Arms Parley A Failure, Will Increase Air Force

(By George Hamilton Canadian Press Staff Writer)

LONDON, July 1—The British Government turned down a motion for a unified Empire air force tonight.

Lord Londonderry, Minister for Air, frankly told the House of Lords that the Government had lost hope in the disarmament conference. The unexpectedly had become all too clear, he said.

"We can no longer hope that an international convention will solve the problems which agitate the whole of Europe," said the Minister. "His Majesty's Government therefore have decided they can no longer delay the steps that are necessary to provide adequately for the air defences of these shores."

He referred to the Government's decision, announced some time ago to build up the Royal Air Force until it is as big as any other air force within "striking distance."

But the Government could not accept the motion submitted by Viscount Elibank, which urged the creation of an Imperial Air Force and the summoning of a special Imperial defence conference to consider the question, the Minister added.

Lord Londonderry pointed out that the defence resolution adopted at the Imperial Conference of 1923 recognized that it is for the paring of the Empire, upon the recommendations of their respective Governments, to decide the nature and extent of any action which should be taken by them.

EXHIBITION IN MINIATURE

Nova Scotia's Big Fair to Feature Ship Models

Ships are naturally the fetish of a Maritime community; if not real ships, make-believe ships in miniature, and, for that reason, ship models are as essentially Nova Scotian as the sea. In the coastal towns few homes lack at least one of these models and many descendants of wind-jammer captains are still making them. For that reason great interest will attach to the Exhibition of Model Ships which will be one of the features of this year's Provincial Exhibition (Halifax, Aug. 27th—Sept. 3rd). The prize list will total one hundred and fifty dollars and many entries are expected.

Nor will this innovation confine itself to models of sailing vessels alone. There will be a section devoted to model aeroplanes, the construction of which has assumed important proportions as an indoor sport; to mechanical models of steamboats and pieces of machinery; to models of buildings and towns; in a word, to anything towards which the imagination and dexterity of the maker of models may aspire.

For two years Winnipeg has been holding Model Exhibitions which have attracted attention from all of Canada and portions of the United States and which have proven so successful that they promise to become annual. For that reason the Exhibition in Miniature is expected to be one of the most popular features of Nova Scotia's Big Fair.

HITLER TO REDUCE BROWN SHIRT ARMY

Storm Troopers To Be Given "Vacation" May Ease Tension In European Circles.

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

BERLIN, July 1—Persistent rumors that Chancellor Hitler's brown-shirted army of storm troopers will be reduced radically or disbanded altogether were given a significant backing today by orders to store uniforms during July.

Karl Ernst, in charge of the troopers in Berlin and the Province of Brandenburg, told his men that during their month's vacation—previously announced for July—they must wear civilian clothes except when specifically ordered to appear in uniform.

The reason given for the order is that Ernst desires to restore all storm troopers to their families. Wives and children have complained, he pointed out, that the men are too busy with the brown army to spend much time at home.

Political circles debated whether the order means the great bulk of the troopers never will be called back to duty.

One of the greatest stumbling blocks in the way of an arms agreement between France and Germany has been a French contention that the storm troopers constitute a quasi-military body and should be considered as effectives.

Dissolution or reduction of the uniformed organization would greatly ease Hitler's position in foreign affairs.

On the other hand, it is known that Ernst Roehm, chief of staff of the Storm Troop organization, is greatly opposed to its dissolution.

Eye Strain From Close Work

The daily work of many demands the continuous use of the eyes for close work. Eyes under such a condition are bound to show strain. This may arise even if the eyes are considered normal. And is CERTAIN to if they are not. There is no necessity for an uncomfortable eye condition to arise or continue in the great majority of cases.

Berton Churchill In Comedy Drama At The Capitol

"Half a sinner," one of the most hilarious and successful comedy-dramas of the year, was brought to the screen yesterday at the Capitol Theatre with Berton Churchill Broadway stage and screen star Joel McCrea and Sally Blane as the principal roles. Thoroughly wholesome, laughable, dramatic, it is one of the most delightful films to be shown in some time and is devoted to the entertainment needs of the entire family. It is based on the play, "Alias the Deacon," by John B. Hymer and Leroy Clements in which Churchill was starred.

The story, thrilling in spots, rollicking in others and clean throughout, records the activities of a sanctimonious rascal who poses as a deacon and who is a card-sharp, as well as two young lovers who have known him before but know it would be fatal to their happiness to have such a fact become public. The plot turns and twists at every angle, the suspense of each situation being maintained until its consummation.

Besides the two romantic lovers, McCrea and Miss Blane, who contribute much to the enjoyment of the picture, virtually an all-star cast fills the other roles. Alexander Carlisle makes her movie debut in this one. Mickey Rooney is the freckled faced "assistant-solver-of-all-troubles," Gay Seabrook, the Dumb Dora of the radio serials "Grown Up" and "Girl Friend" is the town's giggling wonder, Russell Hopkins is the manager of Gunn's Williams, the wresler, and a dozen others contribute to the enjoyment of the play.

"Half a Sinner" will remain at the Capitol Theatre for three days.

Sylvia Sidney Has New Role In Comedy At Prince Edward

A different, but extremely fascinating Sylvia Sidney, free for the time of the necessity of appearing morbid, unhappy or frustrated may be seen in Paramount's delicious comedy satire "Thirty-Day Princess" which opened yesterday at the Prince Edward Theatre.

As the little actress who was hired to impersonate a princess, and wound up wishing that she were a real princess, so that she could hold the love of the handsome newspaper publisher, Miss Sidney is easy to look at, beautifully garbed, and refreshingly witty.

Topping the supporting cast is Cary Grant, who could overcome any woman's resistance, as the handsome, impetuous publisher; Lucien Littlefield, Vince Barnett.

The story is an expert adaptation of Clarence Budington Kelland's popular magazine story, credit being due Pasion Stures and Frank Partos for the clever adaptation, and Sam Hellman and Edwin Justin Mayer for the bright and racy dialogue.

Marion Gering, one of Hollywood's more important directorial lights has sufficient reason to be proud of this racy, flippant celluloid-comedy.

Appreciation

TRIBUTE TO MRS. MICHAEL McDONALD, GEORGETOWN

Dear Mrs. McDonald—We your fellow residents of Georgetown take this opportunity of expressing to you our pleasure on your recovery from a recent severe illness, and also to congratulate you upon attaining such a ripe old age, and in a feeble way to voice our appreciation of your life long service to the sick and suffering in this community.

It is said a King's County Hospital is soon to be opened at Moncton, but we claim that a King's County Hospital has functioned in Georgetown for very many years in the home and under the kindly ministrations of that woman familiarly known as "Mrs. Mick."

You have indeed been a veritable "Sister of Mercy" to all creeds and classes needing your care.

Please accept the accompanying small token of our appreciation and esteem. Praying that God will abundantly bless you, making the evening of your long and useful life calm and bright, and after that we know you will hear His gracious words of commendation: "Well done thou good and faithful servant."

—Georgetown, June 29, 1934.

BALDWIN'S ROAD W. I.

The members of the Baldwin's Road Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Peter Carter on June 12th. Twelve members and several visitors present. It was decided to attend the district convention to be held in Lower Montserrat July 17th. An interesting feature of this meeting was a "grab bag," which realized the amount of $23.50. A dainty lunch was then served by the hostess, after which a pleasant hour was spent in social chat.

Next meeting to be held in the schoolroom, roll call to be answered by pinning the tail on the donkey. The meeting then closed by singing the National Anthem.

In Canada there are three native species of elm—white, red and rock. The red and the rock are confined to southern Ontario and Quebec. While elm, however, extends from Cape Breton to central Saskatchewan, south of the height of land which divides the Great Lakes from Hudson Bay.

SPORTSMAN PASSES

Famous son of a famous father, Harry Sifton succumbed to a stroke. He died in his home in Toronto, after a losing fight against failing health for six months. He was in his 43rd year. Harry Sifton's life had many facets of activity. He was a well known liberal, as was his father, Sir Clifford; he was a horseman of Dominion-wide fame; he was a director of a chain of newspapers and president of the Armada Corp., holding company for the Sifton interests.

FATHER OF QUINTUPLETS LOSES TASTE FOR FOOD: TAKES TONIC

CORBELL, Ont., June 30—Being father of quintuplets is so worrying and fatiguing that Oliva Dionne, the French-Canadian farmer whose wife presented him with five baby girls on May 28, has lost his taste for food.

It developed today that the 31-year old father who doesn't "think much" of his multiple blessed event has had to take medicine to stimulate an appetite that farm work had previously kept healthy. Mrs. Dionne, the babies' attractive 24-year old mother, is still being kept in bed by Dr. A. R. Dufour but she is regaining her strength and her confinement now is a precaution.

She arose 11 days after the children were born but suffered a relapse from excitement.

The most modern equipment that can be used in a home without electricity is being called on in the fight for the 30-day-old girls. It was found ice brought nine miles from North Bay was not keeping the milk that is their only food in good condition so a call was sent out for an oil-burning refrigerator.

One was rushed from New York, railways officials co-operating and the Canadian Government waiving a $100 customs duty. Now the milk is being kept at even temperature. The mixture of 95 per cent oxygen and five per cent carbon dioxide being administered daily to the infants is supplied by a Toronto firm in drums. A tube is attached to the container and the gas passed through water, before it reaches the milk which conveys it to the babies.

The lids of the incubators are being kept slightly raised for ventilation now and it is hoped they may be discarded in another month when the premature infants reach the life expectancy of a normal child at birth.

The use of seaweed as a fertilizer dates back to historic times and its value for the upkeep of soil fertility has been generally and practically recognized both in the old world and in the new by farmers residing not too far distant from the coast line.

DOMINION DAY

(By Irene Chapman Benson, Winnipeg, First Prize Poem, Writers' Studio Magazine Contest.)

Mighty Dominion — from whose shores forlorn,
The sea-spent eyes of Cartier swept the heights,
Glimpsing beyond the gloom of prime nights
The vision of a nation yet unborn:
Across the cadenced years we hail thee now,
Imperishably forged in unity,
Thy Provinces far-flung from sea to sea,
Thy diadem of Peace upon thy brow!

Today the great Macdonald lives again!
Today the voice of Tupper rises clear!
All Canada pays tribute to their name,
Sharing the glory of their yesteryear.

O glowing Past upon whose deathless loom
These sires intrepid wove our destiny;
Call forth today from far beyond the tomb
A Spirit Host to bear them company!
Call forth Champlain across the hills of Time,
Awaken Wolfe who sleeps on England's breast—
And where the darkling northern waters shine,
Seed out de la Verendrye from the West!

Down chalcid valleys and o'er sweeping plain,
From tepee and from trading-post they come . . .
Lost tribes are rising to the roll of drums,
And vanished chieftains ride the hills again!
