DEMPSEY NOT FIGHT AGAIN HORTON SMITH WINS CH'SHIP

BY EDWARD J. NEILL.
NEW YORK, N. Y., May 21.—Stretched out in a barber's chair, while a razor fought with his blue-black beard and a manicurist clipping his nails, Jack Dempsey blew the lather from his lips yesterday and declared without reservation that he is farther away than ever from another ring comeback.

As forcefully as a man could say it, the former heavyweight king declared the retirement he announced after Gene Tunney whipped him for the second time, in Chicago, will stand—more so now than ever. The ring has lost its lure, fighting days are behind him, and a new career stretches ahead.

"Of course," he said, "if someone came along with a bona fide offer for $1,000,000, I'd have to consider it seriously. If some one offered to make it worth my while for me to start training, and find out if I could get in shape again, I'd have to think that over, too."

"There have been no million-dollar offers, and I don't expect any. Even if it did come, I'm not sure that I wouldn't refuse it after all. I'm a promoter now and have a mass of theatrical offers. I'll never fight again."

She (pensively): It must be an awful thing to be paralyzed.

He: Yes, you feel so mean, the next morning. — Dartmouth Jack o' Lantern.

Minard's Liniment for coughs and colds

One Of The Greatest

BACK IN HIS PLAYIN' DAYS COLLINS WAS AN EXCELLENT FIELDER, A DANGEROUS HITTER AND FAST ON TH' BASES.

By QUIN HALL

Among the modern second basemen probably none can hold a candle to the old master of the keystone sack, Eddie Collins, who is now employed in an advisory capacity with Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics. Collins was — at the height of his playing career — one of the greatest, if not the greatest, second basemen who ever pulled on a mitter. Fast on the bases, a terrific hitter and an excellent fielder, Eddie was also an exceedingly smart ball player. He still retains his smartness, though his speed and eyesight have weakened with the years, and he is being pretty generally acclaimed as the fellow who will eventually succeed Connie Mack as pilot of the A's.

Next to Ty Cobb, Collins has the distinction of being in the big leagues for a longer stretch than any of the old timers of the game, although he did not play ball as consistently as did the Georgia Peach, who is out of the big leagues for the first time in approximately a quarter of a century this year. Eddie is celebrating his 24th year in fast company this Summer.

Of the modern second basemen, Frisch, of the St. Louis Cards, is the nearest approach to Collins in ability. Hornsby of the Cubs is a hitter but his fielding ability is constantly questioned. Some contend Maguire, of the Braves, is one of the best of the moderns from a fielding standpoint, but his hitting doesn't stand the acid test. Lazzeri, of the Yanks, is a clever keystone guardian, and Reese, of the Giants, may develop, but few of them could step with Collins when he was enjoying his best playing days.

Comparing Collins with the moderns, point by point, is convincing proof that he was one of the great stars of the game and that it will be some time before as good a second baseman is uncovered in the big leagues.

Collins' smartness is counting, even now, in the victories rung up by the Athletics.

Auto Runs 59 Miles On Gallon of Gas

Automobile engineers who worked for years in an effort to reduce gasoline consumption have found the solution in a marvelous invention that fits all cars. An actual test made by one of the engineers showed 59 miles on a gallon of gas. Thousands of car owners have already installed this new invention. They not only reap amazing gas savings, but are also surprised to find quicker pick-up, instant starting, smoother running motors and disappearance of carbon. E. Oliver, 999-1526 E. Third St., Milwaukee, Wis., for a limited time is offering a free device to those who will help introduce it. They also need men everywhere to make over $100 weekly in their own territory taking care of local business. Write him at once for free sample and big money making offer.—Adv.

GRANVILLE ISSUES TUNNEY IMPROVING FOR BREACH OF PROMISE

MONAHAN'S, Texas, May 22.—Phillip Granville, Hamilton, Ont., continues to improve in form in C. C. Pyle's bunion derby despite a broken toe and a dislocated hip. Today in the fifty-second lap of their long trek to the Pacific coast he tied for seventh place with Joe Spangler, of New York, running the 38 miles from Odessa, Texas, to Monahan's in 5:24:10.

The lap was run in a cold penetrating rain and was won by Sam Richman, of New York, and Gusto Umek, of Italy, who breasted the tape together. Granville remains in sixth place in elapsed time.

Stands on Head When Grateful

(By British United Press)

LONDON, May 22.—Leighton Buzzard is the only place in England that expresses gratitude by standing on its head. This acrobatic ritual, however, is not a communal effort.

One small and usually very enthusiastic boy suffices, and he gets the job only after fierce competition.

In the days of Charles I, a wealthy London merchant, Edward Wilkes, left several parcels of land in his native Leighton Buzzard, the revenues from which were to be devoted to local charity.

In the will it was stipulated that the ceremony of beating the bounds of these lands should be carried out every Rogation Monday (just before Ascension Day) and a certain sum of money was set aside for entertaining those participating in the event.

Leighton honoured the observance for years, and then decided to go one better. Generations ago one of the trustees had the notion that the charity would be much more strongly impressed on the mind of the townspeople if some unusual ceremony were attached to it.

Thus there arose the strange idea that a boy should stand on his head on each parcel of land during the beating of the bounds.

This has gone on for generations, and every spring finds the small boys of Leighton assiduously practising for the great day.

This year the ritual was carried out with full ceremonial. The town crier, carrying his rod of office—a posy of daffodils on a pole—marched down the street, with 20 eager youngsters scrambling after him, and in the rear elderly trustees of the Wilkes Charity trying hard to keep up with them. At Camps Close, a meadow on the outskirts of the town, the procession halted.

"Now who's going to stand on his head?" asked a trustee. There was a chorus of "Me," and half a dozen hands shot into the air.

The issue, however, had already been decided at preliminary trials in the vestry of the church during an interval of choir practice, and these

PACING WIZARD TO RACE FREE FOR ALL

FREDERICTON, May 22.—Bert Abbe, 1.59 1/4, the pacing wizard, is race in the free-for-alls on the Maine and New Brunswick Circuit this year according to word received at Circuit headquarters here.

Fred W. Woodman, of Haverhill, Mass., who acquired a half interest in the half-mile tracks pacing world last fall, has arranged to have Bert Abbe race Bert Abbe on the Maine and New Brunswick Circuit, which will give a purse of at least $10,000 each week for the commencement of the season at Houlton, on July 4, and 5th until the close of 1929 racing for the fast record pacers to race for Bert Abbe opponents during the season will include Besse McKillo, 2.01 1/4, Mille W., 2.03 1/4, Bille D., 2.03 1/4, and some other crack fast record pacers.

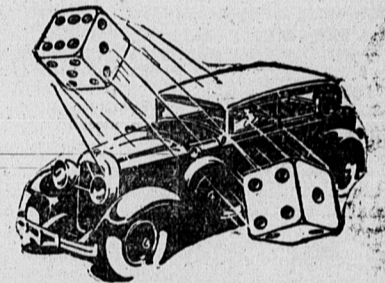

It is understood that the entry of Bert Abbe as a free-for-all contender is only one of a number of surprises furnished by entries for early closing events to be raced at the fall fairs of the Maine and New Brunswick Circuit, which closes on May 15.

DENIES CLAIM

NEW YORK, May 22.—George W. Deely had settled the championship on young Tommy Deely.

So Tommy, conscious of the importance of the occasion, borrowed a few caps to make a cushion for his head, and in a thrice his feet were in the air.

Tommy well earned the quarter that goes to the boy who stands on his head. His 19 companions, who contributed the applause, only got ten cents each.

Don't Gamble on new car Lubrication

THE lubrication that is given to a new car has a very direct bearing upon the life and service that you are going to get out of the car.

The object of lubrication is to reduce friction to a minimum and only an expert knowledge of greases and their quality will achieve this purpose.

Thin cheap greases will eventually aggravate rather than reduce friction.

"WHIZ" GEAR GREASE contains those two necessary qualities—fluidity and rich smooth oiliness—that mean free moving parts and easy starting. In a new car, all moving parts are stiff and rough. Friction inevitably smooths these down, but in doing so, injures your grease. Right here is why "WHIZ" GEAR GREASE is so valuable—its richness—its body—have the strength and ability to resist the effects of friction.

And of course the correct grade of grease is just as important as the quality. Your dealer sells and recommends "WHIZ" GEAR GREASE.

"One pound of fresh grease added to four pounds of worn grease means five pounds of old grease."
