

Nor for the love that makes privations such.

We scarcely need their all too constant touch.

MARY EVERSOLEY

Baked Squash

Adding a little honey to baked squash makes it even more of a fall favourite vegetable. Wash individual squash and split lengthwise. Scoop out seeds and add to each half a tablespoon of honey and a teaspoon of butter. Bake until tender. Put a little water in the bottom of the pan in which the squash is baked to prevent burning.

WARM FABRIC, GAY COLOR, IN FASHION

NEW YORK.—Fashions this winter will stress the importance of two war-time trends—warmer fabrics, delectable hues, and invitation to high spirits.

The interest women everywhere are showing in sweaters, both for sports wear and for evening, illustrates this. Hats sometimes are equated to a confetti shower of sequins and when a woman goes out, as she often does, she now wears a veil or a knitted snood twinkling with ornament.

Roller or Money Back

Mentholatum quickly relieves head and nose irritation. Jar and tubes, 50¢ each.

STOP BABY'S SNIFLES

MENTHOLATUM gives comfort truly

BRINGING UP FATHER

MY DEAR—DID YOU SEE THE MIRROR I BOUGHT? PUT IN JIGGS' ROOM?

YES—MOTHER—BUT GET HIM A FLUJ LENGTH MIRROR? HE CAN HARDLY SEE DOWN HIS VEST!

I NEVER SAW SUCH A FAMILY—NEVER SATISFIED—JIGGS! HURRY AND DRESS—THE OPERA TONIGHT!

WHAT'S THE MATTER? ISN'T ME TIE STRAIGHT?

PIPPIE AND "CAP" STUBBS

—YOU MEAN I CAN'T BE AN AVIATOR IF I DON'T STUDY MY "RITHMETIC?"

I CERTAINLY DO!

BUT YOU CAN DRIVE A CAR AN' YOU SAID YOURSELF YOU NEVER COULD LEARN "RITHMETIC"—ALL I WANNA DO IS FLY!

—I DON'T SEE WHY GOTTA KNOW HOW MANY YARDS CARPET IT TAKES TO COVER A FLOOR TEN BY SEVEN TO DO THAT!

GEE! WELL, I JUST DON'T UNNERSTAND!

TILLIE THE TOILER

MISS JONES, I HAVE BEEN CALLED AWAY FROM THE POST, SO I WON'T NEED YOU TO DRIVE FOR ME FOR SOME TIME.

YES, SIR.

YOU WILL PUT UP THE CAR—I HAVE ARRANGED FOR YOU TO HAVE A FURLOUGH DURING MY ABSENCE.

A FURLOUGH!

OH, CAPTAIN, I COULD HUG YOU FOR THAT!

I'M AFRAID ARMY REGULATIONS WOULD'NT PERMIT THAT.

WELL, THERE'S NOTHING IN THE REGULATIONS THAT SAYS I CAN'T WANT TO.

Stranger in Shady Gulch

By Denver Bardwell

CHAPTER XIX

Radkin jumped to grab hold of the scaffold planking above him. He pushed himself up and lay flat—but not a second too soon.

Lally's head and shoulders came out of the window below. He peered long and carefully at the snarling framework of the scaffold, but Radkin was hidden by the planks on which he was lying.

"Finally, Lally drew his head back in and banged down his window."

Radkin drew a deep breath of relief, and rose. Now on a level with the fourth floor, he made his way along the scaffold to his own window and climbed in.

He did not stay in his room long, however. He had another task to attend to tonight. He went to the hotel, after making inquiries, located the home of the deputy land-office commissioner who was in charge of the large territorial district including Thumb Creek Valley.

The commissioner was none too hospitable when he finally came to the door in response to Radkin's repeated knocks.

"Are you Mr. John Bascom, the land commissioner for this district?" Radkin asked.

"Of course," came the irritable answer. "What do you want at this ungodly hour?"

"I'm sorry to disturb you, Mr. Bascom," said Radkin, "but by business is urgent. Can I come in for a few minutes?"

Bascom scowled, but ushered him in.

"If the head land office for this territory," Radkin began coolly, "found out that you have approved patents on a lot of homesteads that never had fulfilled the laws on improvements, what would happen, Mr. Bascom?"

Bascom bristled. "Have you come here, cowboy, to cross-examine me or to ask my official help in something?"

"I guess I've come to get your help for both you and me," Mister Commissioner. "Are you a close friend of Mr. Thomas Lally?"

"No—but I'm no enemy of his, either. Lally's a powerful man. He might some day have strings on my job, enough to kick me out, or keep me in."

"But he's not your boss yet, is he?"

Bascom scowled, but ushered him in.

"If the head land office for this territory," Radkin began coolly, "found out that you have approved patents on a lot of homesteads that never had fulfilled the laws on improvements, what would happen, Mr. Bascom?"

Bascom bristled. "Have you come here, cowboy, to cross-examine me or to ask my official help in something?"

"I guess I've come to get your help for both you and me," Mister Commissioner. "Are you a close friend of Mr. Thomas Lally?"

"No—but I'm no enemy of his, either. Lally's a powerful man. He might some day have strings on my job, enough to kick me out, or keep me in."

"But he's not your boss yet, is he?"

Bascom scowled, but ushered him in.

"If the head land office for this territory," Radkin began coolly, "found out that you have approved patents on a lot of homesteads that never had fulfilled the laws on improvements, what would happen, Mr. Bascom?"

Bascom bristled. "Have you come here, cowboy, to cross-examine me or to ask my official help in something?"

"I guess I've come to get your help for both you and me," Mister Commissioner. "Are you a close friend of Mr. Thomas Lally?"

"No—but I'm no enemy of his, either. Lally's a powerful man. He might some day have strings on my job, enough to kick me out, or keep me in."

"But he's not your boss yet, is he?"

Bascom scowled, but ushered him in.

"If the head land office for this territory," Radkin began coolly, "found out that you have approved patents on a lot of homesteads that never had fulfilled the laws on improvements, what would happen, Mr. Bascom?"

Bascom bristled. "Have you come here, cowboy, to cross-examine me or to ask my official help in something?"

"I guess I've come to get your help for both you and me," Mister Commissioner. "Are you a close friend of Mr. Thomas Lally?"

"No—but I'm no enemy of his, either. Lally's a powerful man. He might some day have strings on my job, enough to kick me out, or keep me in."

"But he's not your boss yet, is he?"

Bascom scowled, but ushered him in.

"If the head land office for this territory," Radkin began coolly, "found out that you have approved patents on a lot of homesteads that never had fulfilled the laws on improvements, what would happen, Mr. Bascom?"

Bascom bristled. "Have you come here, cowboy, to cross-examine me or to ask my official help in something?"

"I guess I've come to get your help for both you and me," Mister Commissioner. "Are you a close friend of Mr. Thomas Lally?"

"No—but I'm no enemy of his, either. Lally's a powerful man. He might some day have strings on my job, enough to kick me out, or keep me in."

"But he's not your boss yet, is he?"

Bascom scowled, but ushered him in.

"If the head land office for this territory," Radkin began coolly, "found out that you have approved patents on a lot of homesteads that never had fulfilled the laws on improvements, what would happen, Mr. Bascom?"

Bascom bristled. "Have you come here, cowboy, to cross-examine me or to ask my official help in something?"

"I guess I've come to get your help for both you and me," Mister Commissioner. "Are you a close friend of Mr. Thomas Lally?"

"No—but I'm no enemy of his, either. Lally's a powerful man. He might some day have strings on my job, enough to kick me out, or keep me in."

"But he's not your boss yet, is he?"

Bascom scowled, but ushered him in.

"If the head land office for this territory," Radkin began coolly, "found out that you have approved patents on a lot of homesteads that never had fulfilled the laws on improvements, what would happen, Mr. Bascom?"

Bascom bristled. "Have you come here, cowboy, to cross-examine me or to ask my official help in something?"

"I guess I've come to get your help for both you and me," Mister Commissioner. "Are you a close friend of Mr. Thomas Lally?"

"No—but I'm no enemy of his, either. Lally's a powerful man. He might some day have strings on my job, enough to kick me out, or keep me in."

"But he's not your boss yet, is he?"

Bascom scowled, but ushered him in.

"If the head land office for this territory," Radkin began coolly, "found out that you have approved patents on a lot of homesteads that never had fulfilled the laws on improvements, what would happen, Mr. Bascom?"

Bascom bristled. "Have you come here, cowboy, to cross-examine me or to ask my official help in something?"

"I guess I've come to get your help for both you and me," Mister Commissioner. "Are you a close friend of Mr. Thomas Lally?"

"No—but I'm no enemy of his, either. Lally's a powerful man. He might some day have strings on my job, enough to kick me out, or keep me in."

"But he's not your boss yet, is he?"

Bascom scowled, but ushered him in.

"If the head land office for this territory," Radkin began coolly, "found out that you have approved patents on a lot of homesteads that never had fulfilled the laws on improvements, what would happen, Mr. Bascom?"

Bascom bristled. "Have you come here, cowboy, to cross-examine me or to ask my official help in something?"

"I guess I've come to get your help for both you and me," Mister Commissioner. "Are you a close friend of Mr. Thomas Lally?"

"No—but I'm no enemy of his, either. Lally's a powerful man. He might some day have strings on my job, enough to kick me out, or keep me in."

"But he's not your boss yet, is he?"

Bascom scowled, but ushered him in.

"If the head land office for this territory," Radkin began coolly, "found out that you have approved patents on a lot of homesteads that never had fulfilled the laws on improvements, what would happen, Mr. Bascom?"

Bascom bristled. "Have you come here, cowboy, to cross-examine me or to ask my official help in something?"

"I guess I've come to get your help for both you and me," Mister Commissioner. "Are you a close friend of Mr. Thomas Lally?"

"No—but I'm no enemy of his, either. Lally's a powerful man. He might some day have strings on my job, enough to kick me out, or keep me in."

"But he's not your boss yet, is he?"

Bascom scowled, but ushered him in.

"If the head land office for this territory," Radkin began coolly, "found out that you have approved patents on a lot of homesteads that never had fulfilled the laws on improvements, what would happen, Mr. Bascom?"

Bascom bristled. "Have you come here, cowboy, to cross-examine me or to ask my official help in something?"

"I guess I've come to get your help for both you and me," Mister Commissioner. "Are you a close friend of Mr. Thomas Lally?"

"No—but I'm no enemy of his, either. Lally's a powerful man. He might some day have strings on my job, enough to kick me out, or keep me in."

"But he's not your boss yet, is he?"

Bascom scowled, but ushered him in.

"If the head land office for this territory," Radkin began coolly, "found out that you have approved patents on a lot of homesteads that never had fulfilled the laws on improvements, what would happen, Mr. Bascom?"

Bascom bristled. "Have you come here, cowboy, to cross-examine me or to ask my official help in something?"

"I guess I've come to get your help for both you and me," Mister Commissioner. "Are you a close friend of Mr. Thomas Lally?"

"No—but I'm no enemy of his, either. Lally's a powerful man. He might some day have strings on my job, enough to kick me out, or keep me in."

"But he's not your boss yet, is he?"

Bascom scowled, but ushered him in.

"If the head land office for this territory," Radkin began coolly, "found out that you have approved patents on a lot of homesteads that never had fulfilled the laws on improvements, what would happen, Mr. Bascom?"

Bascom bristled. "Have you come here, cowboy, to cross-examine me or to ask my official help in something?"

"I guess I've come to get your help for both you and me," Mister Commissioner. "Are you a close friend of Mr. Thomas Lally?"

"No—but I'm no enemy of his, either. Lally's a powerful man. He might some day have strings on my job, enough to kick me out, or keep me in."

"But he's not your boss yet, is he?"

Bascom scowled, but ushered him in.

"If the head land office for this territory," Radkin began coolly, "found out that you have approved patents on a lot of homesteads that never had fulfilled the laws on improvements, what would happen, Mr. Bascom?"

Bascom bristled. "Have you come here, cowboy, to cross-examine me or to ask my official help in something?"

"I guess I've come to get your help for both you and me," Mister Commissioner. "Are you a close friend of Mr. Thomas Lally?"

"No—but I'm no enemy of his, either. Lally's a powerful man. He might some day have strings on my job, enough to kick me out, or keep me in."

"But he's not your boss yet, is he?"

Bascom scowled, but ushered him in.

"If the head land office for this territory," Radkin began coolly, "found out that you have approved patents on a lot of homesteads that never had fulfilled the laws on improvements, what would happen, Mr. Bascom?"

Bascom bristled. "Have you come here, cowboy, to cross-examine me or to ask my official help in something?"

"I guess I've come to get your help for both you and me," Mister Commissioner. "Are you a close friend of Mr. Thomas Lally?"

"No—but I'm no enemy of his, either. Lally's a powerful man. He might some day have strings on my job, enough to kick me out, or keep me in."

"But he's not your boss yet, is he?"

Bascom scowled, but ushered him in.

"If the head land office for this territory," Radkin began coolly, "found out that you have approved patents on a lot of homesteads that never had fulfilled the laws on improvements, what would happen, Mr. Bascom?"

Bascom bristled. "Have you come here, cowboy, to cross-examine me or to ask my official help in something?"

"I guess I've come to get your help for both you and me," Mister Commissioner. "Are you a close friend of Mr. Thomas Lally?"

"No—but I'm no enemy of his, either. Lally's a powerful man. He might some day have strings on my job, enough to kick me out, or keep me in."

"But he's not your boss yet, is he?"

Bascom scowled, but ushered him in.

"If the head land office for this territory," Radkin began coolly, "found out that you have approved patents on a lot of homesteads that never had fulfilled the laws on improvements, what would happen, Mr. Bascom?"

Bascom bristled. "Have you come here, cowboy, to cross-examine me or to ask my official help in something?"

"I guess I've come to get your help for both you and me," Mister Commissioner. "Are you a close friend of Mr. Thomas Lally?"

"No—but I'm no enemy of his, either. Lally's a powerful man. He might some day have strings on my job, enough to kick me out, or keep me in."

"But he's not your boss yet, is he?"

Bascom scowled, but ushered him in.

"If the head land office for this territory," Radkin began coolly, "found out that you have approved patents on a lot of homesteads that never had fulfilled the laws on improvements, what would happen, Mr. Bascom?"

Bascom bristled. "Have you come here, cowboy, to cross-examine me or to ask my official help in something?"

"I guess I've come to get your help for both you and me," Mister Commissioner. "Are you a close friend of Mr. Thomas Lally?"

"No—but I'm no enemy of his, either. Lally's a powerful man. He might some day have strings on my job, enough to kick me out, or keep me in."

"But he's not your boss yet, is he?"

Bascom scowled, but ushered him in.

"If the head land office for this territory," Radkin began coolly, "found out that you have approved patents on a lot of homesteads that never had fulfilled the laws on improvements, what would happen, Mr. Bascom?"

Bascom bristled. "Have you come here, cowboy, to cross-examine me or to ask my official help in something?"

"I guess I've come to get your help for both you and me," Mister Commissioner. "Are you a close friend of Mr. Thomas Lally?"

"No—but I'm no enemy of his, either. Lally's a powerful man. He might some day have strings on my job, enough to kick me out, or keep me in."

"But he's not your boss yet, is he?"

Bascom scowled, but ushered him in.

"If the head land office for this territory," Radkin began coolly, "found out that you have approved patents on a lot of homesteads that never had fulfilled the laws on improvements, what would happen, Mr. Bascom?"

Bascom bristled. "Have you come here, cowboy, to cross-examine me or to ask my official help in something?"

"I guess I've come to get your help for both you and me," Mister Commissioner. "Are you a close friend of Mr. Thomas Lally?"

"No—but I'm no enemy of his, either. Lally's a powerful man. He might some day have strings on my job, enough to kick me out, or keep me in."

"But he's not your boss yet, is he?"

Bascom scowled, but ushered him in.

"If the head land office for this territory," Radkin began coolly, "found out that you have approved patents on a lot of homesteads that never had fulfilled the laws on improvements, what would happen, Mr. Bascom?"

Bascom bristled. "Have you come here, cowboy, to cross-examine me or to ask my official help in something?"

"I guess I've come to get your help for both you and me," Mister Commissioner. "Are you a close friend of Mr. Thomas Lally?"

"No—but I'm no enemy of his, either. Lally's a powerful man. He might some day have strings on my job, enough to kick me out, or keep me in."

"But he's not your boss yet, is he?"

Bascom scowled, but ushered him in.

"If the head land office for this territory," Radkin began coolly, "found out that you have approved patents on a lot of homesteads that never had fulfilled the laws on improvements, what would happen, Mr. Bascom?"

Bascom bristled. "Have you come here, cowboy, to cross-examine me or to ask my official help in something?"

"I guess I've come to get your help for both you and me," Mister Commissioner. "Are you a close friend of Mr. Thomas Lally?"

"No—but I'm no enemy of his, either. Lally's a powerful man. He might some day have strings on my job, enough to kick me out, or keep me in."

"But he's not your boss yet, is he?"

Bascom scowled, but ushered him in.

"If the head land office for this territory," Radkin began coolly, "found out that you have approved patents on a lot of homesteads that never had fulfilled the laws on improvements, what would happen, Mr. Bascom?"

Bascom bristled. "Have you come here, cowboy, to cross-examine me or to ask my official help in something?"

"I guess I've come to get your help for both you and me," Mister Commissioner. "Are you a close friend of Mr. Thomas Lally?"

"No—but I'm no enemy of his, either. Lally's a powerful man. He might some day have strings on my job, enough to kick me out, or keep me in."

"But he's not your boss yet, is he?"

"ALL IN FAVOR?"

Everybody votes "AYE" for delicious Jell-O Puddings. To prepare, just add milk to the contents of a Jell-O Pudding package, cook 5 minutes, then cool. Four to six servings of grand dessert are ready in a jiffy. Mighty nourishing and very economical to serve. And a dessert that requires none of your sugar.

JELL-O PUDDINGS

CHOCOLATE • BUTTERSCOTCH • VANILLA • CARAMEL

Not by a jugful! "Good. How about the unlawful way he had stools among his cowboy bunch on twenty-two half sections of homesteads and tree claims out in Thumb Creek valley, never finishing up the improvements, and then selling to Lally as soon as they got their deeds by swearing lies? Didn't you look over those so-called 'improvements' before you recommended patents?"

"No, I didn't. They don't give me any help in this district and I can't go over every foot of home staked ground in a thousand square miles. All I can do is put the homesteaders under oath that what they claim is true. What are you driving at?"

Radkin explained the false lies and other indications of fraudulent entries on the Thumb Creek homesteads.

Before he left Bascom's house, half an hour later, the commissioner was in a wholly different mood

(Continued on page 3)

IF IT'S CHOCOLATE IT'S FOOD

And there is no more nourishing chocolate than Cadbury's Dairy Milk. Made with the highest quality chocolate obtainable, sugar and fresh whole milk, this delicious Cadbury bar helps to restore lost energy and build up your stamina. For this reason it warrants an important place in every diet, especially in wartime.

Owing to rationing and Government orders, we cannot always keep the candy counters fully supplied. We regret any disappointment this may cause you.

BRINGING UP FATHER

MY DEAR—DID YOU SEE THE MIRROR I BOUGHT? PUT IN JIGGS' ROOM?

YES—MOTHER—BUT GET HIM A FLUJ LENGTH MIRROR? HE CAN HARDLY SEE DOWN HIS VEST!

I NEVER SAW SUCH A FAMILY—NEVER SATISFIED—JIGGS! HURRY AND DRESS—THE OPERA TONIGHT!

WHAT'S THE MATTER? ISN'T ME TIE STRAIGHT?

PIPPIE AND "CAP" STUBBS

—YOU MEAN I CAN'T BE AN AVIATOR IF I DON'T STUDY MY "RITHMETIC?"

I CERTAINLY DO!

BUT YOU CAN DRIVE A CAR AN' YOU SAID YOURSELF YOU NEVER COULD LEARN "RITHMETIC"—ALL I WANNA DO IS FLY!

—I DON'T SEE WHY GOTTA KNOW HOW MANY YARDS CARPET IT TAKES TO COVER A FLOOR TEN BY SEVEN TO DO THAT!

GEE! WELL, I JUST DON'T UNNERSTAND!

TILLIE THE TOILER

MISS JONES, I HAVE BEEN CALLED AWAY FROM THE POST, SO I WON'T NEED YOU TO DRIVE FOR ME FOR SOME TIME.

YES, SIR.

YOU WILL PUT UP THE CAR—I HAVE ARRANGED FOR YOU TO HAVE A FURLOUGH DURING MY ABSENCE.

A FURLOUGH!

OH, CAPTAIN, I COULD HUG YOU FOR THAT!

I'M AFRAID ARMY REGULATIONS WOULD'NT PERMIT THAT.

WELL, THERE'S NOTHING IN THE REGULATIONS THAT SAYS I CAN'T WANT TO.