

Lamotta Winner Over Janiro In Ten Rounds

Bell Saves Loser In Final Heat

By SID FEDER
NEW YORK, June 6—(CP)—Jake Lamotta, the boxing bull from the Bronx, went on a slug-ging spree after a slow start to night to whip Tony Janiro in 10 rounds and to explode the rumors of a fight at one and the same time at Madison Square Garden. Lamotta scaled 154½, Janiro 149½.

Outgunned and outweighed by the rugged rough slugger they call the Bronx fire hydrant, Janiro never had a chance after the first two rounds and was on the point of a knockout from the sixth round on. But in one of the gam-er exhibitions this big battle pit has seen in years, the youngster from Youngstown held on until four seconds from the finish, then collapsed, and was flat on his back at the finish—slayed by the bell.

The count reached four—then the bell sounded ending the fight, with Lamotta an easy and one-sided winner of the unanimous decision. None of the three officials gave Janiro more than three rounds. The Associated Press score card gave Lamotta eight rounds, one to Janiro and called one even.

But from start to finish it was a free-for-all slugfest that completely laughed off the rumors that there was something "wrong" with the match—rumors, incidentally, which the bookmakers completely disregarded by installing Jake as a top-sided 5 to 17 betting favorite.

It was reported the district attorney's office was "interested" in the fight for some reason or other, and it was learned that Frank Jacobs, Janiro's manager, was questioned by the prosecutor yesterday. This questioning, however, was said to have concerned whether Jacobs was threatened concerning his intention of claiming the $15,000 forfeit Lamotta would have had to pay if he failed to make the agreed-on 155 pounds.

The manager insisted he had not been threatened and that he would demand the forfeit. However, Lamotta made the weight by three-quarters of a pound today and the question simply evaporated like his weight.

Although he was staggering and wobbling at the finish of every round from the sixth on, Janiro didn't hit the deck down this stretch until the four-second mark from the finish. And the only other knockdown came in the third when Lamotta caught the Ohio youngster off balance with a wild right and sent Tony to the canvas for a short one count. Tony was up almost before the "one" was tolled, however, and after more working the sharp-shooting against Lamotta's mauling slugging rushes that made him the sympathetic favorite with the crowd of 14,165 customers who chipped in to a gross gate of $71,674.

There was no explanation of what started the rumors that the fight would be fixed.

THE CHARLOTTETOWN GUARDIAN JUNE 7, 1947

(By Jimmie Walker, Charlottetown Golf Pro.)

STANCE AND ADDRESS

The stance and address are important in the preparation of the swing because the proper placing of the feet and club can spell success or failure for the shot to be played. The feet should be about shoulder width apart for the drive and gradually closer together for the brassie, spoon, long irons and medium irons until the heels are almost touching for the short pitch and chip shots. The stance should be slightly open with the left foot drawn slightly back from a line parallel to the imaginary line of flight for the drive and gradually move open down through the clubs to the chip shot. The right foot should be at right angles to the line of flight and the left foot should be turned slightly outward.

The weight should be evenly distributed between the ball of the foot and the heel and should be balanced between both feet when addressing the ball prior to starting the backswing.

When addressing the ball the club is placed with its center opposite the back of the ball and with the face at right angles to the intended line of flight and the sole of the club flat on the ground. For the drive the tail is placed opposite the inside of the left heel and is gradually moved back towards the center of the feet as the shots become shorter; with the niblick and short pitch shots being played a little to the right of center. At the address the body is slightly bent at the hips, the legs are straight but relaxed and the arms hang almost straight down to grip the club.

Marshall And Mize, Bat Out 7-4 Victory

(By The Canadian Press)
Home runs by Johnny Mize and Willard Marshall accounted for all of New York's runs yesterday as the Giants downed St. Louis Cardinals 7-4 in 11 innings at the Polo Grounds to gain their sixth straight victory over the hapless champions.

Marshall broke up the game with a three-run circuit blast in the second extra inning off Ken Burkhardt, who relieved Jim Hearn after the rookie righthander worked Mize and Walker Cooper with one down in the 11th.

Earlier, Mize cooped a fine hurling performance by starter H. W. Pollet by clouting his 15th round-tripper of the season with the base loaded in the sixth.

Until that frame, Pollet had blanked the Giants without a hit. St. Louis reached Bill Avers, Ken Trinkle and winning pitcher Gene Thompson for 14 outs including a homer and three singles by Red Schoendienst while the Giants collected six blows.

Brooklyn took a half-game lead in the tight race by whipping Chicago Cubs 6-2 behind the pitching of lefthander Joe Hatten. A six-run second inning sewed it up for the Brooks in the arch-rival match in Flatbush.

Phil Masi's two-on homer gave Boston Braves a 5-2 victory over Cincinnati Reds for Johnny Beasley before a Boston crowd. Beasley, whose arm was treated by a New York specialist this week, kept 11 hits well scattered until the ninth.

Howie Schultz's home run into the left field stands with one out in the ninth broke a 3-3 tie and gave Philadelphia Phillies a 4-3 victory over Pittsburgh Pirates.

Johnny Wyrstok gave the Phillies a 3-1 lead in the first inning with a home run with two on but the Pirates tied it in the 9th.

Jackie Robinson singled off Hank Wyse with the bases loaded at Brooklyn, scoring two runs, and when Wyse, who took the throw at the plate, threw wild trying to nip a runner scored, the other two runs scored.

Frazer scattered nine hits in registering his sixth victory and his third over the Cubs.

Little Not Entered In Canadian Open

The Hunter's Corner

It looks as though Lawson Little may not be on hand for the Canadian Open Golf Championship at Toronto Scarborough in mid-July, but it's a cinch that his name will enter the proceedings if any of the boys start turning in dazzling scores in their quest for the Seagram Gold Cup and the lion's share of the $10,000 prize money. Little hasn't filed an entry for the tournament yet, although officials are still hopeful that he will.

Little, the Chicago past-master of golf, still holds the record for the Canadian Open. His par-busting 271 was set over the par 70 St. Andrews layout of Toronto in 1936—first year the Seagram Gold Cup became the trophy representing the Canadian Championship. Closest challenge to that mark in subsequent years was Sam Snead's 274 over Toronto Scarborough in 1941.

Nineteen forty-one is interesting not as much because of Snead's 274 as because of the 276 Bob Gray of Toronto put together to capture second place. That 276 is the lowest score a Canadian player has chalked up for 72 holes since the Canadian Open had its inception in 1904, although Stan Leonard of Vancouver was a single stroke back of the winner with 279 last year. Gray's performance and Little's 1936 feat have faced in Gold Cup annals two records which surpass anything the Open had produced since its started.

Whether the records will still be standing after this year's 38th annual Open remains a question. Certainly, there will be a wealth of Canadian and U. S. talent on hand for efforts to shatter the marks; but equally certain is the fact that the records will be hard to beat.

Scarboro is a par 71 course, so the boys will have to shoot a shade better than three under par each round to equal Little's mark; more than two under per round to pass Gray's record. Which is quite some shooting even for the high calibre players which the Gold Cup attracts.

Now to put everyone right on the retaining length for trout. The special fisheries regulations which is a Federal Act states that every one who catches trout measuring less than six inches from the tip of the nose to the centre of the tail must return it alive and unharmed to the Provincial Game Act in 1944 raised the retaining limit from six to eight inches. Somewhat confusing maybe, but everyone who keeps trout under six inches in length is wrong on two counts.

Harder Wins 219th Victory

(By The Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, June 6—Cleveland Indians defeated Philadelphia Athletics 7-4 in the opener of a five-game American League series before 19,988 tonight with the veteran Mel Harder receiving credit for the 219th triumph of his major league career.

Ed Furgol of Pontiac, Mich., topped in a 20-foot putt on the 18th for an astonishing nine-under-par 69.

Furgol has a 75 Thursday and 138 two-day total left him seven strokes behind the fast-travelling Snead.

There was a two-way tie for second place, at 134, between George Payton of Hampton, Va., and Tom Wright of Knoxville, Tenn.

and the 9/16 of a mile in 1:13. In the 2:22 class Miss Rosie E. won the first heat in 1:04 and the 9/16 in 1:11 and the third heat and mile in 2:16.

The wet, rainy weather has not hurt the Charlottetown track one particle. As Rankin McLaine puts it, it is "sliding off it like water off a duck's back." Track masters McLaine and Kelly have certainly done a good job, assisted by the giant road machine handled by an expert. A number of men are employed under the direction of caretaker Bill MacAusland, putting in the posts and placing boards on them, but this is expected to be finished in a few days and then Rankin takes over again and puts in fifty-one 35-foot posts to carry the electric light equipment. If the weather turns fine and gives the workmen a break the lights should be in and the plant in working order before the end of the month.

In conversation with Roy Barnett Thursday he said that of the over 40 horses at the track there was not an unsound one and that all of them were "rarin' to go." The long spell of cool weather and slow training apparently has not done them any harm and will probably put them in better shape for the hard racing season which is ahead.

As far as we can learn Percy Downe's Mac Watson still holds the season's record—2:28, with Anti-Aircraft 2:03 stepping in 2:29½. Particularly well liked by all horsemen is Curley Bevan's two-year-old brought from Kentucky last fall. We saw Austin Tierney work him out and he trotted just like a veteran. As there are no classes for him this season he will likely be trained lightly and turned out for the summer.

The Maritime Horseman, which is an annual review of racing, is out for 1947 and we thank the New Glasgow, N.S., publishers for a copy just received. It is a splendid publication of 124 pages filled with harness horse lore including all the highlights of 1946: photos of principal race horses and race tracks of the Maritimes; list of two-minute drivers, review of harness racing in 1946, the story of Heatherbell, Cape Breton racing review by Don MacLeod, and hundreds of other items that will appeal to horse lovers near and far. To those who compiled it, we extend our hearty congratulations on a work well done, also to the printers and publishers. The Maritime Horseman should find a welcome in every horseman's home.

Readers will be interested to know that the first mile ever trotted in 2:30 in the Maritime Provinces took place on September 12th, 1877, at Fredericton, N. B. It was a three minute class, purse $150, and C. S. Fraser's Princess was 1-1-0-2-2-0-1; T. Tomey's Lady Dinsmore, 3-2-0-1-1-0, dis.; A. M. Haines' Sacco Boy was 2-4-0-4-3-3-0; R. H. Edwards' Flying Dutchman, 4-3-0-3-3-0-1. Flying Dutchman was the only Maritime horse, the others came from Maine. Time: 2:32; 2:36; 2:38; 2:37; 2:34; 2:30; 2:35. The record was made in the sixth heat which was a dead heat between Princess and Lady Dinsmore.

Princess was proved to be a ringer with a fast record and was expelled from Saint John. It was afterwards alleged in print that Lady Dinsmore had another name and a fact record and Sacco Boy was alleged to be Little Fred 2:35. None of these statements were proved. King William, another trotter on the circuit that season, was proved during the evidence in a law suit to have trotted races under the name of Anglo-Saxon.

The principal provincial owned horses on the circuit that season were: Al Slip's Nellie Thorne; Bliss MacLeod's Gypsy Queen; J. C. Machon's Frank Allison; P. S. Brown's Honest Charlie; P. McKenna's Pochantous, and S. McNell's Foch Sporter.

It will be noted from the above that considerable "ringing" was done in those days but as the sport became organized and the rules of the National Trotting Association enforced it became more and more difficult with expulsion for life as a penalty. Interesting to many of us also are the names of those who owned and raced horses that day, seventy years ago, particularly our good friend, the late ex-Mayor P. S. Brown and R. H. Edwards of Halifax. Mr. Edwards continued racing horses until 1924 and his driver was the well known Frank Boutiller who died some years ago.

The sudden passing of Fred J. E. Wright of Summerside, early this week came as a great shock to thousands of friends. Fred was known well to be in the best of health but no one expected the worst. All his life he had been interested in horses and as a young man drove in many races. When he gave up driving he became a starter and for over twenty years officiated in that capacity. His work was always above reproach and horsemen knew that Fred would do the honorable thing at all times. He was one of the principal organizers of the Prince Edward Island Futurity Racing Association which has done so much to develop young trotters and pacers in this Province, and in fact it has placed the Garden of the Gulf in the forefront in that respect. Not only was Fred a good official in his capacity as

Softball Leagues Are Organized In Kensington

Two softball leagues have been organized in Kensington this year with three teams in each. A new playing field has been obtained near the centre of the town on Stewart Street with ample parking space nearby. A new backstop has been erected and a regulation diamond laid out with all conveniences except bleachers which will probably be provided in the future. This new field was made possible through the cooperation of the firemen, town authorities and the general public. Two meetings have been held, the last on June 3rd to complete the organization of the leagues and the officers have been elected. Softball was decided on for this year instead of baseball but it is expected that another year Kensington will be in hard ball competition. Prior to the war Kensington always gave serious competition to Summerside and other Prince County teams in baseball playoffs and within a year to get organized it can be expected that they will be back in the sport again stronger and more enthusiastic than ever.

After a few games have been played on the new diamond it is planned to have a formal opening for which some special attractions will be provided probably a concert by the 40 piece band of the 17th Recce Regt from Charlottetown. The Department of Physical Education under Lt.-Col. W. W. Reid have indicated their willingness to support the league in a very tangible way and this news has been received with enthusiasm and appreciation by the community. The officers elected for the new league are as follows: Hon. Pres., S. R. Pendleton; President, F. R. Naus; Vice president, Gerald McQuaid; Secretary, Rowan Profit; Treasurer, J. Bernard; Financial Committee, Dr. W. P. McBride, Fred M. Davison, George Brookins, Kenneth Pidgeon and P. N. LeBlanc. Messrs. O. B. Darrach and Fred Semple declined league offices advocating younger personnel and leaving themselves to free-lance in the general interests of the league. The three teams in the senior league were entered by the managers and captains: Firemen's team by Elmer Bernard and Eric Watson; Collegians team (comprising college students and high school students) by Austin Fendergast and Gerald McQuaid; Stonewinders (comprising remaining members of the "Old Guard") by O. B. Darrach and Fred Semple.

Each of these three teams has assumed the responsibility of fostering a junior or farm team that would comprise school boys from 9 years to 17 years. Requests have been received for exhibition games from Kinkora, Alberton and Freetown.

As time goes on it is expected the girls will again resume their softball activities of last year when they made a creditable showing against the highly touted Summerside Bobby-Sockers. Every success is wished for the new league in the enterprising town of Kensington especially in minor ball—S.
