Retiring Banker Honored

Chatham, N.B., Sept. 20 - Loss of $3,000 occurred last night when fire of unknown origin destroyed buildings, machinery and other equipment on Mrs. A. Milton Galloway's farm at Napan, near Chatham. The loss included a barn containing pigsty, a head of cattle, a horse and 80 tons of hay.

Point could be argued later and permitted the questioning of Dr. Brown, who said he had been familiar with the New Brunswick area when he was a member of the Geological Board of Canada in 1908 and 1907.

The Commission will adjourn this hearing Friday afternoon until next Wednesday morning, because of a Panhandle rate structure hearing scheduled to open Monday.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 - (CP) - Supporting an application to permit natural gas to be piped from the United States into Canada, Dr. C. S. Evans, geologist for the Union Gas Company of Chatham, Ont., testified today that the only other source of natural gas available to his company was in Alberta, 1780 miles distant.

Dr. Evans gave his testimony as a witness for the Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Co. of Chicago and Texas, which is applying to the Federal Power Commission for approval of a 20-year contract to export to Union Gas Company at the rate of $5,000,000 cubic feet a year.

Dr. Evans, after testifying that his company was facing rapidly dwindling gas resources in its Western Ontario areas, said the only other possible sources of additional supply were Alberta.

He said there was "a little gas" in New Brunswick in the area between Moncton and Saint John but not enough to supply the customers of the distributing agency serving Moncton.

E. E. McGee, commission counsel, protested that Dr. Evans was not qualified to testify regarding the availability of gas in New Brunswick areas, in any event to prove anything but was merely seeking to satisfy the commission.

Don H. Colton, Panhandle counsel, reported that the applicant was not qualified to testify regarding the availability of gas in New Brunswick areas, in any event to prove anything but was merely seeking to satisfy the commission.

Death of Mrs. William Gillis At Summerside

The death occurred in the Prince County Hospital yesterday morning of Mrs. William Gillis of Summerside in her 82nd year. Six weeks ago she had the misfortune to fall in her home on Cedar Street and broke her hip and has since been confined to the hospital.

Mrs. Gillis was a fine example of good Christian living and an account of feeble health was not able to take an active part in outdoor activities. She was married at the home and had her share of the work there. She was formerly Miss Christina Hickey of Indian River, the surviving member of the family of the late John T. Hickey of that place. Her husband, Wm. Gillis, predeceased her some years ago.

There are left to mourn two sons, Edward and William, and one daughter, Mrs. E. J. Brown. The funeral will take place on Saturday morning at 9 o'clock from her late residence to St. Paul's Church and Cemetery.—3

Ask Ceiling And Floor On All Poultry Products

The Maritime Poultry Council, in session yesterday at The Charlottetown under the chairmanship of Walter R. Pearce, Sheffield Mills, N.S., passed several important resolutions bearing on the poultry industry.

The placing of a ceiling and a floor on poultry products; the advocacy before the Maritime Transportation Commission of lower land and ocean freight rates; a planned program for poultry evisceration; the encouragement of economic units of poultry (advocating units of 20 for home use and larger units when raised for commercial purposes); and the best methods of capitalizing on the present great demand for poultry products were some of the suggestions embodied in resolutions passed.

It was decided that the Council should send an exhibit to the Maritime Winery Fair which is expected to be held in Amherst in 1946.

Another resolution, unanimously agreed to, called for the joint advertising by Canada and Britain of the nutritional value of poultry products.

The Council also recommended that Canadian restaurants be established in England. Such an enterprise, the Council believed, would do much to popularize Canadian poultry and eggs in the Mother Country.

Today the Council will hold a convention in Prince of Wales College auditorium where noted poultry experts from across Canada will address the gathering. The meetings will be open to the public.

Schoolteacher Tells Of Horrors Of Belsen Camp

LUNENBERG, Germany, Sept. 20 - (CP) - A well-dressed British woman who has witnessed the horrors of the Belsen concentration camp told her grim story today to the British Military Court.

The witness was Harold Osmond Le Drullence, schoolmaster of Jersey, arrested after the Nazis occupied the Channel Islands and confined in three other Nazi concentration camps before his delivery to Belsen April 9, 1945.

He told, too, of seeing S.S. (Elite Guard) men whip women prisoners who were being used to try to cook, and of hut leaders distributing watery soup only to those who would pay three cigarettes.

"The first four days," the schoolmaster testified, "I had only one pint of soup and one mug of water."

On the fifth day, he was put to work dragging the dead to the burial pits. The work started each day at sunrise and lasted until 8 p.m., he said, adding:

"In the five days I spent on the burial pit, no food or drop of water passed my lips. It was engaged in the burial work that he witnessed the cannibalism."

"The most disgusting of these was the dragging of these dead to the pits," the witness said. "I noticed strange wounds back of the thigh in many of them—they looked like gunshot wounds at close quarters, but a friend of mine said many prisoners were cutting their own bodies to eat."

"On the next visit to the mortuary, I actually saw prisoners in the huts of the camp who had the leg of a corpse and put it in their mouth."

Among the latest suspected war criminals whom the key was turned was Lily Abegg, naturalized German and only woman on the list of the first wave of October, 1945. The key was turned by the Japanese and announced by the British.

Earlier the apprehension of three men accused of brutalities—Col. Akira Nagahama, who commanded the 1st Japanese General in the Philippines; Shigeru Osanami, a civilian prison camp official, and Sgt. Seichi Miura, a camp guard.

Each received transfusions of about a pint of blood. The first hospital while doctors observed him wanted to see the man with a view of whole blood.

"How long has been to determine how long 'O' donor blood could be used in the universal now we could adapt other types (A, B and AB) to this group and to establish the necessary safeguards," said Maj. J. J. Tisdall. "Our studies should make the use of universal 'O' even safer than it is."

He said the convicts' response to his plea for help was "Just short of marvelous."

"I would explain what we were attempting to do," he related. "And most of the prisoners would say, 'Maj., I don't know what you're talking about. I'll do whatever you want me to do.'"

On the Japanese economic control of Japan's economic destiny today, determined to see that the fallen country feeds itself and develops an appetite for democracy.

The announced immediate objectives of Gen. MacArthur's economic control are to check inflation and oversee a fair food distribution to head off hunger riots and revolt against United States rule in the South winter ahead.

In another phase of economic control, the Japanese Finance Ministry is to check all sets of Axis nations in Japan. Domestically, the Ministry will check all sets of Axis nations in Japan.

son and the late Mrs. Nicholson. They have three boys, ages 12, 11, and six.

Mrs. Nicholson is at present in Holland but is expected home shortly.

The citation accompanying his award of the M.C. reads: "On April 25, 1919, Regina Rifle Regiment, was engaged in executing a daring plan to capture an enemy strong-point containing several active artillery guns north of Oude-dijk, Holland. At 1.00 a.m., 'A' Company, commanded by Lieut. Nicholson, moved forward until the leading platoon came under very heavy machine gun and rifle fire. The platoon commander was a casualty, the platoon became disorganized and the advance was halted. Without thought of his own safety, Lieut. Nicholson went forward as quickly as possible, contacted the leading section and under point-blank fire reorganized the entire platoon into a fire group. He personally silenced much of the enemy fire with grenades and then led the remainder of his company into the assault."

"Inspired by this officer's actions the company went forward quickly and overran the enemy strong-point, killed many, capturing 150 prisoners and four 105 mm. guns."

Through Capt. Nicholson's encouragement, the company was reorganized and the advance was halted. Without thought of his own safety, Lieut. Nicholson went forward as quickly as possible, contacted the leading section and under point-blank fire reorganized the entire platoon into a fire group. He personally silenced much of the enemy fire with grenades and then led the remainder of his company into the assault."

Lieut. Harper's Citation

Lieut. Harper, M.C., 26, Royal Canadian Armoured Corps, was born April 20, 1919 in Charlottetown, P.E.I. A clerk and truck driver when he enlisted March 27, 1941, he proceeded overseas to serve with the 5th Armoured Regiment and was commissioned Feb. 26, 1944. His wife, Mrs. Irene Harper, and their son, Ivan Dewar, reside at 204 Cumberland St., Charlottetown, P.E.I.

His citation reads as follows: "Lieut. Harper commanded a Troop of 'A' Squadron, 5 Canadian Armoured Regiment, during the advance from Westphalen to Futen. Just north of Vortuluzen on April 17, 1945, the squadron came under extremely heavy anti-tank and machine-gun fire. Lieut. Harper directed several casualties to tanks and personnel. The fire was coming chiefly from the woods on the right flank of the regimental center line which was covered by Lieut. Harper's troop. The advance was temporarily held up. Displaying great initiative, Lieut. Harper immediately took his troop into the woods to locate the guns. Shortly after he entered the woods the enemy guns opened fire giving away their position. Disregarding the heavy fire, this gallant officer personally led charges, over-running the position, destroying three of the guns and capturing fifty-three prisoners. The destruction of the enemy guns was done at point blank range and it was due to the surprise achieved by the boldness of this troop leader in leading his troop beyond the position to the woods that caused the enemy to abandon their guns and surrender. The complete destruction of the gun and the regiment after a very short delay was entirely due to the audacity, courage and leadership of this outstanding officer."

"On the night of the same day Lieut. Harper again led his troop into action just south of Futen and encountered extremely heavy anti-tank and panzer fire. He engaged the enemy and destroyed or captured two anti-tank guns and a machine-gun. His action continued and eventually three of his tanks were knocked out and Lieut. Harper was himself badly wounded. He lay in ditch for the balance of the night and returned to his squadron in the morning bringing with him a wounded soldier who had also been hit in the same action."

"This officer, in a large part, was responsible for clearing the position on the regimental center line and by his dash and initiative permitting the advance to continue at a rapid pace."
