Financial Support to the Boy Scout
Movement is Justified on Business Grounds.

"The work of the Boy Scout Movement, being preventive, inevitably relieves pressure on all the colossal expensive institutions of a curative character, hospitals, jails, reformatories, charitable institutions of all kinds, etc. There can be no more profitable investment of money than to take a share in carrying out the development of a movement which provides a balanced system of education, physically, mentally, morally and spiritually, to supplement in the matter of character the ordinary book-learning of the schools.

"The movement commands support from all citizens who desire to see the end of race animosity, and bitter class hatred, inefficiency, selfishness, and ill-will which, collectively, are sowing the seeds of further wars.

"So far from being a military or semi-military movement, as is sometimes falsely stated, the Boy Scouts are creating an atmosphere in which war will become less and less possible. (Extract from "Aims, Methods and Needs," by Lord Baden-Powell.)

The characters for the play were selected and some special signalling was practiced. In keeping with the plans of this troop to study an animal each night, the Fox was reviewed last Monday. The rabbit was selected for next Monday and the moose was studied last week.

The inspection for the evening was won by the Wolf Patrol and they won another coveted Provincial Badge.

Friday, Jan. 9, this troop had a Treasure Hunt, the search for the treasure took the three patrols through the city and out to the Victoria Park, where it was found by the Beaver Patrol. This treasure hunt was planned by Mr. George Faller, Provincial President, and the Scouts had to use lots of reasoning power to cipher the leads given. The winning patrol were given Prov. Badges. This Badge is becoming popular BOUNDARY LINE which has been the cause of much contention between, at least a few, of the Sealestown land-owners, on the one hand, and Middleton farmers on the other, was being run last Monday, and which created considerable local interest, as some twenty or more of the interested parties gathered in the woods. Some dozen years ago a short portion only of this contentious boundary was run, but stopped short on not being in accordance with what was claimed to be the old, original boundary. This piece of line favored the Sealestown men. On Monday Surveyor McDonald, Hermanville started opening up this line, but found it differed from the old boundary, or what was claimed to be the old boundary, by about a chain, and abandoned it. After considerable council between both parties, this old boundary was adopted by the surveyor, with the full agreement of the more extreme contending parties and amicably settled.

NEED OF PROVISION FOR JUVENILE DELINQUENTS STRESSED AT SUMMERSIDE MEETING

The annual meeting of the Board of Management of the Children's Aid Society of Prince County was held on Tuesday evening in the Town Hall, the president, Dr. J. A. McPhee presiding. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted. The Secretary-treasurer's report showed a small surplus.

President's Report

The president, Dr. J. A. McPhee, in his address stated that the society was a society of service for the care and attention of neglected children. It was a world-wide movement and has made rapid strides in the last sixty years. The Prince County branch was organized on January 19, 1922, but through lack of funds did not function until 1924. Since that time the volume of work has increased. The orphanages of the Province have rendered great assistance in taking care of dependent children, although it is the aim of the Society to place the children in foster homes whenever possible. The Society keeps in touch with the children and sees that they are well cared for. Delinquent children are more difficult for the Society to handle, as the Juvenile Court functions in Summerside only. It has been very satisfactory, however, and deal with a large number of cases. Judge Inman takes a very keen interest in the children which come before him in the Juvenile Court. The children who come before the Court generally have to be placed in reform institutions as it is difficult to find foster homes for delinquent children. Very good results have been obtained and it is unfair to condemn the Juvenile Court on account of one or two incorrigible boys.

Financial Handicap

Another handicap in regard to this matter is that the Society, through lack of funds is not able to place boys in the Reformatory after they have been sentenced by the Juvenile Court. This has a bad effect upon the other boys. The Government does not provide funds for this purpose although these boys are the wards of the Government and there should be no more difficulty in getting them into the Reformatory than there would be if they were sent to jail. Only in special cases has the Society received a grant from the Government for this purpose. The former grant from the Government to pay for children sent to the Reformatory has been withdrawn.

Dr. McPhee considered that the clergy and societies for the betterment of the community should pay more attention to the plastic years of youth and the different organizations such as Boy Scouts and other organizations are highly to be commended as a preventive of crime among juveniles. It is up to the Children's Aid and the Church to use these agencies to help the boys. In closing Dr. McPhee referred to the great loss sustained in the death of their Vice-president, the late Mr. George B. McNutt, who was an untiring worker in the interests of the Society. The president extended his thanks to Judge Inman, the clergy, the Board of Management and to the press for their painstaking work in connection with the Children's Aid.

Election of Officers

The officers for the ensuing year were re-elected with the exception of one or two changes, and are as follows:

- President, Dr. J. A. McPhee.
- Vice-President, Mr. Oliver McNeill.
- Second Vice-President, Rev. J. J. McDonald.
- Secretary-Treasurer, Miss Eleanor Green.
- Hon. Solicitor, Mr. Heath Strong, K. C.

Truant Officer, Mr. V. J. Harrington.
Board of Management: Ladies, Miss Mill, Mrs. H. T. Calvin, Mrs. Sonnerman, Mrs. L. A. Moore, Mrs. Ennis Smith, Mrs. J. M. Noonan, Mrs. Morris, Mrs. L. R. Allen, Miss Katie Doyle and Miss Margaret Wedge; Gentlemen: Rev. Dr. White, Rev. W. H. Harding, Rev. Mr. Wilson, Rev. Mr. Jeans, Rev. Mr. Fraser, Hon. Adrian Arsenault, Hon. Dr. J. F. McNeill, J. J. MacNally, E. P. Foley and Joseph Perry.

Truant Officer's Report

The following is the annual report of the truant officer, Mr. Vincent J. Harrington:

To the President and officers of the C. A. S. of Prince County. I wish to submit for your consideration the activities of the various branches of the work of the society for the year 1930.

Before proceeding with the report I regret very much and I feel that voice the sentiments of all our officers and members the loss our society has sustained in the death of our First Vice President, Mr. George McNutt, whose assistance and counsel we have sorely missed since his illness this spring. The late Mr. McNutt had always looked after the welfare of delinquent and destitute children that had come to his notice through this Society. I wish to extend to the bereaved family my sincere sympathy.

It is my pleasure to report that although we have had a fairly busy year's work, we have accomplished a great amount of good. During the year just closing, our society has visited five homes out of town to investigate cases of neglected children. Two have been placed in foster homes. Six in St. Vincent's Orphanage and five in the Protestant Orphanage. Fifteen have received school books and clothing. Eight children are receiving financial and medical aid. The children helped in this manner include children from other parts of Prince County as well as in the Town of Summerside.

Good Results

In regard to the work being carried on in the Juvenile Court under His Honor, Judge Inman, very good results have been obtained. The record of cases tried before His Honor during the year are much less than the year of 1929. In 1929 the Court had twelve settings involving 31 cases for minor offences and truancy. This is not to say 31 boys were before the Court, as some of the boys were before His Honor for a second and third offence of truancy. Only a small percentage of the cases were for more serious charges. In comparison, the record up to December, 1930, shows seven settings of the Juvenile Court involving 15 cases, some of which were for second and third offences. Four boys were sent to St. Patrick's Home, Halifax, where two are still confined. One ran away and is now at his home in Summerside, and the fourth boy having served his time has returned home. The good that is being accomplished by the Society and Juvenile Court is clearly shown in the reduction in the number of cases before the Court from 31 in 1929 to 15 in 1930, a decrease in juvenile delinquency of fifty per cent. In regard to truancy, there is practically none among the children whose age places them under the Compulsory Clause of the Public School Act. Between 14 and 15 years of age, there are boys who are roaming the streets, who should be in school, but cannot be compelled to go, as they are over age.

Faulty Legislation

I have called the attention of those in authority to this fact, but they cannot do anything unless the clause were altered to include children up to 14 years of age. I find that it is usually boys between fourteen and fifteen who are charged with thefts and offenses of a more serious nature. There was only one boy under fourteen charged with theft. The greater number of cases to come up before Judge Inman in the Juvenile Court were for truancy and His Honor has been most successful in his method of dealing with these delinquents, not by punishment Society.—S.

but by wise counsel and advice. We have this year one of the wards of the Society, a boy of 16 years, at present making good as a clerk in one of the large stores of the town. The Society sent him to school last year and he is going to night school this year to obtain further education.

I wish to thank the Town and Trustees of the School Board, also the teachers of the High School, for their assistance in helping me to lower truancy among the pupils.

I also wish to thank His Honor, Judge Inman, for his very valuable help in dealing with the various cases which I have taken before him, and also to our President, Dr. J. A. McPhee, our attorney, Mr. Heath Strong, K. C., and other officers and members of the Society, who have given unstintingly of their time and advice to promote the welfare of the children placed under the care of this Society.

I wish it to be put on the records of the Society that the gentlemen comprising the Grand Jury of the Supreme Court sitting at Summerside are to be highly commended for their timely suggestions to the Court in their report that a reformatory is a very necessary institution in this Province and let us hope that the day is not far distant when such an institution will be one of the Public Institutions of the Province. During the year, 79 visits were made by me as truant officer to the High School.

Needy Children Supplied

In his monthly report for December, Mr. Harrington stated that needy children had been supplied with clothing. Four children from Carleton Sliding whose family were in very straitened circumstances had been taken to the Protestant Orphanage and clothing provided for them out of the funds of the Children's Aid Society. Truancy was well in hand, only two cases reported, where the parents refused to send the children to school. It was recommended that the School Inspector should take action under the School Act.

A letter of condolence to Mrs. Noonan on the death of her daughter, Mrs. Robert Morrison, was successful in his method of dealing with these delinquents, not by punishment Society.—S.

THIS HOUND SEES PICTURE REALISM

TRURO, Jan. 14—Dr. Casson, dentist, has a blood and fox hound in which he takes great pride. This canine has never been put on the hunt, such as they are carried on in the old country, but to show that the dog is quite capable of taking its place in the chase Dr. Casson took his hound to the Princess Theatre on Saturday, where a hunting picture was being shown.

All went well until the pack of hounds in hot chase of their quarry went dashing across the screen and then Dr. Casson's hound strained at the leash that he might join the

IN MEMORIAM

MR. EDMUND S. WALLER

The death occurred in the Prince Edward Island Hospital Tuesday morning of Mr. Edmund S. Waller, aged 61 years. Mr. Waller, who was a well known and highly respected citizen, was born in Australia, his father, the late Edmund Waller, and family, emigrating to Prince Edward Island in 1873. They came out from England to this city on the first trip of the steamer "Prince Edward" which was owned by a number of prominent business men of this province.

Mr. Waller for a number of years was employed in the furniture factory operated by Mark Wright & Company. Subsequently he took a position with the Dominion Express Company and the Canadian Express Company, retiring three years ago. Mr. Waller while in the employ of these companies was the victim of two unfortunate accidents, having first one leg broken and seven years later the other leg broken.

These accidents naturally affected his health which in recent years had not been very robust.

Mr. Waller was a man of splendid character and always performed his duties capably and courteously.

He leaves to mourn besides a sorrowing widow, seven children, Mrs. S. A. MacDonald, Charlottetown, Margaret, teacher at Malpeque, Jessie, at home; also two brothers, William N., George, Ruth, William and Frederick of Shirley, Mass., and Fred. in this city.

To the bereaved relatives the sympathy of a wide circle of friends will be extended.

The funeral was held yesterday afternoon—from his late residence, Green Street, to the People's Cemetery.

Mr. McNeill, the manager of the Princess, asked Dr. Casson to let his dog go, but the doctor said that the hound would make short work of the expensive screen if he was allowed his freedom.
