

"SALT RHEUM"

Had It On Hands For Two Years.

ITCHED SO DID NOT KNOW WHAT TO DO.

Tried Three Doctors and Went to Hospital.

All skin diseases are more or less occasioned by a bad state of the blood, and no one can expect to be free from some form or other of skin trouble unless the blood is kept in good shape.

This is due to the unrivalled purifying action of Burdock Blood Bitters on the blood, coupled with the thorough manner in which it cleanses and expels the impurities from the body.

Mrs. Richard Coutine, White Head, Que., writes: "I have been bothered with salt rheum, on my hands, for two years, and it itched so I did not know what to do. I tried three doctors, and even went to Montreal to the hospital without getting any relief. I was advised to try Burdock Blood Bitters, so I got three bottles, and before I had the second used I found a big change, and now to-day I am cured."

NOSEBLED IN ADULTS.

Recurring Attacks May Mean Kidney, Heart or Liver Trouble.

In the young, epistaxis, or nose-bleed, is of slight consequence; in the mature it is more significant, and in the elderly or the aged it may be a serious symptom. When a middle-aged person has attacks of nosebleed the underlying cause must be found, for it may be anything from some slight change in the mucous membrane of the nose to organic disease or a malignant growth.

The bleeding may be a symptom of disease in the heart, the kidneys or the liver. Although the blood comes from the nose, the nose itself is not always at fault. Sometimes the hemorrhage is so slight as hardly to cause remark on the part of the patient, sometimes it is so severe as to menace life itself; in still other cases the loss of blood is distinctly beneficial, for it relieves some overburdened organ.

Any disease that interferes with the return of the blood from the head into the body may cause a passive congestion of the mucous lining of the nose, sometimes seen in cases of valvular disease or in chronic bronchitis. Goiters or tumors of the neck act mechanically to produce the same result. In stout, full-blooded adults an attack of nosebleed is often preceded by a severe headache or other symptom indicating too much blood in the head, in which cases the hemorrhage will relieve the headache. The same thing is often true in cases of tinnitus or noises in the head. If the hemorrhage is severe the same symptoms—headache and tinnitus—may follow as a result of the anemia.

A person no longer young who has recurring attacks of nosebleed for which he can find no local or mechanical cause should have a physician make a thorough examination of him, to see that nothing ails his kidneys, heart, lungs or liver.

FIGHTING A MUD RUSH.

A Perilous Rescue in the Diamond Mine Pits of Kimberley.

Miners in the diamond pits of Kimberley need not fear fire or falling rock, suffocation by choke damp or sudden death by explosion, but they have perils of a different nature, as is shown by this thrilling story of the rescue of a party of native miners by the Englishmen who were in charge of them.

One morning a band of natives hard at work in a corner of the mine were startled by a dull noise, as if a few tons of some soft substance had been hurled against the high door that separated the spot, where they worked from the long tunnel that led to the shaft.

"The mud!" they cried and dropped their picks in an instant.

A mud rush means certain death to all in its track. It gives no warning. It comes silently, like an ugly, wriggling snake. It works its way swiftly, spares nothing, covers everything. The Englishmen at the opening of the tunnel roared out, "Climb to the top of the wall!" which the natives promptly did. There, for the time at least, they were safe.

"Stay where you are!" the Englishmen called. "If you jump down you will be sucked in and suffocated in two minutes."

Soon the tunnel was a tunnel no longer, but a mass of quivering slime. The mud flowed for hours. Then it gradually slowed and ceased. The Englishmen outside sat roiled on a neighboring rock and looked down helplessly into the pit. All plannings of suggestions were abandoned. Most of the Englishmen, but in the end it was decided to try to reach the men, not by removing the mud, but by passing over it.

One man laid a plank upon the mud and stretched himself on it. A little spade was handed to him, with which he began to cut into the mud, pulling himself along by a man face downward in a canoe might pull himself forward with a paddle. He worked bravely on, half inch by half inch; then another man put down a plank and followed him.

In half an hour six men were laid flat on six planks in the midst of the mud. There was sixty-five feet of mud, and between them and it were these thin planks that might help them at any moment and send them to a suffocating death. And behind was the hidden spring of destruction that might let loose its slime again, flood the tunnel and capsize the planks like cockleshells on a turbulent sea. When the man on the first plank reached the wall on which the natives were huddled he called to them:

"You've seen the way I've come. Well, I'm going back, but I'm leaving the planks for you to follow on. Crawl along the planks as much like a snake as you can."

Slowly the men on the planks slid back, leaving the wooden line behind them. Slowly the natives followed. Nobody spoke. The black mass underneath looked as hard as a rock, but was as soft as porridge and trembled horribly. As each man reached the end plank he was handed in to safety and carried, half fainting, out of the tunnel. The rest dragged themselves wearily on. When the last native arrived his mates thought he was a stranger. His hair was perfectly white.

BIG REWARD FOR WILL.

NEW YORK, May 30.—A London cable says:—A romantic story of a lost codicil on which turns the disposal of a fortune of £1,000,000 is contained in an advertisement offering a reward of 10,000 pounds for the discovery of a formally executed copy of the rough draft of a codicil which has been found among the papers of the late Sir John Murray Scott.

If assigned and witnessed copy can be found of the roughly drafted codicil the result will be to divert all of the estate except the income on a legacy £20,000 or £30,000 from Lady Sackville to Sir John Murray Scott's next of kin, on whose behalf the reward is offered.

Why Hens Don't Lay in Winter.

I have found it very difficult to make people understand that a hen cannot make eggs and feather at the same time. She can lay while she is shedding her feathers, because there is then no drain on her system for any other purpose. But when the new coat of feathers is started, she quits, simply because she cannot do double duty—make feathers and eggs at the same time. When people learn this fact they will not expect eggs from a hen that is growing a coat of feathers. And then they may also learn how to manage their hatching and feeding so as to get eggs in the late fall and winter, when they want them badly.—Farm and Fireside.

The Weak, Lame, Aching Back Comes From The Kidneys.

Those who have never been troubled with kidney trouble do not know the suffering and misery which those afflicted undergo.

On the first sign of backache Doan's Kidney Pills should be taken immediately so as to avoid years of suffering from kidney trouble.

They go right to the seat of the trouble, heal the delicate membranes of the kidneys and make their action regular and natural.

Mrs. Joseph Throop, Upper Point de Bute, N.B., writes:—"I cannot speak too well of Doan's Kidney Pills. For two years I was so tired life was a burden, and I got up more tired than when I went to bed, and my back was so lame I could hardly straighten up. I took different kinds of medicine, but none of them did me any good until a friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I did so, and to-day I don't know what it is to be tired, and my lame back is all gone. I can recommend them to any person suffering with lame back and that terrible tired feeling."
