Veteran Trims Vines Jr. In Davis Cup Play

(By Frank H. King, Associated Press Staff Writer) PARIS, July 29—Jean Borotra, who thought he was too old to play tennis, tonight was the toast of Paris, victor over the United States and Wimbledon champion, Ellisworth Vines, Jr., as France swept the first two matches of the series with the United States in defense of the Davis Cup.

The colorful Borotra, drafted for the French team against his wishes, swept to convincing victory over his young opponent 6 to 4, 6 to 2, 3 to 6, and 6 to 4, while Henri Cochet won as expected from William Allison 5 to 7, 7 to 5, 7 to 5, and 6 to 2.

The unexpected defeat of Vines just about dashed any hopes the Americans had of regaining the trophy France won at Germantown in 1926.

Not long ago she decided she hadn't really seen much of Australia so she pulled up stakes and "beat it" back to a sheep station, a few hundred miles from nowhere.

The French gallery acclaimed the victory of Borotra almost hysterically and well they might. Meeting an opponent 13 years younger, with a devastating service and more powerful strokes, Borotra mixed all the strategy of his many years of tennis to win.

Vines faced the crisis of his short, spectacular career on foreign courts when, returning from a rest after the third set, he attempted to pull the match out of the fire but he failed against the unconquerable spirit of Borotra, who fought for every point as though his life depended on it.

Cochet was apparently worried at times by the slashing game of Allison, a last minute selection for a singles assignment, but he always had the strokes to win points when they were needed.

Cochet will pair with another veteran of many Davis Cup battles, Jacques Brugnon, against Allison and John Van Ryn in the doubles tomorrow and then will meet Vines in the last singles match Sunday, following the Borotra-Allison contest.

Her Idea Of English Journals Comment On Sophistication Conference

(By The Canadian Press)—Archibald Lampman, writing to the Toronto Star, from North Bay, Ont., tells of an interview he had with 19-year-old Yvonne Richardson, daughter of R. A. E. V. Richardson, director of the Waite Agricultural Institute of Australia, and official adviser to the Antipodean delegates to the Imperial Economic Conference, who was worrying about whether she could get a job in Canada.

"Do the Australian girls drink gin and smoke as American girls are reputed to do?" we asked. "A certain class may," she said, "but we don't make an orgy out of it. If we want to drink or smoke we do it because we want to, and not because we think it's smart. They tell us the American girls are sophisticated—well, if they call that sophistication, I guess we are not."

Not long ago she decided she hadn't really seen much of Australia so she pulled up stakes and "beat it" back to a sheep station, a few hundred miles from nowhere.

GERMAN

troller George Dunbar, representing the city. Lord Duncannon, son of the Governor General, was also present when the German flyers camp ashore.

The Captain and his companions were luncheon guests of Wing Commander Godfrey and officers at the Ottawa air station. Later in the afternoon, Captain Von Gronau conferred with officials of the R. C. A. F., plotting out a course from Lac du Bonnet westward.

Enthusiastic over the possibilities of the northern route for air mail transportation from Europe to America, if proper organization was maintained, the German captain characterized his latest adventure as "just a joy ride."

Boyd said he would take his time and had not estimated how long the flight would take. The Columbia, powered now with a 220-horsepower Wright whirlwind motor, has a cruising radius of 4,800 miles. It will hold 500 gallons of gasoline, of which it uses about 67 an hour.

Boyd took the Columbia for its second ride across the sea, flying from Montreal to England with Harry P. Connor in October, 1930. Three years before that the old ship took Clarence Chamberlin and Charles Levine, then its owner, to Germany and a new distance flight record of 3,790 miles.

In April, 1927, two months before the ocean hop, Chamberlin and Bert Acosta set an endurance record in the Columbia of 51 hours, 11 minutes, 25 seconds.

Boyd, a Canadian war ace, flew with Roger Q. Williams on a non-stop flight to Bermuda and return in June, 1930.

Down The Back Stretch

up to a few weeks ago it was expected that The Marchioness, 202, had a cinch on it. Then along came a comparatively unknown colt, Hollywood Dennis, who has beaten the best and won two big stakes for three year olds the past two weeks.

Hollywood Dennis and all other Hollywoods are bred by John L. Dodge, Macon, Georgia. Dodge's business is not breeding or racing horses, that is just a side line. A gentleman fancier, as it were, but one with a remarkable flair for picking out good sires and dams, combining them and getting as products race horses that are constantly getting into the lime light through winning races or breaking world's records.

Golden was a mile in 2.19 with the last half in 1.07. He was beaten out very comfortably by King Spruce who uncorked a terrific brush at the end of the mile.

Johnny Miles paced a couple of miles in 2.20 both halves alike. Mr. Henley was a mile in 2.22 with the last half in 1.10.

New Annan, or rather Jim Pengergast, has certainly surprised everyone with the big list of entries for his races next Wednesday. It is a sure thing that elimination heats will be necessary in the 2.29 class, where there will be upwards of twenty starters and possibly also in the 2.23 class where there is likely to be more than ten starters.

Mr. E. F. Acorn will act as starter at New Annan next Wednesday. Mr. Fred Wright who has so long and capably handled the bell there has asked to be relieved of the position for this year. No more conscientious or squarer man ever started horses than Fred, but we can realize what a trying position it is week after week endeavoring to please public and drivers. However, we are sure that Ed will make a good job of things although he will have his work cut out for him with such a big list of starters.

Red Hanlin, the colorful driver of the John Kelly stables, arrived last evening and will be here until after the Exhibition races.

Three race horses arrived at the Charlottetown Driving Park track Thursday evening, the property of John Kelly, Bangor, Maine. They were in charge of Eli Merrick, who has been with Mr. Kelly for several years. They left Bangor on Monday by truck for Woodstock, rested there a day and a night, then came by train and arrived here Thursday at 6.30 p. m.

Phil D. 3 2 1 2 1/4 is a son of the Phillistone. He started in quite a number of races last year in the state of Maine, while in the ownership of Mr. William Wright. He was usually second to his stable mate Zymri, 2.09 1/4, a sensational three year old. We understand the best mile he has been this year was 2.14.

Calumet Devil is a two year old that shows more than ordinary speed capacity. He has been miles in 2.20 we understand, and looks like the makings of a high class pacer.

Braden Holt, 2.00 1/2, one of the fastest horses in America and extensively staked throughout the Grand Circuit, had to be destroyed last week when racing at Fort Erie track. He finished second to Zombro Hanover in the Lafayette Hotel Stake and as he was being pulled up he crossed his forelegs and a leg bone snapped. Mighty bad loss.

Seagrass, whose name is associated with Canada Rye Whiskey, and throughout race horses, recently disposed of twelve horses at auction; seven others could not be sold as prices of from three to five thousand had been placed on them and that was more than anyone wished to pay.

Friday was workout day with a vengeance at the Charlottetown Driving Park track. The rain the previous day made the track unfit so everything was concentrated on Friday.

Darko Gratton hooked up with Del Volo once with a mile in 2.17 last half in 1.05 last quarter in 31 1/2 seconds.

Marjorie M. and Billy Cope hooked up in an exciting duel the last end of which was stepped fast, Billy and Marge both completing the quarter in 31 1/2 seconds but Billy having half a length to the good.

Silver Doctor stepped a mile in 2.18 with the last half in 1.08. The Willys was in 2.17, last half in 1.05.

The best mile of the morning "Di" Clapper.

N. S. Tennis Tournament Opens Monday

(By The Canadian Press)—Some of Canada's leading tennis stars will see action in the Nova Scotia provincial tournament opening here on Monday, August first.

The entry list contains names of players from Ottawa, Toronto, Montreal and Saint John, besides a score of clubs in Nova Scotia. Commander J. C. I. Edwards, ousted from the Canadian championships by George Lott, will be here, with Leroy Rennie of Toronto, Laid Watt of Montreal, George Leclerc of Ottawa and others.

Hugh McLennan, last year's Maritime singles champion, will not be in the play. He has a Rhodes Scholarship and is studying at Oxford University.

Nova Scotia is pinning her hopes on A. C. Wiswell, and Professor C. H. Mercer, Halifax veterans, Bevil Piers and Gordon Thomson, also of Halifax.

all directions, President Hoover announced to the nation that the riotous challenge to government authority had been "met swiftly and firmly."

Major General V. H. Moseley, Deputy Chief of Staff, said the military phases of the troubles were over.

"It is now a job for the District of Columbia police force," he added. "Of course the troops will continue to lend a hand where the police need assistance. But the task is to keep the campers from drifting back into the city and to prevent crowds from congregating. The campers are leaving Washington in large numbers and a part of our troops have been withdrawn as there will no longer be need for large patrols of soldiers."

Like Secretary of War Patrick Hurley and Major General Douglas MacArthur, Chief of Staff, General Moseley emphasized that after the army took charge of the situation yesterday not a civilian nor a soldier was injured so far as the War Department had been able to learn.

"Government cannot be coerced by mob rule," the President said emphatically. He had ordered a grand jury investigation to bring to book the instigators of yesterday's clashes.

Formation Of Lamb Club In Joe's Honor

BOSTON, July 29—Overjoyed by the action of the Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League in acquiring the services of Joe Lamb, Maritime Province natives now residing in Greater Boston have started organization of the Lamb Club and negotiations are already under way for the purchase of an entire two sections of the Garden for next season, to be reserved for Maritimeers.

Lamb is expected to be the biggest gate attraction ever to wear a Bruins' uniform, and it was with this view in mind that Charles Adams, owner of the club parted with a big bank roll to get the former Sussex, N.B., star. For several months Adams and Art Ross, manager, have been besieged with demands that the Bruins sign either Lamb or Jackie Keating of Saint John, N. B. another Maritime contribution to professional hockey.

As Boston sportdom contains a large percentage of down-easters, Ross heeded to their appeal, with the result that Lamb was purchased from the New York Americans for an unannounced sum said to be one of the largest ever involved in the purchase of a hockey player. In addition, a player, presumably Cooney Weiland, will go to Americans.

Were Boored In Boston

Lamb is the third centre ice man to be acquired by the Bruins since the close of the last campaign. The first was Billy Burch, veteran of the New York Americans. Then came Nels Stewart of the Montreal Maroons.

One interesting angle to the two latest Bruins' trades is the fact that both Lamb and Stewart were among the most universally detested of visiting players, by the local fans. With the possible exception of Hooley Smith, no players were more thoroughly "boored" by Boston partisans.

In fact, however, this is proof of high tribute, for there is no doubt but that Lamb and Stewart will be as popular as they have been unpopular heretofore.

Both are rough and tough players, each of whom has been well up in the list of the league "bad men." They are just the type of player Art Ross likes—aggressive, colorful and efficient, and the Bruins rosters anticipate a front line second to none in the league with Stewart flanked by Lamb and "Di" Clapper.

Holman's Ltd. Hold Picnic

The firm of Messrs. R. T. Holman, Ltd., celebrated their 75th anniversary year with a most enjoyable picnic at Graham's Shore on Wednesday afternoon. Invitations were extended to the staff of Summerside and Charlottetown stores, with their families and friends, also all former employees were cordially invited.

There were about 300 present. Mrs. R. T. Holman, widow of the founder of the business was the guest of honour.

The day was glorious and everyone started off soon after one o'clock in fine spirits. Arriving at the beach without mishap the fun began. Swimming and ball games were indulged in, while for the older ones an excellent program of music was provided through Holman's sound system.

Supper was spread on the beach and was heartily enjoyed by all. A program of sports followed. A very fine address was given by Rev. J. Sidney Bonnell, brother of D. J. Bonnell, a former director of Holman's store.

EVACUATION

Activities of the conference proper were today confined to the committee on currency and to various sub-committees. Tomorrow many delegates and advisers leave Ottawa to spend the week end enjoying the rural delights of Lucerne-in-Quebec. Officially, the conference take a holiday till Tuesday. There will be a suspension even of these laconic press communiques which are so lacking in information. But, behind the scenes, heads of delegations will be busily preparing for the day of fest which is expected about the middle of the coming week. The united Kingdom and the Dominions alike are ready to make concessions providing they get satisfactory concessions in return. It is those return concessions which form the real difficulty. If they prove satisfactory, the main task of the conference will be over. Details only will then remain to be worked out.
