WOMAN COBBLER
 VANCOUVER, Aug. 14 (CP)—Pretty Frances Chambers is a skilful cobbler and cannot understand why anyone should consider shoe-making an unusual occupation for women.
 "I wouldn't change with any stereographer," she told an interviewer. "I like cobbling because it requires more talent than other occupations open to women and it enables me to meet so many people."
 Mrs. Chambers started in the trade seven years ago and liked the work so well that she learned every phase of the craft. She said that she had never received a letter from a man who had come to enjoy the acid odor of her rubber.
 Her husband, whom she said she "almost married over a mended boot," is also a cobbler.
