of Edinburgh, the eminent psychologist, will devote his presidential address to this vital subject. It is expected the address will be the most remarkable delivered in many years. At the association's annual congress important additions to the sum of knowledge are likely to be among many notable scientists is expected on the question: "Is it possible that life can be manufactured chemically?" Discoveries made by students of plants, have, in some cases corroborated results of animal life study. It has, therefore, been arranged for the sections of botany and zoology to meet jointly to discuss the mystery of life.

Dr. Chalmers Mitchell, of the London Zoo, who will join the discussion, has interesting theory of the origin of life. Many scientists believe they have touched at least one important secret in making rudimentary life which may lead to practical results in the laboratory.

DUPED IMMIGRATION.

TORONTO, Aug. 21—John Mansfield, a fourteen-year-old boy from Newmarket made the acquaintance at the Union station here of Arthur May, who was on his way from England to Rochester, Mansfield volunteered to buy the Englishman's ticket and the offer was accepted.

"I must now get you a land certificate," said the boy on returning with the certificate. This he explained, was necessary for all entering the United States from Canada, and would cost five dollars, whereupon May unhesitatingly handed over the five dollars, and Mansfield then went to the Canadian Express office, obtained one of their blanks and filled it in with the statement that it would permit the bearer, Arthur May, to land at the United States port of Rochester.

May accepted the certificate and was thanking the boy for his kindness when Constable Holmes, who had witnessed the transaction and overheard part of the conversation regarding it, stepped up and arrested the boy for obtaining money under false pretences.

MINISTER FISHED ON SUNDAY

KIAMATH FALLS, Ore., Aug. 21—The Rev. C. W. Aked, now of San Francisco, long head of John D. Rockefeller's church in New York, who is spending his vacation here, shocked church-goers when they discovered him sitting with hook and line, in the broiling sun, fishing on Sunday.

STIR OVER GOLD HOSE.

LONDON, Aug. 21—Although the "Twelfth" and its orgy of grousing shooting is now here, the Cowes yachting season and the innovation introduced by Lady Acheson, who was Mildred Carter, pretty daughter of Ridley Carter, is still the chief topic of conversation. After night-fall this daring little American woman did not hesitate to introduce into her "ensemble" a touch of color in the shape of some stockings woven with real threads of gold, alternating with silk that matched in color as nearly as possible. They must have cost a fortune. Other stockings worn by Lady Acheson during the week were white or cream silk, carrying just above the ankles, peacocks or brilliant birds of paradise with tails and wings outstretched.

CARUSO DEFAMATION CASE.

MILAN, Aug. 21—The hearing in the suit of Enrico Caruso, the singer, against Signorina Giachetti said to have been his wife, for defamation of character, is now in progress. The case arose out of a suit brought by Signorina Giachetti against Caruso in 1909 in which she charged the singer with having intercepted a contract letter from Oscar Hammerstein offering her a $50,000 engagement at the Manhattan Opera House.

Giachetti charged that Caruso took this way of revenging himself for the break in their relations. The court ordered an investigation and a report showed that the case was full of unblushing bribery and corruption. One witness, an Italian journalist in New York, admitted that he had prepared false evidence at the instigation of Signorina Giachetti. The witnesses include Gatti-Casazza, manager of the Metropolitan Opera House.

THE HAMILTON POISONING.

HAMILTON, Ont., Aug. 21—That there may be a new turn in the Ziepe poisoning case which may be more sensational than anything that has been brought out so far, was the tip handed out by the police and detectives today.

The clue which they are working on tends to remove all suspicion from James Bruce, who took the chocolates to the hospital and which are supposed to have been poisoned.

The suspicion now is that if the candies are tampered with the deed was done after he left them at the hospital and the police are now working on a jealousy theory. The police have been searching records and have been searching the records of all drug stores in an effort to get a line on the sale of the strychnine.

So far they have obtained no evidence to incriminate James Bruce. He was arrested on the statement of his wife that he had used abusive language to her when he called at the hospital. The result of the analysis of the girl's stomach and the candies is anxiously awaited, in view of a new feature that has developed.

It is that Mrs. Bruce, wife of the man detained by the police on a nominal charge, her two sisters, and the other girl who visited Mrs. Bruce at the hospital with the dead girl, did not, according to the doctor, at any time show any of the symptoms exhibited by Rose Zeipe before her death.

Dr. Eager, acting medical superintendent of the City Hospital, who was first to attend the dead girl and her companions, stated that none of the girls showed any evidence of illness. "Several Italians on board were seipartaken of the candy that was supposed to have caused Rose Zeipe's and jumped into the boats. If we death, the medical man used the stomach pump on all of them as have been no chance of being picked up, as the fog band was said to be 100 miles wide. As a matter of fact, inquest, suggests that Miss Zeipe did not die from ordinary causes which days."

THE CORSICAN AT LIVERPOOL.

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 21—The Allan Line steamer Corsican which struck an iceberg east of Belle Isle near Newfoundland on the afternoon of August 12, while on her voyage from Montreal for this port, arrived here this morning. The fore part of the vessel was protected with collision bulkheads. Otherwise she showed no sign of damage.

Captain Cook, the commander of the Corsican, said the vessel struck during a fog and that she suffered no damage below ten feet of the water-line. The crew was at once called to the stations and the boats were swung out, but were soon taken back again.

All the water tight doors were at once closed. Most of the passengers of the Corsican say there was no panic on board at the time of the collision. Two Cambridge students named Bethel and Stevens, however, say they were almost thrown out of their bunks by the violence of the impact.

They also assert that a number of the passengers were panic stricken and that one woman called on every one to kneel and pray. The students assert that a hundred tons of ice fell onto the ship's decks, and that there was 19 feet of water in the hold last Sunday. The crew, they say, were unable to sleep in the forecastle after the collision.

Several of the passengers had narrow escapes, Stevens continued. "Several Italians on board were seipartaken of the candy that was supposed to have caused Rose Zeipe's and jumped into the boats. If we death, the medical man used the stomach pump on all of them as have been no chance of being picked up, as the fog band was said to be 100 miles wide. PAID THE PENALTY.

AUBURN, N. Y., Aug. 21—John Maurzewski, of Cheek-Towga, near Buffalo, died in the electric chair.

The execution was without incident, although the excellent physical development of the murderer necessitated the maximum current used in executions, two contacts of 1,850 volts at 9 1/2 amperes being required.

The condemned man was attended by two priests and he walked to the chair fearlessly. He cinged tightly to the crucifix and yielded it reluctantly when it was necessary to take the effigy from him. One long-drawn sigh was the only sound he made before the current cut his life short.

John Maurzewski shot and killed Patrolman Charles E. Schaeffer and a prisoner, Frank Kasoc, in Buffalo last Labor Day. Maurzewski was with Kasoc and another companion in a saloon when Schaeffer arrested Kasoc on a charge of burglary. The officer was taking his prisoner to a patrol box when Maurzewski attacked and Schaeffer died the following day at the hospital.

AFTER DIVORCES.

ZION CITY, Ill., Aug. 20—Wilbur Glenn Voliva, overseer in Zion City brought gloom into the homes of several of his parishioners last night when he told them in Shiloh temple that every divorced man and woman who has married again must separate if they want to be saved. "I do not care who is hit," thundered Voliva from the platform "or who married you, the union is unlawful in the eyes of God and you cannot be saved if you continue in it. Voliva noticed that several men and women in the congregation were weeping. He cried, "Take no stock in the people getting down in front and sniffling. Let them go to seats and sniffling and confess it and restore that's christianity of a practical form and what the world needs."

CUT THIS OUT AND PASTE IT UP

Almost every day The Guardian receives orders by mail to insert news matter of an advertising nature. In most of these cases the senders, who are frequently not known to any member of the staff and who have no account in the advertising department, write "Please insert the following and oblige." Thus apparently implying that they think the chance will be inserted for only a few weeks ago a reader wrote asking that his advertisement of Farm for Sale be inserted free from day to day until he cancelled it, as he is a subscriber to The Guardian. In this connection it may be said that the subscription price is not sufficient to even pay the actual cost of paper, ink, presswork, mailing, bookkeeping and other expenses of the Circulation department proper, and thus subscribers have no privileges of free advertising and are on the same footing as non subscribers. Seldom ever does the sender state whether the item is to appear in the Morning Daily or the Rural Daily, whether for one or more times in either Daily, or in both, whether as a display advertisement, announcement, business local, classified ad or otherwise. When for church or charitable purposes they seldom ever say so, or do not enclose sufficient money to pay for same all of which will be returned by first mail in the event of the item not being chargeable, or if more money is sent than necessary to pay for the item the surplus will be returned at once, there being a greater discount for cash with order for advertising of churches & than for regular business. In all such cases the advertising department communicates with the sender as quickly as possible by mail or phone, often paying the messenger service to get them to the telephone if not too far distant, thus saving all possible time. People write this office to know if News Letters to Editor, etc. are charged for, and to all such there is but one reply—all items, even of a money making nature, even though they be somewhat of a news nature, are chargeable. For instance, the advance notice or notices of a concert, lecture, pie social, picnic, etc., are chargeable if an admission fee, silver collection, sale of books or other food or refreshments, etc. or advance notices of purely religious services, even tho a silver collection is to be taken up, are not chargeable. The particulars of any of the above, after they have been held, are, however, news and thus not chargeable. The news of any present or future business, which is still being conducted, is chargeable, if it is apparent that the object is to make the business more widely known and thus increase it. Verses accompanying death notices are also chargeable. Even items which are actual news and not chargeable but ones in either morning Daily or Rural Daily or both are chargeable for more than one insertion, as they are thus not news.

The above facts are given for the purpose of assisting persons who have items, etc., to send to this office, so that delay and disappointment will be avoided.

EVENING DAILY.

All advertisers in The Evening Guardian now have the benefit of its large and rapidly increasing circulation in addition to its equalled news country circulation of 3,142 copies. Morning Guardian advertisers are enjoying a very decided increase in its Charlottetown circulation since July first, in addition to its already unprecedented swom circulation of 3,972 copies throughout the Province.

Business firms cover Prince Edward Island by using Morning Guardian and The Evening Guardian.

OUT THIS OUT AND PASTE IT UP

It is surprising the large number of people in Charlottetown who, when want to inquire about their Morning Daily Guardian or subscription, ask Central for the News phone No. 133, or for the Advertising Phone No. 132-3, instead of 142; or when they want to inquire about advertising ask Central for the Subscription Phone No. 132-2, or for the News Phone No. 133, instead of 132-3; or when they want the News or Editorial department ask Central for the Subscription Phone No. 132-2, or the Advertising Phone No. 132-3, instead of 133, although all those departments and their respective phone numbers are plainly given in the telephone book. Some people, instead of looking at the book, even phone one of the above departments to find out what number to ask for to get another department. All this is a great waste of time on the part of the person phoning, the operator at the Central, and the clerk in the department wrongly phoned. The news staff, on an upper floor, cannot give the necessary information about either advertising or subscriptions, nor the advertising staff about subscriptions or news, nor the subscription staff about advertising or news. In other words the clerks know and can do but their own work in their own departments, and if it were otherwise they would be usually "trailing" from one department to another, up stairs and down, mixing work, wearing themselves out and causing the greatest possible confusion. On and after 7 p.m. daily it is useless to ask for any phone number except 133.

Patrons, who consult their phone books for the numbers they really want will greatly lessen the work of the patient Central telephone and Guardian clerks and thus help make their lives much brighter and happier. 3-16df.
