THE ANNUAL BIRTHDAY MEETING of the W.M.S. of the Summerside Presbyterian Church was held in the Church Hall on Wednesday evening, June 4th. This service was presided over by Mrs. J.W. MacKenzie, the president. The devotional period, the theme of which was "The Good Shepherd" was conducted by Mrs. MacKenzie, Mrs. Hilbert Johnson and Mrs. J.S. Perry assisted by Mrs. David Larkin and Mrs. Edwin MacKay, members of the Evening Circle. Two choruses of "In Our Dear Lord's Garden" and "Fling Out the Banner" were sung by the Erromanga Group of Girls. The Rev. Charles Carnegie introduced the speaker of the evening, the Rev. Mr. Toombs, a missionary in India who is now on furlough in Canada. Mr. Toombs is a very convincing speaker and held the interest of his audience throughout the entire evening. Slides were shown depicting many of the beautiful mosques and temples of India, many of these requiring the work of men and many years to complete. Mrs. J.O. Cobb extended a vote of thanks to the speaker and the singing of "God Save the King" brought this meeting to a close. Lunch was served by the W.M.S. assisted by the Evening Circle and the Erromanga group. — S.

frame where in the long ago, James' parents occasionally, doubtless at birthdays, marked his height. Notches that begin low and reaching higher seem to have been neglected once he came to the 'teen years. Then it was, that James, still young was obliged to "put away all childish things."

Field work continued busily today, with manure-spreading from the winter heaps there, on a gram field-to-be. A satisfying endeavour, I take it, when a farmer stops to consider the far reaching results that accrue from the same. Rob was plowing down similar fertilizer on his farm and other teams moved along fields in the distance speeding the seed time to completion. Mr. C. from the house on the hill turned his cattle to permanent. Summer pasture this afternoon and some of ours too were driven down the lane to their which for a time is in the field across the creek. "But if the weather gets cold," James said, "a few moments since 'and even tonight is cool enough, we'll have to fetch them back to the stable again." Indeed the past week of days has been cool, though now that I recall it, there were those as well when the team was dark with sweat when it came from the field to the watering trough.

Occasional showery days suspended field work but afforded time for other things. Like cleaning the cellar in anticipation of the potato-seed treating; re-arranging sties and allowing the "skeleton crew"—but plump and comely—that shelter there, once more the run of the nearby paddock. Jock is the best one to find something to attend to on a rainy day. There was that load of logs, intended for hardwood flooring at Rob's to be taken to a distant mill, on such an afternoon. James was appointed to see to it, with the young lad and his truck from the house on the hill. I, on invitation accompanied them and enjoyed a visit with relatives.

One day Jamie fetched me a handful of dandelions, golden as sunlight, and on the lawn, Spring flowers, and along the pond, cowslips held too the same sunny glints. That day Jamie was catching rides on the truck which conveyed the grain to a field at the other farm for the very first of our seeding, so that some of it now rests in the good earth. If the men folk continue to find the season a backward one, May, the merry month, has been disappointing in this respect to field endeavours. But now standing at his shining threshold we look expectantly to the blossom month of June to remedy the short coming. It takes so little to encourage us: Sunlight bathing the fields, low hung clouds dissolved; teams at work; warm winds and blossom fragrant. All these gladden the heart at seed time. Yes, and in other ways.

"It takes so little to make us glad just a cheering clasp of a friendly hand. And we finish the task we long had planned: And we lose the doubt and the fear we had. So little it takes to make us glad." Until Monday — Diary — Good-night.

Senate Favors Lifting Barrier Of Immigration

OTTAWA, June 6 — (CP) — The Senate immigration committee decided today to ask the government for immediate widening of present immigration regulations. The Committee will meet with Reconstruction Minister How, acting resources minister in charge of immigration, and urge extension of the Government's recent move admitting immediate relatives of Canadians to include all relatives. The Government will also be asked to take steps to improve the shipping situation.

Witnesses before the Committee today included B.K. Sadowski, Mayor of Toronto Saturday night; Mayor Stanley Lewis of Ottawa and Mayor George A. Wingo of London, Ont., speaking for the Federation of Mayors and Municipalities. William M. Tereso, presiident of the Association of United Ukrainian Canadians, and Mrs. Constance Hayward of Toronto, secretary of the Canadian Committee on Refugees.

CENTRAL CHRISTIAN CHURCH

The week's series of addresses, entitled, "The church through the ages", delivered by Dr. C.H. Phillips, of Calgary, concluded at Central Christian church before a good audience. Dr. Phillips expressed his appreciation of the opportunity afforded him and reminded his hearers of the relationship of the Christian church to the age long history of the church. Dr. Phillips reviewed briefly the previous addresses, noted the continuity of thought and history of the church from a Divine idea to its inception in Palestine nineteen hundred years ago. He spoke of the period of eclipse and concluded with a reference to the present "Restoration movement" with which the Central Christian church is associated. "The movement of providential preparation is the result of the independent labors of Presbyterians, Baptists and Methodist leaders over a century ago. Of their determination to take nothing but the New Testament as their rule of Faith and of the congregations which resulted. These providential efforts to be true to the Divine ideal came to a head at the dawn of the 19th century," said Dr. Phillips. He told of the labors of Thomas and Alexander Campbell, Presbyterian ministers who organized a church in Kentucky. Dr. Phillips declared that this congregation of some thirty people was the first completely New Testament congregation since the days of the apostles upon confession of faith in Christ; it had no rule of faith but the New Testament; observed the Lord's supper weekly, and was known as the Brush Run church of Christ and the members as "Christians." From this nucleus the speaker went on to show, there developed countless numbers of such congregations in the United States, Canada and the world. A statistical survey made in 1930 showed that there were in the world some ten million people wearing no name but Christian and associated with congregations of the New Testament order, Dr. Phillips declared.

Dr. Phillips brought his address to a conclusion by returning to numerous prophetic utterances in the Bible concerning the church and the truth of Christ. "While division among the people of God exists and the church is still much eclipsed by denominationalism and other than Scriptural institutions, revealed in the New Testament God has decreed that the church shall some day be perfect and have the supremacy and sole religious influence among men in their relationship to God which the Creator eternally determined." With these words of assurance Dr. Phillips brought to close his visit to Charlottetown and Central Christian church.

Nat. Commissioner Of Red Cross Stresses Clothing Needs

TORONTO, June 6 — Peoples of Europe and Great Britain will be even more desperately in need of clothing next winter than they have been in the past year, Dr. Fred W. Routley, National Commissioner of the Canadian Red Cross Society, said today on his arrival home from the continent. "All through Europe, he said, there is simply no clothing to be bought. Garments which were in rags last winter have been patched and repatched until it is possible to patch no longer. Unless more fortunate countries can increase their relief efforts, next winter's cold will take an appalling toll. "The food situation is perhaps a little more promising. While it is not likely to show any great improvement within the next few months, there is little possibility that it will grow any worse."

The Commissioner has been attending conferences in Geneva and Paris for the past two months. While visiting in London he was able to make personally the Canadian Red Cross presentation of a cheque for $1,500,000 to the British Flood Distress Fund. Dr. Routley was amazed, he said, to see the extent of the flooded areas in Britain. "Flying from the coast of southern England to northern Scotland a few days ago, I saw thousands and thousands of dwellings surrounded by water. The first floors of these houses are even now completely submerged." In April, Dr. Routley attended an international conference at

Shipments At New Peak

MONTREAL, June 5 — (CP) — Shipments of grain to the United Kingdom will reach a peak for the still-young navigation season within the next few days with 22 ships loading or preparing to load 800,000 bushels. Inland freighters and the railways have been able to keep up with demand so far but shipping authorities say the port still is working on a day to day basis.
