

PURITY FLOUR

"More Bread and Better Bread"

Baking Essentials:

Common Sense, A Good Oven and Purity Flour

Use It in All Your Baking

Mr. FARMER

Now is the time to secure your seed potatoes, 1000 bushels Government inspected seed. (Green Mountain) why grow red potatoes when the markets demand white.

J. P. HOOPER, Charlottetown.

Furniture Sale

We will sell for William Hodson at his home, No. 16 Upper Hillsboro Street, on Tuesday, April 4th, commencing at 1 o'clock p.m., a lot of nice furniture and household effects. As Mr. Hodson is going away everything must go.

BENJ. CARTER & SON, Auctioneers.

Professional Cards

W. Miles Garrison, A. B., M. D.

Pulmonary Tuberculosis, Scurvy, Gas Treatment, in Selected Cases. Telephone 207.

Dr. Clift Chronic Diseases

treated by letter. Fee $10.00 monthly in advance. Personal services by contract. Address Purity Station, Westchester Co., N. Y. Walk via Word and Way, towards Wellville.

Palmer & Palmer

J. Palmer, K. C., H. L. Palmer, Barristers, etc. Bank of Nova Scotia Building, Charlottetown, P. E. I. Money to Loan

McLean & McKinnon

DONALD M. KINNON, Barrister Attorney-at-Law, Office—Royal Bank Building, Charlottetown, P. E. Island

McDonald & McPhee

J. A. MacDonald, H. S. McPhee, B.A., Barristers, attorney, etc. Money to loan, Riley Building, Charlottetown.

MacLeod & Bentley

W. E. BENTLEY, K. C., Barristers and Attorneys, MONEY TO LOAN, Office—Bank of N. S. Chambers p. m. May be consulted off hours at 116 Hillsboro St.

MORSON & DUFFY

Barristers and Attorney-at-Law, MONEY TO LOAN, Solicitors for Royal Bank of Canada

S. S. HESSIAN

Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, Etc. MONEY TO LOAN, P. E. Island

Mark R. McGuigan, B.A.

BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, ETC. Money to Loan, Cameron Block, Charlottetown, P. E. Island

Dr. C. C. Archibald

Graduate on N. Y. Post Graduate Medical School and Hospital, Practice limited to Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat, Office Bayer Building, Great George Street, Opposite Guardian Office, Telephone 850-J, Office Hours—9 to 12 a. m. 1 to 5

J. A. McEACHEN

Oph. D., Eye Specialist, Office—Prowse Bros., 137 Grafton Street, Hours—10.00-1.00, Evenings by Appointment, Phone 353-L

The Wall Flower

BY MARION RUBINCAM

A DISTURBANCE Chapter 6

Dora wondered why Gladys should hate Morton Newberry. Or rather, she wondered how she could hate anyone as nice as he. In all her life Dora had not met anyone like him. So she thought as she lay awake for an hour or so!

It had been a lovely party, she decided, quite the nicest she had ever attended. She remembered others—for she was always asked whenever Gladys went. But she always sat in a corner, she spoke because she was spoken to, she was always awkward and uncomfortable until she knew the people very well indeed. Even then she was unusually quiet.

No one—that is no young man—had ever paid attention to her before. Morton was the first, and she was 21! The tiny budding feeling of romance that comes to most girls at 16 or even earlier, came to her now for the first time.

She was sorry when she felt sleepy, because she liked to think of all the things they talked about while she was washing dishes.

As for Gladys, she did not lay awake, she never did. Like her mother, her eyes were heavy as soon as she was quiet and with nothing to do, she was asleep the moment her head was on the pillow.

But sitting on Dora's bed she expressed her opinion of all her recent guests.

"The snow's getting worse, it's a blizzard this time, for sure. It's good they all live near here—you might suppose I hadn't shoveled off my snow to see the pavement. Guess we'll be snowed in by Monday."

She yawned again, leaning back against the bed post and unhooking her dress leisurely as she talked. "It's all right for all but Morton. He lives pretty far off—guess he had some time setting home, so it's good he went early."

She laughed again perceiving already how she was pulling her dress from her shoulders, too warm, blooded to mind the cold air against her skin. She looked extraordinarily voluptuous as she sat there with drooping eyelids—a voluptuousness not yet conscious of itself.

"What a boob he is! I didn't ask him—Jesse brought him along."

She yawned again and began talking of Jesse, Jesse, at the moment was not favorite—a husky six-foot-two chap of 21 or so, with an amount of energy that not the hardest farm work could tire. Mrs. Nelson had hoped that "Jesse" might develop into what she called "something serious."

But Gladys had not a serious thought in her head at the time. She wanted Jesse exclusively, any other girl that looked at him met with her determined enmity and jealousy—and she wanted the attention of all the rest of the boys in a greater or lesser degree, as well.

She went off to her room now, her dress over her arm, rosy cheeks, sleepy, a little less attractive in camisole and petticoat than she had been with her silk dress pulled off one shoulder.

Next day was Sunday, which meant that everyone slept late. Sleeping late, however, was only half an hour's grace over the usual rising hour. But Dora committed an indiscretion—she quite over-slept. Last night she had been too tired to sleep at once.

And here was this new friend to think about. She had never met him the morning before she slept. She woke to hear her aunt's voice:

"My land, both of you like 'em, don't you? Dora! Dora! Do you know what time it is young lady? Almost eight—where's the sugar?"

"Where's what?" Dora asked, wondering in her head asleep state what sugar had to do with time, or anything else.

"The sugar that I sent you for to Dora's," came excitedly and ungrammatically.

The girl was awake now, alarmed. "Oh, that sugar—I used that for the fuzzy last night!"

"Oh, you did! Here we're snowed in so's no one can get out for days or more, and it's Sunday anyway, and not a drop in the house."

This strange sentence conveyed a meaning to the girl. She jumped out of bed, shivered, and began dressing as hastily as possible.

"You only told me to get three pounds—Dora put in timidly once."

"You couldn't see she had a blizzard coming? Couldn't you tell we'd need more? I declare you've no more brains than—pausing for something strong enough—than I could expect from a child of your father and mother."

She went on about breakfast, walking heavily. When she was angry she refused help with the work, she refused help now. Dora went up to her room to do the chamber work. She was terribly depressed, but not in the least angry. It was no good saying that her aunt had trained her to obey. Literally always—never to use her judgment. She knew she was in a creditably stupid mood.

MRS. MARY A. SPENCER of Waterville N. Y., aged 75, who declares she gained fifteen pounds on Tanlac and feels just fine all the time. Was in badly run-down condition.

"Just think of it, at seventy five years of age to be made well and strong again—and gain twelve pounds in weight, but this is exactly what I did after taking Tanlac. Not only that, I feel years younger," said Mrs. Mary A. Spencer, East St. life long resident of Waterville, N. Y.

"For over a year I was in a terribly run-down condition and so nervous and restless that I was a night I could hear the clock strike every hour. I was able to eat very little and lost strength, until I finally became so weak I could hardly walk from one room to the other."

"On account of my age I thought my declining health was natural, but Tanlac has proved that I was mistaken. I can do all my own household work now. I sleep all night long, wake up in the morning feeling refreshed and just feel fine all the day long. Tanlac can't be praised too much!"

Tanlac is sold by Reddin Bros. and leading druggists everywhere.

half an hour's grace over the usual rising hour. But Dora committed an indiscretion—she quite over-slept. Last night she had been too tired to sleep at once.

And here was this new friend to think about. She had never met him the morning before she slept. She woke to hear her aunt's voice:

"My land, both of you like 'em, don't you? Dora! Dora! Do you know what time it is young lady? Almost eight—where's the sugar?"

"Where's what?" Dora asked, wondering in her head asleep state what sugar had to do with time, or anything else.

"The sugar that I sent you for to Dora's," came excitedly and ungrammatically.

The girl was awake now, alarmed. "Oh, that sugar—I used that for the fuzzy last night!"

"Oh, you did! Here we're snowed in so's no one can get out for days or more, and it's Sunday anyway, and not a drop in the house."

This strange sentence conveyed a meaning to the girl. She jumped out of bed, shivered, and began dressing as hastily as possible.

"You only told me to get three pounds—Dora put in timidly once."

"You couldn't see she had a blizzard coming? Couldn't you tell we'd need more? I declare you've no more brains than—pausing for something strong enough—than I could expect from a child of your father and mother."

She went on about breakfast, walking heavily. When she was angry she refused help with the work, she refused help now. Dora went up to her room to do the chamber work. She was terribly depressed, but not in the least angry. It was no good saying that her aunt had trained her to obey. Literally always—never to use her judgment. She knew she was in a creditably stupid mood.

Tomorrow—A Caller

25 years Standard for Delayed and Painful Menstruation. Sealed Tin package only. All druggists or direct by Mail. Price $2.00. Kitchener-Booker Remedy Co., 71 E. Front St., Toronto, Canada.

A VISIT TO UPTON PARK FARM

Col. Jack Jenkins' Splendid Shorthorns in Excellent Condition and one of the Finest Herds in the Maritime Provinces.

(From The Examiner)

Few citizens are aware that within a short distance of our city—to be exact, three miles—is a farm stocked with the very best of shorthorn cattle. We refer to Upton Park Farm, situated on North River Road and extending from Bell's Hill to the North River Bridge.

It is said everyone has a hobby or a pastime, and the hobby of the present owner of Upton Park Farm (Col. (Dr.) J. S. Jenkins, is that of stock raising. Although a resident of the city, with an extensive medical practice, his family spend the summer months at the summer house at Upton Park Farm.

On invitation of the owner, a party were driven out last Wednesday to inspect the farm and cattle. Among the number were, Messrs. Stephen Brown, York; Ed Saunders, of Saunders & Newsom; L. L. Blake, of Blake Bros.; Thos. Beers, of S. K. Todd & Co.; Jas. Smith, of Blake Bros.; Frank Bell, Director of the P. E. Island Exhibition Association; Dr. Bousfield, of the Health of Animals Branch, Ottawa, and an Examiner representative, accompanied by Mr. J. A. S. Bayer, photographer.

The farm buildings, which are about a half-mile off Upton Road, which runs north and south through the centre of the property is reached by an avenue bordered by hardwood trees, which is beautiful indeed. On the farm is an orchard of 300 apple trees, the finest on the Island and a race course, Upton track—may be safe in saying the oldest and at one time the only one on the Island.

The farm is under the careful management of Mr. Ernest Carter, a native of Maidenhead, England, who was on Colonel Jenkins' staff during the war, and who, with his wife came out with Dr. Jack when the latter returned from overseas. It might be mentioned here that since their arrival another Carter has been added to the family—a rosy-cheeked, bright-eyed boy, in the person of Master Teddy. Associated with Mr. Carter on the farm is his nephew, Master John King, and by the way he handled the stock in the presence of the visitors it led one to believe that it would not be long until he equaled his uncle, who is an expert, judging from the condition of the cattle shown.

This farm was purchased some years ago by Lt. Col. J. S. Jenkins, from his grandfather, the late Dr. J. T. Jenkins, and two years ago the present owner, Dr. Jack, bought the adjoining farm, known as "Polar Island Farm" from the McLean estate. The whole property is beautifully wooded and resembles one large park.

Upton Farm was established over 80 years ago, by Dr. Jenkins' great grandfather, the late Capt. Stephen Rice, a veteran of Waterloo, and it is interesting to note that five generations have lived here. Even in the old days this farm was known for the excellence of its stock. Among the well-known sires kept here were the thoroughbred stallion "Saladin," McInnis pony, Warwick (which Dr. Jenkins took to England and sold to the French government); Mambriano Star, Beacon, Ham, Young Ham, Prince Harry and Royal Harry. The latter horse won first prize gold medal and diploma for Dr. J. T. Jenkins at the world's fair in Philadelphia in competition with horses from European countries. This latter horse was noted as a sire of many handsome carriage horses.

It may be noted here that on Upton Farm (we are safe in saying the only farm in the province) there is a burying ground for horses. This cemetery is situated on the banks of the North River, in a beautiful clump of trees. Here rest many of P. E. Island's noted horses, and it is here that Devilish Dorothy will find her last resting place.

While Col. Jack is not going into horse-breeding to any great extent, one could not help noticing in the stables the renowned Devilish Dorothy, 216, known and loved by all race-horse admirers in the Maritime Provinces. We also noticed the doctor's well known gray hackney show mare. This mare has won in showing thirteen first prizes and five championships. A large flock of Oxford Down sheep are kept on the farm, and so far this season twenty lambs have arrived, and despite the weather they appear to be a fine healthy lot. In the flock are to be seen many excellent specimens, and although Dr. Jack does not show at exhibitions, it appeared to the visitors that there were many prize-winners among them.

The visitors were next shown the cattle—perhaps we should say the big event of the day. These were housed in a well laid out barn, with concrete floors and sanitary steel pipe (patent) stalls. There are twenty-six standing stalls and eight box stalls, which house forty head of registered shorthorn cattle. The box stalls are built in the centre of the building, and the standing stalls on either side. The walls are white, the floors clean and the building thoroughly odorless.

The writer, noticing a quantity of sawdust in all the stalls inquired of Mr. Carter the reason, and was told that owing to the shortage of feed, all the straw was used for feeding purposes and sawdust used for bedding. As bedding material Mr. Carter says he shows a preference to sawdust, even though straw was available; it is especially valuable, preserving as it does the liquid manure.

Since the importation of those new cattle, Dr. Jenkins has had numerous requests from cattle men and others, including the Examiner representative, to inspect the new and costly addition to the Upton Farm herd; consequently he made arrangements for last Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Bayer, who accompanied the Examiner representative, secured some excellent photos of the cattle, and arrangements are being made for them to be shown in his show window.

It might be mentioned that Col. (Dr.) J. S. Jenkins has been exhibiting stock at the local exhibitions during the past two years, and last year with twenty-two entries, he carried off twenty-two ribbons. A number of Shorthorn cattle have been purchased by Dr. Jenkins in this province, but last December he added an importation of five superior animals to his herd, which at present consists of both Scotch Shorthorns (beet type) and Dual Purpose Shorthorns (milk and beef).

The Scotch Shorthorns comprise some of the most fashionable Shorthorn family. Among the famous Scotch breeders whose breeding is contained in the herd might be mentioned Amos Cruickshanks, Sylvester Campbell, Shepherd, McIntyre, Marr and others. Several fine animals, representatives of the Mina, Cecelia, Lavender, Joan Lady, Nonpareil, Missie and Dairy-maid families were exhibited in the buildings, and the pedigrees given by the proprietor.

The bull, Royal Eclipse, at the head of the Scotch herd, was bred in Scotland by McIntyre, of Findon Mains, Cannon Bridge, Rosshire, Scotland, and imported to Canada by Miller & Dryden, of Ontario. This animal is only 14 months old, weighs 1200 lbs., and is a perfect great grandfather, the late Capt. Stephen Rice, a veteran of Waterloo, and it is interesting to note that five generations have lived here. Even in the old days this farm was known for the excellence of its stock. Among the well-known sires kept here were the thoroughbred stallion "Saladin," McInnis pony, Warwick (which Dr. Jenkins took to England and sold to the French government); Mambriano Star, Beacon, Ham, Young Ham, Prince Harry and Royal Harry. The latter horse won first prize gold medal and diploma for Dr. J. T. Jenkins at the world's fair in Philadelphia in competition with horses from European countries. This latter horse was noted as a sire of many handsome carriage horses.

It may be noted here that on Upton Farm (we are safe in saying the only farm in the province) there is a burying ground for horses. This cemetery is situated on the banks of the North River, in a beautiful clump of trees. Here rest many of P. E. Island's noted horses, and it is here that Devilish Dorothy will find her last resting place.

While Col. Jack is not going into horse-breeding to any great extent, one could not help noticing in the stables the renowned Devilish Dorothy, 216, known and loved by all race-horse admirers in the Maritime Provinces. We also noticed the doctor's well known gray hackney show mare. This mare has won in showing thirteen first prizes and five championships. A large flock of Oxford Down sheep are kept on the farm, and so far this season twenty lambs have arrived, and despite the weather they appear to be a fine healthy lot. In the flock are to be seen many excellent specimens, and although Dr. Jack does not show at exhibitions, it appeared to the visitors that there were many prize-winners among them.

The visitors were next shown the cattle—perhaps we should say the big event of the day. These were housed in a well laid out barn, with concrete floors and sanitary steel pipe (patent) stalls. There are twenty-six standing stalls and eight box stalls, which house forty head of registered shorthorn cattle. The box stalls are built in the centre of the building, and the standing stalls on either side. The walls are white, the floors clean and the building thoroughly odorless.

The writer, noticing a quantity of sawdust in all the stalls inquired of Mr. Carter the reason, and was told that owing to the shortage of feed, all the straw was used for feeding purposes and sawdust used for bedding. As bedding material Mr. Carter says he shows a preference to sawdust, even though straw was available; it is especially valuable, preserving as it does the liquid manure.

Since the importation of those new cattle, Dr. Jenkins has had numerous requests from cattle men and others, including the Examiner representative, to inspect the new and costly addition to the Upton Farm herd; consequently he made arrangements for last Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Bayer, who accompanied the Examiner representative, secured some excellent photos of the cattle, and arrangements are being made for them to be shown in his show window.

It might be mentioned that Col. (Dr.) J. S. Jenkins has been exhibiting stock at the local exhibitions during the past two years, and last year with twenty-two entries, he carried off twenty-two ribbons. A number of Shorthorn cattle have been purchased by Dr. Jenkins in this province, but last December he added an importation of five superior animals to his herd, which at present consists of both Scotch Shorthorns (beet type) and Dual Purpose Shorthorns (milk and beef).

The Scotch Shorthorns comprise some of the most fashionable Shorthorn family. Among the famous Scotch breeders whose breeding is contained in the herd might be mentioned Amos Cruickshanks, Sylvester Campbell, Shepherd, McIntyre, Marr and others. Several fine animals, representatives of the Mina, Cecelia, Lavender, Joan Lady, Nonpareil, Missie and Dairy-maid families were exhibited in the buildings, and the pedigrees given by the proprietor.

The bull, Royal Eclipse, at the head of the Scotch herd, was bred in Scotland by McIntyre, of Findon Mains, Cannon Bridge, Rosshire, Scotland, and imported to Canada by Miller & Dryden, of Ontario. This animal is only 14 months old, weighs 1200 lbs., and is a perfect great grandfather, the late Capt. Stephen Rice, a veteran of Waterloo, and it is interesting to note that five generations have lived here. Even in the old days this farm was known for the excellence of its stock. Among the well-known sires kept here were the thoroughbred stallion "Saladin," McInnis pony, Warwick (which Dr. Jenkins took to England and sold to the French government); Mambriano Star, Beacon, Ham, Young Ham, Prince Harry and Royal Harry. The latter horse won first prize gold medal and diploma for Dr. J. T. Jenkins at the world's fair in Philadelphia in competition with horses from European countries. This latter horse was noted as a sire of many handsome carriage horses.

It may be noted here that on Upton Farm (we are safe in saying the only farm in the province) there is a burying ground for horses. This cemetery is situated on the banks of the North River, in a beautiful clump of trees. Here rest many of P. E. Island's noted horses, and it is here that Devilish Dorothy will find her last resting place.

While Col. Jack is not going into horse-breeding to any great extent, one could not help noticing in the stables the renowned Devilish Dorothy, 216, known and loved by all race-horse admirers in the Maritime Provinces. We also noticed the doctor's well known gray hackney show mare. This mare has won in showing thirteen first prizes and five championships. A large flock of Oxford Down sheep are kept on the farm, and so far this season twenty lambs have arrived, and despite the weather they appear to be a fine healthy lot. In the flock are to be seen many excellent specimens, and although Dr. Jack does not show at exhibitions, it appeared to the visitors that there were many prize-winners among them.

The visitors were next shown the cattle—perhaps we should say the big event of the day. These were housed in a well laid out barn, with concrete floors and sanitary steel pipe (patent) stalls. There are twenty-six standing stalls and eight box stalls, which house forty head of registered shorthorn cattle. The box stalls are built in the centre of the building, and the standing stalls on either side. The walls are white, the floors clean and the building thoroughly odorless.

The writer, noticing a quantity of sawdust in all the stalls inquired of Mr. Carter the reason, and was told that owing to the shortage of feed, all the straw was used for feeding purposes and sawdust used for bedding. As bedding material Mr. Carter says he shows a preference to sawdust, even though straw was available; it is especially valuable, preserving as it does the liquid manure.

Since the importation of those new cattle, Dr. Jenkins has had numerous requests from cattle men and others, including the Examiner representative, to inspect the new and costly addition to the Upton Farm herd; consequently he made arrangements for last Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Bayer, who accompanied the Examiner representative, secured some excellent photos of the cattle, and arrangements are being made for them to be shown in his show window.

It might be mentioned that Col. (Dr.) J. S. Jenkins has been exhibiting stock at the local exhibitions during the past two years, and last year with twenty-two entries, he carried off twenty-two ribbons. A number of Shorthorn cattle have been purchased by Dr. Jenkins in this province, but last December he added an importation of five superior animals to his herd, which at present consists of both Scotch Shorthorns (beet type) and Dual Purpose Shorthorns (milk and beef).

gem of the highway

THE PRIDE of ownership of a "490" is enhanced by the superior finish evidenced in every detail of this car de lux. Nickle radiator, special top with curtains opening with doors, etc.—class in every feature.

Model 490—Special Touring $895.00 f.o.b. Oshawa—Sales Tax Extra.

CHEVROLET MOTOR COMPANY OF CANADA Limited Subsidiary of General Motors of Canada Limited OSHAWA WINNIPEG

This Pure Cream Stops Head Colds

Apply in Nostrils—It Opens Air Passages Instantly.

Colds and croup yield like magic to soothing, healing, antiseptic cream that penetrates through every air passage and relieves swollen, inflamed membranes of nose and throat. Your clogged nostrils open right up and you can breathe freely. Hawking and snuffling stop. Don't stay stuffed up and miserable. Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist. Apply a little in the nostrils and get instant relief. Millions endorse this remedy known for more than fifty years.

AUCTION SALE

AT ORWELL, ON WEDNESDAY

April 12th, at ONE o'clock p. m.

STOCK—1 horse 5 years off, Black Directum Patch, 1 mare 6 years old, Bay Commodore, 1 extra handsome stallion coming 2 years old (registered) sire by Dingola 2.5-1.4 Dan Capitola by Parkside, this is one of Lower Canada's best futurity prospects, won 2 first prizes and diplomas, 1 May young cattle, 1 to freshen in May, 50 hens.

IMPLEMENTS—1 binder, Massey Harris, 1 hay rake, McCormack, 1 set disk harrows, 1 single plough, Frost & Wood, 1 set pin harrows (iron), 1 scuffer, 1 sander, 1 truck wagon, (nearly new), 1 cart and wheel, new, 1 bike wagon rubber tire, 1 buck board, 1 log cart, 1 McLaughlin driving sleigh, 1 wood sleigh, big box, 3 sets driving harness, 1 set new, 1 pad and bridle, 1 set cart saddle, and breechin, set double harness, 1 collar and hames, 1 grindstone, lot poultry netting, 2 pair leather traces, 1 barrel churn, 1 15 gallon milk can, set blacksmith tools, quantity wool, also household furniture, 100 bushels potatoes, 2 ton hay, and some straw, 20 digger loads of oyster mud, 3 shares in Orwell Dairy Co., other articles too numerous to mention.

TERMS—8 months on all sums over $5.00, 6 per cent per annum, off for cash.

J. A. MURCHISON J. A. McDONALD Auctioneer Orwell, March 30th, 1922.

Getting After Crime

BELEAST, April 3.—At Waterford today a Protestant Bishop, Millar Cashel, speaking on "the terrible events in the North of Ireland" said he consulted with the clergy and men of prominence of all denominations who had voiced the opinion that the names of Catholics and Protestants are being used in connection with some of the loathsome deeds that have ever been done in a country. "All Christians," the Prelate added, "are called upon to say they loath and abhor such actions by whomsoever murders are committed and to regard such men as direct emissaries of Satan."

"I Am So Tired, Dearie"

IN the recent Advertising Contest the question was asked, "For what is Dr. Chase's Nerve Food most frequently used?"

And the answer in the great majority of cases was: "I have found on inquiry among my friends that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is most used by women who have their own housework to do and small children to look after."

"When tired and worn out by the continuous monotony of household duties and the care of small children the nerves in time play out and then it is that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food proves the good friend in time of need."

Mrs. W. German, 213 Park street, Brockville, Ont., writes: "After the birth of my boy I became so weak and gradually lost weight. I was unable to do my work and was in misery because I could not sleep. My nerves would twitch and jump and I would get up in the mornings with tired, aching limbs and aching head. My heart was so weak that it would palpitate at times, and I became greatly discouraged."

"Following personal advice from friends, I began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and took altogether 12 boxes. I wish you could see how well I am now and how I am enjoying life."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

To Stop a Cold in One Day

Be sure you get BROMO Quinine tablets

The genuine bears this signature C. W. Grove Price 30c. Made in Canada.

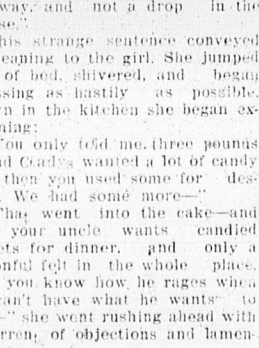

CANADIAN PACIFIC STEAMSHIP LIMITED

TO ROME FOR THE Catholic Women's League Convention, International Eucharistic Congress

Special Tour Leaving Montreal MAY 6TH By Canadian Pacific S. S. Montreal

A ten weeks trip through Italy and France at an inclusive rate. Ask local agent for particulars or write N. R. DES BRISAY, District Passenger Agent, 40 King St., St. John

25 years Standard for Delayed and Painful Menstruation. Sealed Tin package only. All druggists or direct by Mail. Price $2.00. Kitchener-Booker Remedy Co., 71 E. Front St., Toronto, Canada.

FOR SALE One dark bay horse, 1550 lbs., sound and kind, very trappy for a big horse. Also one about 1350, chestnut, a splendid block, and one dapple grey mare 1100 lbs., up-headed and stylish, will work anywhere and first class driver. GORDON W. DAWSON Cape Traverse.

FOR SALE To owners of Frost & Wood, Crown gang plows, I have recently been allowed a patent on my invention for repairing those wheels where the collar is worn out of the hub. As the season is now approaching, it would be well to examine your wheels and see if they need repairs, if so I can repair them that you can get more wear out of them than when new for one dollar and seventy-five cents each, just about one-third the cost of a new wheel.