A UNIQUE PETTICOAT FOR A SLASHED SKIRT

My best black suit for this spring and summer was made like so many others with a slightly draped skirt and a slit on the side. I had the greatest trouble trying to get a petticoat to wear with it. All I could find looked very thin and they were, in addition, very narrow. Besides, the petticoat I finally bought cost me $7, and wore out in a month, so I was thoroughly disgusted. Then I made me an excellent underskirt, which has done me good service ever since.

THE CENTRAL GUARDIAN

It Pays to buy in this Province.

FOXES FOR MONGTON.—The Canada Fox Exchange, Saturday, shipped one pair of black foxes and a male fox to parties in Moncton. The male foxes are negotiating for the purchase of two more pairs of black.

FOXES AND OYSTERS.—Among the recent organizations in process of formation in this Island, is a company of a character different from any of the corporations at present operating in P. E. Island inasmuch as it is intended to present the breeding of foxes and other fur-bearing animals jointly with the cultivation of oysters. The proposed name of the company for the incorporation of which by letters patent application has been made to the Governor-in-Council, is "Malpeque Bay Silver Foxes and Oysters Limited."

MORE FOX COMPANIES.—In the Royal Gazette published on Saturday notices of application appear for letters patent for the incorporation of "Crapaud Fox Ranching Co., Ltd.," "The Lewis Dark Silver Fox Co., Ltd.," and "The New Annapolis Black and Silver Fox Co., Ltd."

CHINESE JOKES.—The Chinese have a publication called the Hsiao-in-Kuang, or Laugh Book, which is printed at Peking. The jests from the treasure volume, a number of which have been translated, seem to bear a certain family resemblance to anecdotes the world over, just as some of the most frequently told jokes of modern times are to be found in the writings of ancient Greek, who perhaps stole them from still earlier jesters. Here is a specimen.

Two men, Chung and Kung, are warming themselves before an open stove. Chung, who is remarkable for his coolness and loquacity, said to Kung, who is an exceedingly hot-tempered person: "My dear Kung, there is something that I would like very much to say to you. It relates to a circumstance I have observed for a little time past, and have desired to mention to you. But bearing in mind the somewhat fiery and quarrelsome disposition that has been attributed to you, I have hesitated to express myself. However, I have at last resolved that I do not mention the matter to you I shall do wrong, and I have consequently determined to ask your permission to speak to you about it."

LONDON'S WATER STORAGE.—Those Londoners who are nervous about their water supply may be relieved to know that the Metropolitan Water Board has under its control subsidence and storage reservoirs of a capacity of some 15,000,000,000 gallons. The normal consumption of the 7,000,000 persons in the Board's area of supply is rather more than 200,000,000 gallons per day, so that, were all the reservoirs full, the usual daily allowance could be provided from them alone for nearly eleven weeks. As a rule, at any time the Board has in storage sufficient water for a full forty days' supply, which would permit every man, woman and child during that period to be supplied daily with over thirty gallons of water.

PREACHING IN KILTS.—The Rev. L. Branford, of Islay, Scotland, is a cleric who habitually wears the kilt. In doing so he naturally revives a custom which was once universal among the Highland clergy. Up to about a hundred years ago the Highland priests not only wore the kilt on all occasions, but they had their own tartan, the main colour of which was dark blue. Further, the Highland cleric of the old days usually went about armed to the teeth. Even on the Sabbath he would be preceded on his way to church by his servant bearing his broadsword and pistols. When the minister ascended the pulpit he took his weapons with him, placing them in a conspicuous position on the pulpit ledge.

HER WAY OF TAKING PEAS.—At a dinner party the coachman was called upon in an emergency to assist in waiting upon the guests, among whom was a very dear old lady. The coachman, in passing the vegetables, came to the dear lady. "Peas, mum?" said Jehu. "No answer." "Peas, mum?" (louder). Still there was no answer from the old lady, who at this moment lifted her ear-trumpet interrogatively toward the man. Glancing down and seeing the tube, he elicited in a whisper, "Well, it's a rum way of taking them, but I suppose she likes it. Here goes!" and down went the peas into the ear-trumpet.

SUPERINTENDENT RESIGNS.

Mr. J. O. McKendrick has resigned as Superintendent of the Massachusetts Fox Company, which the company has regretfully accepted. Mr. McKendrick feels that he was placed in the company and ranch in an excellent condition, financially, having superintended its construction, purchased the foxes and largely contributed to the establishment of the company here. He is and will remain one of the largest local shareholders and also one of the largest in the entire province. Mr. McKendrick will still be available to the company for advice and counsel. In future he will devote all his time to buying and selling foxes and will receive an order immediately from the Canada Fox Exchange to secure 40 options on 1914 stock. He will also buy this week, two or three pairs of foxes for the above mentioned Exchange. Mr. McKendrick is one of the widest known and most influential fox men in the province. He has also in many cases been the means of bringing the fox industry to the attention of foreign investors, influencing hundreds of thousands of dollars to be invested here. In the capacity of Ranch Manager, Mr. McKendrick would have the little opportunity to exercise his talent, but now that he is free once more his services will be of increased value to the enterprise. Mr. W. T. Purdy, of Boston, who has several years' experience in raising domestic animals, will relieve Mr. McKendrick until the company get another manager.

SCHOOLGIRLS AS GAMBLERS

Forty high school girls, all under the age of sixteen, and daughters of wealthy American families, were arrested in a police raid on a gambling house in New York. The Chronicle says. It is stated that there were many more girls on the premises when the police entered, but they managed to make their escape by the windows and fire-escape. The police declared that the house, and others in New York, are run almost exclusively for wealthy schoolgirls, who gamble away their pocket-money, and generally have to submit to blackmail when their losses exceed the contents of their purses. Inquiries show that gambling among girls and young women is carried on to a very large extent, and that many scandals that have been hushed up were due to the gambling habit.

FASHION HINTS

The woman of taste need not hesitate to adopt the slit skirt—of a certain kind. The proper slit never proclaims itself and really has an excuse for being as it allows graceful draping of soft materials. No modish woman or modest, and the two are one, will ever wear the slit that shrieks out its presence. Draped tailored shirts are going out.

POWDER OF KINDLINESS.

We shall never regret the kind things that we may do for others, if they really spring from kindly feelings and are not prompted by self-interest. Many a man has won influence and power simply by his kindness of heart, when he had few other qualities to recommend him, and without such kindness great talents have gone to waste. Of all forms of kindness the speaking of kind words is that which lies most easily within the power of all of us. Not that words can ever take the place of deeds. Where a deed is required, words sound but as a mockery. But there are many, many times when the word is all that is needed to make the difference between happiness and despair. Most of us are starving for a little appreciation. Most of us will work harder for praise than for money. What a pity it is that thousands who really appreciate their friends and think the world of them are tongue-tied and never speak the word of praise until they speak it over the coffin. "Kind words are more than coronets," wrote Tennyson. They are indeed the crown for which many a man struggles. He who withholds the word which has been richly earned is defrauding his friend. He who cannot, in looking back upon his life, remember one little sentence which overpaid him for years of toil, is a poor man.

PROSPECTS FOR THE COMING YEAR

The prospects for the year are exceedingly bright. Twelve 1914 pups have already been optioned and 10 p. c. of the purchase price has been paid.

Options No. 1 and 2 sold for $12,500 each and options 3, 4, 5, and 6 sold for $12,000 each, a total of $73,000 for the six pups.

This is an exceedingly good start for a young company. It is estimated that the six pairs of breeders will produce at least 18 pups or 9 pairs during the breeding season of 1914. The chances are that the yield will be much larger than this.

Just a few shares of capital stock remain uncovered. If you have not seen to your stock now is the time, for the books will soon be closed and after that you will have to pay a premium.

TO TELL IF A DIAMOND IS REAL

The Literary Digests translates from the writing of a Vienna expert, the following: For an experienced eye it is not difficult to decide from the appearance of the facets whether a stone is genuine or not, for those of real diamonds are seldom so regular as those of fine imitations. With the latter the greatest care is taken, in grinding, to smooth and polish not only the facets, but also the whole form into such shape as to avoid differences in the reflection, refraction and scattering of the rays.

A DIAMOND PLUNGED INTO WATER WILL BE PLAINLY VISIBLE AND WILL GLITTER THROUGH THE LIQUID, WHILE AN IMITATION STONE IS ALMOST INVISIBLE.

If a person looks through a diamond, as through a bit of glass, at a black dot on a sheet of white paper, one single point will appear, or a blur is seen, it is an imitation. The white sapphire, the white topaz and rock crystal are commonly sold as diamonds, but more often imitations are made of glass. To recognize these glass imitations, treatment with acids is also recommended, which removes the polish on the faces, while it does not affect the diamond, ruby, sapphire, or emerald. However, an imitation made of glass yields to the hardness test, so that a chemical test is superfluous.
