Home Nursing...
VITAL FACTOR in CANADIAN HEALTH

The need for a sound knowledge of Home Nursing is greater now than ever before. War has made deep inroads into the ranks of the medical profession—the demand placed on doctors and nurses today is onerous.

Wives and mothers who have taken the St. John Ambulance Association course in Home Nursing are able to make a definite contribution to health on the home front. With a sound knowledge of the elementary principles and practice of Home Nursing and of hygiene and sanitation, these women are in a position to care for the sick in their own homes and play an important part in building up the health and strength of Canadians.

Instruction in Home Nursing and First Aid is readily available at the nearest branch of the St. John Ambulance Association. Why not secure full details from your local Branch today—or write to St. John House, 321 Chapel Street, Ottawa, Ontario.

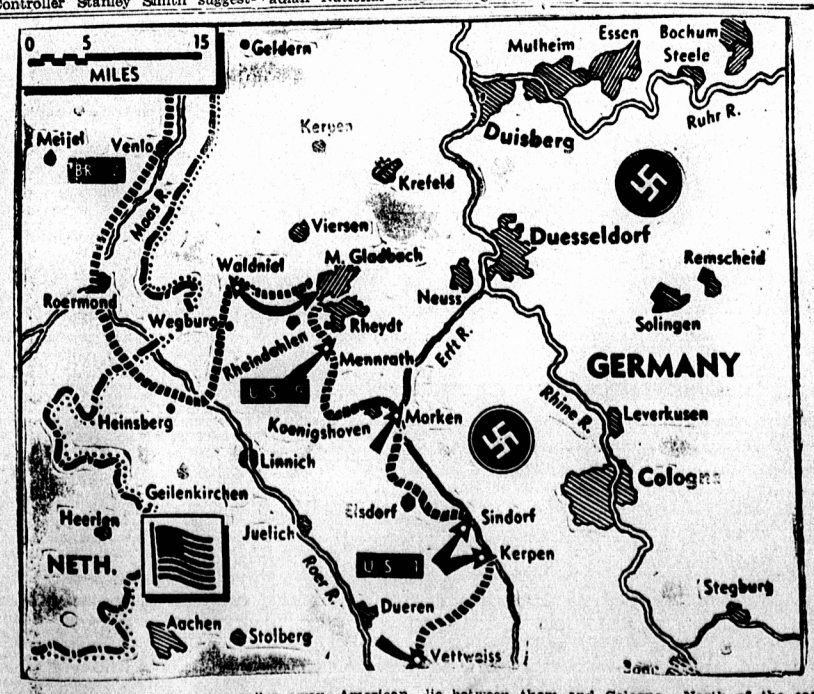
HOUSING SHORTAGE

TORONTO, March 6 — (CP) — Controller Stanley Smith suggested today to the Toronto Board of Control that the city might have to remodel buildings at the Canadian National exhibition grounds and in city parks and throw open police and fire stations to care for families facing eviction in May and June.



With Cologne only seven miles away, American infantrymen broke across the Erft River at two points and have cleared the towns of Elsdorf, Sindorf, and Vettweiss, indicated on map. Yanks now are plowing through extensive mine fields which lie between them and Cologne. North of the eastward-bound spearhead, other troops crash into Muenchen-Gladbach, westernmost of the Rhine industrial cities. According to late reports, Allies are driving ahead against a demoralized enemy only 12 miles from Duesseldorf.
