TOPIC OF THE DAY

"BLACK CAT" is a topic on everybody's lips to-day. The topic is never allowed to die out, but is being kindled hourly at new points. As soon as conversation had turned from the "Dogs of War" ordered from England to start the cannon of the Canadian Navy, along comes a cablegram announcing the arrival from England of enough "BLACK CATS" to keep the Canadian naval officers smoking. When the "Dogs of War" and "BLACK CATS" get in action there will be "smoke in Canada." Prominent Canadians are now praising the made-in-England navy and at the same time "puffing up" "BLACK CAT" Cigarettes, the tobacco of which is also manufactured in England.

The explanation of the instantaneous success of BLACK CAT Cigarettes in Canada is that Canadians are appreciating the opportunity of smoking a cigarette, made from "bow to stern" of tobacco and no sweetening matter.

HEAD HUNTING IN THE CONGO.

Men dashing along the highways in their automobiles and other rubber-tired conveyances little conceive how much sweat and blood are mixed up with the rubber that is used in the various industries in these modern times. The story of the rubber industry of the Congo has been the sensation and scandal of modern times. The poor natives that originally owned the forest are having a terrible time in making the trees keep up with the demands of our age and the cruel greed of the human heart. Such large quantities of juice are required from each workman, so many hours of labor are demanded, so little pay is allowed, such harsh treatment is received, that life has become a disappointment and misery to a majority of the native workmen and families of the Congo; and added to the perils we have mentioned there is that of the head-hunters who creep upon the workmen unawares, cut off their heads and bodies. In the Congo one of the most industrious peoples are the Batetela. In gathering rubber they go into the forests inhabited by the Baukutu head-hunting cannibals. While the men are in the forest, the camp is guarded by a man who surveys the surroundings from a scaffold, and by a drummer. When the Baukutu are seen to approach, the drummer beats the alarm and all the men return to the camp to fight. The weapons used are the spear, shield, bow and arrow. This sentinel earns in the neighborhood of $100 of our money a year, which enables him to buy a wife.—The Christian Herald.

Read This Carefully

The eye is the most delicate complex organ of the body yet no part of the physical system suffers greater neglect, one reason is that its charactor has been imperfectly understood until recently even by scientists. Ages of ignorance have developed a large brood of popular superstitions, morbid whims and prejudices; these deter people from having their eyes carefully tested and fitted but prejudices and ignorance are yielding to the progress of science for the sake of the travelling public. An engineer is no longer qualified to take control of a locomotive till his eyes have been examined and pronounced free from color blindness. For their own comfort as well as the preservation of their sight all adults should secure repeated tests of vision as age advances to prevent serious injury and possible ruin of their sight. All children's eyes should be examined especially at the time of entering school We expect to see the time when this will become as compulsory as vaccinating school children and with great reason.

HOUSEHOLD NOTES.

Nickle should be cleaned with whiting and amonia.

Table napkins and table cloths should never be starched.

To keep flies away, plant a hop vine around the house.

Bristle brushes, if merely dusty, can be cleaned in corn meal.

A small broom made of stiff wire is convenient in cleaning skillets.

A weak alum bath is good for tender feet which suffer in summer time.

Keep a bag of sulphur in the bird cage to drive away lice in not weather.

Salt sprinkled on a carpet before sweeping reduces the amount of dust that rises.

Cut glass looks clearer when washed in tepid water and then brushed with a dry bristle brush.

To clean Japanese trays, rub a little olive oil on and then polish off with a flannel.

When next cooking asparagus, add a little rice. The dish will be found most satisfactory.

To polish stoves, use boiled linseed oil on the steel parts. Rub well with a woolen cloth.

Ice cream becomes butter if it is not allowed to chill before the can is turned in the ice.

When mosquitoes get into the house, heat a shovel, pour a teaspoonful of carbolic acid on it, and burn.

A piece of beeswax tied up in a rag to rub quickly over the bottom of a hot flatiron, will keep it smooth.

A bosom board for fine shirts should be very smooth and but thinly covered; some advise a marble slab.

Do not put milk in the cut glass tumblers. Milk clouds glass so that its original brilliancy cannot be restored.

Some persons keep their veils in condition by dipping them in alcohol several times and hanging them up indoors to dry.

Apply glycerine to a scald directly the accident occurs, and cover it up with strips of rag soaked in glycerine.

FINDS HIS FATHER BY A FILM PICTURE.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 9—Working on the clew of a scene in a moving picture show, William Larsen, of Minneapolis, found his father, Captain "Sam" Larsen, of the schooner Bring-gold, and father and son were reunited, after a separation of twenty-one years, during which time neither had seen the other nor did they know of each others whereabouts.

Larsen left Minneapolis twenty-one years ago, when his son was ten years old. Nothing was ever heard of him by his family, and he was finally given up as dead.

Same years ago young Larsen visited a moving picture show in Minneapolis with his Uncle Olaf, brother of the supposedly dead man, "Sam" Larsen. One of the films depicted a fishing scene at Petersburg, Alaska.

"All of a sudden, while we were looking at the picture," says the son in telling of the discovery, "Uncle Olaf jumped up and shouted, 'Sam, 'Sam, 'Sam.' Every one thought he was crazy and hustled us out. When we got to the light I saw Uncle Olaf was all white and shaking He said he had seen my father's spook. I told him it was nonsense; that these photographs were the same as any others taken in a gallery.

"Then we went back in the show and saw the picture again. Uncle Olaf pointed out a man standing in the stern of a fishing schooner laughing. He thought it was my dead father. We asked the man who operated the films when the picture was taken. He said he was sure it was within a year.

"The next night we brought Aunt Mary, Uncle Olaf's wife, who knew father very well, as she was once his sweetheart, too. She said it was her brother-in-law, Sam, for sure. I wrote the firm in New York and learned that the pictures had been taken in September, 1909, at Petersburg, Alaska. So I came west to Seattle and went to Pittsburg last month. There I found plenty of men who knew my father as Sam Larsen, but I discovered that he was at that time in Seattle, I came back to Seattle and it didn't take long for me to find out that every-one on the water front knew Sam Larsen. Later I found him.

"I didn't believe it was Will at first," said Captain Larsen, who sat on the fisherman's sofa at the end of the Clopeck fish dock. "I had always thought of him as a little shaver. Now I know it's he and I'm mighty glad he found me. I will take him out to the halibut banks with me and teach him how to fish and run a boat.

"I remember very well when that picture was taken last fall in Alaska."

Advertising Sense and Science

An inch of good advertising is worth more than a foot of bad. After all its not the amount of space and superlatives you use that count.

If you are a man who desires to build a lasting, successful business, watch your advertising. Any fool can show some returns by tearing down the future reputation of a business, but it's the advertising that creates confidence and will make permanent customers that count.
