PRINCE WRITES SLOW MARCH FOR BAGPIPES

LONDON, Jan. 28 — The news that the Prince of Wales had written a slow march to be played on the bagpipes caused great surprise in court circles today. Only his closest friends previously were let into the secret.

Pipe-Major F. MacDonald of the Scots Guards said the slow march had an "invigorating and inspiring lilt." He said the Scots Guards played the Prince's tune at the Tower of London a few days ago. No one knew who the composer was.

The Prince called the slow march "Majorca."

SLEEPS 11 YEARS

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (CP)—When her sweetheart committed suicide in 1910, Anna Swanepoel went into a trance and had an unbroken sleep of 11 years. She awoke in 1921 but soon fell asleep again.

Gradually the periods shortened and Miss Swanepoel, now 43 years old, sleeps only for weeks at a time. Recently she remained conscious for two weeks.

New Argyle, P.E.I.,
December, 1935.

Margaret MacArthur,

Dear Teacher,—At this happy Christmas time, when all the world resounds with cheer and goodwill, we, your pupils in keeping with the spirit of the season wish to convey to you though in a very feeble manner our deep appreciation and gratitude for your unbounded interest in our educational advancement. Despte scant encouragement from all, cold indifference, and lack of interest on our part, you labored on ever mindful of the great responsibility of your noble profession.

No doubt by times your patience was sorely tried by our inaptness and lack of energy, which you always strove to overcome with resourcefulness and determination.

Trusting that you may forget our failings, hoping that your sojourn with us may be prolonged and wishing you a very merry Christmas we ask you to accept this little gift not for its worth but for motives that prompted the donars.

Signed on behalf of the pupils of New Argyle School.

MARKET GOSSIP

(By Johnston and Ward's Special Wire)

MORNING MARKET LETTER

NEW YORK, N. Y., Jan. 28—The market was quiet and inclined to be soft Saturday, with the Rails leading the way, bonds however, were generally firm to strong. Possibly the weakness in Rail stocks and strength in the general bond market reflects some shifting as a hedge against the possibility of the "gold decision" being adevrse to the position of the Government. Shifting for this purpose, however, is not discernible among stocks.

The market seems to be fluctuating aimlessly finding the outcome of the decision on the Gold Clause and until this hurdle has been taken nothing definite can be said on the near term course of prices. The U. S. Steel pfd dividend meeting is scheduled for tomorrow.

Laidlaw and Company.

BARING LETTER
Saturday Afternoon

NEW YORK, N. Y., Jan. 28—May wheat closed ⅛ lower, May corn ¼ lower, and Dec cotton 2 or 3 points lower. Former advices hold good.

Althought stocks with a few exceptions, acted somewhat heavy, the Industrial averages did not go quite as low as yesterday. I see no reason to change my view that they will most likely make bottom somewhere between 102 and 101.70.

American Foreign Power 1st pfd closed ¼ higher at 19¾, and remains a purchase below 18. I expect to see it very much higher.

Paramount recommended last Monday at 3½ below went to 3⅛ a day or two later and closed 4¼ today still a buy below 4.

Atchison, which I said to buy 48 to 47 went to 47. I should not go more than 2 points lower and I think the other Rails are not likely to lose over a point more, if any, the Loews closed a fraction higher and should be bought near 32.

Radio can be bought near 5 and the B pfd if it reacts near 40.

Auburn may be bought around 23 and General Electric near 23.

Otherwise recent advices hold good, though I look for little activity until next week.

Baring.

Athenian Women Bored to Death In Olden Days

MONTREAL, Jan. 28,—(CP)—Domestic life in ancient Athens was recreated by Prof. E.E. Boothroyd of Bishop's University, Lennoxville, in an address to the Montreal Women's Club. Stories chosen from Athenian writers were retold in present day language, indicating that husbands and wives in that far-off time were not very different from those of today.

One story from Xenophon gave a picture of domestic felicity. The husband had married his wife when she was 14 and had trained her in his ways. Only once during his married life did he have to assert himself. His wife complained that she was losing her complexion through lack of exercise, whereupon the husband informed her that walking around the house and supervising the slaves would provide all the exercise she required.

In later times, when women had sufficient freedom to visit each other occasionally, one wife complained to another that her husband had built their home in so remote a spot that she hardly ever saw her friends.

"The ordinary middle - class Athenian woman must have been bored to death in the seclusion which was her lot," the speaker commented, adding that such things led one to tone down the picture of Athens as the height of human culture and glory. Ordinary life was on a much lower level than that of today. Unfortunately, we do not know what the Athenian women thought of the Athenian man," said Prof. Boothroyd.

Bringing Coals To Springhill

(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

SPRINGHILL, N. S., Jan. 28—It was a case of "bringing coals to Newcastle" in this colliery town over the week-end, as trucks from River Hebert brought in fuel supplies to meet a shortage caused by the strike of more than 1,000 United Mine Workers.

Although the three Dominion Coal Company mines remained idle, the employees received about $24,000 in wages earned before the walkout, and all was quiet. No developments were expected until tomorrow—the deadline set by the U. M. W. for the rival Amalgamated Mine Workers to return to the fold.

The strike was declared last Wednesday, when the U. M. W. refused to work alongside 12 A. M. W. organizers who allegedly had been trying to cut into their membership. Meanwhile the U. M. W. have been working toward a "closed shop" and at a meeting tonight it was announced that the U. M. W. numbered 1086 compared with 1003 a week ago.

GIVES INTERIOR DECORATION TAIK

MONTREAL, Jan 28.—(CP)—:— In the decoration and furnishing of a home personality, simplicity and consideration for comfort and convenience are more important to ultimate success than expenditure of money, in the opinion of J. Herbert Hodgins of Toronto who addressed the Canadian Women's Press Club here

Every piece of furniture chosen should be comfortable, practical, of good line, solid construction and pleasant appearance. Character and personality in the house were the expression of the needs and the daily life of the family, Mr. Hodgins said.

"Express your personality in the delightful, simple things," he advised. "If you cannot afford mahogany or walnut, buy maple. If maple is beyond your purse buy unpainted furniture and paint it yourself to harmonize with the color scheme of your choice."

Maintaining the present in an era of color, Mr. Hodgins warned against the use of too many colors and, on the contrary, against the omission of color contrast. The sure test for color was to apply combination seen in nature.

"So you actually admit that you saw the man in the dock strike the victim and then take to his heels, while you made no attempt to stop him?" said the magistrate to the witness.

"That's right, sir," said the man without the least hesitation.

"But don't you consider that a very unmanly action on your part?" asked the magistrate.

"I was more interested in the victim," went on the witness, evading the question. "I was wondering whether the attack would prove fatal."

"Was that of any great importance to you?" asked the other.

"It certainly was," replied the witness. "I happen to be marrying his daughter next week."

Mac Phee of Charlottetown. The bride was given away by her father, and was tastefully dressed in silver blue corded crepe satin, with boquet of pale pink chrysanthemums. Famed Boston Steamer Wrecked

(A.P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

BOSTON, Jan. 27—The steamer King Philip, Boston's famous conveyer of fishermen to the fishing grounds off the coast, sank at her winter berth at a wharf today.

It was believed ice had loosened a seam and the steamer rolled over on its starboard side and went down. Two masts and the pilot house remained above water. There was no one aboard at the time.

Made Grand Slam Is Judged Sane

SALEM, Mass.,—(CP)—Ability to bid and make a grand slam at contract bridge is a proof of sanity and a person making it cannot be held lacking in testamentary powers.

This was the contention of counsel defending the will of the late Helen Huntington when her ability to make a will was questioned in the Surrogate's Court. Counsel produced testimony that at her bridge club shortly before the will was made, the woman made a grand slam.

Holding that her play clearly demonstrated soundness of mind, the court sustained the contention.

Currencies

NEW YORK, Jan. 28—After an early drop to $4 84¾, sterling steadied in the foreign exchange markets today and closed with a small net gain. The final rate was $4.86¼, up ⅛ from Saturday.

The Canadian dollar showed a slight improvement, reducing its discount from 3-32 to 1-16 percent. The French franc followed the pattern of sterling, recovering from a low of 6 49½ cents to close at 6 52 for a net gain of a cent.

MONTREAL, Jan. 28—Both the pound sterling and the French franc moved narrowly higher on Montreal foreign exchanges today while the United States dollar was unchanged from Saturday. The pound rose ⅛ of a cent to $4 86 9-16 while the franc was up 01 of a cent at 6 53 cents. The American dollar traded at 3-32 of one percent premium.

Attack Drinking By Young Girls

DUNDEE, South Africa, Jan. 28,—(CP)—The Women's Christian Temperance Union has forwarded a strong protest against the practice of "young girls" drinking after the theatre. The attack was prompted when application was made by the Dundee and District Club for renewal of their liquor license.

Major D.A. Lane, district commandant, said all the commandments and prohibitions it was possible to devise would not prevent young people from drinking, but would drive them from open to secret drinking where there was no control.

The danger of motorcar and "bottle parties" had a far greater and more far-reaching ill-effect, Major Lane added.

Find Out If You Need Assistance

Do not consider "the cost" in connection with an eye service. Not in the beginning at least. You either do or not need assistance in seeing, learning THAT is your first duty. If you DO, the character and degree of the help required must be learned with the utmost exactness. Think of the HELP you need and the benefit you will receive.
