ANTS IN CHURCH AT MT CARMEL

—The new church at Mount Carmel is infested with a plague of ants. Last year the roof was found in a leaky condition and had to be repaired before finishing the magnificent interior. Great portions of the roof were found to be completely honeycombed and perforated. Recently it has been discovered that the ants have set to work with renewed activity. They are to be treated to the fumes of formaldehyde. They've got to get busy to get ahead of Father Arsenault. But as formaldehyde is composed of formic acid and ultimately a distillation of ants perhaps they will increase and multiply more rapidly in its fumes as their native element.

FIRED FIFTY SHOTS AT HIS NEIGHBORS

Insane Man At Washington Held The Police At Bay For Six Hours.

WASHINGTON, June 9—After holding the police at bay for six hours, Dr. Joseph Pospisiel, an employee of the Pension Office, shot himself through the brain yesterday while insane.

Laboring under a delusion that an attempt was being made to murder him, he fired at pedestrians, into the homes of his neighbors, and at the police. Altogether he fired about fifty shots in this way none of which, however, took effect.

When he shot himself Pospisiel was sitting in the second story window of his home. He first rolled up his sleeves and injected cocaine into his arm and then fired the fatal shot. He plunged forward to the ground and died on the way to the hospital.

SUCCESS OF A P.E.ISLAND MAN

A California paper has a long complimentary notice of D. McLeod a native of this Province but now an importing tailor in Phoenix. When the California boom of 1888 collapsed it caught D. Nicholson in the thriving little burg of Monrovia, where he had up to that time a good patronage in a tailor shop that required the employment of several workmen. He was however, like thousands of other successful business men of that memorable period, and was compelled to seek greener pastures. So he came to Phoenix and embarked in the tailoring business in a small way in part of an old building which stood where Hilderbran's Jewelry store is today. He remained that location for three years and then his business had grown to a point where he was compelled to seek larger quarters, so he moved two doors west of the place occupied today where he remained for 12 years and four years ago moved into the spacious quarter he today occupies at 37 West Washington street. He has from the start always been a firm believer in the great future of the valley and city and agrees with other well informed citizens that what Phoenix now needs is good judicious advertising throughout the farming sections of the middle western states, to tell the farmers of the vast resources at their command in a country where it is possible to till the soil every month in the year. Mr. Nicholson is a native of Prince Edward Island, Canada, but has lived in Arizona so long and become so strongly attached to it both in a financial and social way, that he is looked upon as a native produce of the golden west.

The Supreme Court at Summerside Engaged Yesterday At This Case --Address by Premier Hazard--The Evidence Adduced, Etc. Not Many New Facts Elicited.

(Special by Telephone.)

The trial of Alonzo Dougherty charged with the murder of Joseph D. McMillan at Miscouche on May 10th opened yesterday in the Supreme Court at Summerside. The case for the crown is being conducted by Attorney General Palmer assisted by Premier Haszard, while the defence of the prisoner is being conducted by Neil McQuarrie, K. C. The following are the members of the jury Gordon Pickering, Foreman, Searletown; George Ives, Tryon; Alex Ross, North Bedeque; James Reeves, Freetown; Lemuel Craig, Brae, Lot 9; Theo. Inman, Central Bedeque; Frank Hayes, Searletown; Gordon Matthews, Albany; James Richards, Alberton; John A. McKinnon, Coleman; Alfred Adam, Lot 6; Norman Beaton, O'Leary.

F. L. Haszard, K. C., in his opening address to the jury gave a resume of the evidence of the Crown witnesses. He followed clearly the different steps taken by the prisoner on the evening of the fatal tragedy up to the time of his meeting with the deceased on the railway track, accompanied by Miss Stella McDonald, when the prisoner ordered the deceased to hold up, and at the same time fired three shots at him and ended the life of a promising young man. Mr. Haszard also admonished the jury of their duty, stating that they must only consider the evidence as presented and not be influenced by their own personal feelings, but do their duty fearlessly.

The first witness called was John Mollison. Summerside, who identified and explained to the jury a plan of Miscouche and the place of the murder which was made by him.

Prosper DeRoches and Daniel Malone gave evidence as to the finding of the body, but nothing more was brought out than that given by them at the preliminary examination.

Fred Wright, Deputy Sheriff identified the clothes and exhibits which were delivered to him after the preliminary examination and which have remained in his chgrge since.

Dr. McLellan gave evidence as to what he and Dr. McNeil found at the antopsy on the body, which was also practically the same as that given at the preliminary examination. He indentified the clothes, produced, as those taken from the body during the antopsy.

At the afternoon session of the murder trial at Summerside yesterday Henry E. Wright, Stipendiary Magistrate, was the first witness. He testified as to the holding of the preliminary examination and identified the clothes, bullets and revolver, all produced in court, as those delivered into the custody of the Sheriff after the examination.

DR. J. F. McNEILL gave evidence as to the part taken by him in the autopsy held on the body of the said Joseph McMillan describing the wounds and the condition of the organs of the body as found by them at that time.

When questioned by the foreman of the jury he did not think it would be possible for the deceased to be standing on his feet when he received the second wound.

URBAN GILLIS was the next witness. He testified to having seen the prisoner on Sunday May 10th. Was playing football with him in the evening, also saw McMillan and the girls passing along the railway track the same evening. Heard the remark made, "Now Lon," or "Look Lon," as McMillan and the girls passed. Do not know if the prisoner heard them or not. Do not know if remarks were made to the prisoner or not, but think it was made in reference to the girls and McMillan. It may have been meant for the football players. (His evidence which followed as to the finding of the body was practically the same as that given by Prosper DesRoche, Daniel Malone and the witness himself at the time of the preliminary examination.) In conversation with the prisoner, after the murder, he asked me what my father thought of it, I told him I did not think he thought well of it. His evidence as to the conversation was practically the same as that given at the preliminary examination. In addition to what took place between us then I asked him if the other girls accompanied McMillan, and Miss McDonald to Summerside would he have killed McMillan he said, "No, No, I wouldn't." He spoke of committing suicide. I advised him not to. He said he had promised not to. He said that he, Dougherty, was sorry he had killed McMillan. That he was walking along the track with his head down and his hand on the revolver and did not notice McMillan until he was close up to him, and that he then fired the shot.

Cross examined by Mr. McQuarrie: Do not know Dougherty's age. He would be I think 20 or 21. Do not remember of Dougherty being in the same class with me at school. The prisoner was fairly studious. I think he was a great grade or more below me in school. I recall several things since the preliminary trial that I did not recall at that time. Did not remember at the time I gave my evidence of the statement I now give as to asking Dougherty if the girls had gone to Summerside with McMillan and Stella, or of his answer, when I asked him would he have fired at McMillan. "No, no, I wouldn't." Do not remember asking him why all the girls going to Summerside would have made any difference.

WALTER SCHURMAN—I live in Miscouche. Am 19 years old; live with my parents. I know Dougherty fairly well. I remember the 11th May. Saw Dougherty at the line fence between our farm and theirs. He asked me to help his father to do the farm work that day. I asked him why he was not working. He said he had committed an awful murder. My father asked him what he had done. He said he had shot Joe. McMillan. He asked us if my mother was in the house. I said she was. I heard her asking if it was true that he had shot Joe. McMillan or words to that effect. Do not remember if he made any reply. We then started for Dougherty's home. From there we drove to Miscouche. Dougherty, in conversation about the murder on the way up, said he did not know why he did it. He said he was awfully sorry. He said he fired one shot which struck McMillan in the stomach I think he said McMillan fell and he fired another shot at his head. Do not remember of his saying anything more about the shots. He told my father that the murder was committed in Jones' wood. The witness then told of meeting Urban Gillis and of the prisoner's conversation with Gillis.

Cross-examinaed by Mr. McQuarrie—Prisoner did not give me any reason for the shooting that I remember of. Do not remember of hearing Gillis ask the prisoner if he would have shot McMillan if the other girls had gone to Summerside and returned with them.

JOHN H. ROGERS, J. P. and R. S. Bowness, coroner, gave evidence regarding the information and inquest practically as given at the preliminary examination

CATHERINE GILLIS testified as to her acquaintance with Dougherty and McMillan, which was practically the same as the evidence at the preliminary examination.

Under direct examination by the Atty.-General she said "I did not understand that Dougherty was paying attention to Stella. I never said anything about it—one way or another. Asked if she approved of Dougherty paying attention to her niece, she said she had nothing against him. He came to their place two or three times a week. Some years ago she told Stella that she should not go with him as they were of different religions. He was visiting at the house on May 1st.

When he came Stella and I were getting ready for church. We went to church. Stella went first then Dougherty and I last. Between the first and tenth of May Dougherty was not at our house that I remember of. Saw Dougherty and McMillan on the tenth. McMillan came to our place on that day after dinner He came into the house and all were talking together, There were Stella McDonald, her sister Regina, McMillan and myself. Do not remember what we were talking of. I did not hear them saying anything about McMillan going to Summerside with them. We all went to vespers at three o'clock. We came by the road to the station. Joe left us there. When we came out I saw Dougherty on the street. (Miss Gillis' evidence as to what took place after the crime was committed was about the same as that given at the preliminary examination.)

Cross-examined by Mr. McQuarrie witness said she never knew of any wrong of either McMillan or Dougherty. Other young men were in the habit of calling as neighbors and friends. On Sanday night when Stella McDonald and the prisoner returned after the tragedy he was very much excited and trembling.

I asked him what came over him and he said he did not know. He said then or some other time that he had got into a fit of passion. Forget whether he said he did not know why he killed him. There was no quarrel between him and McMillan as far as I know."

The evidence of Rev. Father Monaghan was also similar to that given at the preliminary examination and which was reported in full in The Guardian at the time.

Court adjourned till 10 a. m. this morning.

TRAGEDY ON A FERRY STEAMER

Young Man Acting Strangly Jumped or Fell Overboard, Struggled Awhile, Went Down and Was Drowned.

ST. JOHN, June 10—(Special)—The Steamer Eros which plies between Indiantown and Pleasant Point was the scene of a tragedy at 11.30 this morning.

A young man named George Connell sprang or fell from the boat into the water and after struggling for a few moments went down.

The unfortunate man was accompanied by a little girl, daughter of his brother-in-law Thomas Crosgrove, Adelaide St.

A passenger on board told your correspondent that Connell came aboard with the little girl and sat down upon a bench at the stern.

When the boat was half way across the river he began to lean over the rail and seemed in danger of falling over.

It looked as if he were doing this to tease the little girl who began to cry.

In a moment Connell sprang over the rail into the water.

An alarm was given and the boat stopped at once and backed up.

A pole was passed to the struggling man who was swimming towards the steamer.

A line was also thrown to him but he made no attempt to save himself, went down and did not reappear.

M. Quinton claims that a man can accomplish this, as accomplished by a bird in soaring through the air without motion of the wings after the first impulsive motion.

THE SELMAN CO AT OPERA HOUSE

strikingly effective performance of a military drama entitled "Northern Lights" confirmed and strengthened the favorable impression produced by the Selman Co. on their first appearance the previous night.

Northern Lights is an intricate and exacting drama. The cast of seventeen, to whom it was committed last night, worked so harmoniously and attained success so deftly that the fall of the curtain left a feeling of delighted wonderment at being privileged to see dramatic work so well done.

Of a surety it is only possible to speak flatteringly of these clever players. The women interpret their parts sincerely; without affectation; without exaggeration; there are no disfiguring mannerisms to mar their pleasure-giving work. Of the men it may be said they deserve equal praise. It is but rarely that Charlottetown is treated to so good a feast as these fine players provide.

Dorothy Lee again charmed her audience, and Marianne French typified with unusual fidelity the character she was cast for. But why review all the cast when the others were also equally worthy of compliments. 'Twould use up space and adjectives.

IMPROVEMENT AT LENNOX ISLAND

—Dr. Champion is attending to his duties as smallpox doctor on Lennox Island. He is acting under instructions of the Dominion Government and has the end of the epidemic in view. The disease is of the same mild type as existed in Summerside last winter. Only a few houses in the most remote parts of the Island were effected but the whole Island was placed under quarintine. The leading Indians are as free from it as any house in Summerside or Charlottetown; all have been vaccinated, the progress of the disease have been stopped and in a couple of weeks the Island will be disinfected and the quarantine raised.

The following paragraph is taken from The Stoughton Times Stoughton, Sask., E. E. Poole has secured the contract for the building of the Glen Ewen school. The plans were drawn by F. B. Reilly of town and call for a handsome two storey brick structure. Mr. Poole will start construction immediately. Mr. Poole is a well-known and popular young Island man.
