Smaller Taxes On The Lower Incomes

OTTAWA, June 5.—All the income tax changes brought down in the budget are applicable to next year's taxes based on this year's income with two exceptions, it was explained by the department of National Revenue today. In the case of the increase in the rate from eight to ten per cent. on the income for corporations and joint stock companies, the additional two per cent. will have to be paid on the returns already in based on last year's income. The other exception is a tax of two per cent. collected at their source on dividends payable to non-resident shareholders. This comes into force on July 1, next. Income taxes under the new budget apply to incomes this year and are therefore not payable until 1932. In the smaller income class there will be a slight reduction of taxes. Farther up the scale there will be increases and in the super-income classification, very heavy reductions. An important exemption will be on net income from dividends of Canadian companies. Each taxpayer will be exempt upon such income up to an amount equal to half of his other taxable income, with a minimum limit of $10,000 to the exemption. The following table shows a comparison of the present and new income tax payments for a married man with no dependants on the basis of his total income, it being remembered that the old exemption was on the basis of $3,000 while the new basis is on $3,500 exempted:

Table with columns: Total Income, Old Tax, New Tax. Rows range from $4,000 to $10,000.

The Auld Kirk Meets

(By Presbyter in Toronto Mail and Empire) The Fifty-Seventh General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada was constituted on Wednesday evening, June 3rd, at eight o'clock in the evening in Knox Church, Toronto. Commissioners to the number of 250 gathered from all parts of Canada to hear the reports of the various departments of the Church's work, to transact the general business and to determine such future policies as may to the assembled commissioners seem best. The Presbyterian Church came into existence as a Church in 1875, when the four branches of the Presbyterian Church, two in the Maritimes, two in Ontario and Quebec, came together at the historic Assembly at Montreal in June of that year. The fathers and brethren on that memorable occasion looked back 250 years to the formative period of their faith, which was then finding expression in the New World, and assuming the form of the Church of their fathers. Her creed and her polity had taken shape during the sessions of these five years of the General Assembly at Westminster, beginning July 1st, 1643. And yet it was not a new faith or a new polity, but the crystallizing and the formulating of what had been the heartfelt convictions of the Huguenots of France, the Waldenses of Italy, the followers of Calvin at Geneva, the Covenanters of Scotland, and of large sections in England itself. In this New World these sons of noble sires of the old, began not only to blaze the trail in the common affairs of life, but began to set up their altars, establish their faith and offer their sacrifices, according to the custom of the fathers across the seas. So in 1875 these people with fresh memories of struggles and hardships behind them (for was not their church the martyr Church of history), stood upon the threshold of a new period, and faced the tasks and the responsibilities that now might lie before them. For half a century then this church made strong and rapid growth. At home and abroad she became a mighty force. Then came the year 1925 which witnessed the culmination of a movement towards union, which had been under discussion for some 20 years, and which event is commonly referred to now as 'The Disruption of 1925.' With the able Christian warrior, the Rev. Dr. Jonathan Goforth. In Japan are half a million Koreans being cared for by the Presbyterian Church while in British Guiana on the north shore of South America aggressive work is being done among a people composed chiefly of those who were East Indians. In these far-off fields teeming with humanity the Presbyterian Church in Canada has nearly 100 missionaries and workers under its care, and is daily faced with appeals for more equipment and more men. Notwithstanding the stress and strain from which has now become a familiar term, 'the period of depression' the work of the Presbyterian Church has proceeded without retrenchment in her missionary, educational and administrative departments. Scores of institutions have collapsed under the strain that the church is facing. This Assembly therefore, is one of the most important in the history of the church, inasmuch as questions must necessarily arise calling for the wisest judgment and the determination of policies and lines of procedure in these trying times, that there may be a conservation of her forces in keeping with the performance of her duty.

THE BAPTIST CHURCH

The Rev. A. C. Vincent spoke, morning and evening to good congregations, taking as the subject of his morning sermon 'My grace is sufficient for thee.' He mentioned that this day marked the beginning of his third year of work in this congregation, reviewed some of the objectives attempted, some of the problems met and expressed his gratitude for the co-operation of the church throughout the past two years. He gave an encouraging address, full of optimism, for the days ahead, expressing the confidence that as in the past, so in the future would congregation and minister realize the truth of the statement expressed in the text 'My grace is sufficient for thee.' The evening sermon, 'Stilling the Tempest' was an earnest and eloquent one, heard with the close attention of the congregation. Yesterday the Baptist Church commenced its summer program in connection with the Sunday School which now meets at the close of the morning service. The new arrangement was excellently supported. The ordinance of the Lord's Supper was observed at the evening service. Under Mrs. G. Elliott Full's superintendence the choir led in the reverent music of the day.

CHURCH SERVICES

ST. PETERS CATHEDRAL Yesterday morning at 11 o'clock the Rev. Dr. Hunt officiated at the 11 o'clock Eucharist and preached a splendid sermon. At evening Bishop Lucas Warden of the Canadian Church Army was the preacher taking as his text the eighth verse of the first chapter of the Acts of the Apostles. The speaker first thanked the members of the congregation for the interest and help always extended to the cause of the Church Army in the Island, and then gave a great deal of information regarding the organization and work of this great Society within the Church of England. The Bishop announced that he would deliver an illustrated lantern lecture on the work of the Church Army tonight in St. Paul's Parish Hall at 8 o'clock to which all are invited.

TRINITY UNITED CHURCH The cordiality of the welcome to Rev. W. M. Ryan was fittingly expressed by Dr. Ramsay and was further emphasized by the large congregation present both morning and evening and also by the many who at the close of the services shook the hand of our former beloved pastor. Mr. Ryan acknowledged the tribute paid to him and that it gave him great joy to visit here again. He has never lost his interest in or love for the people of Trinity and has followed with prayerful interest the continued advance being made here and rejoices in the growing strength of our union.

The text from which Mr. Ryan preached in the morning was Rom. 13-16. "Love is the fulfilling of the law." In these days when men's thoughts are perplexed by discussions on modernism, fundamentalism and all kinds of creeds, forms and ceremonies it is a relief to recall the declarations of Jesus that the greatest commandment of all is love to God and love to our fellow men. It is this one great principle of love that Jesus entrusted the work of redeeming the world. It is love that differentiates the Christian religion from all others. God is love.

In the evening Mr. Ryan gave a forceful and inspiring sermon on Paul's statement to Timothy "I know whom I have believed and am persuaded that He is able to keep that which I have committed unto Him against that day."

The service of praise was of the usual helpful character, solos being given by Miss Doris Tait and Mr. A. R. Gillis and in the anthems the solo parts were taken by Mr. Ben Acorn and Mrs. Roy Cudmore.

The Sunday School will in future operate on the summer schedule with the beginners, primary and junior classes meeting at the morning worship and then retiring about 11:30 a. m. as the junior congregation has done in the past. The intermediate and senior classes will meet immediately at the close of the morning service.

Rev. Dr. Clarence McKinnon will be the preacher at both services next Sunday.
