It contains no scratchy grit

This test proves it. Sprinkle a little Old Dutch on the porcelain drain board of your sink; take a smooth coin, lay it on top of the cleanser and rub gently. You won't feel or hear the scratching of harsh, gritty particles. Avoid scratchy cleansers. Scratchers ruin surfaces and make lodging places for germs and impurities.

Old Dutch removes the dirt—not the surface

MRS. J. DOUGLAS YOUNKERS.

Death entered the home of Mr. J. Douglas Younkers, 35 Bromley Park, Jamaica Plain, Mass., on March 15th, and claimed for its own, his beloved wife.

Mrs. Younkers had not been in good health for some time but was able to be up every day and take care of her children. Going to bed as usual the night before, and waking up at midnight, spoke to her husband and complained of her heart. In a short time she lost consciousness, the heart giving out. Her gentle spirit took its flight to "realms of light."

Mrs. Younkers was formerly Sadie M. MacDonald, born at Brookfield, Prince Edward Island on March 19th, 1891, and was the youngest daughter of the late Alexander and Euphemia MacDonald, formerly of Brookfield, now residing in Concord, N. H.

She leaves to mourn her loss, her husband, two small children, Ira and Harry. Her mother in Concord, N. H., three brothers and three sisters. The brothers are: Angus McDonald in Fisher Home, Alberta; Alexander MacDonald and Daniel N. MacDonald, in Rosindale, Mass. The sisters are: Mrs. Lea Haskings, in Concord, N. H.; Mrs. George M. MacLeod in Milton, Mass.; Mrs. J. Hector White in Dorchester, Mass.

Much sympathy is felt for her mother, who on account of illness was not able to attend her daughter's funeral, having spent the entire winter bedfast, between Hospital and home, but who is now able to be up and dressed.

Mrs. Younkers was of a cheerful and bright disposition, and was endeared by all, for to know her was to love her.

She will be greatly missed—not only in the home by her family and relatives—but by a wide circle of friends who had made her acquaintance since coming to Boston five years ago. Early in life she made

MR. GEORGE MacKENZIE

There passed peacefully away Sunday, April 8th, at the Home of the MacKenzies at French River, George MacKenzie, in his 83rd year. He had been in failing health for the last few years but his death came as a sudden shock to his immediate family and friends.

He was the third son of the late Captain George MacKenzie who besides being a sea Captain was a designer and builder of many fine schooners.

The late Mr. MacKenzie for many years owned and operated the McKie farm at Yankee Hill.

He was an ardent admirer of horses and was always available when veterinary skill was required, this was always cheerfully given gratis. He was a staunch Presbyterian and a life long Liberal. He leaves to mourn one daughter Mrs. Stetson MacRae, Tryon, and one sister (Jane) Mrs. Johnathan DeLaney, French River, besides a number of nephews and nieces.

The funeral was largely attended. The remains were laid to rest in the Geddie Memorial Cemetery beside those of his wife who predeceased him many years ago. The services were conducted by Mr. John Fleck.

MRS. ANNIE THOMPSON

Mrs. Annie Thompson died at Darnley on April 7th, 1928, having endured for the space of three weeks, the wasting effects of fatal illness. She was comforted in her closing days by the strengthening graces of the Last Sacraments administered to her by the Pastor, Mgr. Gillis.

Her funeral was held on April 9th to Indian River, the pall bearers being William S. Crozier, George Morrison, Cornelius Morrison, John Hekey, Clarence Hekey and Joseph Connick.

The solemn obsequies were performed by Mgr. Gillis, and the mortal remains were entombed in St. George's Cemetery to await essential and blessed union with her pure Lord on Resurrection morn.

She leaves to mourn—sons, James George, John E., and William E., and daughters Mrs. Isidore Smith and Mrs. George Morrison.

She was seventy-two years of age and was a lady of amiable disposition and sterling qualities and enjoyed the profound respect of all her acquaintances.

Live will her memory so long as will exist the many friends that admired her many excellent qualities. She followed, in late years the profession of nursing and her record is one of unquestioned success.

The sympathy of many friends is extended to the bereaved.—Y.

—WOMEN'S CLUBS—

What are women's clubs doing? or, we might better ask, What are they not doing? They are tackling everything in sight which needs to be done.

In the first place, they cultivate the fine arts. They provide a way for the college girl to continue her interest and study in cultural affairs. They give the housewife an opportunity to broaden her thoughts and indulge in movements in which the wide world is engaging. They permit Mother to get away from greasy little hands for an afternoon and forget the myriad cares that beset them. They teach parents how to train children. They encourage budding genius leading their members to write poetry and short stories and draw pictures. They inspire those who otherwise would never have turned to "learning." They cultivate the social graces and show people how to have a good time together. They lead a few thinkers to do some research work and chase an idea to its lair, disclosing their findings to an audience most of whom do not know what it is all about. They are wonderful in this academic way.

And what do they not do in a practical way? They swat the fly, get the City Fathers to install a garbage collection system, establish kindergartens and day nurseries, make books for the blind, and carry on anti-tuberculosis campaigns and Better Babies Week. They plant flowers in the school yard and trees upon the highway, agitate for pure food, help hundreds of young people thru college, turn dumps into parks, establish libraries, send books to shut-ins, decorate school houses with pictures and statues, carry baskets of the hungry, play "Big Sister" to the wayward, bring art exhibits and music festivals to towns which never had them before, and censor the movies. They have transformed hundreds of dreary, dirty, disease-ridden places into active, attractive, healthy towns.

—SPRING COLORS—

Black is a popular color this season. It is livened by accessories, the flower, crystal brooch, kerchief or scarf. The blue family, with a wide variety of shades, is in strong favor. It verges off into gray, or combines with green. The third choice is the cream family. White will not be snow-white, but roseable cream with a tint added to give it tone, as rose-cream, or yellow cream. Navy is always good, but there is a newer and lighter blue which is much used.

Even the traditional white wedding gown has lavender underneath the lace and tints of it trail in the veil.

CHIFFON LEMON PIE.

Beat yolks of four eggs, add half cup of sugar gradually, beat; add juice and rind of one lemon. Cook this mixture in a double boiler, stirring all the time until thick. After this is cooked take off the stove and add one level tablespoon of gelatine dissolved in one-fourth cup of cold water.

While this is cooling, beat the whites of the four eggs until stiff, add half cup of sugar. Fold this into the cooked mixture. Can be served with whipped cream.

A very wholesome breakfast dish is a mush made with some of the ground whole wheat preparations on the market, to which had been added a handful of bran. Salt it well, stir while it boils for five or ten minutes and then put it into the double boiler for ten minutes longer, while you set the table. Serve it with milk. The outer layers of the wheat contain the vitamins and mineral salts and are excellent nutrients, and the bran has a wholesome hygienic use.

GOOD DISHES

The lover of beauty feels a thrill of pleasure when she handles a fine cup or plate or any beautiful dish. On the other hand a coarse dish, with inartistic shape and gaudy coloring, is a shock to her sensibilities and gives her a pang of pain. These emotions may be so slight that you scarcely notice them, but they are there just the same. You do not realize how much delight you take in good things until Santa or some other good friend gives you some beautiful dishes and you feel that thrill of joy every time you pick one up, and the revulsion whenever you chance to get hold of the ugly dish. It is true: "A thing of beauty is a joy forever."

Then why do we use such ill-shaped and gawkish dishes on our daily board? Of course, if the family is large and there are small children in it and many dishes are broken, one feels compelled to use the cheapest dishes to be had. But you can take care of your dishes, they will last a long time, and certainly they are a cheap way to buy joy, for the markets are full of simple dishes in good lines and pleasing designs and at moderate prices. Most of us could have had such dishes long ago—but we didn't realize our lack nor our loss of happiness in them.

Having good dishes, the next thing is to use them. They will endure long service if handled carefully, and even if they disappear, one by one, as they will, they serve their purpose if they add to family satisfaction for months or years. Why should we expect them to last forever? There are more, as good, to be had in the market. A few fine heirlooms should be handed down to future generations. But have one good set for daily use and do not save them for your grand-children.

—REMOVING STAINS—

Most fruit stains may be removed by washing in warm water if they are washed while still fresh. If the stain is difficult to remove, use boiling water. Stretch the stained cloth over a bowl and pour boiling water through the stained spot, holding the kettle high above the bowl that the force of the water may aid. Alternate this treatment with a little rubbing. Afterward lay the stained cloth in the sunshine. For silk and wool and other delicate materials, do not use boiling water, but only warm water. Stains from sticky fly paper may be removed by immersing the spot in turpentine or kerosene.

—CREAM SOUPS—

One of the easiest and most satisfactory ways to make cream soups is to use white sauce and vegetable pulp. In making white sauce, for each cup of milk, use one tablespoon each of fat and of flour and one fourth teaspoon salt.

To each cup of this thin white sauce, add about two table-spoons of vegetable pulp. The vegetable may be cooked, chopped celery, strained peas, finely chopped onions, mashed potatoes. If tomatoes are used, add a half cup, to which has been added a pinch of soda, for each cup of white sauce.

—WASHABLE SILKS—

Test a sample of your "washable silk" before you buy it. If the dye is as good as it should be, it will wash well in lukewarm water with a mild soap. Do not rub the soap on, but dissolve it in the wash water. Do not wash the garment by rubbing but squeeze it through the suds. Rinse it thoroughly. In ironing, use a warm, not hot, iron. It is well to cover the material with a cheesecloth to protect it from glazing.

COTTAGE CHEESE.

One of the most valuable foods we have is cottage cheese. It may be served as a side dish with cream, or with milk and sugar; or it may be used in any number of salad combinations, with crisp vegetables, sliced cucumber, chopped pimientos, or mangoes, parsley, water cress or onion; with horse radish, chopped nuts, dates and figs, or with pears, peaches or other fruits. It is delicious in sandwiches, particularly those of steamed brown bread.

THE IDEAL WIFE.

College boys, in answer to a questionnaire, have pictured their ideal wife, as follows: A home body, who will have at least two children; a woman with less education than her husband, one who does not want a business career of her own, who does not smoke, drink or pet, who is religious and fastidious, and who, at the time of her marriage, is between twenty-five and thirty.

MRS. SOLOMON SAYS:

The mother's influence is father to the boy's ambition.

—SMILES—

Health Hint: "To keep your toes from going to sleep, don't let them turn in."

"When is she thinking of getting married?" "Constantly."

You need not be an Engineer to read between the lines!

Being able to drive your new Erskine Six 40 miles an hour the first day is convenient. But this is more important—it proves that here are precision manufacture and engineering genius. Without the high quality materials, the careful inspections and the thorough dynamometer tests the Erskine engine receives, this first-day motor-freedom would be as impossible as in other cars.

These same precautions give the new Erskine Six its ability to deliver 62 miles an hour with such velvet ease later. Or to travel 54 miles an hour for 24 consecutive hours, as did a stock Erskine Six sedan—a record for stock cars in its price class.

Read between the lines—the facts are evident. Remember, behind the new Erskine Six is the name Studebaker, which for 76 years has stood for fine transportation.
