PRESENTATION—On the eve of his departure from the Canadian National Railways Mr. Gerald Procter was waited upon by his fellow associates of the Station Staff and presented with a Sheaffers Pen and Pencil Set, English Briar Pipe and Tobacco. Speeches were made expressing regret of his leaving the Railway after many years of service. Mr. Procter thanked them most sincerely for their generous gift and also for their kind wishes in his new field of work. He has accepted the position of Mortgage and Real Estate Officer with the Eastern Trust Company in this City.

R.C.N.V.R. BOY REMEMBERED.—The neighbors and friends of Mr. Russell Flood, assembled together at the home of his brother, Mr. Emmett Flood, New Wiltshire, to honor Russell who has joined the R.C.N.V.R. some time ago. The gathering was called to order by Mr. Amos Malone. Russell was then seated in a chair decorated with red, white and blue streamers. Miss Blanche Murray was called upon to read an address during which he was presented with a water-proof wrist watch by Mr. J. McNeil, R.C.N.V.R. Russell, although taken by surprise very fittingly replied thanking everyone present for their kindness shown to him after which all sang "For He's A Jolly Good Fellow" and gave him a thorough bouncing. Refreshments were then served and the remainder of the evening spent in songs and dancing. Before departing to their respective homes everybody joined in singing God Save The King and along with him he carries the good wishes of the entire community for much success and a speedy return.

"Springtime In The Rockies" Is Sparkling New Musical

A rollicking musical extravaganza, filmed in gorgeous Technicolor against the stunning back-ground of eye-filling Lake Louise, is 20th Century-Fox's "Springtime in the Rockies", which wends its merry way into the Prince Edward Theatre today, headed by a star-studded cast including Betty Grable, John Payne, Carmen Miranda, Harry James and His Music Makers, and Cesar Romero.

Producer William LeBaron obviously was in a magnanimous mood when he was gathering talent for this picture. To the unusually generous star roster, Mr. LeBaron added a dozen or more entertainment aces, including Charlotte Greenwood, the eccentric dancing comedienne, Edward Everett Horton, Frank Orth, comedy delight of "My Gal Sal," and Jackie Gleason.

Much of the action takes place in Canada's enchanting Lake Louise, known the world over for its wondrous beauty. However, it is conceivable that more than one moviegoer, with an eye to scenic values, might anticipate with even greater relish the prospect of viewing Miss Grable in the full glow of Technicolor magic. At any rate, the Lake and the Grable would seem to account adequately for the eye appeal of "Springtime in the Rockies."

As for listening thrills, let's just mention Harry James and His Music Makers, and say no more. James' talking trumpet is to young America a cause celebre. His torrid interpretation of four new soc' tunes by Mack Gordon and Harry Warren, any of his many fans would vow, could make the Rockies themselves rock with rhythm. And, of course, Helen Forrest, a James regular, chips in with Miss Grable, Payne and La Miranda on the vocals.

Carmen Miranda's Latinizing of "Chattanooga Choo Choo" should prove to be still another musical highlight.

"Martin Eden" Blood - Stirring Adventure Hit

From Tahititi Singapore, from Frisco to Cadiz, Martin Eden's flashing fists and indomitable courage made him legendary, according to the lusty, brawling, tempestuous novel by Jack London, himself a redoubtable and gigantic figure in American letters. And now, from the studios of Columbia Pictures, comes a challenging and superbly entertaining motion picture based upon London's greatest novel, a motion picture so packed with punch, so eloquent and so stirring as to move it immediately into the "hit" class.

"Adventures of Martin Eden," which opens today at the Capitol Theatre, is a triumph as much for its producers and director as it is for its cast, and, overshadowing them all, is the trenchant, triumphant picture of London himself.

Glenn Ford, the young and ever-brightening star, appears to perfection in the title role, modelling his characterization after London's Martin Eden, which, in turn, was modelled after London himself. Lover, adventurer, fighter against social injustice, poet and brawler, Ford's Martin Eden emerges as big as life, as lusty and blood-stirring and dynamic as a storm at sea.

Claire Trevor, Evelyn Keyes, Stuart Edwin and the others in the sensational cast are equally fitted to their difficult tasks, that of creating with understanding and sympathy men and women from divergent worlds, who can speak and understand the same language, a language of bare knuckles and indomitable courage, of glowing beauty and flaming romance.

Comic Mystery Film On Way To Empire

Ghosts, gags and gaiety run rampant in Warner Bros.' new film, "The Smiling Ghost" which opens tonight at the Empire Theatre. It is a picture that combines thrilling mystery with light comedy.

The picture stars Wayne Morris, Brenda Marshall and Alexis Smith in a triangular setup fraught with T. N. T. Alexis is cast as a girl who is claimed to be a jinx. All of her former suitors have met with violent death. That is all except one and he is the inhabitor of an ivy ruin. In order to prove that the jinx is all she claims, Alexis grandmother (Helen Westley's role) hires a young fellow just out of college, played by Wayne Morris, to be her grand-daughter's suitor. He comes to visit Alexis and brings along his superstitious valet, portrayed by Willie Best, whose pet aversion is anything connected with haunted houses or ghosts.

Wayne meets a newspaper girl, played by Brenda Marshall and they get along splendidly. They are determined to get to the bottom of the mystery surrounding Alexis, and after many thrilling escapades they arrive at a startling solution.

"The Smiling Ghost" has a fine supporting cast, consisting of Alan Hale, Lee Patrick and David Bruce. The screen play was written by Kenneth Gamet and Stuart Palmer from Palmer's original story. The film was directed by Lewis Seiler.

In Memoriam

L. A. C. CHARLES M. McCARRON

A gloom of sadness passed over the district of St. Mary's Road and vicinity on October 16th, when the sad news was received that Leading Aircraftsman Charles M. McCarron, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCarron, was missing in the sinking of the Caribou, due to enemy action, en route to Newfoundland.

For a time it was hoped that he might have been rescued; but as days passed, hopes of his being alive lessened, and everyone realized that his soul had passed to its eternal reward.

L. A. C. Charles joined the R. C. A. F. in August, 1941 and left for Manning Depot November 19th, where he was stationed till June, 1942, when he was transferred to Newfoundland. He had just been home on furlough visiting his parents and sisters and was returning to his duties when he met his death.

Being of a kind and happy disposition, Charlie, as he was familiarly called, had a smile for every one and endeared himself to all whom he met. He was a great favorite with the young folks of the community, and especially at home, where he will be greatly missed. He was a boy of sterling character and was a faithful member of the Catholic Church at Sturgeon, where he received Holy Communion the day previous to his departure.

To die so young at the early age of twenty one is sad but God in His wisdom has chosen him for an even higher service in Heaven.

His memory as a dutiful and loving son and brother will be long cherished by his heart-broken parents and four sisters, Margaret, Doris, Lillian and Evelyn, all at home, and also his friends and neighbors of Sturgeon and throughout the province.

His example of loyalty and service to his country in the hour of great need will also serve to inspire others in the defense of their King and Country.

The numerous letters of sympathy testify to the esteem in which he was held. May his soul rest in peace.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank all those who sent Mass Cards, Spiritual Bouquets, offered prayers, letters and Cards of Sympathy; and all who spoke words of consolation and comfort, or in any way assisted us in our great sorrow, the loss of our darling boy.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCarron and Family.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Malcolm A. MacPhee who died November 19, 1941.

Loving and kind in all his ways
Upright and just to the end of his days,
Sincere and kind in heart and mind
What a beautiful memory he left behind!

Sadly Missed by Wife and Family.

RAISE BETTER CALVES AT LOWER COST

Indisputable tests show that, by feeding calves "Miracle" Calf Meal, and selling the milk they would otherwise need, there is an actual feed saving. The milk brings more than the feed cost. And when calves are fed on "Miracle" Calf Meal they are free of rickets, grow stronger and faster. "Miracle" Calf Meal shortens the time when calves will pay their own way as milkers. And this feed in the dotted bags starts them on the way to higher milk production.
