

CAPT. GRAHAM'S GRATITUDE

Suffered from Sores on Face and Back—Doctors Took His Money But Did No Good—Skin Now Looks Clear as a Baby's.

ANOTHER CURE BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

Captain W. S. Graham, 1221 Eoff St., Wheeling, W. Va., says: "I am so grateful I thank God that a friend recommended Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I suffered for a long time with sores on my face and back. Some doctors said I had blood poison, and others that I had barbers' itch. None of them did me any good, but they all took my money. My friends tell me my skin now looks as clear as a baby's, and I tell them all that Cuticura Soap and Ointment did it."

STILL ANOTHER CURE

Neck Covered With Sores, Hair Fell Out, Wild With Itching

Mr. H. J. Spalding of 104 W. 104th St., New York City, says: "For two years my neck was covered with sores, the disease spreading to my hair, which fell out, leaving an unsightly bald spot, and the soreness, inflammation, and mercurial itching made me wild. After a few applications of Cuticura the torment subsided, the sores disappeared, and my hair grew thick and healthy as ever."

AND STILL ANOTHER

"For over thirty years I suffered from painful ulcers and an eruption from my knees to my feet, and could find neither doctors nor medicines to help me, until I took Cuticura which cured me in six months. (signed) M. C. Moss, Gainesville, Tex."

"Nothing further could be learned. Many visitors came to the mines, and went down them as a matter of curiosity. They excited no particular interest, excepting for the amount of gratuity left for the poor miners. These two gentlemen had been very generous, and the palatres they donated had become the measure by which all future gifts had been counted; and this circumstance had preserved a clearer memory of their personal appearance. Inquiries among the miners who had seen them left no kind of doubt in the mind of Francesca as to one of the visitors being Lancelot. "A beautiful young man, with a sad face who walked like an emperor."

"How could it be any one else? Vague as the description was, it satisfied Francesca; and she was sure she was now treading the very places where Lancelot's feet had been. She wished to go down the mine as far as Lancelot had gone, and to see the palatres they had donated. "The ladies ever gone so far?" Dick was obliged to confess that "a party of American ladies had gone even two galleries deeper." "Very well, then, Dick, I am certain to go as far as Lancelot went," said Francesca. "When we do meet, Lancelot will understand the feeling which led me to follow him. At the point he turned, my mind may catch the thought of his mind; and my soul may feel after his soul, and I may divine whether he went north or south or east or west."

Never had Francesca been so set upon any movement as upon this descent into the San Lepato. And in a few hours her enthusiasm had stimulated Loida, so that these two timid Englishwomen, who a year ago had been in the dark afraid of a walk about their own house and garden, were now eager to explore the galleries of a mine hundreds of feet below the ground. There were some points in the descent favorable for them. The mine was a dry one, and when Dick had been its superintendent, he had substituted railed ladders for the uncut piece of notched wood which had been the only road down to the depths, and up to the daylight. And the strength of their race was in the two women. They had determined to see the mine, and they demanded of their souls to be strong enough for the task they had undertaken. Dick found them dressed for the visit, pale but resolute, cheerful and quite calm. The mine was entered by a horizontal gallery. After walking three hundred yards along if they came to the first perpendicular shaft, and as they succeeded shaft, in a slantwise position the lights that shone from the bottom of the mine could be partially seen at the top of the first shaft; besides which the ascending miners, each with a candle in his helmet, made a singular moving glow that faintly indicated the loaded gnomes passing up and down. Dick went first, Loida followed. There, Dick retraced for Francesca. No word was spoken. They stood still together on the first gallery. Gigantic shadows trembled over the walls. Great vaults stretched away into the darkness. Rough, glittering pillars sustained them, and the noise of footsteps reverberated in the amber caves. From time to time lights struggled through the deep gloom, the head-lights of the miners, whose long, floating hair and bronzed, nearly naked bodies looked gigantic, ominous, supernatural. At the bottom of the second shaft a singular light arrested their eyes, and in a moment they felt the thrill of emotions that touch another world. In a square of glittering rocks the miners had constructed a rude chapel; an altar, lighted by several wax tapers, was in the centre, and a large cross of pure silver, bearing the image of The Crucified, was upon a kneeling on the very stone, and as the altar was an old man, whose long, white hair flowed down upon his naked breast and shoulders. He was lost in adoration. He perceived not the presence of strangers. Suddenly he stood upright and began to chant: "Santo Dios, santo puerto, santo inortal. Libro nos, senor, detodo mal."

And instantly his companions in the rocky caverns joined in the solemn melody until it echoed and reverberated through the whole mine, so that even the lowest labor was vocal with prayer and praise. "Out of the depths they call unto Him!" said Loida softly. Francesca's hands were dropped and clasped, her head bent, her eyes closed. She was experiencing one of those divine intimacies which are the blessed earnest of our immortal destiny. Dick was less moved; the scene was familiar to him, but its familiarity had never induced indifference. He said, with considerable feeling: "It is in the Agios o Theos agios (sacros) of the Greek Church. Is it not enough? Higher than all creeds, far above all superstitions?" "After a short pause Francesca said, "Let us go back," and they went very quietly back to the visible earth and sunshine. The next day they began to retrace their steps to the City of Mexico. A great dependency had fallen upon Francesca. Loida perceived that hope in her heart was dying. The gayeties of the metropolis gave her no pleasure, and she ceased to make inquiries of Dick as she used to do. Either she did not believe in his exertions, or she had accepted the idea of a final separation from her lover. Dick felt her attitude to be a little provoking. He knew that he had afflicted in the same way may be benefited as she was. She writes: "Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I heartily recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a uterus tonic and regulator. I suffered for four years with displacement of the uterus and no one but those who have experienced this dreadful agony can form any idea of the physical and mental suffering those endure who are thus afflicted. Your Vegetable Compound cured me. Within three months I was fully restored to health and strength and now my periods are regular and painless. What a blessing it is to obtain such relief when many doctors fail to help you. Your medicine is better than any doctor or medicine ever had."

No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Women who are troubled with painful or irregular menstruation, backache, bloating (or flatulence), leucorrhoea, falling, inflammation or ulceration of the uterus, ovarian troubles, faintness, indigestion, nervous prostration or the blues, should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences, and be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her experience is very great, and she gives the benefit of it to all who stand in need of wise counsel. Address, Lynn, Mass.

A woman's anxieties multiply tenfold about the time her baby is expected. If her strength is exhausted and her blood weak, it goes hard in the hour of trial. Ferrozone should be used because it makes the blood nutritious and rich. By instilling new strength into every part of the body, it uplifts your spirits at once. Just as it is certainly made easier by Ferrozone. The following statement expresses the earnest gratitude of Mrs. M. E. Duckworth, of Durham. It is a woman's story of her own case—told that other women may profit by her experience.

"Before baby was born I was in a miserable, weak, nervous state. I had no reserve strength. I tried to build up, but nothing helped me. I looked upon the coming day with dread, knowing I was unequal to the occasion. "Ferrozone bred me up at once. It gave me strength and spirits, brought back my nerve and cheerfulness. From my experience with Ferrozone I recommend it to all expectant mothers. There is more concentrated nourishment in Ferrozone than you can get from anything else. It supplies what weak systems need. A Grand Result in Charlottetown, P. E. Island.

Mr. A. N. FRASER, Provincial Manager, The Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York, Charlottetown, P. E. I. May 20, 1905.

Dear Sir:—I acknowledge with thanks the receipt of your Company's cheque for $7030.30 on Bank of Montreal, also Annuity Policy No. 11725 which provides—That on May 1, 1905 and each year for life, I will receive three hundred dollars ($300), in settlement of my Matured $5000. 15-year endowment, 15-year Distribution Policy No. 401,652 with Deferred Annuity, in THE MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE CO. OF NEW YORK. This I consider a splendid result, as to buy an Annuity of $300 at my age would cost $3,408, so that drawing $7030.30 and getting an Annuity of $300, I am getting practically a cash value of $10,430.30. I also carry another policy in your company, in which I have all confidence. Yours very truly, (Signed) SIMON W. CRABBE.
