THE KICKER.

He kicked because his razor had a tendency to hurt;

He kicked because his collar didn't seem to fit his shirt;

He kicked because he couldn't find his trousers anywhere

Till his wife stepped in and showed him where he'd hung them on a chair.

He kicked because the coffee wasn't made to suit his taste;

He kicked about expenses and complained about the waste;

He kicked because the muffins seemed to be unduly brown;

And he kicked about the weather as he started off to town.

He kicked because it happened that a car went whizzing past;

He was kicking like a broncho when he reached his desk at last;

He kicked because his letters had not been assorted right;

He kicked because the office boy was keeping out of sight.

He kicked because conditions seemed so dismal everywhere;

He kicked at his assistants as they hurried here and there;

He kicked because he happened to smear ink upon his cuff;

And he kicked because they didn't have his office warm enough.

His stenographer was pretty. She got in an hour late.

She was slim and trim and youthful, and her eyes were simply great.

She came and sat before him, having softly shut the door,

And he suddenly discovered that the world was bright once more.

OH, JUST AND UNJUST.

Two Ways of Interpreting Pieces of Bad Luck.

"Deacon," said the Billville trouble seeker, "I've just heard that Major Jones' new house was burnt to the ground."

"Dispensation o' providence," said the deacon. "The major hasn't been to meeting twice this year."

"And the mill dam broke, and six of Colonel Jenkins' cows were drowned."

"A sure sign that providence is displeased with him," commented the deacon. "I have observed that man this long while. He has never contributed a cent to foreign missions."

"And," continued the trouble bearer, "I suppose you don't know while you were gone from home two of your best mules were killed by lightning, and all your fences were blown sky high?"

"Oh, the mysterious ways of providence!" the deacon exclaimed. "Oh, the strange afflictions that are visited upon the righteous! What on earth will I do for two more mules?"—Atlanta Constitution.

WATER POWER.

Its Wonderful Possibilities For the Generation of Electricity.

While the hydroelectric source of power is still in the beginning of its development, such is the number of natural sites available that no calculation can be accurately made as to the extent to which it will be installed throughout the United States for industries, illumination and other purposes.

We have fairly accurate knowledge of the principal water power sites through the investigation of the geological survey and hydrographic experts. It has been estimated by Professor W. C. Unwin that the total available water power in the United States is more than 30,000,000 horsepower and that this can be increased to 150,000,000 horsepower by storage reservoirs. It is estimated that the difference in cost of steam power and water power is $10 per horsepower per year at the minimum. Thus the manufacturing regions of the southern states alone, which are depending on steam instead of water power, would save $30,000,000 per year.

The development of the water power at Niagara indicates the possibilities of the manufacture of electricity. The power that Niagara might generate is estimated by Professor Unwin at 7,000,000 horsepower. The same authority estimates that there is fully 2,000,000 horsepower available on the upper Mississippi, while the southern Appalachian region can furnish a minimum of 8,000,000 horsepower.—Cassier's Magazine.

Cascaret User No Ever Has Headache

A 10 cent box will keep your liver, stomach and bowels clean, pure and fresh for months.

Sick headache, biliousness, dizziness, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath—always trace them to torpid liver, delayed fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Salts, cathartic pills, oil and purgative waters force a passageway for a day or two—but they don't take the poisons out and have no effect upon the liver or stomach.

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gasses, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the decomposed waste matter and poisons in the intestines and bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will surely brighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box on your drugstore means inside cleanliness and a clear head for months. Ask any of the millions of Cascaret users if they ever have headache.
