HERE'S LITTLE BOY BLUE

"How do you do?" says Little Boy Blue. "I'm very glad to meet you." And we are pretty sure that you are glad to meet Little Boy Blue, too. He has come to play with you and Little Bo-Peep who is a very special friend of his. Little Boy Blue has brown eyes and hair. Color his suit blue of course. That is the reason that every one calls him "Little Boy Blue"—because he almost always wears blue. We hope you didn't think it was because his disposition is bright golden in color and just as sunny as one's could possibly be. Make Boy Blue's shoes and stockings and little bow tie tan. Mount him on a piece of heavy paper—a magazine cover will do—cut him out and save him till tomorrow when the story will begin, with a pretty suit for him to wear.

Operators Say
Hard Coal Was
Sold At Loss

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 31.—The anthracite operators' conference disclosed today that 18,000,000 tons of hard coal, 20 per cent of the entire annual production, had been sold at a loss of 50 to 55 cents a ton since the price drop in April. Operators quoted the figures to substantiate a claim being made to the miners that they cannot afford to grant a 10 per cent wage increase this year. When Governor of Pennsylvania, Pinchot, negotiated settlement of the 1923 controversy, he increased the price of coal ninety cents to a dollar a ton, operators said. Up to the end of 1924, it was said today, operators had been able to get this advance out of the coal, in other words, by advancing the price to the public. Now, however, the public has turned, they said. The 90 cents to $1.00 is coming out of the operators' own pockets, because, they said, the public is not paying higher prices, and to a certain degree is not even taking some of the coal.

The operators indicated in a reply to miners today that it spent only about $15,000 on the newspaper advertising to advise the public that any suspension in the hard coal fields after September 1 would be "indefinite." The conference said that the expense would only amount to three-tenths of one mill in the price of coal per ton. The reply was made in answer to protest filed yesterday by Philip Murray, miners' international vice-president, who called the advertising drive "a waste of consumers' money."

THE RIGHT KING OF FOOD FOR CHILDREN.

Much dyspepsia and stomach trouble are due to the king of food that was given to us as children. You can see, then, how important it is that we select dishes for young children with care. Most vegetable agree with children if properly cooked; the same is true of most cereal dishes. Usually the children's favorite part of the meal is the dessert, and since this part of the meal gives them so much pleasure they should not be deprived of it. Only the simple desserts should be served to them such as custards, bread and rice puddings, gelatin desserts, fruit whips and baked apples. Never give them rich puddings or rich cakes. Vary the method of preparing these wholesome foods adapted to the young child, as milk, eggs, cereals and vegetables. Children often eat foods that are prepared in an unusual or unexpected way when they refuse the selfsame food served in the accustomed manner. When baking apples for instance, fill the cavities with bits of figs, raisins, stoned dates, sliced bananas, currant or other jellies or preserves, or even cooked cereals for variety; or place a marsh-mallow on top and let it run down over the apple. There is a great variety of ways in which toast may be served to prove attractive to children. Rice and other cereal puddings may be molded in different shapes. If children are fond of raisins often a few of these added to an otherwise plain pudding or dish will make it desirable.—From The Designer Magazine for July.

NOT THAT, SURELY

"Rumor has it that you are going to marry Jack." "I shouldn't dream of marrying him. He can't drive a car, can't dance and can't play tennis." "But he swims well, you know." "Yes, but would you want a husband you had to keep in an aquarium?"
