ANNUAL MEETING CORNWALL Y. P. U.

The annual meeting of the Cornwall Y.P.U. was held in the vestry on Friday evening. A splendid report of the year's work was given by the president, Margaret Lowther. Officers for the coming year are:

Honorary President: Gordon MacMillan.
President: Roland Hyde.
Vice-President: Stanley Godfrey.
Secretary: Betty King.
Assistant: Evelyn Godfrey.
Treasurer: Parker Jewell.
Bible questions were given by Rev. M. K. Charman and meeting closed.

The following is the president's report of the year's work.

Retiring President's Address

It is customary, I believe, for the retiring president of a society such as ours to present at the annual meeting a report on the year's activities.

The annual meeting for 1947 was held on January 17 at which the following officers were elected: Hon. pres. Mr. Gordon MacMillan; president, Mrs. Earl Lowther; vice-pres. Roland Hyde; secretary, Lennis MacFadyen; treasurer, Parker Jewell; sick committee, Evelyn Godfrey, Audrey MacPhail, Margaret Boyle.

Due to the resignation in the fall of our genial secretary Lennis MacFadyen, Miss Betty King was appointed to take his place for the remainder of the year.

In early February a committee was appointed to prepare a spring entertainment which led to a presentation in May of a variety concert. This concert was also presented at Bonshaw, Brookfield, Afton, and also parts of it at York as an entry in the Provincial Drama Festival.

During the summer we continued our meetings whenever possible, having several clam-bakes as well as our annual picnic. In the fall we entertained the North River and Kingston Y.P. groups at a Halloween party. At Christmas a party was held in the hall, the presents given out being later forwarded to the Orphanage. Two evening entertainments were provided by the National Film Board.

One debate was held during the year, subject: "Resolved that the moderate drinker creates our greatest problem", at which the pro side was judged the winner.

Several Sunday evening services were presented at Cornwall, one in aid of the Sunday School. One of these services was also presented at New Dominion and Kingston.

Contributions were made to various causes among them, the Canadian Aid to China Fund, the Butler family, the Travel Pool, the World's Youth Council, the M. & M. Fund, and the Soldiers' Memorial Fund.

In closing, I would like to thank the members for their co-operation during the year, for their willingness to do their part, large or small, when called upon, and to the people of the community for entertaining us in their homes.

Particularly, I would like to thank Mr. and Mrs. MacMillan, and I think I can speak for us all, for their leadership throughout the year, for their untiring efforts to make our Union a "going concern" and for the generous use of their home and possessions. To Mr. MacMillan for the preparation of the Bible questions and to Mrs. MacMillan and her orchestra for most enjoyable entertainment.

Also, during the year, we welcomed our new minister, Rev. M. K. Charman, who since his arrival has entered wholeheartedly into all our activities. To him also, I offer the thanks of the group for his very efficient guidance.

I also solicit for our successors your continued goodwill.

Margaret Lowther,
Past President.

Islanders I Have Met

By 'Islander Abroad'

WINNIPEG, Man. (Special) — At the Regal Court, Maryland St. I met Mrs. Alexander MacNeill, the former Jennie Currie, daughter of the late Neil and Isabel (Burdett) Currie of Rocky Point. Mr. and Mrs. MacNeill, previous to their coming west thirty-five years ago, were lighthouse keepers at the Block House for about twelve years.

Mr. MacNeill, after coming west, was employed with the C. P. R. until retirement. He passed away about four years ago.

Mrs. MacNeill has three sisters, Mrs. Hector MacDonald, Providence, R. I.; Mrs. William Mutch Rocky Point, P. E. I.; Mrs. George Sanders, Dorchester, Mass.; and two brothers, S. T. Currie, Rocky Point, P. E. I., and Elliott Currie, Providence, R. I.

There are three children in the family, all living in Winnipeg. David MacNeill who is employed with the Consolidated Motors, Sadio MacNeill of the C. N. R. Telegraph Office, and Mrs. George Henderson.

Mrs. MacNeill, I found, to be most interesting in her conversation, and a well spoken lady. She, like all former P. E. Islanders I have met has many memories of the Island.

Commission Decides Against Church Paper

LONDON, Jan. 25—A Church of England commission has decided that a daily newspaper run by the church would serve "neither God nor Mammon."

Advising against immediate action on the proposed newspaper, the Church Publicity Commission said tonight:

"No paper could be more unpropitious than the present for seeking to enter a highly competitive and complex industry in which a vast sum of money would be called for, without the slightest guarantee that the venture would eventually pay its way on the basis of public support."

The Commission recommended, however, that the Church appoint a £2,000-a-year (£8,000) press agent with six assistants, to seek more use of Church news.

York And Vicinity

Mrs. Bessie Taylor, was a visitor to the city on Thursday.

Mr. Vernon Duck, York was kept busy last week hauling fertilizer for the farmers of York.

Mr. Richard Vessey and Mr. Lloyd Vessey unloaded a carload of coal at York Station last week.

The farmers of York are busy shipping their turnips which are being loaded at York Station.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Dennis and family spent Sunday in Marshfield the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Thompson.

The snow plough from Charlottetown is doing a wonderful job in keeping the York road open for vehicle traffic.

Mr. and Mrs. Dolph Murray, and daughter Marion, York were visitors to Pleasant Grove on Sunday the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Caswell-C.

Many of the young people of York were visitors to the city on Saturday especially the college students who went in to get their marks from their mid-term exams.

Mrs. Harold Watts, York is leaving the first part of the week for Black River, N. B. where she will visit her daughter, Mrs. Hazen Bradford.

Mr. Allen Reardon, who is employed at the Government Garage, City, spent the week-end at his home in York. He took along one of the snow ploughs and widened the road on the way out, which made a great improvement.

The Hungarian Partridge were very glad indeed to get the feed that was dropped for them last week by Paul Sharp of Paul's Flying Service. However they will have some difficulty now finding it on account of the snow over the week-end.

ing to learn in school—and I did the days away. I guess I have only myself to blame, but they might have encouraged me." Thus it is that very often without thought, members of a family can be cruel in their attitude towards each other so that it is often quite true it is no privilege at all to be considered as "one of the family."

Along the driveway, in the moonlight the sleigh came, travelling with unconcern over the lacy shrouds spread by the lawn trees on the snowy surface. Bright moonlight such as holds the countryside tonight had cast lovely shadows on the soft, new-fallen snow that morning in early winter which saw the birth of the girl babe to a farmhouse "in the road" from Alderlea. She was among our company this evening, come to make her first call. I believe she still communes with angel voices in that baby land. I sensed it, I know, in the smile which on request spreads slowly and with an air of surprise over the small new features. "She's strong—and plump!" James said taking her in his arms for we all must have our turns at holding her. "And pretty!" Jeanie offered. She had left hers to join us briefly. This lass is blue-eyed, though a deeper shade than that of our own small one. Dark haired she is and bonny, altogether attractive as such small ones are and already extremely precious.

Lovely our day has been, and decked with sunlight by day and blue skies. Indeed the sun beamed in so warmly on Tabby and me by a window this afternoon when our farmers were at the other farm, that the mending I was doing began to grow heavy and I believe we two dozed. . . . But "for the love of goodness, Ellen" James calls down "are you going to stay down there all night?"

Until tomorrow—Diary—Good-night.

The Rev. and Mrs. Donald Nicholson and their daughter Joyce were pleasantly surprised on the evening of January 2nd, when members, adherents and friends of the Brookfield Presbyterian Church gathered at the Manse to spend a social evening with their Pastor, Mrs. Nicholson and Joyce.

Rev. Donald Nicholson, Mrs. Nicholson and Joyce:—

Our mission here this evening is not one fraught with any momentous import. This festive season which is fast slipping away appeals to the finer impulses of all, old and young, and we feel we could not let this joyous season of the year pass without expressing to you, Mrs. Nicholson and Joyce our joy and appreciation of having you with us once more.

You may always rest assured of our best wishes for your happiness and prosperity, and we earnestly pray that God will abundantly bless you.

In conclusion we would ask you to accept this Gift as a token of our esteem and good wishes for a Happy New Year to all.

Signed on behalf of the Brookfield People:—

At the conclusion of this, a well filled envelope was presented to Rev. and Mrs. Nicholson and Joyce by Mrs. Sterling MacLean.

Mr. Nicholson on behalf of himself, Mrs. Nicholson and Joyce, in a few fitting remarks expressed his gratitude to their guests for their kindness and thoughtfulness.

The remainder of the evening was spent in friendly converse after which a delicious lunch was served by the ladies.

The gathering was dismissed with prayer by Rev. Mr. Nicholson.

No Rescue Act For Cats in Edmonton

(By The Canadian Press)

EDMONTON, Jan. 25 — Any cat that takes refuge on power or telephone poles in Edmonton can stay there so far as the Fire Department or Humane Society is concerned. Their refusal to rescue a cat disclosed the new policy today.

"There is nothing to be alarmed about," said an official of the Humane Society. "The cat will come down in due time," and Fire Chief James Macgregor said a cat "can usually get down by itself anyway."
