Art of Weaving Again Becoming Popular

Weave This Basket

In wartime there are shortages, especially in the manufacture of good yarns, so why don't you learn how to weave and make your own materials.

You'll also be helping the war effort out of wearing a suit or a coat or maybe a dress made from wool woven by your own hands. You'll also be helping the war effort by not using manufactured materials which need plenty of valuable manpower as well as material.

Weaving is really not difficult to learn, either. In fact, it is quite enjoyable because it is rhythmic and it gives the creative urge a whirl.

Human weaving can be as intricate and delicate as a spider's or as simple and sturdy as a beaver's. You can use equipment as complex as a textile mill or as simple as a kindergarten's.

Your 32-page booklet gives you all the necessary information for weaving various materials from rugs to purses and what materials to buy for each.

Send 15 cents in coins for your copy of How To Weave Useful Novelties to the Charlottetown Guardian Home Service Address. Be sure to write plainly your name and address and the name of booklet.

TO REMOVE PAPER

When the top of your polished table is covered by paper-lint, stuck fast, remove by putting a few drops of sweet oil on the paper and gently rubbing with a soft rag. Polish as usual with furniture polish.

A Morning Smile

At the same time Miss Betty Robertson who has been Laboratory Technician and who was shortly to be married was presented with a pair of Kenwood blankets. Appropriate verses also written and read by Dr. Keeping.

Master John McIsaac, son of Lieut. Com. and Mrs. W. J. McIsaac entertained a number of his young friends at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Kathleen Hennessey, Villa Avenue, the occasion being his third birthday.

The Duke of Windsor toured the Boston navy yard last week while the Duchess returned to Faulkner Hospital, where she spent the day "reading aloud to Aunt Bessie, her 70-year-old aunt, Mrs. D. Buchanan Merriman, Washington, who is hospitalized with a broken hip.

At a press conference the Duchess said she was "quite used" over published reports that the ducal couple travelled with 31 pieces of luggage. She explained that the luggage belonged to the five members of their party, and that "one of the pieces counted was the box in which I packed my lunch for the trip."

Dorothy Dix Says—

UNATTRACTIVE GIRL CAN MAKE HERSELF BEAUTIFUL GRACEFUL

Dress And Accomplishments Together With Right Figure Will Please Friends

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a girl of 14. I go to high school and am homely and wear glasses. Please tell me what I can do to make the boys like me.

ANSWER—At 14, Sally, you are too young to take up the homely woman's burden, and if you will take my advice you will leave it alone for the next three or four years. Don't bother about your looks and what the boys think of you while you are still a little school girl. Concentrate on your studies.

But let me tell you for your comfort that right now you are at the peak of your homeliness and the worst is over. At 14 a girl is at the gangling, hobbled stage when her feet are big and she doesn't know what to do with her hands, and her complexion is muddy and her hair is lanky, and she has neither grace nor poise.

Practically all girls are ugly ducklings at your age, but you will grow out of it. And if you do not turn into Miss America, you will at least be a thousand per cent better looking than you were in your adolescent period.

But there are a lot of things you can do to help yourself along. Starting at your age you can make yourself a beautiful and graceful figure, and that is about nine-tenths of the battle. If you are fat and stocky, you can get yourself down to any weight you please by counting your calories. If you are thin and bony you can fatten yourself up by the same method.

You can call science to your aid and if you have bad teeth and an ugly mouth you can have your teeth straightened and the contour of your face changed. The real beauticians are dentists. And, of course, you can have any color or wave of hair you desire and you can buy yourself a better complexion than Nature ever turns out.

CLEVERNESS WILL COMPENSATE FOR UGLINESS

Then bear in mind that an ugly woman has to be a clever woman to focus peoples' attention to what is inside of her head instead of what is outside of it. If a woman is witty and amusing and entertaining, nobody cares whether she has a saleratus biscuit complexion or the skin you love to touch.

And you can learn to dress. Nine-tenths of women's beauty lies in their clothes. And if you are not beautiful, make up for it by perfecting your self in accomplishments. If you are the best dancer in your set, or you will never lack for partners. If you are a fine swimmer or play a good game of tennis or golf or bridge, you will always be a leader in your crowd.

Above all, don't dwell on your lack of beauty until you get the ugly girl complex. If you do, you will emphasize your every defect. Learn how to bear yourself with assurance. A woman can carry herself 45 per cent above her looks, or 70 per cent, or more, if she is confident. In the one case she will be a success, and in the other a failure.

Be amiable and pleasant and agreeable and sweet and good-natured and you will look good to everyone who knows you.

THE COOK'S CORNER

MINT JELLY
Mint extract
Apple juice
Sugar by measure
Green coloring

Method: Make the mint extract with 1 cup of finely chopped mint leaves and 1 cup of boiling water. Pour the boiling water over the leaves and allow stand for 1 hour, then press the juice from the leaves.

Cut apples in quarters and barely cover with water. Cook until the apples are tender and then strain the juice through a moistened jelly bag.

Now measure the apple juice and to each cup of this add 2 table-spoons of the mint juice. Bring the mixture to a boil and keep boiling for from 10 to 12 minutes, then skim it and add 3-4 cup sugar to each cup of the juice. Heat again slowly, until the sugar is completely dissolved, then boil very rapidly until the juice will test for jelly. Add a few drops of green vegetable coloring before taking from the fire. Pour into hot, sterilized jars and seal with melted paraffin. When the first coat of paraffin hardens, add a second layer. Cover jars with lids or the paper over them and store the jars in a cool, dry place.

Put in half, that's up to him. But we don't quite understand why he would take an extra coupon unless in this case, he gave you two pounds of butter.

Living & Leisure The Woman's Realm

Live pure, speak true, right wrong. Follow the king also wherefore born? —Tennyson.

When washing boys' flannel suits it is an excellent scheme to put the coat through very thin starch. Then mangle it and dry out of doors. This treatment makes the coat iron up beautifully and keep its shape. Also the suit does not have that washed out look.

To replace a worn-out ironing blanket, get half a dozen newspapers and stitch them together at the corners. They make a perfectly smooth ironing surface.

When you darn children's stockings thread your needle with a piece of good strong thread as well as the wool and then darn in the usual way. Holes mended this way do not wear through again so quickly.

To bleach handkerchiefs and towels, soak over night in a solution of half a teaspoonful of cream of tartar to each quart of water.

JACKETS SHORT

Treatment of pyorrhea is a matter for your dentist. In the early stages it may be checked by hygienic care. Have tartar deposits removed. Eat hard foods such as crisp toast, rusk, apples, celery, to give the gums and teeth plenty of exercise.

Cigarette stains on fingers may be removed with powdered pumice stone which has been moistened with peroxide and scrubbed with a brush. Scrub the fingers with a brush which has been dipped into the pumice.

OFFICE EQUIPMENT IN SEWING ROOM
If you do a great deal of sewing you will find a typewriter chair is a splendid bit of equipment for the sewing room. It revolves, thereby letting you have the sewing machine on one side of you and your work table on the other with no trouble at all to turn to either. Then it has a particularly comfortable and supportive back that will take away that kink you are prone to get.

FAMOUS DANCER GIVES RECIPE FOR ENERGY
If you have a small appetite and can't eat very much at one time, than eat more often, suggests Alicia Markova, world-famous classic ballerina of the Ballet Theatre.

Only 97 pounds, Markova's daily schedule is as strenuous as a longshoreman's, and to keep up her energy-consuming routine the dancer eats five times a day, plus a couple of strawberry milk shakes for good measure.

As a child, she was painfully thin and anemic, and at the recommendation of her doctor she took dancing lessons to build herself up. Today, though Markova looks as fragile as a china doll, she has the constitution of a powerhouse—and the enviable reputation of being one of the greatest ballerinas of all times.

So, if you are trying to gain weight and build up energy, form her habit of having a second breakfast around 11 o'clock, a mid-afternoon snack and something light an hour or so before retiring.

Here is an appetizing meat strecher dish: Mix leftover chopped or coarsely ham with gravy or a savory sauce. Pour into a shallow oiled baking dish and cover with mashed sweet potatoes, thinning a little with milk or cream. Bake 20 minutes and serve.

SMART GARMENTS FOR AUTUMN, 1943
Many dresses and suits with knitted details are being shown in New York. These details give a custom-made look to garments. They give added interest and often are comfortable and warm, as well as smart.

Clare Potter was the first designer to use hand knitted sweater-blouses trimmed with collars and cuffs of the same material as the suit with which they were worn.

Knitted sleeves and knitted backs and fronts for simple wool dresses were also "firsts" with this designer. This season's evening sweaters, decorated with paillettes, pearls, embroidered gold scrolls and gold leather leaves, look festive.

Knitted vests or waistcoats with bright rayon satin backs are shown for suits. Knitted hats are really taking on shape and form and also dignity. Knitted bags, belts and scarves are bright, new-looking accessories.

And there is still hand knitting yarn awaiting those clever needle girls who can always whip up something new with some odds and ends of yarn. Knitted pockets in the same coat, to be worn fur inside and decorative.

Needlecraft For The Home

WEAR A SMOCK And Save Your Frock

There's nothing new in that idea, but it's one that's coming into common practice with all sorts of people—office workers, bench workers, homemakers are taking to the smock. The homemaker smock wears it over her pretty frock, and slips it off when the doorbell rings. Why not try it yourself? And since good-looking smocks often cost as much as a frock, the smart thing to do is to make your own and then your fabric can be as decorative or purely utilitarian, as your needs dictate.

Style No. 3487 is designed for sizes 10 to 32. Size 36 requires 3-4 yds. 36-1/2 fabric or 3 yds. 39-in fabric. Pattern is hand-cut to United States Standard Measurements and includes chart with step by step instructions. Send twenty cents for pattern. Write your name, address and style number. Be sure to state size you wish.

High School Girls Help Put Up Cold Slaw by the Ton in Dehydration Plant

Up to her neck in cabbages in a Vernon, B.C., cannery is Gwenyth Davies, one of an army of high school students who put in their spare time to help war effort by working in dehydration plant.

Cole slaw by the ton! One of the first steps in the dehydration of cabbages for England. Cabbages go in one end of machine whole, come out in shreds, move along production line in trays.

Cabbage is shipped overseas in air-tight containers which are sealed by solder. In this plant even the assistant principal of the local high school pitched in and did his share of work.
