What $1 Can Do in a Year in "Made-in-Canada" Goods

Under the heading "Made-in-Canada Good Goods," Everywoman's World, one of Canada's leading women's journals, contains a unique page of advertisements of Canadian manufacturers of products of every day use. The advertisement in question surrounded the following note inserted by the publishers:

Facts Worth While Thinking About

"This page shows you, Mrs. Shopper, the labels or trade marks you'll see on Canadian goods of the best quality or on the boxes that hold them. These goods are made in Canada. They are high quality goods. When deciding your purchases it is well to remember that of every dollar spent on Canadian goods about 40c goes for Canadian wages, 40c for Canadian raw material, and 20c for Canadian profits and freight charges. $1.36 for the same kind of article, imported, goes 40c for foreign wages, 40c for foreign raw material, 20c for Canadian profit and freight, 30c for Customs duty, and 6c for Canadian profit on that duty. The Made-in-Canada Canada $1.00 purchase saves you 36c, and besides gives 74c advantage in money circulation. Passing from hand to hand twice a day for a year this 74c kept in Canada does $444.00 in Canadian business of which $176.60 is wages, $177.60 raw material, and $89.80 profit. All form a $1.00 purchase rightly directed a year before. Buy Canadian goods—keep your money working for Canada—keep money circulating all the time. Shop by these Canadian Brands."

Before accepting any advertisement on this page, the publishers secured from the Canadian manufacturers in question the following pledge: "We, the undersigned manufacturers of the Made-in-Canada product (or products), specified, and briefly described on our letterhead attached, do hereby declare our faith in this product (or these products), knowing it (or them) to be good value at a fair price. We stand back of our goods, knowing our goods to be right. And in case there should ever be any dissatisfaction with any of our goods we would welcome the customer to take the matter up with us direct, so that it may be adjusted to the entire satisfaction of the party concerned."

The paper is thus giving real service to Canadian purchasers and Canadian manufacturers. It is insuring that nothing but good goods will be sold under the "Made-in-Canada" label, and that, having in mind price and quality, the principle behind the whole "Made-in-Canada" movement.

FISCAL TENDENCIES IN GREAT BRITAIN

Boston "Herald" Believes Protectionist-Sentiment Will be Strengthened by the War

In its issue of July 30th, the Boston Herald had a leading editorial under the title "The War and Protection," from which we quote a few paragraphs as indicating the views of a large school of United States economists.

Nations Must be Self-contained. That protective sentiment the world over should be strengthened by this war is inevitable, says the Boston "Herald." If nations are to fight they must have within themselves all-round sources of supply. It has been said that if Missouri were an island nation it could produce nearly everything that it needed. Massachusetts, on the other hand, would make a very "sorry show of it." We should produce an over-supply of shoes and textiles and other manufactured goods, while suffering a great deficiency in food products. As it is, we find it cheaper to sell one line and buy the other, rather than to try to meet home needs in both. So it is with nations. Some are self-contained, and some are not. Had the sections of this country developed as independent powers they would, under the pressure of this war, be preparing their systems of protection so that each might supply its own needs in the event of obstruction of foreign trade. The United States, large as this nation is, is in this war to which it was not a party, from the lack of space, and of cotton outlets. It has been seriously handicapped from the lack of ocean shipping, fundamentally a protective question, since that is one of the few industries which we ever allowed to remain at the mercy of the world's competition. This is more apparent in view of the industry's close relation to defence.

We accordingly look to see a material modification of Britain's free-trade policy with the end of the war. Unless the Germans triumph, and thus are able to dictate terms to their opponents, Great Britain will not, within the next generation, admit to her own or to her colonial ports German products on terms of equality. Relations have long been strained. In Hong Kong, for example, one of the freest cities in the world, and in consequence one of the most inexpensive in which to do business—the Germans have been close rivals with the English. This has led to serious jealousies. We should expect, if when this war is over Hongkong still flies the British flag, that the Teutonic allies would find their business opportunities there greatly restricted. That may mean, a closer British imperial federation, or a closer federation of the allied powers.

The United States would have everything to lose by Britain's abandonment of her present policy. She is an enormous consumer of American goods, not only from the farm and field and mine, but of late of the factory as well. And it would do us no good to have this market obstructed by a tariff, even to the extent of a discrimination in favor of colonial products. We do not, for example, want Mr. Ford to establish an automobile factory on the Canadian side of the Detroit river to manufacture his cars for English consumption. And yet that would be the inevitable result of the imperial customs union, and one that need not materially affect the price of the product to the British consumers. It is the same with wheat and flour and meats. A few cents preference for Britain's own colonies would build up Saskatchewan and Alberta to the disadvantage, temporarily at least, of Minnesota and Chicago.

The whole subject is somewhat speculative, but that it can end without material revision of England's fiscal policy seems entirely unlikely. What the Herald can never understand is why the Home Market Club, or any other institution with the welfare of American industries at heart, should rejoice in England's going over to the protective policy, with its inevitable raising of barriers against our own products, which now enjoy such welcome markets there.

A Remedy For All Pain

"The efficiency of any drug" says Dr. C.P. Robbins, "is known to us by the results we obtain from its use. If we are able to control pain and disease by means of any preparation, we certainly are warranted in its use. One of the principal symptoms of all diseases is pain, and this is what the patient most often applies to us for, i.e. something to relieve his pain. If we can arrest this promptly, the patient is most liable to trust in us for the other remedies which will effect a permanent cure. One remedy which I have used largely in my practice is Anti-kamnia Tablets. Many have tried them, and I have put them to the test on many occasions, and have never been disappointed. I found them especially valuable for headaches of malarial origin, where quinine was being taken. They appear to prevent the bad after-effects of the quinine. Anti-kamnia Tablets are also excellent for the headaches from improper digestion; also for headaches of a neuritic origin, and especially for women subject to pains at certain times. Two Anti-kamnia Tablets give prompt relief, and in a short time the patient is able to go about as usual." These tablets may be obtained at all druggists. Ask for A-K Tablets. They are also successful for headache, neuralgia and all pains.

HOW TO DRENCH A HORSE.

The right way to drench a horse is as follows, says The New Zealand Farmer. Back him into a stall; then he cannot back away. Put a running nose in a soft half-inch rope, and place the nose around the upper incisor (pincher) teeth, just inside of the upper lips. Have the knot of the rope come directly in the middle of the front of the upper jaw. Throw the free end of the rope over a beam well above the horse's head. Rise the head and hold it there with the nose and rope. Get the head high enough to prevent medicine from running out of the mouth, but do not put it up so high that the horse will be unable to swallow comfortably. Stand on a chair or box, so that the right hand holding the bottle may insert the neck of the bottle into the right side of the mouth. Then pour in a couple of ounces of medicine, and let the horse swallow that before more is given. Do not grasp and squeeze

SOLDIERS SET THE FASHIONS

Soldiers have helped to set many of the fashions of the world. It is not generally known that buttons on the sleeves originated in the French army, and were placed there, it is said, to prevent the soldiers from wiping their mouths with the sleeves. FINISHING MARKET LAMBS.

Don't glut the market with light, thin and unfinished lambs. It would be more profitable to hold such and finish them during the winter months. A good ration consists of a mixture of equal parts ensilage and roots, two to three pounds; and a gain mixture starting at half a pound and finishing at one and a half pounds per day. A good grain mixture for this purpose consists of oats and bran, two parts each; linseed oil cake, one part, to which may be added toward the end of the fattening period two parts of corn.
