DAIRY PRODUCTS MADE AT THE EXPERIMENTAL FARM

More than half a million pounds of milk produced by the Central Experimental Farm herd a fortnight ago, is manufactured in the form of dairy products made from this milk include butter and four varieties of cheese—Cheddar, Mellow Butter, and Cream. Butter is the principle product, reaching in the year ending March 31, 1927, 15,502 lbs. This product is sold as it is made locally. The Cheddar cheese made principally of the 10lb. size for which there is a popular demand. The three other varieties of cheese are made in sufficient quantities to meet a limited market demand among those who become acquainted with the merits of these products. In referring to the work of the dairy at the Central Farm Mr. G. B. Rothwell, Dominion Animal Husbandman, in his report for the year ending March 31, 1927, available at the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, announces the more intensive study of dairy by-products made possible by the recently established bacteriological laboratory in the dairy building.

BROWNTOP NOTES

(By G. LeLacheur)

The Browntop seed crop in Prince Edward Island is estimated to be about the same as last year, 30,000 lbs. The prices paid for last year seed were 60 cents per pound for Grade No. 1, 50c. for No. 2, and 40c. for No. 3. The prices this year will depend on the competition from Germany, Holland and New Zealand. The seed crop should be allowed to ripen thoroughly before being cut. Much of last year's crop was cut too early which resulted in poor germination and low grade seed. New Zealand has found that Browntop should not be cut for seed until the plants are practically dried out, and the seed is almost ready to shatter from the heads. If allowed to get over-ripe there is danger of loss from wind storms and handling, but each seed of Browntop stands separately in the head and has a double set of chaff which protects it until thoroughly ripe. The hay machine is adjusted to cut as high as possible in order to escape the bottom weeds in the meadow. Curing takes place in swath or small windrows, and the ripe crop should be handled as little as possible to avoid waste of seed. Threshing is best direct from the field, but if a machine is not available and the crop has to be stored, it should not be threshed until the sweating and curing processes are completed. The threshing machine should be carefully adjusted with the cylinder running closely against three or four rows of sharp teeth, and the fan stopped or all the wind shut off to avoid blowing the seed over with the straw and chaff. A coarse screen is used on top to carry off the cut-up hay. The ripe grass should be well shook out and fed slowly, and the rough material put through the machine a second time. The seed and chaff may readily be spread out and stirred with a rake unless thoroughly cured at time of threshing. Bright, clear, snappy weather is most satisfactory for threshing Browntop.

With the United States importing 600,000 lbs. of Bent Grass seed annually, the production of Browntop seed in the Maritime Provinces can be increased with relative safety against unprofitable prices. Our seed is more popular in the market than either the European or New Zealand product. Field inspection of the seed crop and sealing of the cleaned seed in sacks by the Dominion Seed Branch is a guarantee to the trade of purity of variety and grade of seed. Government service of this nature is not provided to our competitors. Their seed is sold on sample without any guarantee as to quality which is a distinct handicap at this time of certified products. Future press articles dealing with seedling Browntop on middle class and poor soils may be of interest to Island farmers. Some excellent fields were noted this season from seeding with oats as a nurse crop last year. Old Browntop fields may be renewed by cultivation and a light application of commercial fertilizers. Thousands of acres now running to weak Browntop, goose grass and weeds can be improved and seeded to Browntop at a low cost of production. (Summerside Journal please copy.)

In Memoriam

THE LATE JAMES C. DALY.

His many friends, throughout this Province, will regret to learn of the death of Mr. James C. Daly, which occurred at his home at North Bay, Ontario, on Sunday afternoon last, after a long and trying illness. The late Mr. Daly was born seventy-three years ago in Pownal, in this Province, and was, for many years, a resident of Charlottetown, where he was, for a time, employed on the Prince Edward Island Railway. In 1887 he removed to North Bay, Ontario, where he entered the service of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and for a period of thirty-two years he was one of the most efficient and popular conductors in the employ of that Corporation. About six years ago he retired from the railway service, on a pension, and has since been in a declining state of health. The deceased was the possessor of a most pleasing personality, and in the discharge of his official duties made countless friends who will regret to learn of his passing. Mr. Daly was twice married; his second wife pre-deceased him some sixteen years ago. A large family is

Hudson Bay Co

Expands in Furs

Acquires Substantial Interest in Firm With World Connections

(Financial Post Aug. 24.) An announcement in London by Hudson's Bay Company shows that a private company, with a capital of £860,000, has been formed under the style of C. M. Lamson & Co., Limited, to take over the firm of that name, and that a substantial holding in the new company has been acquired by the Hudson's Bay Company. This holding includes the interest of the late Edwin H. Good, The firm of Lamson and Co., is a very old-established one, having been in existence for about 100 years. It carries on a very large trade in furs from every part of the world. The Hudson's Bay Company occupies a unique place in the fur trade, the company dominating the industry so far as the products of Canada are concerned. By associating itself with a house where trade in furs is world-wide, the company's place in the industry will be of a much more comprehensive character, besides being advantageous to the financial interests responsible for it. It is not intended to make any change in the administration of the business of Lamson & Co. The business will continue, as hitherto, under the management of the former partners, Alfred Curtis Lamson, Curtis Walter Lamson, Alfred Valentine Fraser, and Robert William Fraser. These gentlemen will act as directors of the new company. The holding acquired by the Hudson's Bay Company will involve no issue of capital by that company, which will finance its new acquisition out of existing resources.

Land Sales Higher

During the quarter ended July 31, the company sold 85,526 acres of farm lands for £200,800, as compared with 57,046 acres for £135,692 in the corresponding quarter of 1927. Sales of town lots were unimportant, amounting to £1,640, as compared with £2,934. Sales of agricultural land for the six months to the end of July were 168,908 acres for £416,300, against 110,242 acres for £271,654 in the corresponding half-year. The figures for town lots were £3,600 in the half-year just ended, as compared with £8,980. The cash receipts in the land department of the Hudson's Bay Company also reflect improved conditions; the total for the quarter was £101,600, against £81,562 and that for the half-year, £284,300, in comparison with £213,303.

left to mourn, also one sister, Mrs. Hugh McInnis, who resides at 159 Water Street, in this city. Mr. M. J. Moran, formerly of the Customs Department, is a brother in law of the deceased.

To the bereaved relatives The Guardian extends sympathy.
