

Climax Scene of Westminster Abbey Spectacle

The climax moment of the Coronation drama in Westminster Abbey is depicted in this artist's visualization. The King is shown on the throne, facing the altar, with the Archbishop of Canterbury placing the crown on his head.

Quality Is Aim Vegetable Garden

ONLY HE CAN HAVE MOST CRISP, TENDER AND SWEET EDIBLES.

The time spent in raising a vegetable garden is easy to justify. Some gardeners spend hours with hoe and rake to help out with the family budget. Others think it's fun, and watch every green sprout that peeps out of the ground...

There is nothing, however, that compares with the zest of the gardener who grows his vegetables because he wants the real thing for his table. Crisp lettuce and radishes, tender corn, fully ripened tomatoes may be had only by the one who grows them...

Where there are children concerned, this subject of freshness is even more important, because vegetables are the chief source of vitamins in their diet. Not only will they shy away from edibles that have lost their taste from being around, but the vitamins originally present will have vanished almost a half...

SUGGESTED CHART OF BABY'S MENU

These directions are not intended to take the place of the advice of the family physician. Always consult your doctor in regard to the feeding of your child. Consult your doctor before weaning. Many doctors advise cereals for babies as early as 6 months of age.

Nine to Twelve Months. 8 a. m.—Modified milk feeding, 8 ounces. Piece of bread dried in oven.

10 a. m.—Cereal, 1 to 3 tablespoons. Part of modified milk feeding may be used to thin the cereal.

2 p. m.—Modified milk feeding, 8 ounces. Piece of bread dried in oven. One to two tablespoons of vegetable, such as spinach, chard, beet greens, carrots, put through a sieve, may be added.

6 p. m.—Modified milk feeding, 8 ounces. At 10 months and over, cereal feeding may be given at this hour; or an egg, soft boiled or cod-fried, may be introduced. If the baby is upset when egg is given for the first time the doctor should be consulted.

10 p. m.—Modified milk feeding, 8 ounces. One teaspoon of cod-liver oil should be given three times a day from September to June.

When cereal is added, the modified milk feeding may be reduced to 6 ounces, if the child does not readily take 8 ounces.

If the baby is still breast-fed at 9 months, one cereal meal may be substituted for one breast feeding at 10 a. m. Over this pour a mixture consisting of 4 ounces of milk, 2 ounces of boiled water and 1-2 teaspoons of granulated sugar.

Instructions for the preparation of the modified milk feeding can be written only for the average baby, and might not be satisfactory for your baby. The directions for feeding a bottle-fed baby should be given by a physician.

At 9 months an average baby should be getting approximately three parts of milk and one of water. The milk should be increased gradually so that the child at 1 year of age will be getting whole milk.

Twelve to Eighteen Months. 7 or 8 a. m.—Cereal, 2 or 3 tablespoons, 6 to 8 ounces of milk; bread dried in the oven. Bacon two or three times weekly.

10 a. m.—Orange juice, about 2 tablespoons. 12 noon—Vegetables selected from spinach, chard, beet greens, carrots; soft cooked egg, or scraped beef, or finely divided calves' beer or lamb liver or minced chicken. Baked potato.

Plain pudding such as bread, rice, tapioca or sago; or cooked fruit. Piece of bread dried in the oven. 6 p. m.—Cereal, 6 to 8 ounces of milk; piece of bread dried in the oven.

10 p. m.—Milk. This should be omitted after the fifteenth month and need not be given after the twelfth month unless the baby awakens for it. One teaspoon of cod-liver oil should be given three times a day from September to June.

WHERE TO WEAR TROUSERS AND WHERE NOT TO IS QUESTION. There is no doubt about it that trousers for the fair sex, pyjamas, shorts, culottes, slacks, are here to stay, but while they are becoming increasingly popular, it is well to remember that although every girl can wear all of them some of the time, no girl can wear any of them all of the time.

Pyjamas or slacks, with shirts to match, or boleros over halters, are worn during the day at bathing pool or beach, and about town for a few futile moments after the explosion the unharmed portion of the Hindenburg kept the wreckage in mid-air—then it plummeted to earth, to lie grimly silhouetted by the flames on the field of the naval air base at Lakehurst, N. J., a death trap for scores of passengers and crew in one of the most tragic air disasters in America.

Fashion Turns Clothes Inside Out on Riviera

Fashion has taken a somersault on the Riviera. According to a leading fashion designer at Monte Carlo women will wear their clothes "inside-out" during the coming season.

The seams of coats and dresses will make their wearers appear as if they had inadvertently put them on inside out.

Gloves will also be made to give this effect, and stockings will be worn with the seam outside.

Gamblers at the "tables" have for many years cherished the belief that to put on any article of clothing inside out would bring them luck. A connection between this superstition and the new mode is drawn by some of the local residents.

FIVE-POINT PLAN OF HAPPY MARRIAGE TAKES HOME LIFE FOR ITS FOUNDATION STONE

The day the world ends for romantic young couples—when the first love affair crumbles into the dust of disappointment—has an important bearing on the permanency of later marriage.

That's the belief and preaching of Dr. Frank D. Slutz, of Dayton, O., educator, home-counselor, and Wayne university lecturer.

Dr. Slutz, out of his experience and study in human relations, has compressed his findings into five points which he believes must be given consideration if marriage is to be a success.

1—Health. "This is the most important," Dr. Slutz says, "for any marriage will be wrecked if it is revealed one has married a hospital."

2—Family background. "Young couples must not demand a blue-book listing of the one they marry, but marriage rarely is a success if the family you've married into is different from any kind you've ever known or liked."

3—Reasonable likeness in personality. "There should be a reasonable sameness of impulses and ideals because if there isn't, you fuss and fuss, you may make up, but you never take the wrinkles out. And there should be some physical likeness. Many a disaster has resulted from the marriage of a massive man to a vest-pocket girl."

4—Character. "There must be a loyalty to the written-in laws of the constitution of life. In the 'post-cosmetic' day when skin-beauty has passed character will carry you through."

5—Fascination. "You've got to love each other a lot. You cannot love a cheap mate for long; your needs won't be met. If you'd avoid this kind of mating, don't be cheap yourself."

The home, Dr. Slutz believes, is the cornerstone of democracy out-reaching clubs, fraternities, colleges and other institutions. "Nothing can satisfy the need of life like home," Dr. Slutz said. "The lack of a home gives a person a peculiar twist," and if your marriage is to

Coronation Bibles

Bibles printed especially for this coronation, which were issued on April 1, differ from those of previous reigns in that there is no illustration of the sovereigns as a frontispiece. Instead there appears a picture of Westminster Abbey. The coronation prayer books, however, contain three pages of Royal portraits: the King, the Queen and the Princesses as Elizabeth and Margaret Rose.

The departure from tradition was at the special request of the King. Coronation bibles and prayer books may be distinguished by the Royal cipher embossed in gold on the cover. Permission to use this was granted by the King.

shopping, if you are at a resort. These in printed silks and other soft fabrics, or crush-resistant linen on sharkskin, have the character of a dress, distinctive from the more masculine tailored flannel slacks that are seen occasionally on the golf course. This costume, however, is distinctly "not done" at public restaurants or around hotels, either at luncheon or cocktail time.

Shorts are for the beach, tennis, or other active sports, but the "be-coming thing to do" is to add the useful button-on skirt for more conventional appearances. Culottes are worn mostly like a dress, and in women's sizes take the place of shorts or slacks. Trousers in any form are never worn publicly at night. Reserve them for informal evenings by your own fireside.

Crashing to earth in cloud of flames
