DEFENSE CONCLUDED YESTERDAY IN MANS LAUGHTER CASE

The Last Witness Gave Evidence Yesterday Afternoon. Mr. W. E. Bentley, K. C., Counsel for the Defense Delivers an Impressive Address.

At the Supreme Court yesterday several witnesses were examined, whose evidence in part follows. The defense was concluded yesterday with a stirring address by Mr. W. E. Bentley, K. C.

Mrs. Edgar Heartz (sworn), 11, part said: I am the wife of Mr. Edgar Heartz and live in the Royal of Charlottetown. I have lived in the Royal all my life. My husband has a farm there and owns a car. I am accustomed to motor cars. I have been down Pownall and around Southport driving. I was over the road shortly after the accident. I heard about it. We were coming home from Pownall. It was Sunday night. Harry Bell was driving the car. It was his car. It was a new car. He was accustomed to cars. We were coming home from church. We thought we were on the way home. We went down the wharf not very far from the planking. Then I said to the occupants of the car "This must be the place where the accident occurred. We backed up and turned. We thought we were on the right road. It made me feel very easy to make a mistake."

(Cross-examined by the Attorney General asked her where she sat and if anyone was with her.)
Joseph McDonald (sworn), 1 live in Charlottetown. My occupation is laborer. I remember last July, the day of the accident. I took my motor boat and went over. I saw Peters on the wharf. I spoke to him. He climbed over the west side of the wharf into the boat. The tide would be three feet out. We got under the wharf. We looked that we might find the body; all under the head of the wharf. We didn't find it. Peters got up on the wharf. I think he was sober. In my mind he was.

In the course of his examination Mr. McDonald said: It was a little after nine, I first saw Peters on the wharf on Southport. Peters didn't tell me he had been over before. The undertaker was there when the second body was taken up. We looked under on both sides and the wharf. There was quite a few on the wharf.

Mr. Jas. A. Geaner (sworn), 1 live in Charlottetown and have a store on Great George Street where I sell tires, gasoline and oil. I remember the drowning at Southport last July. I remember an incident connected with it. I know Peters. I don't know McCoubrey. On Saturday before the accident Peters came to my place in a car after 7. He drove up for gasoline. I went out to serve him. I didn't notice anything at all in regard to Peters' conditions (as not normal).

Cross-examined. It was 7 o'clock when I returned to the shop from supper. Peters paid for the gasoline.

Mr. Benjamin Aorn (sworn), 1 live in Charlottetown. I am in the taxi business. That was my occupation.

Slayer of Maurice Garvie is Hanged

(Canadian Press)
WINNIPEG, Jan. 25. — A ten year crime career ended on the gallows in the provincial jail today when Wilfred Bonnin, aged 28 years, bank bandit, drug addict and internationally known criminal, paid with his life for the slaying of Maurice Garvie, 22 year old bank clerk, shot to death during the hold-up of the Logan Avenue branch of the Royal Bank of Canada here on May 28, 1926.

GENEVA, Jan. 25. — Soviet Russia, adopting a similar attitude as did the disarmament conference, today notified the League of Nations that it will not participate in the international economic conference convened at Geneva for May 4th because the gathering will be on Swiss soil.

Youthful Boxer Dies From Injuries

(Canadian Press)
PITTSBURGH, Penn., Jan. 25. — Leo Masam, 17-year-old amateur boxer, died today from the effects of a blow received last night in a bout at Braddock, a suburb. In the western Pennsylvania amateur tournament he collapsed in the ring after a blow in the pit of the stomach in his bout with Joe Iovino.

was there, it was not finished when I left.
Cross-examined: A man might have a drink and I wouldn't know. As far as I will go is that there was nobody so drunk as to raise a disturbance. I didn't see Peters dance. I just have a general recollection that when I saw him at the coroner's inquest I saw him at the dance.

(On account of lack of space the remainder of yesterday's evidence could not be published in today's issue, but will appear tomorrow.)
When the last witness had finished Mr. W. E. Bentley, K. C., addressed the jury in an impressive speech a resume of which is given in substance as follows:
"I know you are glad to be near the end of a case to which you listened to with very great attention. The two prisoners, Dennis Peters, and Louis McCoubrey are charged with unlawfully killing George Roberts and Albert Young and if they are guilty of the crime of manslaughter."

There Mr. Bentley gave a resume of the evidence as was brought before the Court.
In the natural course of events, said Mr. Bentley, they would get in town probably at 12 o'clock or so. It is not an unusually late hour for Saturday night. There are such things as pleasures of youth, dances, races, etc. which all enjoyed in youthful days. They went to enjoy a horse race. They had a pleasant time. They were told there was a dance in the evening. During supper they thought it would be pleasant to go back to the dance. That was quite proper. If we didn't encourage such pastimes in the districts where our young people go, no words of criticism could be passed about them going to the dance. It would be a nice little evening run. On the way back instead of taking the right road they made a mistake and went over the wharf. Two men died. There were all sorts of rumors concerning the next one of which was told. They have been all set at rest. A coroner's jury sat on the case and a searching enquiry was made and they reported that they had died by drowning. These rumors are always liable to happen. Shortly after the bodies were dug up. Three medical men of the highest repute made a thorough examination. They made a final report and declared there was no evidence of foul play of any kind, and the assumption of real poverty by his errand son, Prince Carol are possibilities looked for in the next few weeks by Rumanian circles in Paris.

Body Found
The body of Selina Stanley, 4th victim of the sea lion drowning accident of Monday evening was discovered yesterday afternoon shortly after two o'clock.
The body was found a few feet from where she went in. A number of Labor Union men had been working all day with grappling hooks and two boats when about the middle of the afternoon their efforts were rewarded. The body was raised by a sweep which the men were using to locate it. It was placed on the wharf and examination showed no disfigurement from the immersion. The coroner was notified but an inquest was found unnecessary.
The funeral takes place from her father's residence Thursday morning at 8.45.

WAR OFFICE ANNOUNCES COMPOSITION OF THE SHANGHAI DEFENCE FORCE

Major-General Duncan Will Have About 16,000 Men Under His Command — Among the Infantry is a Battalion of the Coldstream Guards, Ordered Abroad Only on Rare Occasions.

(Canadian Press)
LONDON, Jan. 25. — About twelve thousand men supported by artillery, armoured cars and equipment and under the command of the seasoned warrior, Major-General John Duncan, will soon be on the way to China. They are being sent to join the British concession in Shanghai if the Chinese attitude becomes belligerent there.
The War Office announced the composition of the Shanghai Defence Force last night thus dispelling any doubt that might have existed over the precautions being taken to deal with anti-British outbreaks.

General Duncan whose experience covers the campaign in Gallipoli and eastern Europe in the Great War will have in his defence forces the Thirteenth and Fourteenth British Infantry brigades and the Twentieth Indian Infantry Brigade.
Among the infantry units is a battalion of the Coldstream Guards regiment which is ordered abroad only on rare occasions.
These troops added to those already on the scene will bring the number prepared to defend British interests up to about 16,000.
While parliamentary sanction for these measures is not needed, as they are not in the nature of a general mobilization, the govern-

TIE-UP OF COAL INDUSTRY IS FEARED

Present Wage Contract Expires March 31st—Miners Not in Favor of Wage Cut.

(Canadian Press)
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 25. — With the spectre of another strike in the bituminous coal industry hovering near, delegates to the biennial convention of the United Mine Workers of America gathered today to discuss problems affecting 500,000 members of the union.
Chief among these was the renewal of wage contracts for the 350,000 bituminous miners in the organization. The present contract expires March 31. Unless committees of miners and operators from the central competitive field—Indiana, Ohio and Western Pennsylvania—effect an agreement on wages at Miami, Fla., next month a tie-up of the industry may take place.

The central competitive field contract ordinarily is a model for other soft coal fields.
The convention will determine the sentiment of miners on wages and will choose a committee to send to Miami.
Preconvention gossip indicated the miners are not in favor of a wage cut while individual mine operators generally declared they could not compete with non-union mines at the present scale.

WEIRD PACT AGREED UPON BY STUDENTS

"To Learn What is Behind the Grave," Medical Student Shot and Killed Himself.

(Canadian Press)
MADISON Wis., Jan. 25. — Casella W. Noe, 20, medical student at the University of Wisconsin, shot and killed himself Sunday to learn what is behind the grave.
A weird pact which had for its purpose inter-communication between the living and the dead, had been agreed upon by a group of students of whom Noe was one. County officials say after reading notes left by the boy for his mother and for a fellow student, Robert Torlon.
In the note to his father and mother, Noe asked them to tell "Gwen" to watch for a Wisconsin "Toll him" the notes said, that I'll talk to him Monday and again Friday.
