—ROYAL CELEBRATION.—Kensington celebrated the victory of the Allies in royal and magnificent fashion on receipt of the news. Flags and banners were displayed and the town went wild with joy. The programme opened with a service of thanksgiving in the C. M. B. A. Hall. The service of praise was under the direction of the united choirs of the churches. The Rev. C. W. Neish offered up the prayer of thanksgiving. Rev. T. W. Goodwill reading the scripture lesson, and Rev. G. A. Sellar delivered a very able and inspiring thanksgiving address. The monster parade was then formed up and marched through the principal streets under command of Andrew Bonness, as marshal, making a magnificent torch light procession. "Kaiser Bill" in full uniform was led as a captive and after being mysteriously hung between earth and heaven was placed upon his throne of tar barrels and the match being applied amid cheers of the multitude assembled the massive and speculator bonfire illuminated the Railway square. The evening train added to the ringing of bells, factory horns, by giving a prolonged blast of her whistle as it entered the station. The small boys danced around the flaming throne, tooting fog horns, singing and cheering. The citizens joined in the merriment by singing patriotic songs. The parade then made its way to the C. M. B. A. Hall where His Worship Mayor Jardine acted as chairman and the councilmen taking seats on the platform. Many patriotic songs were beautifully rendered, Miss Mable Bentley delighting the audience with her usual skilful manner as she presided at the piano. The Mayor called for cheers for the King, Army and Navy. The Allies, and the Canadian soldiers after which the brave dead received grand honor by the large audiences standing with bowed heads in sympathetic and impressive silence. The Rev. T. W. Goodwill delivered a stirring patriotic address and the meeting closed by singing, "Marching through Georgia," and God Save the King.—R.
