The ladies of the Cavendish United Church and those of the Baptist Church gathered in the Manx on the 28th of February and carried through the World's Day of Prayer service. He survived by his wife, nee Minnie Wellne, of Charlottetown, and one brother and two sisters, John Jordan a professor in Chicago and Mrs. E. J. Lumsden and Mrs. Fost. Jordan both of Murray Harbor.

Mr. Charles Dickson of New Glasgow will celebrate his 102nd birthday today—St. Patrick's Day. But he'll tell you there's not one bit of Irish in him. He's Scotch or at least of Scotch descent. He was born at New Glasgow a few years after his parents had come out from Scotland to settle here. He had lived in the village all his years. He remembers when it wasn't even a village—just a small settlement.

Mr. Dickson doesn't read and he's not as active as he used to be. He still goes out to get the wood, though, and sometimes he drives to the church. This evening all his relatives and people from miles around—friends and neighbors—gathered to congratulate him and get a piece of the huge cake that will have 102 candles on it.

Mr. Dickson will tell them stories about the pioneer days in Prince Edward Island. About farming way back when he was young, and perhaps about the time the Tenant League was formed when all the tenants got together to protest against payment of land dues to absentee proprietors whom the pioneer settlers claimed did not live up to the conditions under which they received the land grants from the crown.

Maybe the old Prince Edward Islander will proudly refer to the time the sheriff put him in jail because he refused to pay his rent to the proprietors' tax-collector. That was in 1865.

Anyway the old gentleman will have a grand time. Today will be a big day for him.

That the "economy" pre-election pledges of the Provincial and Federal Governments stand in the way of the proposed Brighton and York Point projects at the present time was the argument advanced by Premier the Hon. The Premier added, however, that his Government would take the proposal "under serious consideration and study the best method to approach the subject."

On Friday, March 6th, a very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Adams, when their neighbours and friends gathered to celebrate with them their tenth anniversary of their wedding. Mr. David Casidy capably performed his duties as chairman and after a few jocular remarks called upon Mrs. Hiram Harrington who read an address and a presentation of a well filled purse was made by Miss Gladys Adams. After singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows," Mr. Adams was well bounced. A delectable lunch was served and dancing whirled away the remaining hours. Music was furnished by Messrs. Colin Adams and Hiram Harrington. Following is the address: We, your friends and neighbours, have gathered here this evening to celebrate with you your wedding anniversary and to convey to you hearty congratulations and good wishes. In the ten years that have passed since you were wed you have been abundantly blessed and prospered. You both by your genial and kind manner have made a host of friends and proved yourselves worthy citizens of this community. In your home, by your welcome, both old and young were assured a pleasant visit on all occasions. We could not let this opportunity pass without remembering you and we now ask you to accept this small gift with the best wishes of all here present, and we sincerely trust you may both be spared to enjoy many more years of wedded bliss and happiness. Mrs. Adams was also one of the pioneers in the fur farming industry in Western Canada and until recently owned and operated a large fox ranch outside of Calgary. Mr. Myers was at one time a director of the Canadian National Fox Breeders Association and was the Alberta representative attending the annual meeting of this organization held in Summerside in the summer of 1930.
