STAND ON BOTH FEET

Stand firmly on both feet and don't always cross the same leg when you sit down if you wish to avoid curvature of the spine, warns Dr. Perrin T. Wilson, of the American Osteopathic Association.

The habit of one-legging is one of the sure ways of developing spinal curvature, according to Dr. Wilson.

He said violinists suffer most from failure to balance the spine by standing and sitting correctly. Dentists and bookkeepers also are high up, with people who play tenhis golf or who bowl the leading offenders in the sports world.

Dr. Wilson believes the condition in children, often attributed to carrying heavy school books, is due to the practice of students in throwing one hip out slightly as a shelf for the books when they stop to talk.

FINAL TRIBUTE TO SPEAKER

JASPER, Alta., Sept. 17 —(AP)— President Roosevelt, members of his cabinet and of the United States Congress and thousands of humble folk joined today in paying final tribute to William B. Bankhead, speaker of the House of Representatives.

The President, six members of his cabinet and nearly 100 members of Congress sat with the speaker's family and close hometown friends in the First Methodist Church where funeral services were conducted for the veteran political leader.

SO THIS IS CANADA

(So this is Canada! Isn't it peaceful? remarked the little refugees from Britain, on landing at Quebec).

"So this is Canada"! the children cried,
When at the journey's end they gazed at last
On towering cliffs of old Quebec reared high
Against the peaceful blue of friendly sky.
With dangers safely past

Yes, this is Canada, my little friends,
This lovely land that spreads before your eyes,
Her beauty is not marred by tyrant's hand,
Her days and nights know not the murderous bomb,
That rains death from the skies.

Here you may safely rest in slumber sweet,
Whether in East or West a home you find,
On prairie wide or by the ocean blue,
Joy, peace and kindly welcomes wait for you,
With fear left far behind.

Yes, this is Canada, and God forbid
That in the days of struggle yet to be
A spoiler should defile with ruthless hand
The peaceful beauty of our native land,
O. keep her safe and free!

THE MODERN COLIATH

An Allegory

I know of no better way to describe the present condition of our country than to give the biblical allegory of David and Goliath. The Giant Goliath of today is the liquor traffic. The ancient Goliath was covered with brass, and I know of nothing which has more brass than the liquor traffic. His sword is Political influence which he has wielded over the politicans of both old parties: His spear is the wet press: His shield of protection to the liquor traffic is License and the shield bearer is the licensed voters of both old political parties.

Little David was the true reformer, ridiculed by his brethren, laughed at for trying to do the impossible, and in a slurring way told to go home and "tend those few sheep in the wilderness," but he answered, "What have I now done? Is there not cause?" The liquor traffice has ruined more bodies, damned more souls, corrupted more politics, and caused more general damage than all other evils combined, not exempting war, famine, and pestilence. This is the Real Cause. The corrupt politician through license is helping to keep him there. This is the Real Issue.

The five pebbles little David picked up are: (1) Moral Suasion, (2) Legal Suasion, (3) the Word of God, (4) the Church, and (5) the Womanhood of our land. Little David used the Sling of Faith. He had faith in God, faith in the sling, and faith in himself. When he was a mere Shepherd boy he practiced with his sling till he could hit the spot every time. And that is what we want of all our Drys—that they "hit the spot at the ballot box," and the modern Goliath will take a tumble. Another good lesson we can learn from David was when he tried Saul's armor, found it would not fit and cast it aside. If we would win we must not wear Saul's old party armor.

Now here is one mistake the drys made, which David did not make. When we stunned the Giant with the 18th Amendment we quit. We had the law but the wets had the Administration. I would rather have The law is one percent, but the Administration is ninety-nine percent. We must not only stun the Giant but we must take the Sword of Political Influence out of his hands. Kill him by cutting off his head. Then the good women will sing, "Saul (the old party) has slain his thousands, but David (the prohibition party) has slain his ten thousands." Then all the politicians will flee, and Peace, Prosperity, and Plenty will fill the land. I am looking for great things in 1940, when a new Abraham Lincoln will be at the helm, to educate, agitate, and consummate.

For information as to what will happen if the nation does not act upon this, see Isaiah 5: verses 1 to 8. One or the other must come to pass.

MORE LIQUOR, MORE DEAD

The first three months of 1940 registered a 7 per cent increase in motor fatalities over the same months af 1939, according to "Public Safety," pubished by the National Safety Council. There were 7,200 traffic fatalities during January, February and March, 1940. Traffic fatalities reached their peak in 1937 and consumption of intoxicating beverages was higher in that year than any other year for half a generation. During the next two years alcoholic beverages consumpton declined and so did the traffic toll. Now, once again, we are drinking more, and more of us are dying in automobiles accidents.

There is an absolute parallel between the index of drink consumpton and the index of traffic fatalities. The two rise and fall together by month and year by year. What is the price of drink? Blood, disaster, death.

Dear Fellow Workers:—

It is said, "They also serve who only stand and wait." This is true of the Travellers' Aid superintendents, but that is not all the work of this important department of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Stationed at the traffic gateways of our cities, our Traveller' Aid representatives become an important art of our welfare work. It is not merely city but an intercity and intercommunity service, a service exended to and made use of by many people in all walks of life.

With its system of preventive measures the Travellers' Aid is devoted to the safeguarding of humanity a protective measure based upon the principle of prevention.

To make Travellers' Aid a true inter-community service all railway communities must be linked up with this work, through a local representative. Cards must be placed in all railway and bus stations bearing the name of local representative.

Local Travellers' Aid co-operation means that any person leaving your community can be met and receive Travellers' Aid service

TAKE TWO W. C. T. U. . . . . THE CHURCH

The Church is the noblest and the best organization in the world. It furnishes the best examples of righteous living.

It produces the finest specimens of character of which the world knows.

It is one sure and stedfast promoter and supporter of reform.

Whatever good is in the world has come through the avenues of the Church.

Both directly and indirecty it promotes and safeguards public morals.

It conserves the peace and happiness of the community.

It promotes honest, progressive, and beneficient government.

It does the most to promote the sentiments of love, brotherly kindness, and good neighbourliness — "Onward."

Never A Dull Moment For J. B. Priestley

LONDON, Sept. 19 —(CP)— LONDON, Sept. 20 — (CP) — the life of J.B. Priestley these days as German bombing raids on London continue.

The noted British novelist told tonight of a second escape he has had within the last three days, speaking on the British broadcasting corporation's broadcast feature, "Britain Speaks."

Priestley, who said he has been sleeping in his clothes since he lost all his other belongings in the bombing of his hotel, was invited to dinner at a friend's house in Mayfair.

The biggest appeal of the invitation, he said, was that he was going to sleep in a bed—a bed with pillows, sheets, blankets "and all other things I remember beds having"—for the first time since Monday.

While air raid sirens shrilled outside, they had dinner—in the dining room, despite the air raid. Things got "pret. sy" outside, however, so they decided to have coffee in the house's shelter.

Shortly after they reached the shelter, a message came that the house had been struck by an incendiary bomb and the roof was on fire.

"We left the shelter and went into the street where several other fires were burning. While I was standing there I heard something like a little locomotive rushing at me.

"In three jumps I was back into the house, expecting every moment to hear an explosion. But there was no noise. I do not not know whether it was a dud or time bomb. I do not known where it went."

Priestley spent the rest of the night in the shelter, but not in the bed he so fondly dreamed of.

Sea View And Vicinity

The dance which was held in Kensington sponsored by the members of the Baltic W. I. was a decided success, both financially and socially. A large crowd was present and greatly enjoyed the splendid music furnished by the Baltic orchestra as well as an enjoyable evening spent in dancing. A most creditable sum was realized which is to be used for patriotic purposes.

Pte. Bruce Coulson of the P. E. I. Highlanders is spending a pleasant visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Coulson before rejoining his regiment somewhere in Nova Scotia.

Mrs. Loren Alfred of San Diego, California, spent a pleasant visit recently in Sea View, the guest of her sister Mrs. F. W. Donald and Mr. Donald.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McKay are receiving the congratulations of their many friends on the arrival of a baby girl to their home in Darnley recently.

Mr. John E. Cousins has a number of men employed putting up a large supply of blueberries in his cold storage plant at Park Corner.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Garlick and little daughter of Boston, Mass., are spending a pleasant visit in Darnley the guests of Mrs. Garlick parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Mountain.

Miss Myra Hickey and Miss Luella Hickey of Summerside spent the week-end in Darnley, the guests of their parents Mr. and Mrs James Hickey.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric MacMurdo and little son of Kelvin spent Sunday with friends in Sea View.

Mr. Roy Adams was a business visitor to Charlottetown on Saturday.

The terrific wind storm which swept over the country on Monday night accompanied by a downpour of rain did considerable damage in this community. The heaviest loser was Mr. Lyle Crozier of Darnley who lost his barn in th gale but with the help of neighbors he was able to get his stock all out safely.

Mr. Colin Adams and Mr. Arthur Stewart both suffered losses in distruction of the roofs of the barns. Great sympathy is felt for Mr. Crozier and others at this busy season to have to build in order to store their grain.

Owing to the continued rainstorm the farmers have been greatly delayed in their harvesting operations. Undoubtedly the grain will be of an inferior quality owing to the exposure to the rain for so long a time

Mrs. Atwood Blakaney is spending some time in Darnley on professional duties the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McKay.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stewart are receiving hearty congratulations on the arrival of a baby boy in Prince County Hospital, where Mrs. Stewart is a patient there.

Owing to the storm the harvest has been greatly delayed as the bulk of it is yet in the fields in stook.

Potatoes are showing marked improvement due to the recent rains giving every promise of an abundant crop and the quality will be above the average. A few of the farmers have already begun digging, while waiting for the grain to dry.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20— (AP) The Canadian dollar rallied ¾ of a cent to a discount of 10¾ per cent. against the United States dollar on the foreign exchange market today. (Ottawa foreign exchange control board rate 9.09-9.91 per cent. discount).

The Dominion currency dipped sharply last week but since Monday has showed rallying tendencies.

The free pound stirling at $4.04 held unchanged. The Swiss franc added .00½ cent to 22.79 cents. Other leading foreign currencies showed little variation.

ROCKLAND, Me., Sept. 20 — (CP)—Arthur R. Greenleaf, Maine Commissioner of Sea and Shore Fisheries, said today a survey of potential oyster beds along the State coast soon would be made in an attempt to develop an oyster-fishing industry. He believed if oyster propagation could be carried on successfully in the Maritime Provinces it would in time be just as successful in Maine. One good-sized bed near Boothbay Harbor already has been developed to some extent.

More than 300 Italian subjects are interned in South Africa.

DIPHTHERIA IN CITIES IN THE U. S.

In 1939 the highest diphtheria rates among 93 large cities of the U. S. were found in Reading, Pa., and Chattanooga, Tenn., which reported eight deaths in contrast to the 32 reporting none. They should use toxoid more thoroughly in the delinquent communities.

VITAMIN B1 DEFICIENCY A CAUSE OF D.T.'s.

It is said according to the Journal of the American Medical Association that a deficiency of vitamin B1 and not alcohol, is the cause of delirium tremens. Alcohol taken in small amounts, may cause an increase in appetite, but when it is taken in large quantities, over a prolonged period the appetite is lost, they say. This loss of food or appetite results in a relative food loss with attending vitamin B1 deficiency and later may result in neuronitis (inflammation of the nerve cells).

TYPHOID DEATHS DROPPING

Typhoid deaths in the U. S. are becoming fewer. In 93 of the largest cities the number dropped from 291 in 1938 to 265 in 1939. The 1939 rate per hundred of population was 0.67 as compared with 0.74 in 1938. Thirty-four cities had no deaths. New England cities had the lowest death rates namely 0.23 representing six deaths as compared to 12 in that area in 1938.

The deathrate from typhoid in Canada too, is dropping. In 1938, Canada's rate was 1.8; Nova Scotia's 1.5; Ontario's 1.0; Saskatchewan's 0.9 and B.C.'s 1.1. Pure water and pasteurized milk are showing their value in respect to typhoid fever.

Old golf clubs are being collected in England for the metal.

Missing Man Is Left 16,000 Pounds

LONDON.—More than £16,000 has been left to an ex-officer who disappeared from his home in Crowhurst, Sussex, on February 27.

His wife is now practically penniless. She cannot obtain any of the money as she is unable to prove he was living at the time the bequest was made.

The missing man is Mr. Geoffrey John Croisdale Kirk, who was wounded in the last war while serving as a lieutenant in the Royal Artillery.

Towards the end of last year Mr. Kirk and his wife left their home in Warwick-gardens, Kensington, W., for Crowhurst.

Now, Mrs. Kirk has come back to their London home in the hope that her husband will return there. She thinks he is suffering from shock and loss of memory.

Nervous Wreck

"My husband was a nervous wreck following his injuries in the last war," she told me.

"He would never meet people, nor could he be induced to talk even to acquaintances. For five years after the war he was a patient in a hospital at Sidcup, and after that spend many months in a London hospital.

"My husband was very depressed at Crowhurst. He wanted to get back to the Army, and used to shut himself away studying the newespapers or listening to the radio.

"In November he disappeared for a week. I discovered then that he came up to London, and each day visited our empty house in Kensington.

"Then he came back to Crowhurst.

"On February 27 I was out, and returned home to find a telegram from his mother asking him to telephone her. I am told he went out of the house, and was seen at the railway station taking a train for St. Leonards.

"He took neither his identity card, his ration card, nor his gas mask.

"I do know that he was alive on March 25, for he was seen on that day in St. Leonards.

"On April 13 his mother died suddenly, and in her will she left £32,800 to be divided between my husband and his brother.

"I cannot do anything to obtain any of this money unless I can prove my husband was alive after April 13.

"In a will which he made a long time ago he left everything to me. But now I am stranded and almost penniless.

"Although in receipt of a pension, he has not drawn a penny of it since he vanished.

"He is a man who would easily be recognized. There is a big scar over his chin, and on the right cheek. His nose, too, is misshapen, and his left shoulder is higher than the right."

Mr. Kirk is forty-five, about 5 ft. 9 ins. in height, of slim build, has dark hair and dark grey eyes.

It's just plain common sense to drink MORSE'S STANDARD TEA. Not only is the flavor there that Maritime people like, but for such quality the price is most attractive. A real bargain at 65 cents a pound.
