Americans Buy Wooden Ships

(By The Canadian Press) INDIAN POINT, N. S., Oct. 25—Nova Scotians still maintain their reputation for building wooden ships. The day for giant timbered transports for commercial trade is past but skilled shipbuilders in coastal towns do a thriving trade building small pleasure craft for Americans.

A three-masted cruise schooner, the largest of its type ever built in the province, has just been launched from the yards of W. R. Langille, Indian Point. Measuring 61 feet over all, it was built for parties at Stamford, Conn. A whole fleet of American owned boats have been turned out from these yards.

NEW STREET COMPLETED

Workmen are busy today taking up the old sidewalk on Fitzroy Street between Summer Street and Central Street, which was in very bad condition and a new sidewalk is to be laid down. The work is being done by town labour which will help out the unemployment situation a little. S.

Motor Vessel In Summerside

The motor vessel Dominion Halsey, a wooden ship built at Mahone Bay, N.S., for the coastwise trade, came into Summerside harbour on Wednesday to load 40,000 bags of potatoes for R. T. Holman, Ltd., for Halifax, N.S.

The vessel carries a crew of nine men, which is much smaller than a steamer of the same type would require, and has travelled over 16,000 miles since the beginning of the season last May.

The vessel is about 135 ft. in length and is registered at 282 tons. She has twin-screws supported by struts under the hull, and is powered by two compact, direct connected Fairbanks-Morse engines, of the four-cylinder, marine diesel type. These engines are rated at 150 H.P. each.

Captain E. Lowe says this is his first visit to Summerside, although he has been engaged in a coastwise trade for twenty years, calling at Charlottetown and Souris on several occasions. He was very much impressed with the large departmental stores.

His work for the Nova Scotia Shipping Co. has taken him to the Labrador Coast several times this summer where he has bought fish for his Company from the Newfoundland Government under the British Government Commission scheme.

He says that Newfoundland is coming back strong under this system. The Government supply the fishermen with their gear, equipment and even boats if necessary. They fit the fishermen out with a supply of food for themselves and also for their families during the fishing season and buy their fish at the regular market price; and Captain Lowe says ninety per cent of the fishers come out square at the end of the season and some have a balance after the Government has been paid back. No dolo is given out and men who have no initiative to work on their own are placed in gangs with their own man at the head. At the end of the fishing trip the catch is divided equally between all and so they all share alike. This is a great incentive to the slacker who if left to his own resources would probably starve.

Fish have not been very plentiful round the Newfoundland coast and so the Government has paid the way of the fishermen to the Labrador fishing grounds and paid their way back. Several Canadian companies have bought fish from Newfoundland this summer paying cash at the regular market price.

Half a million dollars has been set aside by the Commission to build schooners this winter for the development of the Newfoundland fishing industry next spring. These schooners will be between 50 and 100 tons. Each vessel will be placed in charge of responsible men, owning their own equipment. They will have crews of ten to twenty fishermen. They will be built on the north and west coast with lumber from the extensive timber lands there. The men in the lumber camps will be financed on the same lines as the fishermen, having their gear supplied by the Government, who buy the product of their labours.

Captain Lowe reports that excellent prices have been paid for fish this season and the scheme appears to be working out well.—S.

"Will—'Just think of it, Brown has married Miss Grimley." "Phil—'I thought he was only flirting with her." "So did he."

Tendered Reception

HAS NARROW ESCAPE AT R.W.Y. CROSSING

Train Crashes Into Auto Driven By Mr. Leslie Trainor.

Mr. J. Leslie Trainor, potato inspector, had an almost miraculous escape from death yesterday morning, as his Plymouth coupe was struck by the west bound train from Charlottetown on the crossing at Emerald Junction or was driving into Emerald Junction from his home at Maplewood to inspect potatoes. He did not see the train and he was right on the crossing when he was struck. The car was thrown into the ditch and completely demolished, not a pane of glass being left. Mr. Trainor crawled out from the wreckage and walked to the station. He was suffering from the shock but otherwise unhurt. Mr. Trainor could not explain how it was he came out unscathed.

RUNS AMOK

The day and night of one horrible discovery after another began in the forenoon when Blodeau drove his two nephews, the Beauport woods, returned without them, and made a second trip with his sisters and niece. These facts became known after his dramatic appearance in the Quebec post office in the afternoon.

There, to the consternation of the staff, he advanced to a room where Messrs. Morin, Fiset and Jolicoeur were talking and drawing a revolver began firing rapidly. All three fell under a hail of bullets, Fiset dead, the other injured.

Constable Patrick Horrigan found Blodeau crouched over a telephone, mumbling into it, his revolver on a table beside him. He fit the fisherman out with a constable sprang upon the man and hastened him to headquarters where in response to repeated questioning the man told of the rest of the tragic day's happenings.

Blodeau calmly informed the officers he had killed several of his relations. Immediately headquarters sprang to action. Chief Rosaire Lemire of the provincial police with several men piled into an automobile and, taking Blodeau with them, sped to St. Therese where Blodeau indicated the spot where he had killed his sisters and niece.

The two elderly women were dead, their bodies cold, when found, but Miss Gaudin was still breathing. She died shortly afterwards. The bodies were lying on a narrow trail in the forest and two and a half miles from St. Therese. The remains of the women were brought to the morgue here and Blodeau in jail. Police then hastened back to the scene to seek the nephews of whom nothing has been heard since they left Quebec with Blodeau this morning.

Police late tonight stated they had learned from the detained man, who was vague and hesitant, that around noon he invited his nephews, Gaston and Fernand, on an automobile drive. He went to Beauport and killed the boys, returning alone.

Christmas Tree Trade Organized

(Canadian Press) TRURO, N. S., Oct. 25—The industry of shipping Christmas trees to the United States from the Maritime Provinces, started several years ago as the work of small individual buyers, has this year developed into an organized business with hired operators working from offices at Truro, Moncton and Bridgewater.

The Maritime offices are connected with a large Christmas tree concern in California, and early in November, huge trains will begin moving across a continent bearing their green emblems of joy in flat cars piled high with firs taken from Eastern back yards, pasture lands and second-growth areas.

Small farmers engaged in clearing their land will be affected most directly by the new organization. The Christmas tree trade has liquidated hundreds of dollars in a single month for owners of land bearing suitable trees in past years, and with the industry now organized they expect to double their former earnings.

In addition to the new company, buyers from other parts of the United States are expected to be working in the province. Millions of trees have been shipped from Nova Scotia and New Brunswick in the last decade.

Dr. George Arthur of Lavozy, Alberta, who has been visiting his mother, Mrs. Katherine Arthur of Summerside, addressed the congregation in Trinity United Church on Wednesday evening on the work of the United Church in the Mission Fields in Western Canada.

Dr. Arthur spoke particularly on the work among the farmers in the dried out areas. He said the reports which come through are not at all exaggerated and help is very sadly needed.

Dr. Arthur's address dealt very fully with the work being done by the United Church Missionaries and was very instructive and interesting.

Dr. Arthur left yesterday morning on return to his home. S.

OVER 12 MILLION JARS USED YEARLY

Will You Believe Your Own Eyes ?

Is Your Set Like This? The tubes in this radio are "Shielded" with metal cans—we discarded this method three years ago.

You Are Looking in the Back of Two Radios

This Is The Rogers Way Here are the Famous Rogers "Spray-Shield" Tubes—with the metal shield blasted right onto the glass, this eliminates vibration, overheating, distortion and improves reception.

Before Buying— Make This Two-Second Test!

A two-second test with your own eyes will tell you whether the new radio you buy is truly modern, and really efficient. Look at the tubes in a radio! If they are covered with metal cans it is the method of shielding, which we discarded three years ago.

The new system of "shielding" tubes (and almost every tube in every radio must be shielded) is to blast the metal shield, in a fine molten spray, right over and into the glass bulb and the base, thus providing a perfect glass shield more binding than the bark on a tree and more lasting than the tube itself.

These new "spray-shield" tubes have seven distinct points of superiority and improve radio reception in five different ways. Three of the greatest radios in Canada have been licensed to use these tubes exclusively: Rogers, Majestic, and De Forest Crosley Radios.

Each spray-shield tube is both tube and shield in one. Yet they cost no more than an ordinary tube and are the only fully-guaranteed tube supplied in any radio!

Now in their third year of actual operation in Canada, from Coast to Coast, they have proven their quality. Wise radio buyers, seeking the utmost in purchasing value for their radio dollars, will insist on spray-shield tubes. A few years from now, when they seek to trade in the old radio, spray-shield tubes will increase its resale value. Only selected, authorized Rogers, Majestic and De Forest Crosley dealers can sell radios equipped with spray-shield tubes.

Better Reception of Foreign Stations

Spray-Shield Tubes Assure Better Reception from Foreign Stations.

With the advent of "short-wave" reception in most radios this year, the question of shielding becomes more important than ever, and the necessity of having absolutely perfect protection against interference from within the set itself makes spray-shielding an even greater factor in assuring maximum results on the tricky tuning of short-wave stations from great distances. It costs no more to buy a radio with spray-shield tubes—but you get better results. Insist on spray-shield tubes.

LOOK AT THE TUBES IN A RADIO . . .

Accept No Substitutes. Insist on Spray-Shield Guaranteed Tubes.

The new 1935 models now on sale by authorized dealers embody all the new features and offer world-wide reception.
