SOME EXPERIMENTAL FARM STATISTICS.

The federal Department of Agriculture conducts a Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa, and others at Nappan, N. S., Brandon, Man., Indian Head, Sask., Lethbridge, Alberta and Agassiz, B. C. In all of these a number of varieties each of wheat, oats and other grains, turnips, mangels, carrots, sugar beets and potatoes are raised in plots under most careful cultivation and as a result very large crops are grown per acre—much larger in some instances than the average amount farmers.

70 bushels at Ottawa, 62 at Nappan, and 102 bushels at Brandon. Potatoes yielded 118 bushels at Ottawa, 330 at Nappan, 383 at Brandon. These are very striking differences, where it is to be assumed the soil, seed and cultivation were at their best. It will be noticed that the much-vaunted Central Farm at Ottawa was quite eclipsed in its yield of wheat and potatoes by the farm at Nappan. We ought to have, and hope to have an Experimental Farm in Prince Edward Island, and we are confident that when it is established the Central Farm at Ottawa will be further put in the shade. We have farmers in Prince Edward Island who raise on broad fields (not mere experimental plots) more wheat, oats and potatoes than the Central Farm produces, and in the matter of potatoes three times its average as given above.

THE NOVA SCOTIA SANITORIUM FOR CONSUMPTIVES.

was built in 1904 by the Government of Nova Scotia which has since owned and conducted it. It is claimed to be the first Government institution of the kind in Canada. The cost of 18 acres of land, the building and its equipment was $22,000. It has accommodation for 18 patients, and 14 are now being treated there. Over 300 have been treated in the institution since it was first opened.

It receives only those suffering from tubercular disease of the lungs in its incipient stage, in cases where there is a reasonable prospect of cure. Any one seeking admission must first receive a medical examiner's certificate, and to this end medical examiners have been appointed in the cities and towns of the Province. Security is required for the payment of $5 per week for board and medical attendance. For patients from outside the Province the expense per week is about $10.50. Over and above what is paid by patients the sanatorium entails a charge of about $4,000 a year upon the Government.

Dr. Woodworth in his third annual report as visiting physician calls attention to the importance of visiting the institution as soon as the nature of the disease is manifest. After a few weeks they could then return to their homes to continue the treatment there. "The education received at the sanatorium would be of incalculable benefit not only to them but to those with whom they are associated. They return home as missionaries. They soon learn that it is possible to rest and sleep in the open in comfort, and they learn also to be more particular in personal cleanliness and habits."

In the sanatorium all the sleeping rooms open on broad piazzas and the doors are wide to enable the bedsteads to be rolled out upon the verandahs, thus enabling the patients to sleep in the open both summer and winter. The site of the building is a commanding elevation overlooking the Cornwallis River and in full view of the town. The soil is sandy and surrounding pine groves breathe the odor of balsam. The situation is free from fogs. A well stocked reading and writing room supplied with current literature contributes to the content and satisfaction of the patients.

Before accepting the invitation of the genial editor of The Patriot for a flying trip with him across the Straits at the Capes, we would like to be assured of certain things. Firstly that the machine should be air-worthy, and the attendant life-boat staunch and unsinkable. Secondly that the trip should be made straight across from Cape to Cape, not on any devious, wobbling, or east-and-west course like the flow of that famous South African river of which The Patriot once told us. The Guardian stands for the straight course, whether in public affairs or across the Strait of Northumberland—all rail preferred. After that there is another matter. The strong and mutually flattering personal resemblance between The Patriot editor and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, so frequently remarked upon, might expose our independence to misinterpretation if we were seen "on the sky-line" together and soaring westward toward Quebec.

D. N. McKay of Springfield, the petitioner against Murdoch Kennedy, M. L. A. in the Election Court, called upon The Guardian yesterday and stated that he is not a consenting party to the dropping of election petitions, whatever the lawyers may have agreed upon. Mr. McKay expressed in the strongest way his determination to proceed with the petition against Mr. Kennedy and evidently means what he says.

ALL THE MEN KILLED.

MARRSH, May 6.—A letter from Harni says that every man there has been killed. Only women, girls and boys under ten years have been left alive. Churches and houses have been plundered and most of them burned. This letter says: "We have nothing to eat or wear. We are living on grass like animals. Worse than this, the Moslems are trying to force women and girls to become Mohammedans. Already some of the women have been carried away."

STRANGE CASE TO BE INVESTIGATED.

KINGSTON, St. Vincent, May 6.—Captain Collins Stephenson and crew of the whaling ship "Carrie Knowles," long since thought to have been lost at sea are alive in a Venezuelan prison. An American seaman, who gives the name of Payne, an escaped prisoner from Venezuela has at last made his way to Kingston, where he laid before the authorities the astounding story of the seizure of the Carrie Knowles at a Venezuelan port, where she arrived five years ago in distress and the incarceration by the Venezuelans of the Captain and men. So convinced are the authorities that there is truth in Payne's story that they have taken his statement and taken steps to speedily and thoroughly investigate the case.

All this week shirt sale for men. For men, of course, still counters and tables will be lined with thoughtful wives and mothers, who prudently secure every advantage of this special shirt sale for "him." Twenty-five dozen fine brand new spring shirts at 47c each, instead of 75c and $1.00 one would naturally pay. In fact we could not think of mentioning such ridiculous prices on shirts so uncommonly good if we had secured them in the regular way. But there's a wonderfully good stroke of luck back of this shirt buy. We discovered a well-known maker with more than he could carry. So we picked up this in a jiffy at almost our own figure, hence the ridiculous low price of 47c instead of 75c to one dollar. This week only Prowse Bros. 5-5 d31.

Handsome French pattern hats are featuring a special line of pleasing copies of French pattern hats as named above. These are exact reproductions of handsome imported models, and if sold in the ordinary way would cost quite a good deal more. But by placing a very large order early we are able to give our customers the benefit of these very low figures. Weekly shipments are constantly increasing the size of our exhibit and the present display contains about 250 of the most attractive designs to be seen this season. For high-grade millinery at a decidedly reasonable cost, we can most conservatively recommend this line. Jas. Paton & Co. 5-7dtf.
