THE MINOR VIRTUES.

should be there just as certainly as you would be down at the ship's dock on time when it is about to sail for Europe, and when you have purchased a $100 berth for the passage. If you cannot be on time, according to promise, for your engagement, then you should notify the person with whom you have the appointment. But the great trouble with many people is that they have no moral sense of the duty of keeping an engagement unless they wish to do so. They will promise anything, like a dishonest politician just before an election, and like the same dishonest politician after election they will forget all their promises if they suit their convenience to forget. The result is that the man's character and religious life will be eaten out by these little failures and sins, just as one little worm can tunnel its way into the heart of a great oak and eat out its heart until at last the monarch of the forest will have its backbone snapped by the onrushing winds.

It is the foxes, the little foxes, that most often spoil the tender vines, not the elephantine monsters. Once in awhile, however, the heavy foot of an eastern camel might crush them or the paw of a leopard might rip them apart when the midnight prowler, chased by the dogs, is rushing away after having robbed the sheepfold, but this is a rare occurrence. It is the little faults, the careless and thoughtless negligence, which do the most frequent mischief. It is the little weeds that destroy the gardens and with their bayonet thrusts of thorns stab the flowers to death, not the mighty growths of the cedars of Lebanon or of the weeping willows. So it is inevitably the small sins, the despised sins, the ignored sins, the sins of insignificance, that most frequently overthrow human character, not the heinous sins, not the monstrous sins, not the sins catalogued in the criminal codes of man and of nations.

Therefore, O man, I beg and plead with you that you take Christ into the smallest details of your life. Let the Christ be with you as much in the paying back of a borrowed five cent piece as in the purchase of a store. Let him be with you as much in the cleanliness of your wardrobe as in the cleanliness of your tongue. Let him help you in the Christian courtesies which you extend to your neighbors as well as in the Christian exhortations you offer in your church. May you night and morning always be able to make this prayer: "O God, help me in the little temptations, and then I know that thou wilt make me able to bear the greater trials." With such a lesson as this for consideration, who is there who will dare to despise the day of small things?

Room for Bright Young Men.

The old saying that there is no room in England for bright young men is effectively disposed by the experience of Mr. Evelyn Wrench, who celebrated his coming of age on October 29, at a dinner which was given to him at the Criterion Hotel, London. Probably never before has it been established by a boy who is not yet come of age, says The London Express. Three years ago Mr. Wrench, who is the son of the Right Hon. Frederick S. Wrench, one of the Irish Land and Estate Commissioners, left Eton to study in Germany for the British diplomatic service. There he became interested in the picture postcard craze, which then was at its height. Soon afterwards he returned to England and opened a small office in the Haymarket. Originality of subject, combined with boyish enthusiasm, as once made the "Wrench Series" popular. The result was that some time ago Mr. Evelyn Wrench transferred his business into a private limited company, and during the year the firm of Wrench Limited is now producing upwards of 50,000,000 pictorial postcards. The number of trade customers is at present over 4,000 and is rapidly increasing.

A CHANGE has been made in the placing of two of the new street lights. At a special meeting of the Council Thursday night it was decided that the light proposed to be placed on the corner of Summer and Pleasant streets be placed on the corner of Summer and Green streets. On the strength of a petition from a number of citizens, it was decided to change the placing of the proposed light from the corner of Belmont and Easton streets to the corner of Easton and Chamberlain streets.

TODAY is the fifty-first anniversary of the laying of the telegraph cable between the Capes. In looking over some old records we find the following:—"On the 21st of November 1858 one of the first telegraph cables ever laid was stretched between Cape Tormentine and Cape Traverse. The event was one of great interest and importance. The work was conducted under the supervision of S. N. Gishborne. The line was not intended to serve merely as a means of telegraph communication between the Island and the American continent; it was originally designed to serve as a connecting link in a projected line to connect New York by telegraph with Newfoundland. Hence the company which laid it was designated by the name of The New York and Newfoundland Telegraph Company. In August 1858 the telegraph cable at the Capes became unworkable and its repairs were delayed until the following spring and telegraph communication was interrupted for a 'whole winter.' The first successful cable in the world was laid across the English Channel, a distance of two miles, in 1840, although attempts were made with partial success as early as 1830.

WORTH A KING'S RANSOM.

Says Mrs. Col. E. J. Gresham. Saved From the Maelstrom of Catarrh. How Pe-ru-na Saves Life.

MRS. COL. E. J. GRESHAM, Treasurer Daughters of the Confederacy, and President Herndon Village Improvement Society, writes the following letter from Herndon, Fairfax county, Virginia:

Herndon, Va.
The Pe-ru-na Medicine Co., Columbus, O.
Gentlemen—I cannot speak too highly of the value of Pe-ru-na. I believe that I owe my life to its wonderful merits. I suffered with catarrh of the head and lungs in its worst form, until the doctors fairly gave me up, and I despaired of ever getting well again.

"I noticed your advertisement and the splendid testimonials given by people who had been cured by Pe-ru-na, and determined to try a bottle. I felt but little better, but used a second and a third bottle and kept on improving slowly. It took six bottles to cure me, but they were worth a king's ransom to me. I talk Pe-ru-na to all my friends and am a true believer in its worth."
—Mrs. Col. E. J. Gresham.

Thousands of women owe their lives to Pe-ru-na. Tens of thousands owe their health to Pe-ru-na. Hundreds of thousands are praising Pe-ru-na in every state in the Union. We have on file a great multitude of letters, with written permission for use in public print, which can never be used for want of space.

Address The Pe-ru-na Medicine Co., Columbus, O., for a book written especially for women, instructively illustrated, entitled "Health and Beauty." Send free to women.
