THE CHARLOTTETOWN GUARDIAN

FRIDAY, MARCH 24, 1911.

ANGLO-AMERICAN ARBITRATION AND WORLD PEACE.

Led by President Taft in America and by the leaders of both political parties in England, there is a strong movement afoot looking toward a treaty of arbitration between the two nations for the settlement of any disputes that may hereafter arise between them. This movement is strongly endorsed and supported by the press of both countries and by the best sentiment of the Anglo-Saxon world. It is most earnestly to be desired that such a treaty may be agreed upon, and although that end may not be immediately attained we believe it ultimately will be.

It may be said there is little danger of war arising between the two greater English-speaking nations, and we trust that such is the case, but still a treaty of arbitration would afford an additional safeguard against any such possible calamity and would at the same time afford a noble and conspicuous example to the other great nations of the world. It would indeed by a great stride toward the goal of permanent peace for the entire world. But it would not, by any means relieve the United Kingdom from all the dangers, or from the greatest danger of being yet again compelled to draw the sword.

The greatest danger of future wars in which Britain may be involved lies not on this side but on the other side of the Atlantic ocean, on the Continent of Europe. That continent with its burden of, empires, kingdoms and republics, its differing races, faiths and traditions, has at frequent times been the theatre of desperate military struggles, and is, even at the present very like an armed camp in which are millions of armed men. Britain is far less akin to them and less related in her institutions and her sympathies than she is with North America.

It is not by any means incredible that Britain might at a future date become involved in war with Germany or Russia, the Triple Alliance or with Turkey. An Anglo-American arbitration treaty could afford no security to Britain against an embroilment with one of the continental European powers, but such a treaty might be hoped to have an educative and a moral effect upon them, that would hasten the day of universal arbitration. We must bear in mind that the masses of the people, whether in France, Germany, Italy or Russia, have no love for war and would welcome an era of universal peace.

Europe has been cursed with frequent wars for ages past. The colossal national debts and the crushing burden of taxation now being carried represents the cost of these past struggles and the support of the huge armies, navies and fortifications which exist on every side. It is the ambition of statesmen and rulers rather than the desire of the common people that brings about most wars. The hope of universal peace lies mainly in the growing intelligence and influence of the masses who see and know that they have much to lose and nothing to gain by war or by the maintenance of vast armaments.

But progress toward universal arbitration among the nations can only be made step by step, beginning among those peoples who are the most enlightened and the most humane. In any such movement for the betterment, the security and the peace of the world it befits the English-speaking nations to take the lead as they are apparently now about to do, confident, once the good work is begun and the good example is set, that other nations will be convinced and will follow that example. President Taft, if he can bring about the arbitration treaty he has projected will rank in history with the great peacemakers of the ages.

QUEBEC FARMERS AND RECIPROCITY.

Those who are in doubt as to the attitude of rural Quebec toward reciprocity should read the account in the Montreal Witness of a mass meeting held on March 19 at Rigaud in Vandreuil County. The meeting was addressed by Hon. L. P. Brodeur, Dr. Beland, M. P., and others and unanimously adopted a resolution endorsing the reciprocity agreement. The resolution speaks for "the two thousand farmers assembled at Rigaud." Such unanimity among a large body of Quebec farmers in favor of the agreement must be taken as pretty conclusive evidence that they want reciprocity.

Hon. L. P. Brodeur in the course of his speech sounded a note of warning to the manufacturers, when he said:

"It has come to my knowledge that the manufacturers have decided to form a coalition to fight the reciprocity agreement. We will see if a group of manufacturers can stand between the farmer and prosperity, and why they do not wish them to acquire wealth. This campaign these manufacturers are waging is most nefarious, and most dangerous, and it is time to know if this country will be governed by a group of millionaires or by the people."

And Dr. Beland intimated that the reciprocity campaign in the country, which is only now begun, will be carried on for some time to come. He said:

"This meeting is the opening of a campaign that will be briskly worked. From now on meetings will be held fast and quick throughout this Province. We will stump the country from one end to the other to educate the people on the advantages of the reciprocity agreement. This done, let those who oppose the people's wish beware."

TO OPEN CHARLOTTETOWN HARBOR.

The ineffectual attempt of the Earl Grey to break into Charlottetown harbor the other day has been the subject of much comment, and much regret for the failure. No blame attaches to Capt Brown, who did what he could. But that does not end the matter. It is of vast importance to the trade of the entire Province that this port shall be kept open as late as possible in the fall and early winter and be opened again as early as may be in the spring.

It is well known that after the first to the middle of March, if the ice at the harbor entrance were once broken there would be thereafter a practicable channel for both steamers. But it is not fair or reasonable to take either the Grey or the Minto off their regular work of carrying freight mails or passengers to do this work. What is required is not merely an attempt to push in by a single effort, but a persistent battering from day to day til the ice barrier is broken down. For that purpose another steamer is wanted.

The question is asked, why cannot the Stanley or the Montcalm be detailed to do this work, so as not to interfere with the regular service? The question is a most important one. It is also pointed out that the Earl Grey, admitted on all hands to be a splendid ice-breaker, is not so well adapted as the Stanley for breaking heavy ice in confined spaces where there is no room for the ice to spread. The Grey wedges and splits the ice. The Stanley mounts and crushes it.

The attention of our representatives and of the Board of Trade is directed to this matter with a view to having another steamer sent as soon as possible. If our harbor were now opened, as it could be in a day or two by the Stanley or another devoting her whole time to the work, this port would be opened for the balance of the winter season and our shippers and those of the entire Province would have the great advantage of a direct service. The gain to trade and in the saving of time and freight charges would be very great.

Against the talk of obstruction at Ottawa the Conservatives place the statement that it is the Liberal members who have taken up most of the time. They affirm that since February the Liberal orators have filled 687 columns of Hansard and the Conservatives only 549 columns.

The Ontario Legisiature, which is very largely Conservative, adopted a resolution condemning the reciprocity agreement by a vote of 75 to 17. It was a strictly party vote with the exception that Mr. Studholme, an independent, voted with the minority. After the vote was taken the majority sang patriotic songs, ending up with the National Anthem and three cheers for the King, even the men and women in the galleries standing up and shouting lustily. From which it may be inferred that Toronto is still somewhat opposed to reciprocity.

FAMOUS ATHLETES USE ZAM-BUK.

Mr. Sim Vaughan, trainer of the Hamilton Tigers Football Team, and admittedly one of Canada's finest trainers, says of Zam-Buk: "In my estimation it is the finest healing balm obtainable, and no athletic institution, or no athlete, should be without it. I say this after fifteen years' experience as a trainer of athletes, and after experimenting with nearly all known embrocations."

The above opinion is shared by such well-known athletes as Sherring of Hamilton, Longboat, the All Blacks, of New Zealand, and all the leading football organizations of England. For sprains, cuts, abrasions, stiffness, rheumatism, and as an all round embrocation and balm, Zam-Buk is unequalled. All druggists and stores at 50c. box.

CUT THIS OUT AND PASTE IT UP.

Almost every day The Guardian receives orders by mail to insert news matter of an advertising nature. In most of these cases the senders, who are frequently not known to any member of the staff and who have no account in the advertising department, write "Please insert the following and oblige," thus apparently implying that they think the items will be inserted free. Only a few weeks ago a reader wrote asking that his advertisement of Farm for Sale be inserted free from day to day until he cancelled it, as he is a subscriber to The Guardian. In this connection it may be said that the subscription price is not sufficient to even pay the actual cost of paper, ink, presswork, mailing, bookeeping and other expenses of the Circulation department proper, and thus subscribers have no privileges of free advertising and are on the same footing as non-subscribers. Seldom ever does the sender state whether the item is to appear in the Morning Daily or the Rural Daily, whether for one or more times in either Daily, or in both, whether as a display advertisement, announcement, business local, classified ad or otherwise. When for church or charitable purposes they seldom ever say so, or do not enclose sufficient money to pay for same all of which will be returned by first mail in the event of the item not being chargeable; or if more money is sent than necessary to pay for the item the surplus will be returned at once, there being a greater discount for cash with order for advertising of churches &c than for regular business. In all such cases the Advertising department communicates with the sender as quickly as possible by mail or phone, often paying the messenger service to get them to the telephone if not too far distant, thus saving all possible time. People write this office to know if News, Letters to Editor, etc., are charged for, and to all such there is but one reply—all items etc of a money making nature, even though they be somewhat of a news nature, are chargeable. For instance, the advance notice or notices of a concert, lecture, pie social, picnic, etc., are chargeable if an admission fee, silver collection, sale of pies or sale of food or refreshments, etc. Advance notices of purely religious services, even tho a silver collection is to be taken up, are not chargeable. The particulars of any of the above, after they have been held, are, however, news and thus not chargeable. The news of any past, present or future business, which is still being conducted, is chargeable, if it is apparent that the object is to make the business more widely known and thus increase it. Verses accompanying death notices are also chargeable. Even items which are actual news and not chargeable for but once in either Morning Daily or Rural Daily or both are chargeable for more than one insertion, as they are thus not news.

The above facts are given for the purpose of assisting persons who have items, etc., to mail to this office, so that delay and disappointment will be avoided. 3-16drtf.
