PASSED AWAY— Many friends throughout the city will regret to learn of the death yesterday morning of Mr. Greg Callaghan, lately in the employ of Mr J. F. McKie and Co. The deceased who was of a quiet and retiring disposition was well and favorably known about town. He was for many years in the employ of the late John Newson, when the latter conducted a furniture business on Victoria Row.

SUCCESSFUL ISLANDER— Friends in Summerside and Charlottetown will be interested in the progress of a successful Islander abroad, in the person of Louis L. McIntyre, a native of Charlottetown, who was prominent in local athletics some twenty years ago. Prof. McIntyre is now conducting the McIntyre Athletic and Recreation Institute at West 72nd Street, New York City and also Camp McIntyre, located on Lake Mohegan, Peekskill, New York State. Recently the classes conducted by Prof. McIntyre held an exhibition of recreation in the ball room of the Hotel Majestic, near Central Park, among the officials being Franklin Lane, Jr., son of the former secretary of agriculture in the Wilson Cabinet; Marcel Von Wertaur, Col. Alexander MacDonald, of the American regular army. The guards were members of the U.S. Military School staff and the fencing program was under the direction of the New York Military Academy staff. During the program an exhibition in sabre fighting was given by Capt. S. Fink, U. S. A. and Prof. McIntyre. Illustrated by a three-column half-tone, the New York Evening Telegram in a recent issue devoted considerable space to the activities of Prof. McIntyre, the headlines, which read "Fencing, New Feminine Craze Proves to be an Efficient Means of Reducing Weight—Director McIntyre gives insight into New York Latest Fad" would give a good insight into the story. The following extract will be of interest to movie fans: "Six years ago when Douglas Fairbanks lived at the Hotel Majestic I gave him his first lessons in fencing." Mr. McIntyre went on, "Today everyone has seen his fencing in "The Three Musketeers." I haven't a girl here, though, but who would make him salute today if she met him with the foils."

RENEWAL NOTICES are being sent out. Ask for Cook Book or Farmer's First Aid Book, when renewing. Free to new and renewal subscribers.

CHUTE CASE POSTPONED

KEY WEST, Fla., March 8—Postponement until tomorrow of a hearing before Federal Commissioner Knowles of the British request for extradition of V. Bracklehurst, mate of the British schooner Lewis Brothers on a charge of murdering the vessel's master, Captain H. Chute, on the high seas, was the only development today in the case which has now simmered down apparently to the question of whether a United States citizen will be turned over to the British for trial for an alleged crime on the high seas under the British flag against a British subject.

The British government is seeking also the extradition of five other members of the Lewis Brothers' crew.

Dr. Carrington Hits Nova Scotia

MONTREAL, March 8— A special despatch to the Gazette from New York quotes Dr. Herward Carrington as saying Nova Scotia is one of th world's richest areas in ghosts' but also in fakirs and humorists.

Referring to the McDonald farm ghost which is to be investigated by Dr. Franklin Pirnce, President of the Physchology Research Society of New York, Dr. Carrington said he thought it was a "poltergeist" or spirit that makes a lot of noise.

Dr. Carringon recalled the famous Amherst ghost of fifty years ago still unsolved but apparently "laid" and spoke of a Windsor ghost hoax which he had investigated. He labelled the Windsor ghost as the worst one in twenty years after he discovered that some people in Windsor were in a conspiracy to delude an aged spiritualistic judge by dropping potatoes and eggs on him from trees and windows and making other "manifestations."

THE NEEDS AND BENEFITS OF LIFE INSURANCE IN THE HOME

Insurance, broadly speaking, is protection against loss. Life gives rise to hazards, some of which can be foreseen more or less clearly; some, like death, are altogether beyond reckoning. It is the same with every human enterprise. No one can say what ships will come to port, what houses or factories will be destroyed by fire. Chance alone, or circumstances so numerous or uncertain that they can never be taken fully into account, determines the hazards.

As long as these greatest of all risks have, to be assumed, by the individual enterprise is paralyzed. A ship merchant, for example, who is quite ready to shoulder a reasonable risk, will hesitate to engage his fortune in a venture the failure of which will involve total ruin. Such hesitation is only reasonable prudence, and ruinous risks have therefore to be assumed co-operatively by groups. Insurance has thus a considerable social significance; it binds men together by uniting their interests.

Losses which would be ruinous for one manufacturer can be rendered relatively slight by being distributed among a large number of manufacturers. The owner of a plant is, therefore, willing to pay a certain stipulated sum each year into a common fund in return for the assurance that in case his buildings are destroyed by fire or damaged by an explosion he will be protected against loss. The total fees so paid must be more than the total losses incurred by the group in any one year: This is insurance.

Two motives inspire men to carry life insurance. Either they wish to provide for their families after their death, or they wish to make an investment at a reasonable rate of interest. The form of the life policy has been made extremely flexible so as to accomodate a great variety of human needs. With all the variations it would be quite impossible to deal in such an article as this. Important general classifications are life policies and endowment policies.

Never in the history of life insurance in Canade has a policyholder lost a dollar through the failure of any life insurance company.

The premiums received by a life insurance company form a trust fund and are very carefully guarded. These trust funds, amounting to seven hundred million dollars are invested by the insurance companies in Government securities agriculture, transportation, industrial and other enterprises, which go to develop Canada and make it a better place in which to live.

The development of life insurance is presenting an enlarged opportunity of performing this two fold duty for Canadians, protecting the home and building up the nation.

Over a thousand persons every day in Canada are turning to Life Insurance for the purpose of caring for the future of their dependents. The proceeds of the vast number of life insurance policies being issued year by year will bring untold benefit to the families of those who have made this wise provision.

You may be able to care for your wife and children as long as you live, but life insurance will provide for them as long as they live.

There are many things for which you desire money. Maybe it is to pay the mortgage off your home, to give your children an education, to provide a fund to care for your wife and family if you should die or to support yourself in your old age if you live.

Or perhaps you are endeavoring to extend your business credit; to retire a bond issue; to create a reserve to offset the loss of death of some member of your firm, or to pay off the widow of your partner. The story of Canada's prosperity is told in the development of her agriculture resources, for Canada has become one of the greatest agricultural countries in the world. This has been made possible only through a struggle with problems which the life insurance companies have helped to solve by placing twenty five to forty per cent of their entire assets in mortgage loans.

Life insurance offers the best form of saving today. It is an investment for small sums, and affords "protection" for many times the annual deposit or premium. It is the only method of combining savings and protection. It is also the sure way of leaving an estate. Fifty per cent of all estates at death consist of life insurance, many persons are unable to leave anything else to their families.

The Life Insurance Companies believe in Canada's future. They are assasting in the building of that future. They have loaned to the Governments and municipalities throughout the country one half of those entire assets, or approximately three hundred million dollars. Insurance money is building schools, roads, drains, sewers bridges, public buildings, providing hospitals, asylums, welfare institutions, establishing justice law and order and defraying the cost of the war and of the carrying on of the Government.

Thus Life Insurance has proven to be life's balance wheel. Through it the future is safeguarded and provision is made for the day your earning power decreases.

CONFERENCE APRIL 10TH

PARIS, March 8—April 10 has been definitely settled upon as the date for the opening of the Genoa economic conference, Italy, from which a request for delay had been expected owing to the extended cabinet crisis last month, informed the foreign office today that she would be ready on that date.

The French government will have five representatives at the opening of the conference, one of whom is quite likely to be Premier Poincare himself, but for a few days only.

LONGSHOREMAN KILLED

Watch These

Some very fine specimens of the genus equine may be seen any day in Kensington. Mr. Bert Kelly sports a Brazilian that has already exhibited sufficient speed to command attention, and with Bert as persuader this gamy lad may yet do honor to the sire. He is well formed and has a line of decendants that display the desired characteristics.

Mr. Fred Shea draws a careful rein over a chestnut Seymour Dillon, which is destined in the near future to exhibit exceptional speed which will cause contestants in the procession following to step up to win even second place.

Mr. James Pendergast, that effective promoter of every kind of entertaining sport runs an Alta Gara, coming four, that can draw James over a mile and make a mark that rivals competitors may seriously consider.

Dr. Thompson, who can not only attendt of the ills of man's noblest friend in the animal kingdom, but can discover and develop speed with most desirable effect, is the lucky owner of a British Soldier, the sire of which contested a seven heat race in Charlottetown last autumn, the fastest of its kind ever trotted or raced in the Maritime Provinces. He emerged from the contest capturing the second and sixth heats and pocketing second money. This young recruit in the pacing field may yet make actual engagements extremely interesting for ever true veterans. He is truly game and superably gaited, and with the training that he is receiving, barring accidents or sickness, he will top many three year old summaries, in 1922.

Mr. Tyndal Semple has a sporty mark that made a fine showing in the Exhibition Races at Charlottetown last autumn. He bestowed upon her lavish care during the autumn and winter and has succeeded in establishing her in a class that must interest horsemen.
