Fine Piano Recital at St. Paul's Hall

Last night the Community Concert Association presented Mr. Randolph Hokanson, pianist, in recital in St. Paul's Hall.

The programme, well chosen to present a selection of the standard works of the better known older and modern—but not too modern—composers was as follows:

Sonata in D. Major, Scarlatti.
Choral Prelude—Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring, Bach-Hess.
Sonata in C sharp minor, opus 27, No. 2 ("Moonlight" Sonata)—Beethoven.
Adagio sostenuto
Allegretto
Presto agitato
Valse brillante in E flat, opus 18.
Mazurka in A Minor, opus 59, No. 1.
Nocturne in E major, opus 62, No. 2.
Scherzo in E major, opus 54. — Chopin.
Intermission.
La Soiree dans Grenade—Debussy.
El Puerto, from "Iberia"—Albeniz.
"Hark, Hark, the Lark!"—Schubert-Liszt.
Phapsody in E flat major—Brahms.
Naila Waltzes— Delibes-Dohnanyi.

In addition, in response to hearty and long continued applause, Mr. Hokanson played the following encores:

Etude in F major—Chopin.
Intermezzo in C major—Brahms.
The Minstrel—Debussy.
Intermezzo in E flat—Brahms.
Goldfishes—Debussy.

Mr. Hokanson is a young man and his piano playing displayed all the freshness and vigor of youth. His technique is brilliant and quite impeccable, while his dynamic range is quite astounding. His rhythmical sense and accentuation also, are indeed remarkable. It must be said, however, that, through most of the programme his tonal colouring seemed a little on the hard and "edgy" side—though the truly beautiful and tender way in which he played the very well known adagio in the "Moonlight" Sonata showed that it need not always be so. The Bach Choral Prelude "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" was also beautifully given.

The recitalist played the Chopin group with faultless technique, of course, though it seemed to this listener he took it more loudly than is usual with most pianists.

In the final group of the more modern composers, La Soiree dans Grenade and Goldfishes of Debussy were particularly interesting, while the Intermezzo in E flat of Brahms was lovely and soothing in its quieter tonal effect.

Mr. Hokanson is good vintage; with the years he will ripen and mellow, and become an even better player than he is today.

The Community Concert Association are to be congratulated in giving the people of our city an opportunity of hearing this talented pianist in recital.

BETTER TERMS

mier has suggested that it was not probable that the Dominion would consider at this stage any substantial change in the agreement. By any substantial change I mean any change which would go to the very substance or essence of the agreement. But I do suggest that the Dominion would be prepared to consider any change in calculations which might be based on any errors which had not previously been brought to the attention of the Dominion officials.

"I quite agree with what the Premier has said as to the desirability of the Province co-operating with the Dominion in a broad way with reference to this matter. The Dominion expressed the desire to have these sources of taxation made exclusive to it, so that in this difficult time the Dominion officials would not have to be harassed by considerations of the nature and extent of similar taxes imposed by numerous other taxing authorities. I think that position is quite reasonable, and that the Province is doing quite right by co-operating with the Dominion in leaving this field open to them.

"The Premier says this agreement is not one which can be taken as a settlement of our claims. The Dominion does not so regard the agreement; the Province does not so regard it. I would not criticise the Premier or the Government because they failed to make a hard bargain with the Dominion at this time. But I do think that we should make absolutely sure that the amount which we are to receive does clearly translate into revenue for this Province those amounts which the Dominion is prepared to recognize

1940 Deficit

"The amount to which I wish to refer particularly is the actual deficit on ordinary account for the year 1940. It is quite clear that if the Dominion could have been convinced that we had a deficit of, say $39,000 instead of $19,000, the annual amount which we would receive would be increased by $20,000. So that the factor which we must consider in dealing with this item—and it is of great importance to the Province—is the question: What was the actual deficit of the Province for the year 1940?

"I suggest to the committee that the way is still open to us in that respect, because it is quite apparent from what has already been done that the Dominion does not regard us as bound by what is stated in the Public Accounts. They cannot be taken as an admission against us in this matter.

"The Public Accounts for the year 1940 showed ordinary revenue to the amount of $2,030,365.52, and ordinary expenditure of $2,152,101.09, leaving a deficit on ordinary account of roughly $122,000, after making provision for sinking funds. We must bear in mind, however, that the calculation on the part of the Dominion is based on the deficit before making provision for the sinking funds The provision for sinking funds in the year 1940 was $128,803.75. So that the Public Accounts actually show a surplus on ordinary account in the vicinity of $6,000.

Found Bigger Deficit

"As I said, the Dominion authorities were prepared to overlook that. They recognized that the figure in the Public Accounts was not a correct statement of what our position was, and they sent their officials down here, apparently, with such facilities as were available, to arrive at what they considered was the true deficit. That deficit they found to be $19,500, or about $25,000 more than was shown in the Public Accounts for the year 1940.

"My purpose in speaking is to make sure that we now get an amount sufficient to cover our actual deficit for that year; because I submit that no matter how carefully the Dominion officials may have gone into the matter, they failed to arrive at what was the actual deficit. I think it is the duty of the Government, now that our claim is to be based in part on the amount of this deficit, to determine this point. Without appearing to hold up the Dominion or failing to cooperate in any way in this matter which may be described as a part of the war effort, we are perfectly within our rights when we ask that this calculation which they admit is the correct one to apply, should be based on correct figures.

"The Dominion officials were here for a few days, and at once arrived at a decision that our Public Accounts, in the matter of ordinary revenue and expenditure, were out to the extent of $25,000. I suggest that this Government should forget for a moment the desire of making a good showing on paper, which does not indicate any reality at all, and have the federal officials come here again. I think it would be quite easy for them to show that the actual deficit is not only $25,000 more than is shown by the Public Accounts, but that it is at least $125,000 more.

Road Machinery

"For instance, under Capital expenditure. The leader of the Opposition mentioned one item—an amount charged for the purchase of road machinery last year of $30,237.04. The committee will see at once that if that amount had been charged where it should have been charged,—to ordinary account—the Government would have had to show an actual deficit last year of $30,000 more, and the amount we would be receiving from the Dominion Government would be $30,000 more a year during the continuance of this agreement, than it actually is.

"I am not going to take the time to go into other figures in the Public Accounts, except by way of illustration. We have charged to capital account, Soldiers Welfare, $112.14. By what stretch of imagination can the Government charge that to capital account—something to be paid for over a period of twenty years? The thing is ridiculous.

Hon. Mr. McIntyre: "It should have gone into the contingent accounts."

Mr. McPhee: "It should have been charged to ordinary account. The Government should do business like any ordinary citizen. If I wished to send some cigarettes to soldiers overseas, I would not go to the bank and borrow money for a twenty year term

Real Deficit Basis

"I want to make it clear to the committee that I am not speaking with any idea of raising a political question, but simply in justice to the claims of this Province. We don't know how long we will have to operate under this agreement. I put it to the committee that since the basis of settlement is recognized, and since it is apparently clear that our deficit is not correctly disclosed, we should be receiving at least $100,000 more money. I put that as an arbitrary figure as representing items improperly charged against capital expenditure. I submit that we should not pass this agreement until an effort has been made to convince the Dominion Government that we are entitled, on the admitted basis of settlement, to this additional amount per annum.

"We would be asking the Dominion Government, not to change the basis of the agreement but to recognize with us that the Public Accounts have been prepared on an incorrect appreciation of what is ordinary expenditure and what is capital expenditure; that the actual ordinary expenditure should be determined and that we should receive our settlement on the basis of what our deficit was."

Premier's Reply

Premier Campbell: "I have just two remarks to make with regard to the statements of my hon. friend. While the Minister of Finance arrived at the amount of $175,000 as a basis of additional grant, and while he did not state in a general way that this amount was intended to cover the three items which have been enumerated by my hon. friend, I am doubtful if any of those three elements of that portion of the grant were calculated or intended to be calculated mathematically. I think rather what the Dominion Government did in arriving at this amount of $175,000 was to take those items into account in a general way.

"My second point is that in arriving at the deficit the auditors of the Dominion Government did not make any brief examination, as my hon. friend suggests. They made an examination extending over a period of many months, and although they only spent a few days in this Province, they had access to the records of the Province for every year. In arriving at the deficit they did take into account expenditures which had been charged to capital account, and which they were willing to allow as chargeable to ordinary account, in the sum of $92,000, and added this to the current expenditure for the year 1941.

"On the other side of the calculation is the principal item of sinking fund earnings, $72,600, less $16,000 debenture discount amortization. And to the revenues they added $17,000 of gasoline tax collected in 1940 but reported in 1941. That gives us an additional allowance of $92,000 over and above our current expenditure shown in the Public Accounts of 1940. I think the Dominion has substantially taken into account the very sort of items to which my hon. friend very properly directs our attention.

Federal Official Viewpoint

Mr. McPhee: "In connection with that view of the matter,—it must be borne in mind that what the Dominion officials would probably be concerned with would be, not to establish a case for this Province but to protect the Dominion against claims that might be made against the Dominion. Without imputing any improper motives or conduct in this regard to the Dominion officials, we must remember that it would be natural for them to regard their work from that viewpoint. If we accept that as their attitude, their findings as to the actual net deficit on ordinary account for the year 1940 is all the more strange. They found according to the Public Accounts, a net ordinary deficit of $6,000. They approached their task in the attitude which I have suggested, with a view to protecting the interests of the Dominion; and in spite of that attitude they have to admit that this deficit was not $6,000 but was $19,500.

"I am suggesting it is the duty of the Province, in view of this situation that proper consideration to the actual deficit was never given, that before we pass this agreement we should at least make the attempt to obtain a settlement on the basis of what was the actual deficit for the year 1940."

Premier Campbell: "I do not think it would be correct to state that the auditors of the Dominion in preparing their report would be seeking to protect the Dominion as against the Province. I would rather say that the Dominion auditors in preparing it secured and tabulated on a standard basis which would give a true comparative picture of the Public Accounts and the finances of the Province. I perhaps left a wrong impression to the effect that the Provincial Government accepted this basis as being a satisfactory one for the Province's claims. I have not the papers with me here to give the details, but I may assure my hon. friend that the point of view which he suggests should now be brought to the attention of the Dominion authorities was very forcibly brought to the attention of those authorities in the course of the negotiations and conferences. On one occasion, after I appeared before the Minister of Finance and his associates and officials, I was asked to present a brief, and I did so, stressing many of those very points which my hon. friend now brings forward, together with a great many other points of claims which I believed that the Province should properly present to the Dominion in that connection. If my recollection serves me correctly the sum total of the amount which I claimed on items of that kind was in the vicinity of $850,000. So I don't think that the amount of $175,000 was arrived at by the Dominion in the absence of any appreciation of the financial situation or of the claims which the Provincial Government thought it properly should and could advance at the time."

Mr. McPhee's Suggestion

Mr. McPhee: "I am not criticising the Premier or the Government for not arriving at a final settlement of our claims against the Dominion at this time. I don't think it would be fair to the Dominion, or to the Province either in times like these. My point is that we do find that the Dominion has recognized a certain basis of settlement in reference to a specific amount of money to be paid us for an indefinite period of time. It is merely a matter of making sure that the data upon which the calculations are based are correct data.

"I suggest that we should at least make an effort, in justice to the province to see that the figure on which they, the Dominion officials, have based their calculations is a correct figure. My suggestion is that the Premier notify the Minister of Finance that the House has had this agreement under consideration and that there is general acceptance as to its broad principles, but that we find that the deficit was greater than the amount which he says it was, and we want a settlement on the basis of the actual deficit."

Mr. McIntyre: "You might say that $30,000 of road machinery should not be charged to capital account. Well, we recognize the building of permanent highways as capital expenditure, and they have to be repaired every two, three, four or five years. In road machinery it is just a question whether you define it as capital expenditure or current. Road machinery probably will last ten or twelve years, just as long as what we call a permanent road which we charge to capital account. It is debatable whether that $30,000 of machinery is in the right place or not. I claim it is in the right place because it will last just as long as the highways."

"My hon. friend has had the opportunity of going to Ottawa and pressing claims in which he was successful in getting $150,000 and he knows perfectly well that he didn't get all that he asked. As the Premier says, a claim was presented for $800,000 but under the circumstances, when the Dominion is engaged in a life and death struggle, we got the best agreement that could be obtained. The subsidy of $125,000 under the Duncan Commission and the subsidy that my hon. friend obtained under the White Commission of $150,000, making $275,000, were only interim payments,—from year to year. This government has succeeded in getting those interim payments confirmed from the time they were actually passed in the Dominion Parliament, and they became a permanent subsidy for all time to come. The Premier has explained that on account of gasoline tax rationing we would probably lose $100,000. That would be a very serious loss for the province, but under this agreement we are guaranteed $307,000. The thing can be re-opened again and probably a better agreement can be arrived at, but by the way the Government is pressed for money at this time, I think it has been fairly satisfactory. I think it will be received by the people as a fairly good agreement under existing conditions.'

Mr. McPhee: "It is just a matter of calculating on the basis of the agreement."

Premier Campbell: "What would those amounts come to, do you suggest?"

Mr. McPhee: "Well, we have power machinery, $30,000, and various road items. It is impossible for me, as the Minister suggested a moment ago, to say which one should be capital and which one should be ordinary, but an examination of the Accounts would show many examples . . .There are fishermen's loans, buildings, fish houses, etc. All these things would have to be broken up to show which were properly capital charges. Having regard to the tendency of governments to make a good showing on ordinary account, I suggest that $100,000 could be found tucked away there, without much difficulty a all.

Premier Campbell: "If I saw any prospect of obtaining an increase I would be ready to concur in my hon. friend's suggestion. My impression is that the thing has been so fully and carefully and favorably considered by the Dominion Government that there is really no prospect of obtaining an increased grant at the present time."
