Keep the Radiator Clean

Every radiator will eventually become clogged with grease or foreign matter and impair the circulation of the water, unless it is cleaned occasionally. And of course the result of a clogged radiator is overheating.

The use of a little washing soda mixed in boiling water and allowed to stand for a few hours will clean a radiator wonderfully. But be very careful to drain off this solution and then flush well with the hose, using considerable force of water.

THE GAME LAWS.

There is a list of the open seasons for game in the current number of "Rod and Gun," from which I extract the law as relating to Prince Edward Island. Rabbit (which is properly hare) may be shot or taken from Nov. 1st to Feb. 1st. There is no open season for "partridges" (as the Ruffed Grouse is erroneously called) nor for the introduced European Pheasant. As to migratory birds, the open season for Geese, Ducks, Brant, Coot and Mall Gallinule, is from Sept. 1st to Dec. 14th; for Wilson's Snipe, Jack Snipe and Woodcock, Sept. 15th to Nov. 30th.

There is no open season for Black-bellied and Golden Plovers and Yellow-Legs. All hunting is prohibited on Sundays in all provinces east of the 105th meridian, except Quebec. Under the regulation for the protection of Migratory birds, the season is closed on swan, wood duck, auk, little auk, bittern, crane, fulmar, gannet, grebe, gull, heron, jaeger, loon, murre, petrel, puffin, shearwater, tern and all shorebirds (except woodcock and Wilson's snipe, or jack-snipe) both in Canada and the U. S. A.

A CHOICE HERD

The Prince of Wales has made an important addition to the stock on the E. P. Ranch, in Alberta. This consists of ten yearling Shorthorn heifers, a young cow and her calf, and two yearling bulls. All were purchased in the south of Scotland. Among the helpers is one called Princess Rhodora, whose mother recently changed hands for 10,000 guineas (about $52,000), while other famous strains are being introduced in the shipment.

BLUEBERRIES IN N.S.

Despite the long spell of dry weather the blueberry crop of Nova Scotia this year has been most satisfactory. The early shipments ran to three times the volume of last season, the first week's exports being 4,361 crates as against 1,310 crates for the corresponding week of last year.

There are many acres of land here which could be devoted to the growth of this fruit, which in other places is subjected to a recognized cultural treatment to increase the quality and quantity of the crop. This consists of a "hedgerow" system of growth, the application of a proper fertilizer (to which the plants respond readily) and a rotational system of burning over to ensure new growth.

IMPROVING THE PASTURE.

The pasture land receives less attention than any other part of the farm lands, but a writer in the Rural New Yorker (Mr. L. G. Zinn) points out that the improvement of the pasture is of great importance in the economy of the farm. He makes it a practice to give the whole area an application of phosphorus, applying it in sections so that the whole ground is covered in five years, with an additional application between times on poor spots. In this way the expense is spread and does not become a hardship in any one year. It was found that 200 lbs. of the fertilizer per acre was sufficient to keep the pasture in first class condition. As his land is hilly, there is a diversity of soils and it was therefore necessary to try out grasses suitable to the various conditions. A mixture of grasses is always sown, but the grass which is likely to do the best, dominates the mixture.

When the field is to be renovated without plowing, the best procedure is to disc it early in the spring; then use the fertilizer and plenty of good grass seed. The stock is kept off till the middle of summer and the pasture is then found to be in fine condition and plenty of it. Mr. Zinn states that he knew of a farm t before this treatment would have starved three cows, but this farmer is carrying ten cows with to spare.

SPHAGNUM MOSS.

A company is formed with American backing, to exploit the peat bogs near St. Stephen, N.B., and it is expected that 5,000 tons of moss will be shipped annually. Thus a hitherto insignificant plant is assuming commercial importance. Sphagnum is quite common here, growing in boggy places, and presenting a like surface to the tread. The composed remains of these low plants are used in the form of peat as fuel in many parts of the world and until the Great War this was the only use. It was found that the moss when cleaned and sterilized made an excellent dressing for wool and it was shipped in large quantities for the purpose. At present material is being used, among other things, in floral work, as fuel, in blankets, rugs, wadding, paper, cardboard, and as the raw material from which peat gas for power purposes is obtained. Verily, it is the day of small things!
