Bloodhounds Take Granites Into Camp 5-4

BY TEC

Tuesday evening the Forum was the scene of a hectic and thrilling game between the fast moving Bank of Nova Scotia sextette and the Bank of Commerce squad, the latter coming out on the long end of the score 7-5. There were thrills and spills galore with both defences handing out some stiff checks especially when the rival big boys of the teams met, namely Baker of the Commerce and Tibert of the Scotia.

Swooping down the ice with terrific speed and stickinghand like a demon, Clint Howatt, meteoric puckster of the Cape Traverse Bloodhounds pulled his team out of a hot spot at the Forum last night one minute from the final bell and a tying score, to beat White, the Kensington goaler from close in and win one of the most spirited and hotly contested games of hockey seen on local ice this winter.

forward, opened the scoring in one minute on a solo and was followed three minutes later by Eddie Gaudet on McFarlane's rebound. Capt Traverse kept trying all the while and one minute before the bell, Wendell McWilliams netted the Bloodhound opener and less than thirty seconds later, evened the score, Clint Howatt doing the job on McWilliams rebound. O. Darrach was awarded three penalties in this session.

Second Period

Darrach "coralled" another penalty shortly after the face-off, and while he was in the pen, Clint Howatt put his team in the lead. After the puck-off McFarlane was chased to the cooler, and Cape Traverse quick to see the opportunity sent out the "all up" sign and realized, Wen McWilliams scoring on a pass from Howatt.

Third Period

Four minutes from the face-off, Howatt put his team two goals up on a solo effort. Two minutes later McFarlane, skating fast and stickinghand well, counted on Carver from outside the blue line. Eleven minutes later Byrne coasted in on an easy roller after a follow-up, the puck dribbling into the meshes with Carver spellbound. With the score tied, both teams went at it hammer and tongs and five minutes from the curtain, McFarlane was given a major penalty for striking Howatt, Cape Traverse sent four men up at this juncture and one minute from the gong, Howatt netted the winning goal on a great exhibition of skating and stickinghand.

Baptist Church Remembers Miss Roberta Spencer

Miss Roberta Spencer, organist and Directress, and members of the Choir were guests of the Charlottetown Baptist Church last evening at a banquet tendered in honor of Miss Spencer, who leaves shortly for Sydney on an interesting mission. The courses were interspersed with musical selections appropriate to the occasion. Mrs. J.A. Lawson favored the guests with two excellent solos, "O, Promise Me" and "I Love You Truly." Mrs. Lawson and Miss Lillian MacKenzie rendered pleasingly a duet, "The Sweetest Story Ever Told." The Baptist Quartette, Messrs Leigh Dingwell, J. E. Sterns, M. Calder and Roy Quigley sang most expressively, "I'm in the Army Now."

The Chairman, Dr. A. C. Vincent, expressed appreciation of the services of Miss Spencer and the Choir and stressed the fact that the Baptist Choir is not only popular musically but matrimonially; since coming to Charlottetown eighteen months ago he has officiated at the wedding of six members of the choir. Miss Spencer is the seventh to embark on the sea of matrimony; the number seven a perfect number, augurs well for a successful matrimonial venture.

On behalf of the various organizations of the Baptist Church, Mr. E. D. Sterns, Church Clerk, in a happy speech presented Miss Spencer with a gift of beautiful Limoges China.

Dr. Ira J. Yeo spoke most complimentarily of Miss Spencer's work as Organist and Choir Directress, praising her outstanding musical ability, pleasing personality and marvelous tact and tendered the best wishes of the Choir on her approaching marriage. On behalf of the Choir, Miss Blanche Boyver then presented the Choir's gift of sterling silver. Miss Spencer most charmingly acknowledged both gifts and complimentary remarks.

Dr. J. A. Clark and M. R. Belhune brought messages of appreciation and goodwill from the Church and Sunday School.

Dr. Yeo, seconded by J. E. Sterns moved a vote of thanks to the Ladies Guild for the excellency of the menu and artistic table decorations. "God Save The King" brought an end to this happy and most enjoyable function.

Godfrey Tearle New Success As Hamlet

LONDON, March 27—Godfrey Tearle won the favor of the critics in the role of the Prince in the recent all-star presentation of "Hamlet" in the Haymarket Theatre here. His success in the part was regarded all the more highly because he assumed it on short notice owing to the illness of Henry Ainley, noted actor, whose inability to appear was a matter of considerable regret. Tearle had been cast for the role of Horatio before it was known that Ainley would not be in the play. The TIMES critic said:

"No Hamlet ever had a warmer heart, a gentler or more winning humanity than Godfrey Tearle's. Before heaven, a very likeable man—one to choose as a friend, to honor as a prince. And to feel for Hamlet the liking, the almost unswerving affection, that we do feel at the Haymarket is implicitly to criticize Mr. Tearle's performance. See his welcome of Horatio from which the impression of friendship springs instantly; observed with what warmth, what eagerness and good sense, he treats the players; listen to his converse with the gravedigger, which is never twisted to an extravagant humor or and is the more touching and the more valuable as a retrospective comment, because held in so careful a simplicity.

"All this enables us to know—or, shall we say to feel—a virtue in the man that more highly-strung and seemingly more sensitive performances have often obscured. The same merit is preserved even among the demerits of Mr. Tearle's soliloquies. They are clean of theatrical affectations; they are never mouthed or

THE EIG PONSPIEL A Summerside exchange says: Monday, March 29th at the Charlottetown Forum is the date set for the biggest roundup of curlers in the history of the broom and stone sport in this Province. A bonspiel embracing the three towns, Charlottetown, Summerside and Montserrat is receiving the approbation of scores of curlers. Summerside is sending five teams and Montserrat is running a shoppers' special train for the occasion. The programme is to be an ambitious one and providing it gets the backing it deserves, it is expected to lead to Island application for affiliation with the Royal Canadian Curling Association. The connection would give the Island the privilege of competing in the Canadian championships each year for the McDonald Brier Tankard and other famous cups—Amen to the above.

JUNIOR PLAY-OFF HERE NEXT FRIDAY Jack Ingram of Moncton, wired the Levin Foxes Thursday night, offering to bring his junior Athletics to Charlottetown on April 3rd. This date, it is understood, is satisfactory and the title game should create a lot of enthusiasm about town. The Levin Fox management was trying to get in communication with the Athletics this morning to find out when Moncton wanted the Charlottetown boys over there. The

Y. BASKETBALL

Last night in the Y. gym the fast-travelling Prince Street team easily defeated the West Kent girls by the score of 25-4. Edith Shaw was easily the choice of both teams scoring 16 points for the winners. On the defence for the Prince Street team "Flash" Rogers and Margaret Large foiled all attempts of the West Kent forwards. For the losers Hope Rodd and Suzanne McKinnon played a good game, the latter accounting for the West Kent baskets. Coach Jack McLean of the Prince Street team deserves credit for the way he handled his players. No doubt this had a lot to do for the Prince Street one sided victory. Walter Goss refereed.

ROBBERS BEAT EGYPTOLOGIST TO TOMB OF OLD QUEEN

Along The Waterfront

With the long winter months now drawing to a close we now look along our waterfront, where we find the different steamers and dredges etc., undergoing repairs and general overhauling in readiness for the approaching season, which we all hope will be a busy one for all hands. The following is a list of ships etc. that have wintered here along with their different captains:

- C.G.S. Bayfield—Capt. Snellgrove. C.G.S. Cartier—Capt. Jas. Roach C.G.S. Brant—Capt. Kelley. Tug Fredericton—Capt. Belyea. Tug Amla—Capt. Broom. Tug Bally—Capt. Genge. S.S. Harland—Capt. MacLaine. S.S. Hillsborough—Capt. MacDougall.

P.W.D. Pownal No. 2—Capt. Murchison D.P.W. Dredge No. 9—Capt. Cosgrove. Ostrea II also along with two vessels.

During the past few years shipping has fallen away below the average, during the year 1928 we had nineteen steamers along with forty-three vessels call at this port and since that time the number has decreased considerably.

Many of us today can recall the good old days when our wharves were lined with vessels and steamers from all parts, fighting for their turn at a berth, however those days are past and are forgotten by a good many, coal these days is brought in by car loads, and our waterfront in the past few years looks deserted. However time brings great changes to any place sometimes for the better and again for the worse but there is this about it, when we did have our wharves lined with vessels and steamers there was to be had a greater amount of work for our men, but now it is to be compared with an invention one or two make a fortune out of it while hundreds are put out of work and have to walk the streets.

Tug boats in this port have become extinct, except what are on the go are Government owned, and they tender to Government Dredges. There was a time one tug in this port had some forty-eight shareholders, which included both Liberals and Conservative, with a total stock of some $40,000, so it may be seen that at one time we sure must have had plenty of work along the vessel line.

But as I have said before those days are past and never to return again, so all we can do now is to hope for the best.
