"Slightly Dangerous" Is A Whopper For All Screwball Comedy Fans

Lana Turner mixes sodas blindfolded and figures in adventures ranging from an amnesia masquerade to a hectic romance with Robert Young, in M-G-M's "Slightly Dangerous" now at the Prince Edward Theatre. The picture, made for laughs, will keep you well entertained for there is never a dull moment.

Miss Turner plays the part of a soda clerk in a department store. She tires of her humdrum existence, leaves a suicide note, poses as an amnesia victim and long lost daughter of a millionaire. Young, the new store manager, is blamed for the "suicide." He sets out to find her and save his job. Completion follows upon complication until the climax finds the two principals madly in love.

Has Flair for Comedy

Miss Turner handles comedy with a flair that proves her talent in this type of role. It is her first comedy performance, although Young is quite at home in his favorite medium. Walter Brennan adds to the hilarity as the "sugar daddy" millionaire. Rotund Eugene Pallette is convincing as the newspaper publisher. Additional sparks of fun are ignited by Howard Freeman, Dave May Whitby, Millard Mitchell, Ward Bond, Pamela Blake, Eric Collins, Florence Bates and Alan Mowbray.

Directed by Wesley Ruggles, who called upon his early experiences as a Keystone Kop to point up the humorous incidents. This romantic comedy should be a must with all moviegoers.

MISS CHRISTINE HOLMES AND MR. WILLIAM M. CROCKETT WED

In attractive ceremony in Chicago University Chapel; Bridegroom is son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Charles Crockett, formerly of Charlottetown, of Moy Avenue

In an impressive ceremony, recently, in Joseph Band Chapel, University of Chicago campus, Miss Christine Warnock Holmes, daughter of Mr. H. Herbert Holmes and Sgt. Frank MacIntyre, bride of the late Mr. Holmes, of Merrick Long Island, New York, became the bride of Mr. William Mabon Crockett, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Charles Crockett, of Moy Avenue, formerly of Charlottetown, P. E. I., with the Rev. H. Neville Tinker, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Chicago, officiating. Both are former students of the university.

The bride entered the chapel on the arm of her brother, Dr. Hilary Herbert Holmes, of New York City, wearing a fitted gown of blue satin with a full skirt falling in graceful folds into a long train. Her long Queen of Scots veil was held to her head by a narrow band of flowers, and she carried a shower bouquet of shell pink carnations. Miss Anna Crockett, of New York City, was her sister's only attendant, wearing a floor-length gown of cherub pink taffeta, and a similar style pink carnations.

Mr. J. Charles Crockett, father of the bridegroom, was his son's best man, and Mr. William Rosegrant and Mr. Paul Fisher were ushers.

Mrs. Holmes chose for her daughter's wedding a dove-grey crepe gown printed with white flowers, and she wore a shoulder corsage of white carnations, while Mr. Crockett wore a crepe ensemble of pale aquamarine, and had white carnations in her corsage.

Miss Naomi Payne, at the organ played in addition to the wedding music, the "Meditation" from Massenet's "Thais" and Carl Bohm's "Calm as the Night," the latter being sung by Mr. James McEnery, baritone soloist of the university choir.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held for the wedding party by Miss Beata Mueller and Miss Patricia Peterson at their home. White peonies and carnations filled the rooms and a three-tiered wedding cake centred the table.

For travelling, the bride wore a matching hat topped with bows and a well and a corsage of pale pink carnations. The couple will be at home at 5301 Kimbark avenue, Chicago.

MOORE — FRANCIS

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. John's Anglican Church, Charlottetown, by the Rev. G. R. Hartman, the evening of June 30th, 1943, at seven o'clock when Grace Louisa, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Verne Moore, Westmoreland, became the bride of Louis William, son of Mr. and Mrs. Parker Francis of Lady Fane. The church was beautifully decorated with white carnations for the occasion by friends of the bride.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage, to the strains of "Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus" played by Mrs. Le Roy Howatt.

The young bride looked charming in a floor length dress of white sheer over taffeta, with sweetheart neckline, long fitted torso, dirndl skirt and long sleeves. Her veil was three-quarter length, and she wore a necklace of pearls which were a family heirloom. She carried a shower bouquet of pink roses and ferns.

Her bridesmaid was Miss Elsie Francis sister of the groom and she wore a dress of powder blue crepe made in similar lines as the bride's and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Little Joan Howatt was flower girl and made a winning picture as she preceded the bridal party up the aisle, dressed in pink taffeta and carrying a basket of white lily, lilies of the valley and ferns.

The groomsmen were Mr. Wrixon Moore brother of the bride.

The ushers were Messrs Eric Lowther and Lloyd Rogerson, Mr. Otto Johnston, Mrs. James Moore, Misses Annie Gordon Margaret and Erna Coles assisted in serving.

For going away the bride wore a black tailored suit with matching accessories and a red fox scarf. The large number of cherries, silver, cut glass and linen received testify to the popularity of the young couple who on their return to the short honeymoon will reside in their new home at Lady Fane.

Among the guests were Mr. J. E. Matthews, M.P.P. and Mrs. Matthews of Ottawa, who were in wishing them many years of happy wedded life.

Discusses Important Wartime Researches

OTTAWA, July 2 — (CP) — Dr. E. S. Archibald, Director of Experimental Farms, yesterday told the House or Commons Agriculture Committee he would like to see a test plant established in Western Canada to ascertain definitely the cost of producing alcohol from farm products.

Information on this subject was by no means complete, and further research was necessary, he said. On the basis of wheat production of 20 bushels an acre, and considering the present price of alcohol, the return from an acre of this crop transformed into alcohol would be about $17. But from an acre of sugar beets or artichokes, used for the same purpose, the return would be about $75.

Other research was necessary on such questions as potato starch production. It appeared that such starch might be produced more cheaply in Saskatchewan and Alberta than in eastern areas.

Dr. Archibald said fibre flax acreage at the beginning of the war was 4,000. It had risen to 47,000 last year. Shipments from this crop had been made to the United Kingdom but under the United Nations' pooling system, shipments also were being made to the United States.

Research work in connection with bearing crops like soybeans, rapeseed and sunflower, and new uses, and the plant breeder had given agriculturists material on which to base their action.
